FACULTY HOLDS MEETING WITH HONORS MAJOR GROUP

Miss Foley Explains and Discusses Plan With Eligible Juniors.

The Honors Major Committee held a meeting at the home of Dr. Crooks last Wednesday evening for all Juniors, to whom the privilege of taking an honors major was extended. In this meeting were discussed the purposes of an honors major, its advantages, and its responsibilities, and also several questions pertaining to the personal work desired by students.

The honors major plan was first adopted by the Alma College Faculty last year and is fashioned after the system employed in about eighty other schools in the country. Honors in course is another name used, for the idea behind the plan is to have the student get honors in a particular course (presumably the course selected for a major) by doing extra work in that department. The work for an honors major is spread over the junior and senior years, and at the end of the senior year the person is given a comprehensive examination by the department head and others designated by the Committee. Besides the work prescribed by the department head, an honors major applicant must have a reading knowledge of one foreign language. Only students with a B average or better are eligible to work for an honors major.

Wednesday night Miss Margaret Foley, chairman of the committee, pointed out the fact that an honors major was exceedingly helpful if the student taking it desired a master's degree, since it prepared him for the kind of work he would be most likely to meet in a graduate school. Also the fact that there would be such a practical knowledge of the subject, developed along one particular line, as to be of continual help was emphasized. She then compared the Alma system of honors major, which for the present is qualitative, rather than quantitative in its definition, to those of several other colleges in the country. Dr. Crooks, Dr. Kaufman, and Dr. Randels also presented to the applicants several important aspects of the situation.

Those students to whom the opportunity for an honors major was extended are: Luther Evans, Claude Knight, Helen Kellogg, Constance Clack, Allen MacDonald, Arthur Boynton, Earle Tomes, Leroy Block, Ray Hallin, Mary Catherine Craig, Jane Rice, Isabel Palmer, Agnes Duckworth, Fred Battles, John Darbee, Elizabeth Ann Malcolm, Mae Nelson, Helen MacCurdy, Margaret Randels, Ray Hallin, and Russell Ludwig.

Pres. Crooks Gives Homecoming Speech at Kazoo College

Saturday night President H. M. Crooks gave the principal speech at the Kalamazoo College Homecoming Banquet. This is only one of a number of talks that Dr. Crooks has given and is scheduled to give. Last week President Crooks spoke before the Synod of Michigan, which was holding its sessions at Kalamazoo, and also before the Kalamazoo College chapel. On Wednesday of last week he addressed the State Y. M. C. A. Convention at Lansing. Sunday he journeyed from Kalamazoo to Grand Rapids to present the work of the Board at the Westminster Presbyterian Church.

His future engagements include a speech before the State Grange at Midland on the 29th and another speech the following day at a Masonic dinner at Flint.

NOTICE

All persons holding tickets received last Thursday from G. J. Maier should write their name on the back of the ticket and take it into Maier's. Don't forget and be prompt. There will be a drawing as soon as the tickets are all in the store. Watch the window for your name.

CAST IS SELECTED FOR "THE ENEMY"

Miss Virginia Hill and Holmes Sullivan will have the leading parts in the Alma College Drama Club's Homecoming play, "The Enemy", which will be given November ninth at the Strand Theater with a very low admission price. Miss Hill will take the part of Pauli Arndt, while Mr. Sullivan will have the part of Carl Behrend.

The supporting cast consists of Alfred Jenkins as Bruce Gordon, Helen Jordan as Boruska, John Boergert as August Behrend, Herbert Peters as Jan, Paul Ditto as Dr. Arndt, Spray Dehnke as Mizzi Winchelmann, Alfred Fortino as Fritz Winchelmann, and the part of the child will be taken by Rod Clack as Kurt Winchelmann.

Director Hanley Rosenberg announced that the play is well under way, and to date the lines for all acts are completely learned. Now the real work is to begin on action and the portrayal of their characters.

The play is intensely dramatic, and the cast is getting into the spirit of it splendidly. You are all interested in seeing the end of war, and after you see "The Enemy," you will realize why war must cease.

CRAMPTON IS CHAPEL GUEST

Former Representative to Congress Speaks to Student Body.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. Louis Crampton, whose son is now a student at Alma College, spoke at the college chapel. Mr. Crampton, who is from Lapeer, was for eighteen years a Representative in Congress.

While a member of Congress Mr. Crampton was one of the most influential men in Washington. For years he was the champion of the dry cause. This year he is the Republican candidate for circuit judge.

