OPENING ADDRESS

On the Advantages of the Small College vs. the University

BY DR. G. B. RANDELS

One of the Best Ever Given on Such An Occasion in the College Chapel

One of the best addresses ever given at an opening exercise in Alma was given by Dr. George B. Randels Tuesday morning in the college chapel. The address showed an almost unlimited amount of research and careful study of the conditions of the small and large colleges and the universities. Dr. Randels first proceeded to show plainly the difference between a college and a university, showing that the people of

GEORGE B. RANDELS

Michigan in general do not have a clear conception of what a university is. As far back as the eleventh century the arts faculty prepared students to enter law, medicine and theology courses. This was the beginning of the college idea. In Germany the arts work and preparation for the special schools or university are done in preparatory schools, so Germany has no real colleges but has many great universities.

In England, the college idea, instead of the university, is in vogue. In short, he said, "The university is a school of specialists where students study law, medicine, theology and the like. Their work is largely research and of a special nature, while in the college the course is more of a general nature and endeavors to develop breadth of grasp, leadership and manhood." The liberal arts department of our large universities are properly named colleges, as they are now called at Harvard, Columbia, Pennsylvania and many other of our large eastern institutions.

Mr. Randels said in discussing the work done in the colleges and the university proper that college students should take time for college life in its proper sense while the

FRESHMAN GIRLS' CONTEST.

The freshman girls' contest, held on Tuesday evening before the holidays, was a decided success in every way. The student body was surprised at the ability shown by each of the four contestants. Miss Ethel G. Thompson won first honors with an oration on "Equal Suffrage," her delivery was exceptionally strong and her composition was good. Miss Marcia Carl won second with an oration on "Frances E. Willard." Miss Carl had a splendid oration and it was well delivered.

President Blaisdell surely has started the right spirit along the line of oratory among the first year men and women. Both contests being much better than was expected from first year students. The success of both surely warrant the continuation of this plan into future years.

NEW BULLETINS OUT.

The three new bulletins of the College are now out. One containing an explanation of the new College extension work, another goes over the athletic situation at Alma, and another is a greeting in the form of a blotting pad. These will be mailed to anyone upon request.

Saturday classes for teachers will be organized on Saturday of this week and evening classes will be organized next week. Alma College will have another new feature this year which will be a splendid opportunity for teachers in the vicinity of Alma as well as for regular college students to make extra college credits. This is the summer session which will begin June 23 and continue six weeks, offering a limited number of elective courses. The work will be intensive and enable students to make as many as six credits in six weeks. Subjects of special value to teachers will be presented. Only work of college grade will be offered.

ALUMNI NOTES.

A meeting of the alumni was held at the home of Miss Helen Cook during the Christmas vacation and a splendid time was enjoyed by all. Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Blaisdell, Prof. Mitchell, Dr. Randels, Misses Gretta Bagley, Emma Swigart, Florence Hood, Laura Brown, Ella Bittner, Lois Fraker, Ruth Hovey, Hattie Mills, Myrtie Creaser, Marion Spinney and Messrs. Robert Von Thurn, Foster Fraker and Harlow Whittemore. Interesting talks were given by Dr. Blaisdell, Prof. Mitchell and Dr. Randels.

Thomas Palmer and Miss Margaret Kadel were married on October 30, at Terre Haute, Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer are cosily located in their new home at 540 Cadillac avenue, Detroit. Tom, who for three years was one of Alma's popular students, now holds a responsible position with the American Still Alarm company at 150 Wayne street, having charge of the electrical work of the large concern.

A new letter press has been installed in Dr. Blaisdell's office.

"Freddie" Myers is employed by the Michigan Central R. R. Co. at Jackson.

The Hooper family enjoyed a visit from Rev. and Mrs. Sidebotham last week.

'BOB'S' CHRISTMAS PRESENTS.

During the last chapel exercises before vacation, Professor Mitchell, in behalf of the men of the college, called upon ex-captains Edgerton and Johnson to escort Mr. Robert Fredericks to the front of the platform, where he presented him with a fine maroon sweater, as a token of the love and respect that the boys have for the "Grand Old Man of Alma." "Bob" surely showed his appreciation and wished the boys all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Later in the day the girls of the Kindergarten department presented the kind old janitor with a purse and what it contained as a token of their respect for him.

GIRLS GO CAROLING.

The members of the kindergarten department have established a custom of caroling at midnight before they leave for the Christmas vacation. This time they spent the greater part of two hours before the homes of the different members of the faculty as well as many of the Alma citizens, also visiting the Masonic Home. This is a splendid custom and is much enjoyed by those whom the girls visit. Do it again, girls, it is much better to sing Christmas carols before vacation than to play pranks.

