ANNUAL FEAST IS HELD BY SWIPES

WIELDERS OF THE TRAY DINE IN ROYAL STYLE AT PARK HOTEL, ST. LOUIS.

The Annual Swipes' Banquet was held in true style Wednesday evening, October 18, at the Park Hotel, St. Louis, Mrs. Way and Mrs. Montgomery being the guests of honor. This yearly privilege of the Swipes to sit at a table and let someone else carelessly handle the dishes is becoming one of the most exclusive and highly satisfactory events of which the social calendar can boast and one which is looked forward to by all the Swipes and their lucky Swipettes. On Wednesday morning each Swipe appeared with the scarlet and green ribbon pinned to him and it was not long before certain members of the fair sex were seen wearing the colors as a sign of being pledged into the Swipes' fraternity and showing that they were the lucky ones chosen to attend the banquet.

A few minutes after seven the Grand March was begun, led by Forrest Freeman and Mable Bradford. The one long table was appropriately but simply decorated with clusters of maroon candles in white settings, giving an artistic effect to the whole table. After a prayer by Wallace Kemp, a banquet was served, the remembrances of which will long linger in the mind of each one present. The swipes proved that soup can contain harmony and as to the fried chicken—words fail us. Between bites Stew kept things humming at his end of the table and laughter was so prevalent that some forgot to eat. At any rate, no one can complain of a dull evening, and the Swipes got rid of a year's supply of stored up table manners. There was no hurrying thru with this meal and it was not until everyone could lean back in his chair and refuse seconds that Toastmaster Boyd began the second stage of the evening's entertainment.

With appropriate remarks and stories of doubtful authenticity, Hugh Tarrant, the first speaker on the program was introduced. With his subject, "Front and Center," Hugh showed how the Swipes are always Front and Center, ready to help serve their fellow students and then drew an analogy between this and the spirit of Front and Center, or service, in later life. This clever and earnest speech made the group see at once that the Swipes are really preparing themselves for the greater service which will come after the days of Wright Hall swipecood are among memories. Of course, during the meal, Stu was heard from frequently but the program would not have been complete without one of those "new ones" (Continued on page two)

VIOLIN RECITAL

The violin recital by Roderick White in the Chapel last Thursday drew a small but appreciative audience. Mr. White made a fine impression and graciously responded to several encores. The diversity of his program brought into play every mode of tone that can be expressed by a violin. Mr. White's versatility, his deftness of touch, perfect technique and exquisite interpretation, instantly stamped him as a master in his field.

His choice of program was excellent, every number being of unusual merit. The program as given follows:

- I. Sonata in C-minor.....Grieg
 - (a) Allegro con Brio
 - (b) Allegro quasi Romanza
 - (c) Allegro Molto
- II. (a) Minuette Haydn-Burmester
- (b) Nobody Knows De Trouble I'se Seen.....Cameron White
- (c) Waltz.....Brahms-Hochstein
- (d) Ballet Music from 'Rosamunde'.....Schubert-Kreisler
- III. (a) In a Chinese Temple.....Clerbois.
- (b) Hindu Chant.....Rimsky-Korsakov.
- (c) Habanera.....Sarasate
- IV. (a) Polka.....Tor Aulin
- (b) Spanish Dance.....Grandos
- (c) Moto Perpetuo.....Novacek

M. I. A. A. RESULTS

Michigan Intercollegiate teams contests this past week demonstrated that if Michigan State Normal was a contender for the title Alma must now be considered in this light. There were no great upsets unless the defeat handed to Hillsdale by Toledo U can be so regarded. The scores follow:
Alma College 14, Michigan State Normal 0.
Albion College 31, Olivet 0.
Hillsdale College 0, Toledo University 6.
Kalamazoo College 6, Morning-side College 13.

REV. GREEN TALKS ON 'APPRECIATION'

CHAPEL AUDIENCE HEARS FINE ADDRESS GIVEN BY FAVORITE SPEAKER.

