GET MT. PLEASANT AGAIN.

Capt. Call and his men were too much for Mt. Pleasant on their own grounds, repeating their former victory. This time the score was close, four to three. Myers, pitching for Alma, did excellent work and his support was about up to average. Myers and the umpire started an avalanche which almost lost the game in the ninth inning. He missed getting McNamara at first on a double decision and let Crandell have a safe hit. Gerard took another bingle and scored McNamara. Reynolds hit a grounder, which was pegged home in time to nip Crandel at the counting place. Then Myers caught Gerard napping off third and Fradish fouled out. The work of the battery, Myers and Dakin, was especially good. Had not the torrents of rain interfered, forcing Myers to ease up several times, he might have pitched an even better game. Pohly's work in the field was very good, while on the other hand every man but Pohly got one or more hits off Raymond, the Normal twirler.

The game was interrupted several times by driving rain and hail storms and the men had to seek the shelter of nearby woods. In the grand stand were the kindergarten delegation from Alma, who were the guests of the Mt. Pleasant kindergarten girls.

WET GROUNDS—NO GAME.

The baseball team from M. A. C. were disappointed and so was the entire student body of Alma Tuesday when several terrific rain storms flooded Davis field and while furnishing excellent opportunities for water polo, destroyed all possibilities of a baseball game. At noon it looked as if there might be a game, but another shower in the afternoon put a quietus to such ideas. The Aggies arrived in Alma at 12:45 and returned at 3:34. This is the first time a game has had to be cancelled by Alma on account of the weather for two years. The M. A. C. tennis team, Messrs. Taft and Itano, accompanied their baseball men, expecting to meet Alma, but no rowboats could be found to navigate the tennis courts; hence, no game. While here, Mr. Itano, who, as his name indicates, is from Japan, met Miss Misao Nikajima, of Yamanashi, Japan, who is taking a kindergarten course here.

INTERCOLLEGIATE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

The track meet, base ball championship contests, and tennis matches of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be held in Albion next Friday and Saturday. In baseball the standing of the four teams competing is Olivet, Alma, Albion and Hillsdale. Alma has lost to both Olivet and Albion but stands a fighting chance to win the cup. A comparison of our track records with those of the other colleges is given in the summaries of the Ypsi-Mt. Pleasant-Alma track meet. Olivet has eliminated us in Tennis. There is going to be a scrap and Alma will be in the midst of it.

This was the first time Mr. Itano had met a girl from his own country since coming to the United States five years ago. While there may be arranged another match with M. A. C. there will be no ball game with them this year.

SENIORS ENTERTAIN AGAIN.

The lucky seniors were entertained again this time by Prof. and Mrs. Notestein at their home on Philadelphia avenue. The amusements of the evening were unique and original. After their arrival the dignified ones were given the pleasure of real, hope-to-die star gazing under the most scientific and modern circumstances, through Professor Notestein's telescope. Jupiter, Venus and others of the notables were present and added to the serenity and beauty of the occasion. Every little star did his best to make life enjoyable for the wearers of the caps and gowns. When their astronomical curiosity had been satisfied, there was conducted a guessing contest. "Thereon" Chapel was awarded the prize as being the best guesser. Then followed refreshments in the way of a delicious supper. All the guests were unanimous in their decision that the senior class had been given a charming and most delightful evening.

GIRLS AT MT. PLEASANT.

The members of the kindergarten classes of the college were entertained very delightfully Friday by the kindergartners of the Central State Normal at Mt. Pleasant. Miss Merriam, who for some time was instructor in the department here, and who now has charge of the work in the Normal, saw to it that the Alma students were given a very charming time. The girls, with Miss Robinson, Miss Farley and Miss Weis took the early morning train and were met at the station in Mt. Pleasant by the Normalites. They were immediately conducted to the school where about one hundred and fifty girls gave an exhibition similar to the girls' gymnasium drills given here a short time ago. Then a tour through the school buildings was made, following which each of the Mt. Pleasant girls took an Alma guest to her particular club for Luncheon. In the afternoon the Alma-Mt. Pleasant baseball game was witnessed. After the game, the ladies of the Episcopal church served a sumptuous banquet in honor of the guests. The girls are loud in their praises of the kindness and entertaining abilities of the Normal girls.

