

Y. W. C. A. FETES NEW MEMBERS

Members Entertain Faculty and New Girls with a Banquet.

Thursday night all Y. W. C. A. big and little sisters, the faculty women, and the Y. W. members enjoyed a banquet at Wright Hall. The banquet was in honor of the new girls who were to be initiated into the Y. W. that night. All girls in the college are members of this organization if they so desire.

This year the Y. W. C. A. is undertaking a policy of reviving old customs and traditions that have been neglected in recent years. The organization has always been very active, but some things have been allowed to slide, and it is the aim of this year's cabinet under the presidency of Miss Jean Fowler to stimulate new interest in all of these things.

The tables for the banquet were decorated with true fall colors, for leaves of all shades made up the main decorations. They were in the form of a big Y down the center of the dining hall and tall tapers were placed at each table.

After dinner, the president bestowed upon the members of the cabinet their offices for the year. She then read the formal initiation services to the new girls. Initiation is a very simple candle service but also a very impressive one. All members then sang "Follow the Gleam", and the president dismissed the first meeting of the Y. W. C. A.

This Thursday night all girls are invited to the Jungle for a picnic lunch and a general good time.

STUDENTS VOTING BIG ON ALL-AMERICANS

With the grand old sport of football occupying the limelight more and more each day, voting for the Collegiate Digest All-American Football team for 1934, to be selected by the undergraduates of the United States through The Almanian and the Collegiate Digest, is rapidly increasing in volume.

Under the rules of the contest, it is not necessary to wait until the end of the season to cast a vote for your favorite players, because each student is allowed to make changes in his or her original selection in case spectacular playing by some individual or team makes such a revision seem advisable.

Ballots may be brought in or mailed to The Almanian, or mailed direct to the All-American Editor, Collegiate Digest, P. O. Box 472, Madison, Wisconsin. Use the coupon provided on page 8 of this week's Collegiate Digest.

The rules under which the contest is being run are as follows: Each individual may submit one complete team as his or her selection for the 1934 Collegiate Digest All-American. In case the voter's first selection does not seem to be the best one after the ballot has been cast, the voter is free to select another complete All-American team. The only restriction is that each individual is not allowed to vote for more than one complete team each week.

At the end of the contest, the closing of which will be announced by The Almanian and Collegiate Digest at a later date, gold medals will be awarded through Collegiate Digest, as the representatives of the undergraduate bodies and student newspapers throughout the United States.

After watching the game this week, don't forget to look over the scores of other games. Study the players which have distinguished themselves throughout the country and cast your vote.

We hear that the state police, the Alma police, the state militia, the secret service men, the gasoline inspectors, the Detroit detective force, and the United States Army and Navy are after "Bunny" Reyher.

CAMPUSOLOGY

Editor: Are we men or are we rats?
 Staff: (in chorus) We are rats.
 Editor: Very well then let campusology return. But let us do it right. Get into the darkness and stay out of the light. Every room must have an ear for what might be picked up there. That's all.

No, dear students, the dean of women did not go to the World Series—it was Grand Haven to be exact.

We guess the team needs a bus to bring home the various and sundry things picked up along the way.

Chris is going to have to buy a sailor suit before long.

Tempy had a couple of boys treed the other night, and we wonder who they could possibly be.

It's fun to be editor and know the answers to these crazy things.

We understand that Hazel is looking for a steady man. What do the rest of us do?—vibrate or just shake.

Have you heard the latest? Anthonisen is "smooth". So's Joe Bell.

After all Eastwood this column has got to be kept entirely above the table.

There were six discussion groups at that Albion conference for Wright only the first one was at Leslie. Question: What does a red light in the middle of a street mean.

Only 70 more days before Christmas, so cheer up.

Lofthouse is the answer to a campusology editor's prayer. He just can't stay out of trouble.

And what freshman girl would like to know who her upper-classmen callers were.

It used to be "Oh for the Life of Riley, but now it is "Oh for the Life of Wadgy".

What a room that's going to be at the Zeta House with Emery and the promoter seeing red all day!

And wasn't it Dawe who said "Me and Kendall are the two smartest fellows in school"?

This department has been asked to make no comments on practice teachers, but just wait until this semester is over.

This school is looking more like a naval training academy every week end.

Virginia Hill has sure been neglected this year. I mean in the campusology articles. There Virginia that's something to talk about.

Ludwig isn't the same man lately. Anthonisen isn't eating like he used to. It's surprising what a girl can do to a fellow.

It evidently doesn't take numbers to have a good time at Alma College; it takes _____ that certain something.

Carter sure acted very much at home in his little costume. Now we wonder. Do you suppose?

It's probably a good thing that some of the team did get hurt, for otherwise they wouldn't have been home yet.

How I went to Alma College and learned to be a taxi driver with good possibilities at bus driving too by More.

"Happy" Dan Tenney just can't figure out what they made text books for anyway. Sleep is so much better for that rosy disposition.

Janet Hill was in town for the week end. We thought we should tell her.

The return of the native. Estes comes to take another look at the old campus to see if we're still as glad to get rid of him as we were last year.

Look him over girls. The blimp has been overhauled. It landed at its base last Friday and was completely rerigged. But underneath there is still the same old gas.

Don't forget. Only 25 more days before Homecoming.