In announcing Rev. Green in Chapel Thursday morning Prof. Hamilton said that "The citizens of Ionia are bidding for the services of Mr. Green and it is possible that we are soon to miss one of our favorite speakers from our community."

Certainly Rev. Green is a favorite in Alma and appears here frequently at various events and certainly his going would be a loss to Alma.

Rev. Green announced his topic as "Appreciation". He spoke of the beauties of our literature and of how devoid our lives would be of real joy were that literature suddenly taken from us. The wonderful fact of the thinkers of all the ages carefully recording their thoughts for our special benefit compels an appreciation which alone cannot be fulfilled.

Then there is the beautiful Nature which God, the Master Artist, has cast from the molten mass of the Universe for our special benefit. "What I don't know about 'Bugology'", he said, "would fill a lot of space but I thank my God that there is that in me which responds to a beautiful sunset, a maple tree in autumn, a summer sky."

Music, too, is a thing which could demand a lot of appreciation from us. Just that scores, hundreds, of the best brains and hearts that Europe and America has produced have penned for us their best inspirations and that today artists spend a fortune and their lives that those thots may be presented to us in their most acceptable form compels an appreciation.

And people! those with whom we come in contact. Those people who by their lives and their purposes make attempts at purpose and life seem shallow and ineffective. Those groupings of people into nations, our nation where today a dollar will buy an armload of German marks and a bushel of Russian Rubles!

"To appreciate," said Rev. Green, "is to accept and use"; to respect that literature, to worship that God through Nature, to enjoy that music, to love people, in a word,—to live.

Mrs. A. R. Gerow of Cheboygan, arrived Saturday to be the guest of her daughters, Mildred and Mary, for a week.

Rodolph Valentino in "Blood and Sand" Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

M. I. A. A. GAMES FOR THIS WEEK

Four games comprise the M. I. A. A. list this week, but will see six of the teams in action. The strictly association contests are Albion vs. Hillsdale and Alma vs. Olivet. The games follow:
At Olivet—Alma College vs. Olivet College.
At Hillsdale—Albion vs. Hillsdale.
At Kalamazoo—Kalamazoo College vs. Marietta (Ohio).
At Ypsilanti—Michigan State Normal vs. Detroit Junior College.

M. O. L. Delegates Meet at Albion

The annual fall meeting of the directors of the Michigan Oratorical League was held at Albion, Friday, October 20. With the exception of Hillsdale, all the M. O. L. colleges were represented. Aside from the routine of regular business, several matters of importance were taken up.

At the last meeting of the directors last year an amendment was voted upon providing for the election of a faculty advisor to serve for four years. The election of the advisor was deferred until this year and at the Albion meeting Professor Eubank of Albion College was unanimously chosen for this position. Professor Eubank has always been active in the affairs of the League, and has a valuable working knowledge of its operation. The election of an advisor to serve for four years serves to hold the organization together by providing an officer to take charge and direct the ever changing student board of directors.

The second matter of importance was the step taken towards the organization of an inter-collegiate debating league. The need for such an organization has long been felt, and to meet this need a committee was appointed at the last meeting to draw up a tentative constitution for such a league and present it at this meeting. The constitution was presented and discussed. Due, however, to the fact that Hillsdale was not represented and that Adrian will be unable to debate this year, a permanent organization was not effected. Until a more lasting agreement is reached, a double triangle will be operated. Contracts were signed whereby Albion, Olivet and Ypsilanti comprise one triangle while Alma, Hope, and Kalamazoo make up the other. The winners of the two triangles are to debate for the championship. It is hoped that from this tentative plan, a permanent debating league will in time be effected.

Mary Peets spent the week-end at her home in Grosse Point.

ALMA DEFEATS YPSI IN SPIRITED GAME

SUPERIOR PLAY OF ALMA ELEVATES NETS TWO TOUCHDOWNS IN LAST HALF.