In his speech he stressed the fact of how fortunate young people were to be in college and forming worth-while associations as well as getting an education. He compared the man without an education to a man trying to cut with a dull knife. He went on to state that the main object of a college education was to perfect the student for service in the community, a responsibility that has been imposed upon him by an historical background for seven hundred years of self-government.

In concluding, Mr. Crampton pointed out the human longing for social contacts and asked that those contacts be the ones made in the churches and schools rather than of the beer parlors, for the usefulness of the individual in the American social scheme is largely determined by the type of companions with whom he associates.

Faculty Have Picnic at Lumberjack Park

At least once a year the members of the Alma College Faculty are able to forget the weighty problems and questions of history, economics, mathematics, literature, and administration and relax. This is on their annual outing and picnic, which was held this year in the quiet retreat of Lumberjack Park last Wednesday evening.

These picnics are of course always a mystery. We get only the version of an attending faculty member, and of course they hold back all the interesting antics of the professors in their informal moments. The most that we can get is that everyone had a grand and glorious time.

FROSH WARMLY WELCOMED AT PAJAMA PARADE

Alma Merchants Generous to College Men in Annual Snake-Dance.

"I'd write the sophomores a letter, but I can't spell Phtttttt." And it was a very damp and noisy razzberry that Pat Riley, freshman, gave the sophomore class from the stage of the Strand Theatre in the annual Pajama Parade, Thursday evening.

It all started way back at the gym, far from the scene of this profound statement, when the pajama clad upper classmen warmed the pajama clad posterior portions of the freshmen. Perhaps the upperclassmen were mindful of the sharpness of the cold October wind and the thinness of pajamas, at any rate, the frosh left the gym with enough heat in localized areas to last them well through the rest of the evening.

With this warm send-off, the frosh followed the upper classmen in a long snake dance, weaving down Superior Street. The first stop was at the Zeta Sigma house where the line halted and gave cheers for the Zeta's and the Phi's. Some of the boys made bets at this point on whether or not Gordy Mann would be able to untie himself again after leading the cheers.

It was at this point too, that some of the exploring sophomores began to get down to bare facts. The facts belonged to the seven freshmen wearing nightgowns, who collectively did the Dance of the Seven Veils, as fast as the sophomores could shed their veils for them. Yelling and cheering, the parade continued downtown, stopping at various shops and (Continued on page 3)

BOOSTERS' CLUB TAKES IN TWENTY

Homecoming and Other Plans Are Made; $10 Offered for Best Float.

The Alma College Boosters' Club welcomed twenty new members to the executive council of the club at its last meeting, Wednesday evening, October 17. These new members were selected from the three upper classes as being most adapted to the type of work required by the club. At the same meeting the extensive plans for the year were laid out and presented to the new members for their approval.

The Boosters' Club has definitely decided to cooperate with the administration to the utmost extent for the purpose of publicizing Alma College. They set forth their willingness to write, or take an active part in what events the committee on publicity may put forth. They have also taken over for this year, the parade of floats at Homecoming. Each organization on the campus is expected to have an attractive float in the parade and downtown merchants are invited to compete if they so desire. The first prize for the best float was decided to be ten dollars ($10.00). Then the Boosters are also planning a chapel program just before homecoming to arouse the interest of the students in the importance of this auspicious occasion.

This week, the Boosters' club has on sale a number of Alma College Booster pins, at the small cost of seventy-five cents, being sold under the direction of Ward Campbell. Plans were discussed for another minstrel show, but this largely depends upon the attitude of the student body toward such an enterprise.

SCOTS OUTPLAY HORNETS BUT MUD HALTS SCORING

WEDNESDAY TEA TO HONOR MRS. DICKIE

On Wednesday of this week there will be a tea given at Wright Hall in honor of Mrs. Grace Mackenzie Dickie, who will be here for the inauguration services of the Dickie Memorial Room at Wright Hall, which will be held at that time. All the college women are invited to attend, and invitations have been sent to the faculty and their wives by Mrs. H. M. Crooks and Dean Steward.

The room which has been made possible by gifts from Mrs. Grace Mackenzie Dickie is in memory of Dr. James F. Dickie and his first wife. Mrs. Dickie has been considering this gift for some time. However, this summer, while traveling in Europe, she decided to give up her big home at Marine City and move to an apartment in Detroit and at the same time to send the furnishings for the Memorial Room to Alma. The gifts arrived last week, but work on the room was not completed until this week.

It will be known as the Dickie Memorial Room of Wright Hall. Any and all groups of girls will be free to use it at any time for teas and meetings.

SCOTS TAKE ON YPSI SATURDAY

Alma Eleven Will Meet Old Rivals for the Nineteenth Time.

