FACULTY RECITAL

Prof. Veatch Makes First Appearance Before Alma Audience

MUCH APPRECIATED BY ALL

Miss Roberts Won Much Favor With Her Fine Piano Selections

The faculty recital given in the college chapel at 4:15 p. m. Friday, was a treat to every listener. This was the first of a series of weekly recitals. It was also Prof. Veatch's first appearance before an Alma audience. Seldom have two such genuine artists as Miss Roberts and Prof. Veatch been heard in Alma.

The program contained a variety of numbers, with the result that each person in the audience brought away with him many precious musical memories. This cosmopolitan program is one of the reasons for the big success of the recital.

Prof. Veatch has a rich, ringing baritone voice of great range and volume. Besides his splendid voice he has a truly artistic temperament, giving equally fine interpretations of Handel's dramatic "Thus Saith the Lord," Nevin's pathetic "Rosary" or Tours' "Mother o' Mine." He concluded his performance by responding to an encore, with a side-splitting Irish dialect song. He combines with a magnificent voice rare interpretive art.

Prof. Veatch was ably assisted at the piano by Miss Theo Amsbury, a post graduate of the Alma School of Music.

Miss Roberts does not "play" the piano; she makes it ring, bringing from it all the emotional effects which the human voice is capable of expressing. She produces a beautiful tone, varying from a whispering pianissimo suggestive of rushing leaves, to a thundering fortissimo. Her contributions on Friday were three splendidly rendered Chopin numbers.

With two such high class artists among its faculty members, there is every reason to believe that the Alma School of Music is destined to be the foremost in the state. Seldom does a small college obtain two instructors of their artistic caliber. The college is certainly to be congratulated for having secured their services.

The program given Friday afternoon was as follows:

- 1 a The Two Grenadiers...Schumann
- b Even Bravest Hearts (Faust)
- c Thus saith the Lord (Messiah)
- Gounod
- Handel
- Prof. Veatch.
- 2 a Prelude No. 20.....Chopin
- b Nocturne in F minor.....Chopin
- c Ballade in A flat minor...Chopin
- Miss Roberts.
- 3 a Mother o' Mine.....Tours
- b A Sailor Song.....Squires
- c The Rosary.....Nevin
- Prof. Veatch.

All Wright Hall girls are now ready for bids to the show Monday night.

CAPT. JOHNSON. Bush Y. M. C. A.

With clearer foresight than they scarcely realized the members of last year's team chose Fred Johnson to lead the 1912 team. Two years of consistent, aggressive playing, of incessant plugging, of brilliant football have earned for "Ephie" the highest honors which his teammates could bestow on him.

"Eph's" collegiate football career began with the championship team of 1910 when he won his position on that glorious eleven against the strongest odds which are ever presented to a freshman to overcome, and "Eph" made good from the start. Since then he has been continually making good and seeing that his fellows on the team make good. That is one of the reasons why Alma made such a remarkable fight last year against heavier opponents.

The captain is heavy but fast and can be relied on not only to break up plays but often he is called upon to carry the ball himself. In our last victory over Olivet he made repeated gains against their heavy line and earned for himself the most favorable recognition of Coach Brewer of the Aggies. In addition, the blonde leader is a fixture on the annual all state team, as one of the two best tackles in college football.

Next to the Coach to him belongs the credit for the admirable spirit which the squad is showing in the daily practice.

PHILOMATHEAN.

The second meeting of the Philomathean literary society held Sept. 23, was a business meeting. Plans were made for the work of the ensuing year. The regular literary program begins next Monday. The course of study for the first semester will be general mythology and current topics.

On Oct. 7 six new members will be initiated and Philo will be ready to enter the pursuit of literary attainment and social accomplishment. She will have a total enrollment of twenty-two members. The year's prospects are bright, and pleasant.

The Young Men's Christian Association of the college is starting what promises to be one of the most successful years in her history. Several cabinet meetings have been held and arrangements are already made for most of the work of the year. The Association is this week making arrangements for the Bible Institute which is to be held here from Friday to Sunday. The Book of Acts will be covered by the following men as class leaders:

- Prof. G. A. Masselink, Big Rapids.
- Prof. M. A. Cobb, Mt. Pleasant.
- Prof. E. H. Ryder, East Lansing.
- Dr. Geo. B. Randalls, Alma.
- E. C. Lindemann, Lansing.
- Chas. A. Caster, Detroit.
- B. B. Johnson, East Lansing.

