CLASS AND SOCIETY

Senior and Freshman Reporters Take a Nap.

ALL QUIET ON THE POTOMAC.

Fresh and Soph Find It Hard to Come to Blows Happenings of Week Among the Societies

SENIOR

Such a good spread Saturday evening that the Reporter was unable to write anything.

SOPHOMORE

For one week hostilities seem to have been dropped. It seems well to let certain things take their course in college life. This, however, is only true to a certain extent. Feathers may be expected to fly at any minute.

At a recent meeting of the class the following officers were elected:

Pres., L. Koepfgen.
Vice Pres., Wis Blair.
Secy., Wis Bailey.
Treas., Mr. Phillips.
Almanian Rep., Harry Marsh.

FRESHMAN

Reporter very busy playing tennis. No notes this week.

JUNIOR

Our Freshman advisor informs us that the Freshmen are now all initiated into the mysteries of the campus. Here's hoping the Sophs will start something soon. We need some excitement.

And still they come. Now that we have settled back from the uproar created by the arrival of Johnny Dunham, Cass Chase bursts into our midst with the same old melancholy grin and a wad big enough to choke a cow. This increases our number to the lucky thirteen.

McComb is looking into the "millinery question" and it won't be long now before we splurge out in our new "bonnets."

ALPHA THETA

The society this year is making a thorough study of Egypt in which the history, literature, architecture and ancient tombs will be discussed. In connection with this, the books, "The Garden of Allah," "The Weavers," "A Friend of Caesar," "Anthony" and "Cleopatra" have been read by the society. The two vacancies in the list of officers have been filled. Miss Hood being first critic and Miss Markham, sentinel.

ZETA SIGMA

The society is surely, though slowly, increasing its number. The following new men have been taken in this year: Clarence Orser, Donald Call, D. Royal Blasko, Wade S. Frost, Theo. Higbee.

Interest in the work is rapidly increasing. The discussion of political questions and situation is taking the foremost place in our thoughts just at present.

The society expresses its sincere regret at the loss of one of its best known and most beloved honoraries. We take this opportunity of expressing our full appreciation of his efforts in making Zeta Sigma what it is.

Froebel initiations are O. K. The poetry was superb. We regret we were denied the privilege of hearing number five.

Commercial Department Echoes.

We are here again, Mr. Editor, and we trust that you will not object to our coming often this year especially since you gave us sobriety and cordial invitation in your first issue. We shall endeavor to give you something each week if our "health, wealth and weather" permit us to do so.

Oliver Hole and Duncan Dearing have entered the commercial department during the past week.

Prof. Myre (In shorthand class)

"What is the word sign for 'you'?"

Mr. H—"You upside down."

Prof. M. (In business correspondence)

"How may a married woman sign her name?"

Mr. C—"By writing her husband's name with a Mrs. preceding it."

Prof. M—"What may a widow do?"

Mr. C—"She can marry again."

Mr. S. (In spelling)—D-a-n-d-r-u-f-f, dandruff. "I don't know what it is,

but I know that I have it."

Surely we will get the kinks pulled out of us before long and that is what we are here for.

ALUMNI

The Woodward Avenue Presbyterian church, which, for several months has been without a pastor, has issued a call to the Rev. Sherman L. Divine, of Marinette, Wisconsin, who is said to have signified his willingness to accept.

Nearly all the members of the church assembled at Milburn hall last night and much enthusiasm was shown in the selection of the new pastor. Rev. Divine was chosen from about 30 candidates. He comes to Detroit well recommended, and it is to the great energy in organizing attributed to him that the selection is due.

He was born in Holly, Mich., where his father is a prominent Presbyterian churchman. He received his license in Holly, but preached mostly in Chicago. He is a graduate of Alma College and McCormick Theological institution. His work in Marinette has been commended, and several of the letters received from members of his church are to the effect that hesitation was felt in recommending him for fear that he would be taken from them. One of Rev. Divine's chief reasons for wishing to get to Detroit is that he would again be in his native state.—Detroit Free Press.

Kindergarten Alumnae

The members of last year's Kindergarten graduating class are now scattered to the four winds of heaven, and those friends who are interested will be glad to hear how happy all are situated.

Miss Myrtle Hagerman is pleasantly settled at Lansing where she conducts a public kindergarten, fourteen pupils in the morning and ten in the afternoon. At present the work is conducted in a private house, waiting for a new building to be finished.

Miss Zaidee Markham is located at Gaylord, Michigan, at the County Normal. In the morning Miss Markham has regular kindergarten work and in the afternoon conducts Normal classes in manual training, such as clay modeling and painting.