Michigan Normal, fresh from their 13 to 12 defeat at Mt. Pleasant last Saturday, will attempt to redeem itself this coming week-end as the Scots journey to Ypsilanti to renew the ancient struggle.

The probable line-ups:

JaroschC..... Bussard
BugajewskiRG..... Washburn
NewmanRT..... Fuller
C. WilsonRE..... Clack

The game will probably be played in the morning so that the members of both squads may attend the Michigan-Illinois game in the afternoon.

With Max Dean's re-entrance to the field of action, the Scots have a very good chance of taking the Normals into camp for the first win of the season.

ZETA SIGMAS WILL GIVE FIRST SMOKER

On Wednesday of this week the first of the smoker parties for the new men on the campus will be given by the Zeta Sigma Fraternity at their house. The festivities will begin at 7:30 in the evening and will continue on through the evening until 11:30.

The Zetas have been working overtime in order to get their house in A-1 condition for this party. The walls have been feeling a paint brush the last few days. All the rooms in the house have been redecorated, but no one has to fear fresh paint.

Fun is to be the order of the evening. All care will be swept to the winds Wednesday when the freshmen, new men on the campus, and members get together for a grand time. There will be plenty to smoke, candy to munch on, and last but not least will be the refreshments.

Pep Meeting Friday

Leroy Block's 55 Yard Run for a Touchdown Saves the Day for Alma.

After fumbling a punt which Kalamazoo recovered for a touchdown, Riley Block broke away late in the last quarter to tie up the game 6 to 6. The game was marked by frequent fumbles during the downpour of rainfall, throughout the game.

The Kazoo lads playing before a home crowd got off to a good start with a couple of first downs near the start of the game. But Alma rallied when Riley cut off right tackle for 30 yards to the Kazoo 13. However, an Alma fumble was recovered by the Kazooks on the 15, and Kriekard punted out of danger, at the quarter.

Alma failed to gain, so Glance punted, but it went out of bounds on the Hornet 40. Kriekard spun off left tackle for 3, and then hit right guard for 1. Kriekard then punted down the field over Riley's head. Riley chased the ball, fumbled it thrice, and finally Johnny Inglis fell on it over the goal line for a touchdown.

Bob Mack blocked the attempted kick for the extra point. However, as in the Hope game, this failed to dismay the Scots and they came back.

After a Kazoo holding penalty, Kriekard was forced to punt to the Alma 33. Ewer and Erickson gained only one yard at line plunges, so Riley passed to Ben for 15 yards and a first down before he was forced out of bounds. Erickson and Glance failed to hit the line, so Riley shot off tackle for 7 and Glance made it a first down at guard. A pass to Fuller from Riley gained another 15 yards, but Kazoo took over the ball when the Scots failed to gain yardage again, on the Kazoo 21.

The third quarter consisted mostly of a punting duel between Kriekard and Glance and Block. Kazoo kicked off to the Scots, Ewer returning the ball 16 yards to his 36. Glance bucked the line for six yards, Clack recovering his fumble. Riley made it a first down in a couple of plays, but a fumble recovered by the Hornets lost another chance.

"Dutchman" Dawe opened the fourth quarter with a buck that made a first down at midfield. Here the rush ended so Riley punted to the Hornet 15. Kriekard punted back to the Alma 45. A Block to Block pass brought back six yards. Dawe cracked the line twice for a first down. A line play and three passes went haywire, so Glance kicked out of bounds on the Kazoo 5. Kriekard punted back to his 30. However the Scots were unable to push the ball any closer so Kriekard punted to the Alma 25, Riley returning it 5 yards. Riley hit alternate tackles for a first down. A Kazoo offside carried it to the Alma 45.

Riley then cut back through his own left tackle for a touchdown 55 yards away. Excellent blocking coupled with a neat change of pace tied up the score.

Faculty Members to Carry on Christian Education Program

At a meeting of the State Presbyterian Synod last week the committee on Christian Education made extensive plans for a promotion campaign during the month of October. Various members of the Faculty of Alma College will present the work of the Board to twenty or more churches.

These speeches will be given in the Presbyterian Churches of Saginaw, Bay City, Flint, Lansing, Grand Rapids and other nearby towns and churches. The members of the faculty who are to carry on this work are: President Crooks, Professors Hamilton, Brokenshire, Randels, Kaufman, Tyler, and Spencer, Mr. Robinson, and Mr. Campbell.

Judge-advocate of the M. I. A. A., Mr. DeGay Ernst of Grand Rapids, was in town yesterday to interview Prof. Clark and Coach Argyle. As this was just part of the hearing, there is no result to be announced. But perhaps next week will hold the answer.