Michigan State Normal's Michigan Intercollegiate titular hopes went crashing to the ground Saturday afternoon on Davis field, put there by a great onslaught by the Maroon and Cream, and those hopes so fondly cherished since practice first started, must of necessity be put away until another season. The reason for the hopes going by the boards was a 14 to 0 defeat inflicted on the best team that the Teachers ever had by the fighting Presbyterian eleven.

The Normal did not go to defeat without making a great fight, and while the first quarter was about even, the Normals clearly outplayed Alma in the second stanza of the struggle and managed to get close enough to the Alma goal during this period to attempt a dropkick. To evade Maroon Jerseys the kick was hurried and went wide of the mark. Gaining ground when near the Alma goal was an impossibility for McCulloch's men. Fumbles, recovered by Ypsi, were the main reason for Ypsi's superior showing in this period. Just before it ended a break came Alma's way, when Alma punted out of danger and recovered her own kick. Just before the half ended a forward pass sailed across the Ypsi goal into the outstretched arms of a Maroon jersey, the arms of which failed to encircle the ball in time to hold it and the first chance to score a touchdown by either team had been lost.

Soon after the opening of the second half Alma was forced to punt and Ypsilanti took the ball on her own forty yard mark. Schlack ripped off a first down that just put the oval into Alma territory. On the following play Clarke took the ball, and hit by three Alma men at the same time, the ball was knocked into the air. Zuelch grabbed the pigskin and behind perfect interference, that cut down every attempt on the part of Ypsi to field Zuelch, and he tore across the field 51 yards to the Ypsilanti goal for a touchdown. McDonald in the scrimmage kicked a dropkick for the extra point.

Following the kickoff Alma forced Ypsi to punt and Alma punted back. Ypsilanti opened the best offensive that she displayed during the day, but it was soon stopped and Ypsi forced to punt, Alma taking the ball on the Ypsilanti 49 yard mark. The Maroon and Cream launched an offensive at the line, with H. Catherman, McDonald and Carty slashing through. On the Ypsilanti 15 Gregory intercepted an Alma pass and with an open field seemed to have a certain touchdown. Beam far behind him tore down the field and after Gregory had gone 65 yards Beam pulled him to earth on the Alma 20. (Continued on page three)

MEET OLIVET

Saturday the Maroon and Cream will meet Olivet on the Olivet grid and a hot battle is in prospect, although dope makes Alma look like a winner over the Crimson's aggregation.

Dope, however, is anything but reliable in Olivet-Alma games. The Congregationalists have one bad habit of putting up their one best game of the year against the teams of Alma, and on their own soil are regarded as regular bearcats for any team to face. Hence rises the question as to whether Alma can win or not.

After last year it is certain Alma will not regard a victory over the Crimson as sure until it has been won. And this one fact is certain to spur Coach Campbell and his cohorts to the limit in getting his team in shape for action on the Olivet cow-pasture.

Should Alma be fortunate enough to pull through according to dope she will still find against her a team that will fight every inch of ground before it yields in the least. Thus a game worth seeing is a certainty.

WRIGHT HALL RULES

The talk given by Dean Montgomery on Wright Hall Rules was very well taken by the male element of the college. The necessity of helping to keep these rules was brought forcibly home to everyone. However, it would not be amiss to add a few more words on the subject.

A rule in itself is simple enough to break, but there should be the thought of honor to deter anyone from attempting such a thing. Some of the rules, to the fellows, may seem far-fetched and a little too stringent. Thus they reason that such rules were made to be broken and the one who is clever enough to get away with it deserves all due credit. But such reasoning is purely selfish, and does not deserve mention.

The rules have been made by a senate composed of Wright Hall girls and approved by the Dean. Thus it is conclusive that the rules do fairly represent the young women. When the men of the college violate these rules, they transgress the privileges that have been codified by the women. The Senate this year is on trial as it was instituted only last year under the direction of Dean Roberts. The women want the senate to be a success and the men should co-operate by trying to make their work the less hard.

