NEW LIBRARY STACK ROOM

IS NOW SEEN AS EARLY NEED FOR CROWDED ALMA LIBRARY.

A new stack room for the Alma College library is now seen as an early need at Alma's rapidly growing school for higher education, and architects will soon start work on plans for such a building to be erected just to the west of the present library building, and adjoining the museum, which will probably cost the college in the neighborhood of $40,000. The new stack room when constructed, which will not be for a year at least, however, will be entirely fireproof.

Few people realize the size and the importance of the Alma College library in the state. It is the fourth library in size in the educational institutions of Michigan, being exceeded in size only by the libraries at the University of Michigan, The Michigan Agricultural College and the Michigan State Normal. It is the largest library that any of the non-state educational institutions can boast.

During the past year work of re-cataloguing the library was put under way by Miss Annette P. Ward, the librarian, and is still far from being completed. It is being re-catalogued after the congressional system.

The library contains many well-known collections, the Cooper collection, the Kneeland collection, the Elliott collection, the Barkley collection just willed to the college, and the famous Longyear collection of Bibles. In this latter collection are found Bibles in numerous different tongues. It is a collection, that is not much used by the students because of the varieties of languages in which the various Bibles are printed, but that does not lessen the fact that it is a very notable collection for the kind.

Because of the inability of the girl selected by the French Commission to come to Alma this year, the College will not have a French student this year. For the past four years Alma College has been cooperating with other colleges and with the French Commission in bringing French students to this country. For the past four years Alma has received a French student selected by the French Commission and should have had one this year.

Two literary societies, organized in 1835 at Wake Forest College, North Carolina, are yet active. They have a joint sinking fund and are considering the erection of a literary building.

Fun Reigns at Library Frolic

Thursday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock last year's members and this year's members of the library class and staff together with the members of the library committee and their wives were given the great pleasure of having a picnic together in the Jungle to learn more fully "Who's who in the library world." After the fires had been successfully started the aroma of bacon and eggs filled the air and soon everyone was busily demonstrating the effects of outdoor air upon the appetite. When the delightful meal came to an end, it was announced that stunts were now in order. Last year's class gave "The crossing of the railroad tracks." This year's class presented the play called the "Gathering of the Nuts." Then the faculty entertained the assembly by passing around toasted marshmallows. This Jungle party was properly chaperoned by the presence of Dr. and Mrs. Randels, Prof. and Mrs. West, Prof. and Mrs. Hamilton, Dean Montgomery, Miss Phelps, Mrs. Way and Miss Ward. The library classes and staff feel deeply indebted to Miss Ward to whom the entire good time was due.

Kappa Iota Has Party for Frosh

Invitations in the forms of Indian clubs, dumb-bells, footballs, baseballs and tennis rackets announced the track meet with which Kappa Iota entertained the new girls Friday evening in the reception room at Wright Hall. When the bell rang at seven-thirty and the new girls descended, garbed in gym suits, they found the reception room converted into a veritable athletic field, marked off for eight colleges, and gay with pennants.

As the guests arrived, they were given slips of paper which assigned them to the various colleges, Alma, Harvard, Michigan, Lafayette, Denver, Cleveland, M. A. C. and Illinois, and each college had an athletic team of eight. There was a heavy pause, as the guests tried to locate themselves, and then the effervescent spirits of Illinois found vent in the first yell, which was answered by M. A. C. After that the yells tripped over each other and a casual spectator might have thought that pandemonium had burst loose.

Elizabeth Munger was the official in charge and issued her directions and orders in an incisive and pepful manner. The obstacle race, consisting of a short race with a suitcase, donning the clothes inside the suitcase, returning to the starting point, and replacing the clothes in the suitcase, was won by Katherine Jenkins, thereby making twenty-five points for Harvard. In the tug-of-war, Emma Ritter "chewed" up the string to the caramel and gained twenty-five points. In the discus throw, Dorothy Bradley netted her college twenty-five points by throwing a blown-up paper bag ninety-one inches. Josephine Peavy pushed a coin across the floor with her nose, gaining first place in the one-yard dash, for Illinois. In the standing broad, Margaret Poole had practically no competition. Her smile measured four inches across, a good exponent for Alma College, which she represented. Margaret Poole was also the winner of the high jump, merely standing on her toes to reach the suspended marshmallow, for which the other contestants leaped in vain. Ernestine DesJardins succeeded in throwing the javelin (toothpick) far enough to win first place for her college. The last and most hilarious relay race, won by the partners, Helen Brien, and LoReta Neely. There was a moment of rigid suspense during which the teams totaled their points. Then Mary Gerow, in a somewhat elaborate ceremony presented the loving cup which was borne in on a pillow, by Dean Montgomery, to Cleveland College.