The result of this hearing is quite important just at present. Hope is yet undefeated, taking the Alma game as a tie, for last week the Dutchmen whipped Albion 13 to 2. Hillsdale is undefeated, having defeated Kalamazoo 20 to 0. Alma is undefeated with ties with Hope and Kalamazoo.

Should Alma win the rest of her games, and Hillsdale win the rest of those remaining with the single exception of the Alma game, then these two teams would be tied under the M. I. A. A. ruling of tie games. But if the Hope game were considered a victory for Alma there would be no argument.

If both Hope and Alma should pull out victories over Hillsdale, the protest would again determine the championship.

Therefore for Alma the protest can go only one way. Charles Maxwell Novok '34, Alma, was in town Saturday night after watching Ypsi and Central battle it out in the rain. His brother, Bill, formerly of the Army (West Point) is now the Central quarterback for Coach Alex Yunevich. Max says that he is an athlete.

Gordon "Bud" Dawson is coaching at Mason and was told that if his football team won two games this year, he could consider it a good year. He won one of his first two games, but last week he lost 34 to 0 to a Class B school.

that a kick would be difficult owing to ground conditions. Glance was called to hit the line. However, the Hornets strengthened at the center of the line, and the plunge failed.

The game ended three plays after the next kick-off.

SPUD'S SCOPICS

Dear Ed:

It behooves me greatly to see so many "raw deals" going on around the campus. In the good old days, so they tell me, if anyone had a gripe, they would write an anonymous letter to the editor of our grand and glorious weekly, and the humorous or serious (depending upon how you took it) dissertations appeared in print.

A certain senior, who is not used to blabbing around on the campus, once confided in me that this idea of lack of gripes in print is part of a movement of decay in the former "Alma Spirit", which was once the envy of the MIAA. "Jimmy" and 'Art' will tell you that decay comes about when the populace is satisfied. And if we have gripes but don't follow them up by telling other people about them, are they really gripes after all?

Although unskilled in the use of the journalistic pen, I have finally gathered together enough courage to send you a column that no doubt has no "newspaper-slang" but contains a sincere sentiment behind it.

The Pajama Parade (or should we call it the Disrobing Demonstration?) was marred by two or three things: (1) some sophomores and some upperclassmen too, cannot recall the previous years when they were freshmen. Fun is fun, but let us stop at that; and (2) how is it that only six pots show up for the rush when there are so few male members of the senior class and some of them even refused the souvenirs? Can't the infantine passions of the middle classes be curbed if they desire the Frosh to don pots on the campus?

The program on the whole was very good and interesting, even the seniors cast off their boredom during parts of the performance. Rootabeggies to the Student Council on the program, but poison-ivy for those who attempted to spoil it.

The Pajama Parade is put on for the stronger sex, but if they can't withstand the charms and wiles of the weaker sex in the matter of bananas, peanuts, candy-bars, and even cigars, why not enlarge the whole program. Of course, the stuff is bad for the football players, but twenty-two men can't feed all the feminine stomachs.

This paper has a very good program (this column is not conducted by a staff member) with the exception of one thing. Bud's Sportopics are lousy. He means well, but inexperience and a perverted sense of humor are making us suffer. The things he offers to us as bits of wisdom seen through his eyes are nothing more than revamped bits extracted from old Almanians with new names, dates, etc.

I will endeavor to take up other gripes in case you disagree with me. Adios.

Easy come; easy go. Where there is enough pressure something must give. In this case it was the freshmen who gave, and for the college women and the town children Santa Claus comes twice this year. The only thing the frosh kept were the cigars they received, and the student marshal, Joe Vitek, wouldn't let them smoke; so they got what Fatty shot at.

Somewhere in the midst of this hectic scramble for candy, peanuts, chewing gum, etc., the parade stopped at the corner of Woodworth and Superior Streets and formed a square, in which some of the lads made speeches, sang songs, or did barbaric dances. At this time Ronson Van Rench disappeared into the midst of a crowd of upper classmen, night gown and all. He reappeared some time later clothed as Tarzan, minus the knife.

After some more snake dancing and a few more visits to stores the parade again returned to Woodworth and Superior Streets where the peanut push and the wheelbarrow race took place. Harold Dean won the peanut pushing race. Some say his nose wasn't getting a workout, that he blew it across the street, but the judges decided against these rumors. Ed. Fisher and Charles Day won the wheelbarrow race by a wide margin. A brisk run, and the parade ended up at the Strand Theatre, with the frosh seated self-consciously on the stage and the gloating sophomores and upper classmen, occupying the front rows.