MR. ANDERSON WEDS.

During the holidays, Mr. John Anderson, vocal instructor in the School of Music, set an example for other members of the faculty to follow. He quietly went over to Big Rapids and took unto himself a wife. The marriage ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Lester, on Christmas day. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson will occupy the new home being built on College street. The students and Almanian extend hearty congratulations to Mr. Anderson and wish them both a very happy life.

President Blaisdell attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Michigan State Teachers' association of which he is a member, just previous to vacation.

OPENING RECITAL

Of Concert Course a Great Success and Much Appreciated

KELLERMAN A GREAT SOLOIST

Both With Dramatic and Lyric Songs—Mr. Parson Ably Accompanied the Artist

Marcus Kellerman, formerly of the Berlin Royal Opera, appeared in Recital in the college chapel December 19th. It was the consensus of opinion that Kellerman is by far the greatest singer who has ever appeared before an Alma audience; and he was received accordingly, the enthusiasm exceeding anything of the sort ever manifested by a local gathering.

Added to a magnificent physique and a voice in proportion, Kellerman has a splendid stage presence, and is a perfect master of his voice, which is very plastic, capable of a heavy degree both of volume and of variations in tone quality, producing pianissimos imaginable.

In "Henrich, der Vogler," by Loewe, "Die drei Wanderer," and the "Pirate Song," the singer demonstrated a wonderful dramatic quality, surpassing that of any other baritone on the American concert platform. In the beautiful song by Czerwonky, "O think of me," "The Hour of Dreaming," by R. Hahn, "The Rosary," and the "Evening Star," from Tannhaeuser (these latter generously given as encores) he showed an almost equally remarkable ability as a lyric singer.

The accompaniments were played faultlessly by Mr. Parson, who followed every move, every breath, of the singer, and ably co-operated in making this song recital one long to be remembered. Mr. Parson also showed great talent as a soloist in a Polonaise by McDowell, and still more in the Liebestraum by Liszt. As an encore he played a well known Chopin Mazurka.

Many of those present voiced the hope that these artists may be secured for a return engagement next year. One way to do this is to support the efforts of the management the rest of this year. A large number of season tickets must still be sold in order to save the management from heavy loss.

ORATORS CHOSEN.

Two of the nine colleges represented in the Michigan Intercollegiate Oratorical association, Albion and Olivet, selected their representatives for the state contest before Christmas vacation. Ralph L. Peterson, who last year won the state and interstate Prohibition contests, will represent Albion. Mr. Peterson is one of the ablest representatives the strong Methodist institution has ever had. Willis B. Perkins, son of Judge Perkins of Grand Rapids, will represent Olivet. Mr. Peterson's oration is "The Demand of Efficiency." Mr. Perkin's is "The Pendulum of Politics."

DOWN TO WORK.

Everybody has had his rest and his fun, and a whole two weeks of it. Now is the time to get down to business. The winter months are the best for real hard study. Then, too, there are the examinations within two weeks and some one will need to be busy. There is no chance for spring fever this kind of weather, so let every student help create a good healthy atmosphere for a real study.

NEWS ITEMS.

Two new students entered college last week, Miss Nellie Chisolm and Ives McCredie. Miss Chisolm is a member of the music school while Mr. McCredie is a senior academy student.

Coach Bleamaster has organized a business men's class in physical culture which meets three times a week.

Mrs. Blaisdell is in the hospital at Ann Arbor receiving treatment for an injured hand, and is doing very nicely.

The weekly recitals of the music
school were resumed again last Friday and a splendid program was enjoyed by those present.

Robert Cook is again seen around the campus.

Miss Ida MacPherson visited Ruth Robinson Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Miss Bess Martin spent Wednesday with Josephine Butler.

Frank Anderson visited Alma friends last week.

The Christmas party given at Wright Hall the Wednesday before school closed was a decided success.
In spite of the fact that things were not as they had been planned, the stunts gotten up on the spur of the moment were an entertaining program. Although there was no tree, everybody was made happy by a gift.

Dr. Randels occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian church at Mt. Pleasant Sunday.

BASKET-BALL.