Immediately the rivalry was forgotten in the dansant which followed. Couples hardly succeeded in taking a few steps together before they were heartlessly torn asunder. Then "Buff's" shrill whistle silenced the merry-makers and the members of Kappa Iota grouped around the piano and sang their song for the delighted listeners.

The hilarity culminated at the serving of the eats. And—oh—what eats! Delicious, dainty, and refreshing. Each one was served a plate on which were a few fancy sandwiches, delectable salad and a celery heart stuffed with delicious pimento cheese. Next course—ice cream, violet and gold—

CALLS FOR SONGSTERS

PROF. BEAUSANG

BEAUSANG CALLS FOR SONGSTERS

GLEE CLUBS HAVE EARLY START; DIRECTOR WANTS
ONLY WORKERS.

To secure an early start in musical activities this year Professor Beausang has already issued his call for applicants to the Glee Clubs. The first meeting of both the men's and women's clubs were held last Tuesday evening. The meetings will be held the same as last year, every Tuesday evening, the women from seven to eight o'clock and the men from eight to nine o'clock.

It depends entirely upon the members of the clubs just what amount of success they are going to have this coming year. Last year was somewhat of a disappointment as the men's club did not have a trip. The women did very creditably, working hard and giving an excellent recital at the end of the year. But the same spirit did not pervade the men's club for plans which they made for a trip were allowed to fall through. The men as a whole did not want to sacrifice enough for the Glee Club consideration.

Dr. Clisbe Leads Chapel Devotions

That grand old patriarch of Alma College Dr. Clisbe led the chapel devotions on Thursday morning last. It is a great privilege to hear Dr. Clisbe, for his words of wisdom are seasoned and tempered by years of Christian living and conduct.

He chose for his topic "The Higher Learning." The mass of knowledge which we acquire in college is after all not the only thing which we should strive to learn. While there is a great deal of worldly advantage in being versed in the Sciences, the languages, the histories and so forth still there is yet a higher learning.

Life is a school of experience. When a child is born it knows absolutely nothing. But as it grows in the great school of life there are many lessons to learn. When a boy learns to drive a nail, to ride a bicycle or to drive a car these things are very useful and well worth the time spent in learning them, but it is a much greater learning when he knows how to control his passions, to live a more Christian life and to practice worthy acts. Everyone spends a great deal of time on science, history, mathematics, literature but how much time do we spend on the higher learning, on becoming acquainted with God.

One should cultivate his acquaintanceship with God for in that way one will be admitted into the curriculum of the higher education and learn the greater lessons in the school of life.

Prominent Alumnus Is Fatally Shot

Edward C. Marsh, a graduate of Alma College in 1896 accidentally shot and killed himself near his country home at Pawling, N. Y., on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 24.

The following account of his death is taken from the New York Times of Sept. 26: Mr. Marsh met his death while returning home from target practice in a wood not far from his country place. He was accompanied by Mrs. Marsh and a party of friends. Although the members of the party had target rifles, Mr. Marsh carried a shotgun, it was said. On the way back the party had to pass gate bars in a stone wall. Mr. Marsh started to crawl between the bars when other members of the group were startled by a shot from his gun. They saw him lurch through the bars with blood streaming from a wound in his temple.

Mrs. Marsh and Mr. and Mrs. Lowrie hurried to the side of the wounded man. They realized that he was dangerously hurt and made frantic efforts to summon medical aid. Mr. Marsh was dead when Dr. Brook of the Harmony Road Sanitarium arrived. Dr. Brook said that Mr. Marsh had been killed instantly. The body was removed to Mr. Marsh's home "Little Chasm" from where it will be brought to New York City for cremation, in accordance with his wishes.

Edward Clark Marsh was widely known as a literary critic and as a writer of short stories. He was born in Portland, Mich., on Feb. 19, 1875, son of the Rev. Augustus and Martha Scott Marsh. He was graduated from Alma College, Michigan, in 1896, later studied at the University of Chicago, and in 1900 received his A. M. degree from the University of Michigan. The following year he married Helen Church, daughter of Nathan Church of Ithaca, Mich.