MISS VELMA SHARP HONORED.

Miss Velma Sharp of this city, who graduated from the music department of the college, was honored highly recently when a large cut made from her photograph appeared on the cover of the British-American Post, published by Cary von Karwath in Vienna. The photograph from which the cut was made was done by a friend of Miss Sharp in Vienna, Pauline Kruger Hamilton, and friends in Alma say that it is an excellent likeness of her. Under the picture is the following information: "Miss Velma Sharp of Alma, Michigan, U. S. A. one of Leschetitzky's most brilliant pupils, is preparing for an extensive concert tour of the States for the coming season. She has already had most flattering offers for concert work both in America and in Europe. She will give a concert in London before her return home in the late spring. Miss Sharp seems wholly to have mastered the difficulties of the pianoforte, has a wonderful touch and holds her audience immediately through her intelligence and understanding of the work in hand."

SENIOR CLASS PLAY.

The Senior class will this commencement institute an innovation in regard to the annual class play. Hitherto the class play has been in the nature of a satire upon the ways and meannesses of the students and faculty, particularly faculty. However, the class of 1911 thinks that the jokes on the faculty have been sprung in one form or another long enough to be committed to the pickling station and that a play written by a reputable writer and presented by the whole Senior class in the delightful coolness of the college grove in the evening will be much more appropriate. Hence:

Monday evening, June 12, the Senior class will present "Anne, of Old Salem," a three act comedy by Clara Burbank Batchelder, the cast of characters of which is as follows:

Reverend Cotton Mather.....	Robert von Thurn
Captain Hardman.....	Theron Chapel
Roger Hardman, his son.....	Leslie Keigen
Nathan Ellingell, brother of Anne.....	Adelbert Lindley
Ezekiel Brown.....	Hurd Allyn
Mistress Hardman.....	Florence Hood
Goodwife Ellinwell.....	Selma Hah
Anne Elinwell.....	Jean Dyke
Phyllis, English visitor at Captain Hardman's.....	Kathleen Gillard
Ruth, of the despised Quaker faith.....	Ethel Care
Piety.....	Bessie Seave
Truth.....	Isabel Steven
(Two souls with but a single thought)
Peace Atkins.....	Pearl Hube

JUNIORS PICNIC.

The Juniors picnicked Friday evening just as the sun went down in the grove (who said hay field?) opposite the administration building in honor of Miss Lela Duff of St. Louis, who spent the day in the Gratiot metropolis. Miss Duff has accepted a position in the St. Louis high school for the coming year.

ANNUAL PUPILS' RECITAL.

The annual pupils' recital of the school of music of the college was given with great success in the college chapel Tuesday evening, May 23. Every number on the program was given in a way that showed the results of skilled training and careful, persistent work. The success of the participants is highly complimentary to the instruction which they have received, as well as to their efforts at perfection. While Alma has always had a high reputation for the strength of its musical department, the recital given Tuesday evening raised that reputation greatly.

At the time set for the commencement of the program, the chapel was crowded by parents of the resident students, friends from all over the country and a large part of the student body. The members of the Euterpe society had decorated the stage in the chapel with evergreen branches and flowers, making a very pretty setting for the participants.

The recital was not carried out exactly as indicated on the printed program. The first number was the overture to Figaro's Hochzeit. Sixteen violinists, led by their instructor, Miss Graham, rendered this difficult selection in a manner which would do immense credit to more experienced violinists. Some of the members of the orchestra were among the youngest of the pupils of the school and had to be placed in the front row so as to be seen at all. However, the number was given with fine effect.

Miss Hazel Conner, who was to have sung "Daffodils Are Here," by Landon Ronald, was ill, and in the emergency Miss Beatrice Jackson took her place. Miss Jackson covered herself with glory in the excellent way in which she handled her part on only a day's notice. Each and every member of the remainder of the program was excellently rendered. The program follows:

WHY ARE WE HERE?