Miss Belle Wallace is completing her Alma education by a further course in the Lit department at Columbia. As her heart is still in kindergarten work she is attending all lectures which tend toward that direction.

Miss Eula Elbeson we still have in our midst, assisting in the kindergarten department. How interesting her work is may be verified any day by a visit to that cheeriest room on the campus, where the little tots gather for their early training.

But the one who has gone farthest from her Alma Mater is Miss Stella Laing, way out in Ogden, Utah, where she is residing with her aunt. In a letter to an Alma friend, which gives us the best clue to her situation, she says in part: "School begins at nine a. m. and closes at three thirty p. m., but nine our time is ten o'clock in the east. We run by mountain time and it is one hour slower than your time. But even if our time is slower the people aren't. The trip out was simply grand, I never dreamed there was such beautiful scenery. I took the Burlington route from Chicago to Denver and the Denver and Rio Grande from there to Ogden. The trip through the Royal Gorge was magnificent. The mountains are so beautiful, I just love them. Ogden is almost surrounded by them. On Sunday it rained here and the tops of the mountains were away above the clouds, but when the clouds cleared away the tops of the mountains were covered with snow. The effect was magnificent."

Of the class which would graduate this year, Miss Strange, Miss Brown and Miss Springer have returned while Miss Hubbard is teaching at Kalamazoo, Miss Cauldwell at Crosswell, Miss Morrison at Tecumseh and Miss Niles at Elk Rapids. But wherever they are all Alma friends unite in wishing them success.

Mark S. Marshall is coaching the Ithaca high eleven. He takes two trips a week to Ithaca and is developing a husky bunch that will make some of the state high schools hustle. We reckon that ten years hence "Marsh" can rush the pig skin and preach a sermon with equal vigor.

How do you like Prof. Mitchell's flower bed? Some class, eh?

Have you met "Gloomy Gus?" Call at 23 Pioneer hall.

Table spreads and "out to Murphy's" are again becoming common. Starting early this year alright.

Also D. A. C.—Alma Will Have Light Schedule.—Many Changes in Line Up

M. I. A. A. CONFERENCE.

Marshall First Vice President.—Nothing of Importance Decided

The past week has been a nerve-racking week for the foot ball squad. The men have been raced up and down in the hardest kind of signal practice and then sent against the scrubs or high school team for a twenty-minute scrimmage every night.

Tuesday the eleven had a scrimmage with the high school team and little more than held their own. In consequence, the line-up was almost entirely changed next day and they were drilled unmercifully, so that when they lined up against the high school team Thursday they were able to plow through it at will, scoring six touchdowns in twenty minutes and repeatedly throwing the school team for losses. For the varsity Capt. Chapel, R. VonThurn, Phillips, Kefgen and T. Chapel distinguished themselves on defense, while R. VonThurn, Hooper, Cook and Campbell did consistent work on the offense. T. Chapel has been shifted to right tackle, where he has made good. Hogg took Chapel's place at center, Phillips, Kefgen, Lyon and Dearing have been used at guard, Phillips especially shining in that capacity. R. VonThurn has been doing excellent work at left tackle and will start in that position. Captain Chapel, Clark and Hamilton have been working at end. Capt. Chapel has been slightly under the weather and has not played as strong as usual. Hooper, L. VonThurn, Kefgen and Hole, a new man from Mancelona, have been working at half back. Cook and F. McComb are fighting it out for full back. Campbell and Ewing are alternating as quarter back. Hooper has shown considerable ability at line bucking and running back punts and is a strong fighter.

At present the squad needs more men so that the second team may be strengthened. This will give the first team the necessary line bucking. The team is by no means chosen and can be materially strengthened in this way.

The last few days of practice has been pretty fast and the team is gradually rounding into shape so that when it is called upon for its first game it will give a good account of itself. Marshall is out in togs, giving valuable aid to the line men and breaking up plays of the first team.

The Ypsilanti Normals canceled their game with Alma, which was to take place at Ypsilanti Oct. 10th, saying they considered our team out of their class, so they couldn't hope to make a good showing; however Coach Carrithers is

The Town and the College.

What would have happened last spring when we wanted no other inter collegiate to out do us by having a band, if we had not had the town subscriptions to help us out? What would have happened year before last, when we were wondering where the money was coming from to straighten us around on athletics questions of finance, if we had not felt sure of, and eventually received town aid? What would have happened last year when it came time to award athletic honors if certain town interest had not come forward with the necessary where with all? What would have happened, in short, what could happen or what has happened at Alma college in which the town of Alma has not or will not be largely interested in and usually in a substantial way. That the college makes the town has been often remarked by those who have not put any serious thought on the matter, but that the town makes the college cannot be denied. And more than that, it is appreciated, though seldom acknowledged.