There is no reason why the men cannot adhere to the principles which have been laid down. The work of the senate will be made less arduous, the Dean will be made to feel that someone is not continually trying to put something over on her, and thus circumstances will be made the more pleasant for all.

If the rules will be looked upon in their true relationship to the women of Wright Hall, they will not seem so trivial and unimportant and thus they will not be so readily broken. It is only through carelessness and a failure to think straight that rules are disregarded.

VITAL STATISTICS

The army tests a few years ago revealed some startling things. Of 1,750,000 men examined by the government, only 4% of them were fit for superior officers, for college, or university training. Why, then should a youth as soon as he finishes the eighth grade or the high school, leave his home to earn money, if he is to become a success in life, as all youths hope to be? Parents who will not let their children finish high school because of some funny ideas, ought to be held as criminals and treated as such. The "why" go to high school and especially the "why" go to college is answered by the following statistics:

Out of every hundred pupils who enter public schools only fifteen remain to graduate from high school and fewer than three finish college.

Illiteracy is costing the United States $825,000,000 annually thru accidents and inefficiency.

A grade school education multiplies your chances by four, high school by seven, and college education by fifteen. Every day spent in school pays the child $9. Each day spent in high school is worth $25 to each pupil, and each day spent in college is worth $55.55. You can't earn as much money by quitting school and going to work as you can by finishing school. The world is looking for trained minds and will pay well for them. The world is run by men and women who are prepared for their tasks by education.

In the United States as a whole the average college graduate earns $2,000 a year, the average high school graduate $1,000, and the average elementary school graduate $500.

There is no "royal road to knowledge." Make sacrifices if necessary, forego pleasures if money is not your particular friend, work your way thru school if there is no other way. Whatever the apparent handicaps, there is some way somewhere and the years spent in study now will be the most valuable investment you will ever make. Stay in school and study.

of his. For ten minutes everyone was rollicking with laughter over his realistic picture of the Jewish family on the picnic.

Without a speech from one of the Swipettes, the program would have had an essential part missing, so Margaret Poole responded with "Count 'Em (13), showed that she was a well chosen representative of the Swipettes and her words were heartily applauded.

"And again we suffer" was the murmur from those who attended last year's banquet as the Dish Smashers quartette was announced, consisting of Fry, Pratt, Tarrant and Freeman. Luck was with them, tho, and Fry and Pratt started on the same tone for a change. After a parody which awakened tender and poignant memories, an encore was given which disclosed—horrors—a scandal! A Wright Hall woman and a Pioneer man went up the river but when they returned they each had a coat of tan on the opposite sides of their faces and strange to say, Russ Wilson's name was mentioned somewhere during the song. The least that we can say is the quartette has improved with age.

Last but certainly not least, came SID with his eternal plea of fellowship. And what more appropriate ending of the speeches could have been devised than a discourse on the fellowship of the Swipes? Each Swipe is to do his part and a breaking down of his spirits means the ending of the true democracy which is manifest among the members of the organization. SID came out with a fine speech and his stories, while perhaps personal, were to the point and well appreciated.

This concluded the regular program but no college party of any sort could be complete without the singing of the College Song and the "Glory and love to our college dear" made the old walls ring with the spirit and exuberance of youth.

On the way home songs were sung and the little group felt more than ever that Swipes are a vital part of Alma College, a feeling that was shown throughout the evening and which will live forever in the hearts of those who attended the 1922 Swipes' Banquet.

Y. W. C. A. DANCE

The Y. W. C. A. dance Saturday night was certainly a fitting conclusion to the activities of the day, and might truly be termed the end of a perfect day. Flushed with victory and exuberant with joy, everyone felt as if they could dance on and on forever. The strain of the afternoon was all forgotten, and light feet kept rhythmic accompaniment to the music of Gallagher's Ramblers.