From 1900 to 1906 Mr. Marsh was in the newspaper business, contributing short stories to magazines and writing reviews of music, books and plays in various periodicals. He became associated with the MacMillan Company as head of the editorial department in 1906, remaining with that house until 1920, after having served as Vice-President and head of the publishing department. In 1921 he went to Harper & Bros. as editorial adviser. He edited "The Wisdom of Carlyle."

Mr. Marsh was a member of the Century and Players Clubs. He is survived by his wife, his mother, three brothers and three sisters.

MEET FERRIS

Instead of meeting Grand Rapids Junior here on Saturday as had been expected, the Alma College football team will journey to Big Rapids to meet the Ferris Institute aggregation.

Contracts for the Junior game were held in Grand Rapids for some weeks and then returned unsigned. It had been expected that Junior would accept the game. Immediate action secured Ferris as the opponent for Alma in place of the Furniture City eleven.

Alma should have a comparatively easy time with Ferris Saturday afternoon on the Big Rapids field, but it is doubtful if the Maroon and Cream will roll up as large a score as did Mt. Pleasant last Saturday on this same team, as the Mt. Pleasant eleven is not only strong but has had a full month's workout and is in fine shape.

Ferris is not expected to give as strong opposition as Junior would have furnished, but at such a late date it was impossible to secure any other attractive contests to fill in the date.

HOW M. I. A. A. TEAMS PERFORMED

Five of the seven college teams of the Michigan Intercollegiate got under way on Saturday. Following are the results of the games in which the M. I. A. A. teams played:

M. A. C. 33, Alma 0.
Hillsdale 27, Assumption 0.
Albion 31, Notre Dame Fresh 0.
Notre Dame 46, Kalamazoo 0.
G. R. Junior 6, Olivet 0.

ALMA WARRIORS LOSE TO AGGIES

SUPERIOR CONDITION OF AGGIES, DUE TO LONGER TRAINING CHECKS ALMA MEN.

Better condition from more weeks of practice, which gave the Michigan Aggies two sessions of workouts each day until the middle of this week when college opened there, tells the story of the M. A. C.-Alma game on College field Saturday, the Farmers winning 33 to 0 from the Maroon and Cream. The Presbyterians had been working out only two weeks, or since College opened.

When the fray opened and all during the first quarter Alma battled the Farmers to a standstill, neither team being able to make a first down. The entire quarter consisted of exchanges of punts on the third or fourth downs, Alma gaining slightly in ground during the period through the excellent running back of the Farmers' punts, on one exchange Hickerson ripping off a 35 yard run. During this quarter the Aggies were stopped without gains just as often as they were able to make ground. This was also true of Alma's attempts to cover ground from scrimmage. Time and again during the quarter the opposing teams broke through and spilled plays before they were started.

In the second quarter a successful forward pass put the Farmers well into Alma territory, but unable to gain they were forced to punt. Alma took the ball almost on her own goal line Johnston started to punt and Hickerson on the backfield started to cut a man down just as Johnston started the kick. The ball hit Hickerson in the back of the head and dropped behind the goal. One of the Farmers fell on it for the first touchdown of the game.

This fluke touchdown unsettled the Alma team considerably and before the team could get settled down the Farmers put over two more counters, line smashing being responsible for one, and the other coming on a forward pass. H. Catherman, who replaced Brackenberry in this quarter, was injured and taken from the game. He will probably be out for the remainder of the season.

In the third quarter a number of changes were made in the Alma lineup, as had been the case during the second quarter. The team went back onto the field and again in this quarter held the Farmers scoreless. The Farmers gained considerable ground in this quarter, however, and twice were piled up right on the goal line. Alma's offensive looked better in this quarter also, the Maroon and Cream making both of her first downs in this session. Two spectacular runs were made in this quarter, one a long return of a punt by Hickerson and the other a 35 yard end run by John—

Y. M. C. A. Hears Coach Campbell

Coach Campbell was the speaker at the first "Y" meeting of the year held in Pioneer Hall Thursday evening. About forty fellows were present to hear the coach give a sincere talk concerning Christian living at College.