The typical college town is where the two, town and college, are one. What happens at the college the town takes vital interest in, and what transpires in the town the college stands ready to enhance. Perfect harmony and loyalty toward each other are evident. Here's for that condition in Alma.

PERL FULLER

Addresses by Dr. Spencer and Dr. Bruske at the funeral of Perl Fuller vividly portrayed three main facts of his life. First, he was a student of the highest ability, second, he was a marvel in athletics and third, he was a christian gentleman.

To those who knew Mr. Fuller, to those who have seen him about the campus, in his day, to those who went through the stirring times of foot ball championship with him, to those who loved and honored him and wondered at his remarkable steadiness in all things, to them, his class mates, we can say nothing. To those who knew him, words would be but sounding brass and tinkling symbols. They have left the campus for a time, which he has left forever. They are out and engaged in life's battles which he has forever put behind him. The hallowed memory which they have of him is not for us. To them it exists clear, precious and beautiful and it is sufficient. For us, who take their places, for us, who still are striving to uphold the banner for which they gave their best efforts, for us, there comes the inspiration, descending from a life we knew not, to toil on and keep the banner at the front, banner of scholarship, banner of athletic supremacy, banner of christian gentleness, banner of self sacrifice, love and loyalty to his, and our, Alma Mater.

EXCHANGE

M. A. C. Record springs something new in the "Calendar For the Week", found on the editorial page. We suppose that the success or failure of this idea will vary directly as the promptness of the reporters. We wonder if the column headed Cupid's Doings will find material to fill an equal amount of space for thirty issues. Success to the editor.

Normal College News heads a column "Among Our Neighbors" which is unique. In it we read that Paul Delevan ex '10 goes to South America with the Carnage expedition. To catalogue the stars of the southern hemisphere. What bothers us is, how did the editor of this column know that Paul was a star-gazer?

Hillsdale Collegian prints this warning—"New Students: Look out for the grafters. Every student has a graft." In other words college is a preparatory school for politicians.

K. G. Yarn For Small Folks.

Once upon a time a student was walking along the railroad track when it began to pour, (rain not cinders.) The student was clothed in his best raiment and he wished not to have it become spotted with many streaks and creases. He was casting his eyes about him for some place of shelter, when he spied a hollow log. With marvelous forethought he crawled into the log and was sheltered from the sleeting dampness. But he had reckoned without his host. The log becoming saturated began to swell and soon the unfortunate one was in a pinch. What to do? He squirmed and kicked, yelled and beat his fists upon the walls of his prison, but in vain. The log swelled, the cavity grew smaller, the wretched student was desperate. Suddenly (and this is gospel truth) it flashed across his mind that he had not yet paid his Almanian subscription and would you believe it, he felt so small that he stood up and walked out.

CAMPUS NOTES.

Miss Jessie E. Potter, science teacher at the high school, is taking a course in chemistry.

"From the ice bound cliffs and snow crest mountains of the north, to the balmy clime of sun kissed hills of the south, westward to the majestic grandeur of the Yosemite and to the east along the sandy shores of the Atlantic"—we take pleasure in introducing to you Mr. D. Royal Blaske.

It won't be long now till we get our little after dinner talk on the art of folding a napkin.

Of course we had all read and studied the "blue-book" carefully before it was read to us in chapel, but undoubtedly this reading revealed many things suitable for meditation.

In Theism-Prexy—Do you think all of the new student's future are perfectly assured.

Senior—Oh yes, some were baptised as children.

Chatfield says he dosen't mind being soaked with water in divers mysterious ways, but when he gets soaked half a dollar that is another proposition.

Arthur Helmer '03 was about the campus Thursday and Friday. He was a classmate of Perl Fuller and was here to attend his funeral.

The door leading to the belfry is certainly double locked and bolted to a finish, but how the carpenter who did the job ever get out of there is beyond us.

Prof. Notestein has figured out for us, that if every student now subscribing for the Almanian would land just one subscriber, our list would be doubled. Funny isn't it?

"I say fellows, ain't our matron a peach."

Great joke that—about the shoes. Mrs. Aldrich has been visiting her son for a few days. She found him right side up and none the worse for wear. The spread was great stuff, if you don't believe it ask the coach.