Before selecting a college we con- sider its catalog carefully, paying particular attention to the courses offered. We demand that the instruction be the best that we can possibly afford, and thank fortune that endowed colleges do not have to charge students for all the salaries of the faculty and the other running expenses of the institution we couldn't attend if they did. Upon arriving here, we select our courses with much attention to this and that course that we want. And, directly we proceed to forget the studies as much as decent grades will allow and devote our energies to what have been called the "side shows."

Admittedly we are here for the big attraction in the main tent, but there is no barker there. Ranged up in front of the side show are attractive pictures of prestige among fellow students, the satisfaction of bearing an A, the gratification of the desire to be doing something practical and the love of the game. It is not a lack of interest in the main performance that causes us to slight it, but it is the demands that the side-shows make upon time and effort once they are entered.

In general then, it may be safely said that the greater the number of side issues, the less amount of attention the main one will receive. A question arises in the mind of the student who takes advantage of the various opportunities for training outside of the class room: What am I here for? And the question must be answered: For the college courses. But for what are the college courses? Without a doubt training and knowledge, and more especially training.

So he figures it out that some of the side issues are going to give him very valuable, practical training and not a little knowledge. And he decides, if he is wise, to take advantage of every real opportunity for real, workaday training and practical knowledge. And the attractive pictures do the rest; he is doing something different; he is out of the rut of the grind; he is in the game; he has responsibility.

It seems to us that right there is one of the strong points of the small college; it gives a chance for the student of a little more than average ability to be somebody, to do something, to have some responsibility. In the larger schools none but the most brilliant can do the institution's orating, none but the cleverest can do its debating, none but the most capable in practical journalism its editing. On the contrary, in the small college the student with potentialities has a better chance to have them brought forth into actualities, into achievements.

So don't be backward about accepting new responsibilities. Get all there is out of college. Get it from the class room, from personal acquaintance with the faculty, from student friendships, but above all, from the side shows.

ALMA SWAMPS TWO NORMALS

In the Mt. Pleasant-Ypsi-Alma track meet held at Ypsilanti Saturday morning, the Maroon took more than both the other schools together, the final score being 72 for Alma, to 33 for Ypsi and 24 for Mt. Pleasant. Alma took first in everything but the half-mile, the 220-yard low hurdles, the hammer throw, the 120-yard high hurdles and two-mile and tie for first in the pole vault. Marks and Kergen were Alma's principal point gainers.

In the summaries following the best work done this year by the three other colleges in the running for the inter-collegiate championship in track is given in parentheses. The schools in the parentheses are indicated by an A for Albion, H for Hillsdale and O for Olivet. Summaries:

PHILO—PHI-PHI

The Philomathean Literary society delightfully entertained the members of the Phi Phi Alpha society at the home of Miss Leontine Messinger on State street. A lawn party was the unique method of entertainment and it was a success from start to finish. A bean contest was the first on the program of entertainment, the object of the contest being to gain as many beans as possible while engaged in conversation in which several of the elementary words of the language were prohibited. Old fashioned kids', London bridge is falling down, drow the handkerchief and other games followed. Delicious refreshments were served. The lawn had been decorated very prettily with numerous Japanese lanterns. The Philomatheans have proved once again that they are the real prize-winners when it comes to capital entertainment.

STRUBBRY SOCIAL.

"Resolved. That the man who said 'a few strawberries now and then is relished by the wisest men' knew what he was talking about. Wasn't it somebody else who said, 'Knowledge is power?' Now power doesn't depend on the amount of knowledge we have, but the kind of knowledge is what counts. The grind thinks he is having a good time, but the rest of us know he is missing the fun. 'Live and be happy' is a good motto for every one. The world always makes room for the cheerful guy. 'Live and learn.' Meet the people who know how and what every chance you get. Thursday evening will be a golden opportunity. Moral: Come to the strawberry social, 8 p. m., Thursday, on Wright hall lawn."