The Coach pointed out the fact that religion is a natural impulse. Fellows, upon first coming to college, generally hide this feeling under the impression that by so doing they are showing themselves to be regular fellows. However, since a man is judged by his actions, a Christian living is the best means by which one can give an impression of fineness of character. It takes God and two men to make Christianity for Christianity is expressed only in association with others and in college this association is given the fullest opportunity to express itself. The coach's talk was illustrated by incidents taken from his own life, giving a direct, personal appeal to the gathering.

THE VALUE OF CLUBS

There were on the campus last year several organizations whose origin came about through a desire of students who came from the same city or territory to band together. Reference is made to the Thumb Club, the Upper Peninsula Club, the Saginaw Club. These organizations are perhaps so recent that they have not yet had a chance to show their real and ultimate value to the college. That there will undoubtedly be more organizations of this kind on the campus is a foregone conclusion, in fact the Flint Club is just about ready to make its bow.

That these clubs may have a definite value is beyond question. They can exert a great deal of good for the college. The primary basis on which these clubs should be organized is the enlistment of all its power to induce more people to come to college from the territory from which the club so proudly takes its name. The clubs should not only be organized for recreation and pleasure but should also have a real purpose for its existence. If the club has no real purpose then it should not be started for it will only be a detriment.

A powerful influence could be made to bear in the several communities which these clubs represent. The fame and name of Alma College should be widespread throughout these districts through the efforts of the club members. Every new organization naturally wants to become stronger and stronger, to have more influence and to have a widening scope of affairs. So the first question that clubs should be interested in is the infusion of new blood.

There should be a spirit of friendly rivalry existing between the various clubs on the campus. This would lead to a natural desire for one to outstrip the other and there one would have competition. But such competition would be a boon not only to the clubs but also to the college for the benefits of one would benefit the other.

Then you students who compose the Thumb Club, the Upper Peninsula Club, the Saginaw Club and the Flint Club use your time and efforts to attract other students from your communities here. Strive to outdo the other fellow and make your club the best and the one which counts the most. Cultivate a spirit of friendly rivalry and try to lead the race at the end of the year.

THE GOOD SHIP STAG

The Good Ship Stag was launched on its initial cruise of the year with a full crew and a heavy list of passengers. That jolly old sea-captain Wallie Kemp was on hand, First-mate Freeman, Second-mate Gay were all ready and eager for the command to heave ho. But where was Patton? Ah, he had treacherously deserted and joined the ranks of the hopeless, those past all salvation such as Wilson, Foster, Waggoner, Shaver and numerous others. But even this loss could not dampen the spirit of The Good Ship Stag and they hope that with fair weather and no storms in the offing that the present crew will remain intact at the end of the season. But you never can tell, for some of those elusive sea-maidens may lure the weaker of the crew to their domain. And so the Captain troops solemnly up and down the deck looking for breakers ahead.

enjoying their own time as too valuable to let such a small matter as the Glee Club interfere. Consequently the Glee Club suffered irreparable loss and there was no holiday trip.

All this was indeed very disheartening to Professor Beausang who labored patiently in the expectation that the Club would be able to have a trip. But lack of co-operation on every hand was discouraging and it was impossible for Professor Beausang to do everything.

With an early start this year, and with the mistakes of last year taken to heart the Club ought to profit greatly thereby. They must come to a realization that some sacrifices must be made if there is to be a Glee Club of which Professor Beausang may justly be proud and which he may send out on the road without the slightest hesitation.

Two years ago there was a successful club. But the members were all workers and did not shirk the weekly meetings whenever they felt disposed to do so. The result was that they had a record-breaking trip through the Upper Peninsula, played to capacity audiences and made a very fine impression in every city in which they sang. There was also a great deal of pleasure derived from the trip as well as the work connected with it.

There is no reason whatever to prevent such a trip being made this year. It is well worth the effort. Ask any of the fellows that were on that trip. They still harbor tales of their adventures the mere listening to of which will make you ambitious to become a member of this year's Glee Club.

The thought of having Professor Beausang as director should be stimulus enough to make you try your best. Alma is singularly fortunate in having such a splendid vocalist as Professor Beausang for its musical director. He is a musician par excellence and his interest and zeal in his work should make every prospective member of the Glee Club get back of it and push to the limit for only in such a way will the Club go over the top.