This is an exceptional opportunity and every man that possibly can should enroll and attend every meeting. It won't cost a cent and will be a great help to everyone that attends. There will be representatives here from other schools. Anyone that can take care of a representative by rooming him should notify some member of the cabinet as early as possible. Make this the starting point of the greatest Bible Study year Alma has ever had. Dr. Blaisdell and others will give short addresses on practical subjects to young men on Saturday evening. Plan to bring other young men from outside to hear these talks.

ALPHA THETA.

The Alpha Theta literary society has begun the twenty-third year of her existence in an auspicious manner, and great things may be expected from her in the coming season.

The opening days of college saw half a score of staunch old girls back, and last Monday evening the roll was swelled to twenty strong by the incoming of ten freshmen, who pledged themselves to Alpha Theta's best interests and welfare. They were Misses Marguerite Minchin, Anna Wave Coleman, Manolie Parsons, Marguerite MacNeill, Ethel Thompson, Lucille McQuade, Joyce Fairweather, Wilhelmina Ritter, Elma Johnson, and Lulu Huber. There is still one more to come, namely, Miss Mary Blaisdell.

With such a goodly number of active and energetic young women Alpha Theta ought to carry off her yearly events, which include the annual play, the June midnight banquet, and the entertainment of the other societies, and her year's work with the greatest success ever.

Alpha Theta stands for the development of all that is good and worthy in the fair sex, and the experience to be gained in her circle all goes to round out the character of the college girl. The course of study to be pursued is the consideration and discussion of all current events, literature, and art.

Alpha and Theta stand for the two Greek words, Athenae Thugateres which mean daughters of Minerva. So we are daughters of Minerva, that all knowing and powerful goddess. May we always be worthy of her!

Mrs. F. W. Hooper and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Roden Hooper arrived in Alma Wednesday noon. Mrs. Hooper has been on an eight weeks trip through the Canadian Northwest.

NEW CHORAL CLUB

Organized Last Tuesday Evening by Prof. Veatch

H. C. MOORE FIRST PRESIDENT

All Are Now Practicing the "Rose Maiden" by Cowen

Prospects for the Alma Choral Club appear splendid. An organization of this kind will satisfy a long-felt need in Alma.

The aim of the society is to aid the cause of musical art in the city and the college. The individuals comprising the club derive benefit from the singing and again a keener appreciation of music, while the public will derive pleasure from its work. Choruses from the masterpieces will be rehearsed. The "Rose Maiden," by Cowen, is now being studied.

From time to time the works studied by the society will be given in Alma. Great artists will fill the leading roles, while the choral club will sing the choruses.

The club is open alike to townspeople and students. In this way every Alma resident who is interested in music may obtain a share in the benefit and pleasure afforded by the work of the society. Anyone not qualified to undertake the task, but having a desire to further the progress of music, may become an associate member. Associate members will be given free tickets to all productions in which the society participates.

The Alma society hopes to affiliate with similar organizations in neighboring cities, co-operating with them in some productions.

Last Tuesday evening the Alma Choral Club organized, adopted a constitution, and elected the following officers:

- Director—Prof. Reese F. Veatch.
 - President—H. C. Moore.
 - Vice-President—W. L. Frost.
 - Secretary—Miss Helen B. Cook.
 - Treasurer—J. S. Knoertzer.
- BE A BOOSTER AND HELP THE CHORAL CLUB.

COLLEGE EXTENSION WORK.

The faculty is considering the establishment of a number of different types of college extension work, the classes to be in charge of faculty members and to be held either on Saturdays at Alma or on other days in surrounding towns. Fuller announcement of this will be made within a short time.

PHI PHI ALPHA.

Work is well started in the society, although four of the old men are not back this year, the new material is good and every member is looking forward to a year of hard, profitable labor and training. Eight new members have been received. They are Messrs. Beshgetoor, Cole, Gates, Humpsch, H. Jackson, Nesbit, Titus, and V. VanDuzen.

A WORD TO STUDENTS.