As the reception room was not large enough to hold the dancers part of the dining-room and the mens waiting room was also thrown open. This provided ample space for even the most adventurous to travel whether they wished. It seemed somewhat of a novelty to dance once more in Wright Hall, but the success of this dance should lead to many more. It was supposed to be a no-date affair, but it was surprising, to say the least, how quickly couples were paired up. Perhaps it was through mental telepathy that they came to such rapid understanding.

There were plenty of stags on the side lines, and some were lucky enough to entice someone's else partner away for just one dance. There were no programs, so the patience of the stags received due consideration. They were anxious to be given a try-out, and some realized their wishes.

The well-filled punch bowl attracted a crowd of devotees who warily sampled it at first, but who could not be dragged away after. The punch was unusually good, and what was most important there was plenty of it. No one stopped at seconds, but went on and on and on.

Time however took no notice of pleasure, for the minutes sped ruthlessly by. The sad strains of "Good Night Ladies" began and a look of resignation crept over every face. They danced until the very last note, for everyone knew only too well that there would not be another dance for two whole weeks. Regretful adieus were said. Soon Wright Hall once more became a picture of serenity and peacefulness.

Mrs. E. Desjardins of Lapeer, and Mrs. Charles Laughlin of Lapeer were guests of the former's daughter Ernestine, over the week-end.

Miss Lois Blankenship of Royal Oak, visited Elizabeth and Katherine Jenkins over the week-end.

Marjorie McLearn had as a week-end guest, Miss Grace Putman, of Flint.

Avis Lane visited her parents in Midland for the week-end.

PHILOMATHEAN OPEN MEETING

Monday night in the reception room the Philomathean Literary Society held its open meeting before a large number of guests. After the opening ceremonies, the president, Mildred Gercw, announced the course of study for the year, "The Short Story." Helen Scott read an excellent paper on "The Short Story" tracing its development up to the present day. Margaret Holmes pleased the guests with a whistling solo and Clarissa Vreeland, with a piano solo. A one-act play, "Sham" was offered. The cast included Margaret Poole, Pauline Strick, Esther Boyce and Christine Decker. The play had to do with the pretense that exists in the society world. Charles and Clara, upon returning from the theater, discovered a thief in their would-be stylish apartment. A series of robberies has been going on in the neighborhood and it has been noted that the thief must be a person of rare discrimination, for he makes off with only the best articles. After the first shock of encounter is over, the thief makes the couple see that they would be in deep disgrace if they kept their things intact, for the neighbors would come to the conclusion that they had nothing worth taking. Then there follows a period when the couple use their utmost persuasion to induce the thief to take some of their choicest possessions. The thief, however, rejects them all as being sham. The situation is made more desperate when a newspaper reporter comes on the scene and the young couple have to invent excuses for themselves in order to relieve their predicament.

Miss Esther Packard and Miss Grace Baxter, of Mount Pleasant, visited friends in the hall over the week-end.

It was Ypsilanti's last chance, the Teachers losing 7 yards on the four downs.

Soon after the final quarter opened McDonald attempted a dropkick from the Ypsilanti 25 yard mark. It failed. Ypsilanti started another attack, but on the 35 yard line McNaughton grabbed an Ypsilanti pass and went to the Teachers five yard line. A penalty gave Alma two yards. On the second play McDonald went over with the ball, almost the entire Ypsi team being offside on the play. McDonald booted the ball by dropkick. After the next kickoff Alma worked the ball to the Ypsi 5 yard stripe and Ypsi punted to midfield just as time was called.

Alma's defense showed the best of any time during the season and while the Teachers found holes in the line when in midfield at times they could do nothing when the Alma goal was threatened. To Johnston, and to Carty must go a big share of the credit for the victory, but it must be said in defense of the other men that every man played a sterling game, the kind of football that knows no defeat. Gregory and Clarke starred for Ypsi.