NEW BOOKS FOR LIBRARY

Students interested in Pedogogy, kindergarten, and students enrolled in classes studying the History of Education, will find the following list of new books invaluable. It is a partial list of the new books of the J. W. Ewing Memorial Library of Pedogogy all of which may be found in the library:

- School Administration, Prince.
- Physical Education, Sargent.
- Pioneers of Modern Education, Adamson.
- Psychologic Foundations of Education, Harris.
- Art of School Management, Baldwin.
- How to tell Stories to Children, Bryant.
- Classroom Management, Bagley.
- Pupil Self Government, Cronson.
- Myths Every Child Should Know, Mabie.
- Fairy Tales, Mabie.
- Youth, Hall.
- Year Books] of the Society for the Scientific Study of Education, 1902-1905.

Holiday Without the Family.
If the man is paterfamilias it is wise for him to take his holiday alone. In the most amiable and unified families there are occasional moments of asperity. In such cases the holiday taken alone—mitigated by regular correspondence—is the ideal method, good alike for paper and family. There is no selfishness in such a holiday.—Court Journal.

Fairness Well Thought Of.
Good weight and measure is heavy on the measure.—Chinese Proverb.

Y. W. C. A.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. are very much pleased with the way in which the new year has begun. The meetings have been very well attended and there is much enthusiasm among the new girls, as well as among the former members. A short business meeting was held Saturday morning for the purpose of electing a vice-president to fill Ione Peacock's place. Hazel Blair was elected.

Sunday afternoon at the usual hour a Recognition Service was held for the new members.

Every girl of the college is cordially invited to attend these meetings at 4:30 in the Y. W. C. A. room Sunday afternoons.

Y. M. C. A.

The meetings are keeping up unusually well and are a source of help to all. If we only fall into the habit of attending these meetings it will soon become second nature and we will think strange of ourselves if Sunday afternoon finds us anywhere but there. Next Sunday will be a meeting in the interest of Bible study. It will be a bible study rally and the committee will present plans for the year. To the new students a word of explanation might not be out of place. Every year a number of bible classes are organized and led by students. They are small in number, each class enrolling less than ten. The student has the choice of what class they wish to enter and of the text. These small classes meeting for an hour a week are a strong factor for Christian living in Alma. Become identified with one of them and reap the benefits of a practical course, taught by those who are in sympathy with your own ideas.

If you have lost your hand book perhaps this will help you out.

McComb—I'll turn 'er with you, Phil.

K-gu—This corn on the ear is great stuff.

Cam'l—I prefer mine on the cob.

Marsh regrets that he is not coaching Bay City instead of Ithaca.

WOE! WOE! WOE!

It was about the eighth hour of the evening. Very cold was the temperature and right fiercely blew the north wind. The inmates of Pioneer hall were settled for the evening's cram, and peace brooded over that famous dormitory. But 'twas an unnatural peace and boded ill for some one.

Suddenly, in a manner strange and uncanny, the second floor light went out, and that ill fated hall, particularly the north end, was shrouded in inky darkness. Several doors opened and shut, a whispered consultation followed and then down that darkened hall swept a band of boys, whose hearts beat furious with the rapture of a certain mighty purpose. Simultaneously the bunch divided and entered the end room, part by door and part by way of window. The unfortunate one within was quickly striped and escorted to the basement—that ghoully place of dripping waters, clammy walls, and strange sounds. In that damp and shadowy region, in the awful presence of silent human figures and suggestive instruments, naked and trembling, the unhappy victim became acquainted with stunts and surprises such as pass all human expression. With much eloquence he groaned with the ecstasy of pain or shuddered at the fearful expectations of that which was yet to be. He was annointed with the icy showers and then led forth to admire the moon and the stars. And lo! even as he gazed upon the heavenly bodies, he was struck, yea he was paddled with exceeding fervor, and in his nakedness he did shiver like a withered leaf in winter. Now cometh the beginning of the end. Verily many things were administered unto the young man of which space and power of expression bid us say naught.

Truly, truly, he that refuseth to carry water suffereth exceeding, and, forsooth, the way of the transgressor is hard indeed. And here endeth the first lesson.

LIST OF ALMA'S NEWCOMERS.

Names of Students Entering Alma For First Time—Girls Outnumber Boys, Which Isn't a Bad Thing for the Boys.

Below we print a complete list of those students entering Alma for the first time. Strange as it may seem the girls outnumber the boys. This may be due to two reasons, which, by the way have been seriously thought out and authenticated. First, Alma may have a stronger attraction for the co-eds than for the men, or else, secondly, our worthy representative and field secretary, Mr. Todd, has let his gallantry run away with him and has used his most ardent persuasive endeavors among the fair sex.