Our advertisers made possible the publication of this college paper. The business men of Alma put their ads in the Almanian with a purpose and that is that they may get at least their share of the student trade. When you have something on your mind that you are intending to purchase, it would be a favor all round if you would pick up the Almanian and glance over the list of ads. PLEASE PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS, in so doing you are doing us a favor and incidentally helping Alma College.

FOOTBALL.

It was with the keenest regret that the students received the announcement from Manager Hooper of the football team that Mt. Pleasant High School had cancelled the game scheduled for Saturday on Davis field. Right now the fellows on the squad would hail with unmeasured delight the appearance of a worthy opponent, for two weeks of the sort of practice in which they have indulged have put them in the finest shape for a gruelling scrimmage with a foreign foe of appreciable ability. The team which represented Mt. Pleasant High last year was ranked with all the so-called championship teams of state high school rank, but apparently advance war cries from the Alma camp have sent thrills of a frigid nature through their beings and cancellation was deemed advisable. However this unfortunate occurrence has not dampened the enthusiasm which the men display in their work during the daily practice, for if any change were noted it would be in the added interest which the team is taking in the severe grind.

Saturday Alma plays M. A. C. Next to the Olivet game which is played here on the 9th of November the struggle with the Aggies will be the most important game of the schedule. For, in all probability, on this game will rest the football championship of Michigan colleges. Last year and the year before our worthy enemies from the Capitol city scored respectively two touchdowns on the Presbyterians. This year it must not be, for if we ever have had the team and the spirit to defeat them, it is now. M. A. C. is strong, exceptionally strong, both in veterans and new material. They began their practice just one week earlier for the especial purpose of getting ready for Alma so that the apparent advantage is with them, but the collegiate rooters feel that that old Alma spirit which is always one of the main factors in this annual contest will play its part with its usual vigor. And if it does, then will be the time to secure the nearest drygoods box handy and there will be a bonfire which will stir even Alma's hardened natives. Already Coach Bleamaster and Captain Johnson have started work on the plays for this game and are indulging in even more strenuous practice than ever before.

The inert loyalty of the students has been awakened to some degree and more are out to watch the afternoon workout and encourage the players, than when the season first started. This is commendable, but it is not enough yet, for under the circumstances, it is only natural. Captain Johnson and his partner Ex Captain Edgerton are playing a most aggressive game and their pep is doing much to liven up the scrimmage and put the Alma scrap in the new men.

FROEBEL.

The Froebel society met Monday evening to initiate twenty new members. This addition makes the Froebels the largest girls society in college. The new girls were required to shake hands with Froebel's ghost and imbibe of his spirit. Many and exciting were their adventures through Hades. Later in the evening a sumptuous spread was served and songs sung. The new members are Eva Barnes, Gladys Bond, Marjorie Chase, Hazel Clark, June Collins, Margaret Duncanson, Gretchen Eyer, Leof Fellows, Frankie Kuhlmann, Edna Kuhlmann, Lydia Malpais, Ethel Moore, Hazel McCenzie, Leta Redmond, Madeline Reynolds, Hazel Robbins, Ruth Stacy, Bertha Wagenor, Beatryce Whitelem, and Bertha Williams.

ZETA SIGMA LITERARY SOCIETY.

With twenty-seven old members back and eleven new members of exceptional ability added to its number the Zeta Sigma literary society has enthusiastically started its new year. Heavy work along the literary line has been mapped out by the executive committee and this promises to be the most prosperous and beneficial year in the history of the society up to the present time.

Last Monday evening, after the initiation of the new men and a short business meeting, the society adjourned to the Opera House where the members had the pleasure of listening to Prof. Woodbridge N. Ferris, the Democratic Candidate for governor, on the subject of "Political Issues."

The new members are Alger Wood, Oscar Anderson, Ralph Henning, Harry Schultz, William Schultz, Harold Goetz, Monta McFarland, Clare Letts, Edward Bahlke, Thomas C. Blaisdell, Jr., and Homer Dunham.

The program is so planned that each man will have an ample amount of both extemporaneous and prepared work. Papers and debates of the highest quality possible will be demanded.

ALUMNI NOTES.

Ralph E. Raycraft, '08, who for the first three years after graduation was principal of Chesbrough Seminary at North Chili, N. Y., is superintendent of schools at Wayne, Mich. The school building at Wayne, over which Mr. Raycraft presides, is one of recent construction and modern in every respect. Mr. Raycraft is one of Alma's able men in the teaching profession and in his new and excellent opportunity as a superintendent. He spent the past year in the graduate school of the University of Michigan, receiving his Master's degree last June.