Aside from the fact that it might be further resolved that it is singular that a few strawberries is relished by wise men, and that it might be answered that it surely was, as Prexie says, just as sure as you live, some one else that gave the world the hunch about knowledge, it may be remarked that the strawberry social was very successful. Everybody enjoyed the finest kind of ice cream, strawberries and yum-yum cake, had his or her fortune told and some money for the missionary work of the Y. W. C. A. was the final result.

YANNIGANS PLAY GOOD BALL.

The Yannigan team gave the regular team two good practice games last week, one on Wednesday and another the next day. While the Yannigans are hardly expert enough for the big leagues, nevertheless they give the regulars the kind of game that makes them play ball to win. Wednesday, Lindley pitched for the 'varsity, and Myers for the Yannigans. The final score was 5 to 1 in the 'varsity's favor. The next day the same pitchers opposed each other and Lindley, with the help of the regulars, was able to keep the Yannigans to one run, while the regulars garnered seven. Kefgen was the star for the Yannigans Wednesday, getting three hits, two for extra bases, but he was the only man who wasn't frightened out by "Lindley in his baseball suit." Thursday, he kept his opponents to two bingles. Myers also pitched good ball against his team mates, but had a harder time against the better pitching regulars. Most of his opponents' runs were made from errors. Burritt umpired.

This is the way they lined up:

Varsity	Yannigans.

Brilmyer	Kefgen
Rogers	King
Striffler	Hooper

Pohly	Higbee

"BOB" COOK OFFICIAL.

Saturday Robert Cook officiated at referee at the Montcalm county interscholastic track and field meet held at Howard City. This coming Saturday he will act in the same capacity at the Tuscola county meet, where he will also umpire a ball game. He finds that his life insurance is all right.

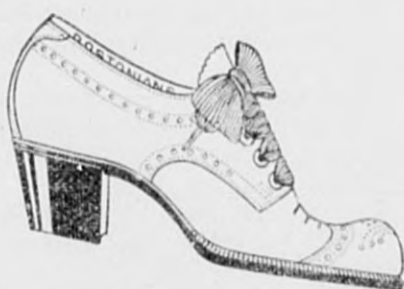

ALMA IN LITERATURE.

By Dr. Bruske.

Alma College is finding its place in every field of human endeavor. Naturally its sons would be heard from first as teachers and preachers. In these forms of public service they have already achieved distinction; and yet the oldest of them has hardly reached the prime of life. In the business world it takes a longer time to rise to the top; but in this also we see the children of Alma as publishers, editors, politicians, and financiers; and they are fit to "stand before kings."

A few months ago we found that a young lady of Alma, Miss Winnifred Heston, had invaded the realm of authorship. Her first book—"A Blue Stocking in India," was hailed by the critics as a great contribution to the knowledge of India. Her style was compared to that of Kipling, and in brightness and humor the comparison was in her favor. Since then she has gone back as a and we may hope for other books from her versatile pen.

Another alumnus to step into the field of authorship is the Rev. J. Wirt Dunning, of the class of 1904. After a brilliant record as pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh, Mich., he recently became pastor of the Church in Portsmouth, Ohio. Evidently the volume before us called "The Eternal Riddle" is a selection of sermons which have been tested by the "hearing of the ear". They are now placed before "the eye" and will have a larger congregation. Let no one think that this book must be dull because it is a book of sermons. On the contrary, we venture to say that there is not a dull page in it. It treats great themes in great earnestness. It is full of fire, sense and poetry. It suggests Prof. Swing in many ways. It holds to the orthodox view of religion and makes that view thoroughly delightful. It abounds in quotations from the best literature selected with sound judgment, reminding one of Dr. Wm. M. Taylor, who for so many years ministered in Broadway Tabernacle and to a much larger congregation throughout the world. He was the Prince of Quoters and Mr. Dunning was not worthy to stand by his side. The one thing, however that distinguishes the "Eternal Riddle" is its poetic style and that is worth while in poetry seems to have escaped the author. He knows the hymns ancient and modern, classical and popular. He seems to know all fine poetry from Homer to Kipling and is abundantly able to produce poetry from his own mind. To the young preacher who wants to make his preaching attractive by acquiring a style that is lofty, poetic and that will tend to draw the best people to church this book is most heartily commended. It will also be an inspiration of courage and faith to the thoughtful layman who is not averse to the consideration of religious problems outside the church.