Y. W. C. A. PICNICS AT HONEYOI

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet of Alma College went to Honeyoi Saturday, Sept. 23, for the annual "retreat." Leaving Wright Hall at 10:30 the girls hiked out the west road burdened with notebooks and pencils for fun wasn't the primary issue. At eleven-thirty the fire was laid and ready for the match. The commissary department arrived and then a wail went up for the rolls had been left behind. A little thing like a hike back to town wouldn't daunt a Y. W. girl, and an hour later the rolls were in camp. The eats were soon ready and the hungry girls made rapid inroads on the supplies.

With the fire dying down and the beauty of nature all around, the girls formed their discussion circle. After a few general remarks by the president, the work of each committee chairman was taken up separately. Plans were made for this year's program and ways and means for its furtherance by each committee.

All too soon came the hour to return to the Hall. Each cabinet member felt that it was good for her to have been there. Some very definite and constructive plans were made, so that the work can go forward for the betterment of Alma College.

Y. W. C. A.

On Thursday night at seven o'clock the older members of the Y. W. C. A. received the new girls into membership. The recognition service was very simple but extremely impressive. The new girls were dressed in light colors and each was given a white candle. They marched two by two down the west stairway of Wright Hall. As they entered the reception room they were met by Miss Avis Lane, who carried a lighted candle. Each in passing lighted her own.

"As one lamp lights another nor grows less
So nobleness enkindleth nobleness."
Dean Montgomery and Miss Lanier led the girls in forming a living "Y." The older members stood up in recognition of the new members. After everyone was seated the service began. The Ninety-first Psalm was read responsively, followed by two prayers. The singing consisted of two hymns sung by all the girls.

Miss Helen Brien presided over the meeting, with Miss Emma Ritter at the piano. The lovely service was concluded with the Mizpah benediction.

PHILOMATHEAN

Roll call of the first regular Philomathean meeting was answered by each giving her favorite author. Then a rather long business meeting was held—so long in fact that there was no time left for the program. The meeting was then promptly adjourned.

KAPPA IOTA
The meeting of September 25 was called to order by the president, Henrietta Parker. The society has the honor of giving the first character party of the season, the details of which were discussed during this meeting.

ALPHA THETA
Alpha Theta Literary Society was called to order by the president, Edith Hughes. The evening was given over to a discussion of business, after which the meeting was adjourned.

APOLOGY DUE
To Kappa Iota Literary Society for misprint in last week's Almanian as to the president of the society. Miss Henrietta Parker is the president of Kappa Iota.

Prospects are that Alma College will have her first Chinese student this year, although possibly not until the second semester. The Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. at the College raised a fund for the purpose of bringing a foreign student to Alma again this year and a Chinese woman was selected. It had been expected that she would arrive this fall, but it is possible that she may not be able to enter Alma until the second semester.

Miss Annette P. Ward has moved to the residence of Mrs. Bittner at 520 West Superior street.

Miss Helen Cook, daughter of Professor and Mrs. A. P. Cook was married on Sept. 6 to John H. Collier of Washington, D. C. The ceremony was performed in the Church of the Covenant in Washington. Miss Cook was a member of the graduating class of 1908. After her graduation she served as librarian here until March 1918 when she left for Washington. Here she was employed in the Ordinance Bureau and at the close of the war in the Commerce Department.

The ceremony was unique in the fact that it was radioed throughout the city of Washington and as far as Baltimore. Professor and Mrs. Cook, and their daughter Edith, of Cleveland, were all present at the wedding.

An article in the Sept. 2 issue of the Dearborn Independent entitled "What a French Girl Thinks of Us" written anonymously, looks suspiciously like the work of Andree Pratoicy, of the class of 1921.

Miss Vernie Green, class of 1920, was married on Sept. 14 to Mr. Henry Merriman.

Another recent marriage is that of Miss Lura Miller, class of 1920, to Mr. Vincent Barrett of Deckerville, Mich.

The Almanian hopes to be able to maintain a permanent alumni column. News of the alumni will be welcomed and will receive prompt publication.

Arthur J. McIntyre, class of 1916, was a member of this year's graduating class from the Detroit College of Law.

Rev. Ernest R. Bacon, wife and two year old son visited Alma during August. Rev. Bacon was graduated from Alma in 1917, and from the McCormic Seminary in 1921. He is now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Montpelier, Ohio.