M. I. A. A. CROSS COUNTRY

The Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association Cross Country run will be held at Kalamazoo at 2:15 P. M. Saturday, November 18, 1922. This is the first year that the M. I. A. A. has fostered the event. Kalamazoo is to be congratulated for her interest and zeal in the event and her desire that it will be a success. It is hoped that every college will be represented so that the event will be bound to be a success.

The teams are to consist of not more than six or less than five men. The first five men to finish will count in the team score. The course will be about four and one quarter miles. The team scoring the least number of points will be awarded the M. I. A. A. championship Cross Country Banner. Gold, silver and three bronze medals will be awarded the first five men to finish.

Coach Campbell has stated that Alma will be unable to be represented. However Kalamazoo is to be complimented on starting such an unusual event, and perhaps next year Alma will be in a position to send a delegation to such a meet.

BETA TAU EPSILON

The meeting was called to order by President Apsey. The society discussed proposed new members and voted on them. Then the meeting was turned over to Mr. Burke, acting instead of Vice-president Grover, and a short program was delivered. Mr. Patton read a chapter from a book entitled "Why Go to College." Mr. Apsey gave a fine talk on the future of the society. Mr. Baker gave the Critic's report. The initiation of five new men, Seeger, Morrison, Frostwick, Kreeser and Holland occupied the rest of the meeting. This brings the total of the men in the society up to twenty-three.

Dick Waggoner (with week's beard)—Do you think that old razor will do it?
Barber—It will, sir—if the handle doesn't break.

His Scattered Acquaintance
She—What were you doing after the accident?
He—Oh, just scraping up an old acquaintance.

Indefinite Instruction
Prof. Cook—Your first duty will be to post this ledger.
Alvina Curtis (New office recruit)—Yes sir. Where shall I send it?

No Chance
What were your father's last words?
Father had no last words, mother was with him to the end.

Surgeon—After the crash I ran over to where it lay on the pavement, and when I raised it up I saw at once that it's ribs were smashed, while a gaping hole was torn in its—

Reporter—"Pardon me, doctor, but if you haven't any objections I would like to take a few notes on this accident case." He pulled a notebook out of his pocket. "Was the case a man or a woman?"
Surgeon—Neither, I was simply talking about my umbrella.

Dean Montgomery has borrowed the Coach's stop watch to time the farewell of couples on Friday night.

Careless Of Him
Irene—Poor Red is so unfortunate. Buff—Why how's that?
Irene—During the track meet he broke one of the best records they had in college.

Prof. Ditto—Wake that fellow next to you, will you?
Student—Aw, do it yourself, you put him to sleep.

In a pinch use ALLEN'S FOOT EASE.

Chas. Way, bursting into the drawing room. "Fromilda, I've been playing postman and I've put a letter in every room in the Hall."
Fromilda—Nonsense, child, where did you get the letters?
Chas. Way—Oh, I found them in a drawer in your wardrobe all done up with pink ribbon.

Crit—Are you in favor of women taking an active part in politics?
Gerald—I'm not sure. If Henrietta takes to throwing her hat into the ring its 'going to cost something.

Y. W. C. A. MEETING
The young women of Wright Hall met Thursday night in the customary place before the fire in anticipation of hearing the talk, "Larks and Sparrows." Marjorie McLearn, the leader pointed out the qualities which made the lark so much more admired than the sparrow. "The lark is always soaring upward, thinking only of the best and associating with the best. The sparrow on the other hand is always grubbing around on the ground, doing no good and often working great havoc. There are people with whom we associate that give us the best and there are others who call forth nothing whatever. Are we to be sparrows or larks?"

Miss Marjorie Daw of Ypsilanti was the guest of Margaret Morrison over the week-end.

Elizabeth Munger had as her week-end guest, Miss Natalie Stern, of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Potter of Flint visited Thelma Potter Sunday.

Helen Scott visited her parents at her home in Redford, Sunday.