In the Senior play, Bessie Seaver and Isabel Stevens are described as "two souls with but a single thought." Will some one kindly inform us confidentially whose it is?

FRIDAY A HOLIDAY.

Friday was an official holiday for Alma. But one class was held, the first in the morning. At 9 o'clock the chapel was given over to the eighth grade graduation exercises of the county. As usual the chapel was packed with people to witness the program. The program was as follows:

Song....."Sailor Boys"
Invocation.
Songs.....
.. "Springtime," "The Circus Clown"
Address.....Rev. J. Q. Durfey, A. B.
Piano and Violin Duet.....
.....David and Rosie Mindel
Presentation of Diplomas.....
.....Com. C. F. Pike
"America."

In the afternoon the crowd was very evenly divided between the annual interscholastic track meet, held on Davis field, and Gollmer Brothers' circus. Superior street was lined with booths and bunting and altogether it was a good old-fashioned holiday.

WARING AGAIN.

The track fans at Ann Arbor have not yet recovered from the inability of Waring to enter the meet at Cambridge. The Detroit News of Sunday had the following:

"The awful luck with men that has pursued Michigan throughout the season continues. The Waring incident was typical. Here was a sophomore engineer up in his studies, perfectly able to compete and, without any training whatever, one of the best broad jumpers in the country. And he did not show up in time to be on the list of Michigan entries. A week ago last Monday he appeared, told Kraenzlein that he was a broad jumper and that he would like to try out for the Syracuse meet. He did. He jumped 22 feet. With four days of training he entered the dual engagement with the Methodists, worked splendidly in competition and was credited with two jumps of 22 feet 3 inches. That wouldn't win the event at the intercollegiate, but three inches more would be mighty likely to win it, and it seems certain that Waring could have increased his efficiency to at least that extent. But he came out too late. The entries had closed and he will be unable to compete.

ALMA CHORUS AT SAGINAW.

The Alma chorus will participate in the annual May festival at Saginaw Wednesday and Thursday of the coming week. A long series of practices has been gone through with and last week Mr. Cummings of Saginaw conducted two of the rehearsals. Every effort has been put forth to make this year's chorus even better than that of 1910, and it is expected that the work will be highly pleasing.

There are quandaries and quandaries, but the quandriest of them all is making faces at the Freshmen. That is, as an outsider, we suppose that it is. That quandary is, "What about that 1914?" 1913 used about the last available space on the chimney; the chimney can't have an addition; so where? We are anxiously waiting.

ALMA HIGH GETS BANNER.

In the interscholastic track meet, held on Davis field Friday afternoon, the athletes of the Alma high school took the lead early in the events and held it all the way through, finishing far ahead of their nearest competitors. The final score was: Alma, 79; Ithaca, 30½; St. Louis, 24½. A number of new interscholastic records for this county were made. In the class B events Hanly, a young eighth grader from the Alma schools, took eight firsts.

A number of college men took part as officials. Robert von Thurn was starter; Thompson, announcer; Cook, Ewing, Hyde, Hooper and Johnson, judges, and Babie, timer. The summary is as follows:

Fifty-yard dash—First, Kress of Alma; second, Race of Alma; third, Leonard of St. Louis. Time, 5:4.

It appeals to all lovers of success that is deserving to see men who have worked hard with apparently little result finally get recognition. Brilmyer is a classic example and his pitching in the games he has played in makes the whole school feel good. Lindley is another who may surprise us, and old war horse Van Duzen, after two years' work, took his first trip Friday when he went to Ypsilanti.