J. A. B. MacAuley, "Frim," toured Europe this summer in company with his wife. They visited England, Scotland, France, Germany, Switzerland, and Holland. "Frim" is at present re-engaged to teach in the High School at Marquette, Michigan.

Laurense, College
Trustee, is Dead

Leonard Laurense, of Deroit, a trustee of Alma College for many years, passed away at his home in that city last week after a long illness, making the second trustee that the College has lost by death during the past forty days, the other also being a Deroiter, Dr. James Barkley, who was the chairman of the Alma board.

Never a year went by at Alma College but that at Christmas time Mr. Laurense remembered the faculty members and students of the college. Each faculty member and student annually received a calendar from this member of the board, even during the past two years when he had been in very poor health. It is said by the college authorities that until two years ago, no trustee displayed a better record in attendance at meetings of the board than did the late Deroiter.

to carry out the colors chosen by Kappa Iota; cake and coffee.

After the pangs of hunger, created by the vigorous exercise, had been soothed, the new girls cheered lustily for Kappa Iota, as did also, the guests from Alpha Theta and Philomathean. Kappa Iota also gave several rapturous yells for Dean Montgomery, Mrs. Way, who was an important factor in making the party a success, the patronesses, and last of all, for the new girls.

The adieus came amid fervent expressions of appreciation from the guests. "Best time," "Wonderful eats," "Most original ideas," were heard on every side. Kappa Iota, with her abounding pep and enthusiasm achieved great success in her first character party, and was in no way handicapped by her extreme youth.

Campus Breezes

He Emersonized his morning through,
He Poed his mid-day lunch,
He Kiplinged through his beans and bread,
And Holmsed with every munch.

He Hawthorned on his way to class;
At dinner time the blighter
Will Shakespeared o'er his escalloped steak—
He dreamed he was a writer.

He Ruskined through his twilight time,
He Homered up to bed;
But now—Alas, he's raising sheep
At twenty bucks a head.
—Illinois Siren.

Smythe: "There's too much rouge on your lips."
Vamp: "Oh well the evening's young yet."

Fair One: "Wallie, You're wheezing dreadfully. Is it asthma?"
Kemp: "Nope. I'm all out of breath trying to catch up with my sleep."

Ask Sullivan what this means—"Oh don't mind me Mr. Sullivan."

How True
A woman isn't necessarily a jewel because she is set in her ways. Neither is she a Venus because she has an off-hand manner.

Lovell: "Why Ken, you have a terrible black eye, did you meet with an accident?"
Shrier: "No, I wouldn't exactly call her that."

Tough Luck
Zada: "Why didn't you find out who he was when the professor called the roll?"
Clarissa: "I did try to, but he answered for four different names."

An Honorable Degree
Said the friend to the proud father of a college graduate who had just been awarded an A. M. degree. "I suppose Robert will be looking for a Ph. D. next?"
"No, he will be looking for a J. O. B."

ston. This was lost to the locals, however when Alma was penalized 15 yards. This killed the one real offensive march that Alma started during the game.

In the fourth quarter the superior condition of the Aggies told, and the Maroon and Cream weakened rapidly. Two passes put the Farmers in a position to score, the touchdown coming on a linesmash early in the quarter, the ball being just over the line on the fourth down. The Alma defense threw the Aggies back on the the playing field, but the referee ruled that when the ball stopped its forward progress it was over the line. The final touchdown came by way of a forward pass, which was the prettiest of the entire day. This touchdown came just one minute before the close of the game.

Although badly beaten by the Aggies the Alma team shows real possibilities. The Aggies have the strongest outfit that they have had in some years, so a comparison from games of past years regarding the merits of the Alma team is out of the question. The fact that at the start of the game and during the entire first quarter the better conditioned Aggies, because of much greater workouts, were held without making a first down speaks well for the possibilities of the Alma team when it gets under way in the M. I. A. A. games.

The work of Hickerson, Brackenberry and Johnston was the outstanding feature of the game from an Alma viewpoint. These men were late in reporting for practice and were not in condition to stand the pace the entire game. Their work during the earlier part of the fray was a revelation to the Alma fans.

BETA TAU EPSILON
The meeting of Sept. 25 was entirely devoted to business. Names of possible future members of the society were discussed and voted upon. Plans for beautifying the society room were also discussed. This was followed by adjournment of the meeting.