Rev. J. E. Webber, '05, accepted a call to the Presbyterian church of Northville the past summer and in August began his work in the new field. Mr. Webber was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Alpena for a year and a half, going to that place immediately upon his graduation from McCormick seminary in 1911. Mr. Webber is aggressive in his work for the church and already the results of his efforts are beginning to show in the increased efficiency of the Northville church. Work has been begun on an extension of the auditorium of the church which will increase the seating capacity and attractiveness of the building to a great degree. And by the way, Webber was up to his old college tricks again a few days ago when he caught a game of ball for one of the Northville teams. The game ended in a ninth inning rally in which Webber's team won by one score, the pastor getting one of the hits that helped pave the way to victory.

Roy R. Campbell, '10, is again back at the University of Detroit at the head of the athletic department where he worked with marked success the past year. From Detroit press accounts it seems that Campbell will have a high grade of material for his various teams. If this is true, Campbell with his mastery of all branches of athletics, is sure to produce winning teams throughout the year.

NEWS ITEMS.

It was with regret that the students learned of the death of Miss Houghawout's mother. Miss Houghawout is now in her home in Fairmont, Nebraska but will soon return to her work in the East.

Contrary to plans, Miss Mullenbach is teaching in the High School at Madison, Ind. She had planned to study in the University of Michigan this year but was tempted to take the position just before school began.

An attack of lonesomeness caused the visits of Clarence Goodrich and Biff Carey to Wright Hall Saturday afternoon.

Court Declares Against Special Privileges.

A number of amateur detectives made an important discovery the evening of the opening reception at Wright Hall. The secrecy maintained by these men would give one the impression that they had had years of experience. Not a word was breathed to the outside world until a vast amount of circumstantial evidence had been obtained. No chance was to be given the culprits to evade justice.

Saturday morning testimony was taken before a special committee as to the extent of the embezzlement and misappropriation of the campaign contributions. The investigation showed a deplorable state of affairs and a Grand Jury indicted eight of the Senior fellows. Twenty-two counts, each plaintiff having desired a chance at the culprits were brought against the men and the trial was set for Tuesday night at six o'clock in Wright Hall dining room. Anderson and Maybee were appointed to take charge of the prosecution.

The court room was well filled and as the defendants took their places they were applauded by the crowd, who seemed to take the whole thing as a joke. The prosecuting attorneys had evidence arrayed in every conceivable place. Above the table at which the defendants sat was a large poster reading, "This is to certify that Mr. Freshman is entitled to all the privileges granted young men at Wright Hall." Signed, J. L. D. B. Landon. This was supposed to be an exact copy of the worthless paper granting special privilege. Several of the Freshmen testified that it was for a piece of cardboard having the above inscription they paid their twenty-five cents.* The defendants admitted having taken money but thought the purchasers were getting value received in experience, a thing which they greatly needed. If more evidence of the same character was produced and admitted by the defendants conviction was a certainty. The attorneys next called their attention to the array of evidence displayed on the table. The defendants after a hurried consultation decided to admit it to the cross-examination of the inner man. They cleared all of this evidence away and thought certain that they would be vindicated. But Anderson and Maybee still had more conclusive proof under the table. It was thought that when this was brought up the ardor of the defendants would be cooled. To the surprise of all this important evidence melted away before a direct examination.

The judge in giving his charge to the jury told them that the defendants would have to be convicted on other counts than those found in the indictment as the money which had been paid over, the only proof that would be sure to convict, had not, as yet, been located in the possession of any of the defendants. He suggested that if they had their coins marked they should make a thorough search at Stevie's, Ellison's, Gray's and other places where good things are sold. The plaintiffs, he said, had made themselves liable to prosecution by buying special privileges and suggested that the matter be kept from the notice of Teddy or Wilson, as they would be sure to take a hand in the prosecution. Finally he reminded the jury that the case must be dropped if no other count could be found against the defendants, because there was not enough evidence to convict them on a charge of grand larceny.

The jury after a short deliberation brought in a verdict of 'Not Hungry' and the defendants agreed with them. The jury criticised the prosecuting attorneys for having retained some of the evidence.