The Pajama Parade Band opened the program for which the upper classmen dutifully expressed their appreciation. High lights on the program were Tex Walker, who gave several impersonations; Pat Riley, who closed a Tarzan act and a debate on "Why I Do Not Like Wright Hall Women" with his now famous razzberry to the sophomore class; and Fred Meyer, who proved his ability to put both feet in his mouth at the same time. The program ended with the frosh singing the college chant.

As the frosh filed out they were given passes to the Strand Theatre which were duly collected by Bob Anthonsen and his cohorts, just outside the door. The parade continued on down to State and Superior Streets where the fifty frosh were permitted to fight for the possession of eight pots laid in a neat pile in the center of the street.

Somewhat disorganized, the parade wound up at Wright Hall where, led by Bob Campbell, the girls were serenaded. After this the blue lipped frosh were free to scoot for Pioneer Hall and more heat, but of the right kind.

Only 10 per cent of university students in Germany may be women, according to a recent Nazi ruling.

Stormy Weather Fails to Dampen Spirits at Theta's Masquerade

Determined to offer a substitute for the hayride that was made impossible by the rain that is becoming as traditional as the Alpha Theta Rushing party, the Alpha Thetas served a buffet supper in their society room. Candelight took the place of the rays of Sol, and cushions substituted for terra firma at this annual party that took place last Saturday evening.

At 8 o'clock there appeared clowns, gypsies, and Japanese ladies to dance in a transformed reception room. Paper streamers of all autumn shades, autumn leaves, and Jack o'lanterns did their best to excite a Hallowe'en atmosphere. Into her spooky solon Madam Readie attracted many maids. Seated behind a table which supported two ghostly shrouded figures and her trusty crystal, Madame enlightened each fair customer about the secrets of her future.

A short program consisted of a dance by two little Dutch maids, and a piano duet by the Bowery Babies. During intermission cider and doughnuts were served the dancers.

Three alumnae, Claire Wilson Volk, Mabel Kennett, and Inez Passenheim, were able to attend the party.

K. I.'S TO ENTERTAIN NEW GIRLS SATURDAY

Bold Pirates, gay costumes, nautical decorations, and peppy music will accompany the annual Kappa Iota rushing ship when it launches at Wright Hall on Saturday night.

This is the last of the three rushing parties scheduled according to the rulings of the Woman's League, and as at previous parties all new women on the campus will be guests. In addition, officers of the Philomatheans and Alpha Thetas will be present. After this party the sororities will give their open meetings.

Dancing aboard the pirate ship will start at eight o'clock and continue until midnight. Interruptions will be made for various features among which the refreshments will not be the least important.

CAMPUSOLOGY

"Ghandi" Munro and "Tarzan" Riley put on quite a show last Thursday.

I think that I shall never see A "D" as lovely as a "B" A "B" whose rounded form is pressed Upon the records of the blest; A "D" comes easily—and yet It isn't easy to forget. "D's" are made by fools like me; But only God can make a "B". —Stewed Stude, Boston University.

Students Beware! Wadge Block is walking around with a very bad case of Prepatellar Bursitis.

THE PAJAMA PARADE

Down the gym, round the gym, Down the gym backwards, All through the ricketts they went, Inched the frosh backwards.

"Backwards with hands on your toes!" "Back down there slowly," he said. Into the valley of pain Backed the half hundred.

"Forward, pajama parade!" Was there a frosh dismayed? Not though the freshmen knew They'd take a beating. Dare not to reason why. Theirs but to bend and sigh. Down through the terrible line Backed the half hundred.

Hands to the right of them, Hands to the left of them, Hands there behind them, Smacked them with pleasure, Heavily, heavily, heavily fell. Slowly, slowly backed and well, On down the ricket line, On past the flailing hands Backed the five hundred.

Flashed all the hands in air, Flashed as they sliced the air, Crashing on buttocks there, Stinging, while all the Frosh suffered, Plunged past the sophomores (Thought they'd been hit before; They hadn't seen anything yet.) Reeling from final blow, Feverish down below, Straightened up their aching backs, Thanked their stars for no more smacks.

Oh, what good targets they made! When will their soreness fade? All the frosh wondered, All that were able to sit, All of that poor frosh half hundred.

The following comes from the Swathmore Phoenix: Haverford News relates this story about a clever Dartmouth fellow who wished to get home a few days early for vacation. The boy sent his family a telegram asking whether he should come home by the way

And not a single Wright Hall girl blushed when the night shirts went the way of all pajama parade night shirts.