Two separate teams sent against the fast Grand Rapids "Y" quintet failed to startle them greatly and the Maroon and Cream went down to defeat in a snappy basket-ball game
Friday night by the score of 34 to 20.
Coach Bleamaster dispatched the reserves to start the game and they responded to the confidence which he placed in them by holding the visitors to a 13 to 11 lead. Vogt, Hyde, and Austin showed varsity caliber
and were the stars for the home team. In the second half against the regulars the Furniture City men added ten points to their lead and the game ended with the score of 34 to 20.
Hooper and Johnson held the invaders within reasonable bounds. M. Cook and Montgomery with four baskets apiece starred for the Y. M. C. A.

By winning four games in succession the Seniors captured the inter-class basket-ball title and all the honor that goes with it.

REV. MASON'S PLAN.

Rev. W. H. Mason, pastor of the college church, has planned to have a series of special talks at prayer meetings. The special services began Jan. 9, and will continue until the end of June. Young men and young women of the college will alternate weekly in having charge.

"DUTCH" SPREAD.

The German table at Wright Hall livened up things before vacation with a unique "Dutch" spread. Each member of the table was dressed in the real old country style, and all were compelled to carry on their conversation in German. They drank their root BEER from the bottles.
The spread furnished amusement for the entire dining hall.

specialists of the university strive sixteen or eighteen hours a day to make only a doctor or whatever he was to be. "We send people to college to come out men."

By the use of splendid charts, which he prepared himself, the Professor showed conclusively that a larger percentage of students from small colleges receive fellowships than from larger colleges or from colleges connected with large universities. He made plain the fact that a student had a much greater chance to find himself in a small college than in a large institution, whether it be in athletics or any other phase of work.

The lecture method is little used in small colleges and Prof. Randels quoted President Butler of Columbia University and others to the fact that the lecture system of the large university, although necessary to a certain extent, has become deplorable. President-elect Wilson, while president of Princeton University, did much to bring back the small college idea, which he said was best.

After Dr. Randels' masterful address every student of Alma surely felt proud as well as thankful that he has the privilege of attending a small college, and especially Alma College in this time of its rapid advancement.

PROHIBITION LEAGUE.

The work of the college prohibition movement was revived again Wednesday, Dec. 18, when traveling secretary, Charles Wesley Young, of Chicago, made his visit to Alma. President Johnson and Mr. Young spent some time in laying plans for the local work. The secretary spoke to a body of young men Wednesday evening on the work and the possibilities of the movement in the United States. The following morning he addressed the student body. Many new members were added to the association.

The faculty is planning on introducing a course in the study of present day liquor problems for the second semester. This course will be open to all students and college credit will be given for the work done.

FOOTBALL CALENDARS.

The Almanian started something new in the way of calendars just before Christmas, when they put out over one hundred fifty football calendars. On these was a fine cut of the team with the name of each player and at the bottom was a 1913 calendar pad. Nearly every student now looks at a football calendar to find his date.

EUTERPE GIRLS

ENTERTAINED.

Instead of having a regular meeting the last Monday before vacation, the Euterpe society was invited over to Helen Cook's to spend the evening. It was in form of a Thimble Party, and it is needless to add that the usual good time and "eats" were enjoyed.

Arthur Simenton and Jean McGill were delayed in returning to college.

HARPER TO NOTRE DAME.

Draws One of the Highest Salaries Paid to a Coach in the West.

Former Alma coach, Jesse C. Harper and more recently of Wabash, has accepted the position of director of athletics at Notre Dame, to begin his work September next. The selection of Coach Harper is the first step of the Notre Dame authorities towards regaining Notre Dame's good name in athletics. In recent years she has had an exceptionally bad reputation among the principal colleges and universities of the West, and at present being scarcely able to fill out her schedules.

When Mr. Harper takes his new place he will have the most important athletic position in the West, with the possible exception of A. A. Stagg, athletic director of the University of Chicago. Harper will not only coach the four teams but will also have charge of all finances and make out all schedules. His duties will be even more difficult than those of the Chicago coach, because Mr. Stagg has no difficulty in getting teams on his schedules; besides, Stagg does not coach basketball.

Coach Harper graduated from the University of Chicago in 1906, coached the Alma college teams during the two following years and giving Alma some of the best teams she has ever had. Both years of his coaching here Alma carried off the M. I. A. A. baseball championship, also the cup and banner that goes with it. His other teams were among the leaders of the M. I. A. A. In 1908, his ability was recognized by the authorities at Wabash college and Alma was unable to hold him any longer. He has made an enviable record during his four years at the latter institution. His friends at Alma are pleased that so worthy a gentleman is able to step into the front rank of athletic instructors in the United States, and all feel confident that he will not only put Notre Dame back in her standing of former years but that he will make her athletics among the cleanest and best in the country.
