CAMPUS TO HAVE LIBRARY ADDITION

Construction Started Last Week On Newest Building For Alma

On Tuesday of last week the Building Committee of the Board of Trustees met and after some deliberation, decided to proceed with the erection of the library addition, which will provide fireproof stacks for all the volumes in the collection for some years to come. The addition will join the present structure at the north-west corner of the present stackroom. It is to be built by Owen, Ames and Kimball, of Grand Rapids, the contractors who built the Memorial Gymnasium and are building the new President's home. It is constructed after the plan of Perkins, Fellows and Hamilton, who mapped out the development plan for the college some years ago.

The dimensions of the building will be fifty-five feet long, thirty-three feet wide, and twenty-five feet high. It will be of plain Colonial architecture, red common brick on the outside and a lighter colored face brick on the inside walls. The ground floor and the roof will be constructed of concrete. The latter will be flat, concealed by the sidewalls which will extend above the roof. On the south side of the building the windows will extend to the floor, admitting plenty of light to the interior. On the north side the windows will be smaller, and will be so placed that they will light the aisles between the stacks on each floor.

There will be three floors of stacks in the addition, seven and a half feet apart. The steel stacks carrying the book shelves are entirely separate from the building, supporting no weight but the weight of the books themselves. The stacks on each floor will accommodate twenty-five thousand books, making a total capacity of seventy-five thousand volumes. The floors on the second and third stories will be of glass, about an inch and half thick, so that the light will be freely admitted from above. On the north side of each floor will be five carrels or booths, much like the

BAND TO GIVE DANCE FRIDAY

Did you see those signs in the Ad building today? The Band is giving a Dance next Friday! All of the old students know that the Band Dances generally have the knack of being very successful, and this one promises to be no exception.

Every year, the band has endeavored to take some important trip with the football team, and aid them on to victory. The finances of this has generally been taken care of by having a tag day, in which the Student Body and town folks were invited to "Help Send the Band to Albion." This year, the Band hopes to raise enough money to make the trip and also add to the social life of the college by giving the band bounce.

Music will be furnished by the Almaniacs, which is a combination of most of the orchestra talent on the campus, and should turn out some very good numbers. Another innovation is park plan dancing. The admission will be ten cents, and each dance will be five cents. In this way, the Band hopes to put over a more successful mixer than ever before.

A good time is in store for all those who attend, so get your date early, and help send that Band, which as someone remarked, is bigger, better and noisier than ever before, to Albion.

Phi Phi Alpha

Phi Phi Alpha held a regular meeting on September 26, in which the beginnings of an extensive social calendar was announced. A Stag party will be held at Francis Wood's shack near Harrison on October 8-9. Everyone is to take a fishpole, a gun, a book, or whatever he thinks necessary for his own enjoyment, and in this way, everyone will have a good time. After the regular meeting, Mr. Cash, a Phi Alumnus, gave a very interesting talk which might have been entitled "The Fickleness of Finance." Everyone agreed with Mr. Cash.

McMANUS LEADS CROSS COUNTRY RUNNERS.

With several men from last year's team back again, the prospects for the Cross Country seem fairly good. The team has been in training for the meets for about two weeks now, and they are rapidly rounding into shape for the series of contests before them. The big meet of the year is at Albion on the fifth of November, when the M. I. A. A. meet is to be staged. The team will also go to the State Invitational Meet to be held at Michigan State College at East Lansing. Possible dual meets are being sought with Hillsdale on the 29th of October, and with Kalamazoo on the 19th of November.

The men who have been working out regularly under Captain McManus are: Gustafson, Thomas, Pomeroy, Klerekoper, Crowell and Fox. Freshman Couse is showing fine running ability in training for the Michigan State Meet.

INTERFRAT GROUP IS ORGANIZED

New Council Takes Place of Upper Class Council On Campus

The three men's fraternities on the campus have organized a group which will take the place of the Upperclassman's Council, which functioned last year and the year before, and whose work proved most valuable in promoting a healthy spirit among the men of the campus. The Interfraternity Council, as it will be called, will be composed of three men beside the president from each fraternity, making a total membership of twelve for the organization. It is meant that a member of each class be elected from each fraternity to serve on this council.

The purpose of this body is to govern all interfraternity relations, threshing out the problems and drawing up agreements and rules to be ratified by the vote of the societies. They will govern such things as rushing, pledging, as well as the rest of the relations between the three groups throughout the year. The Council has not yet published the rules under which rushing will be conducted but it is expected that these rules will be presented to the three fraternities at an early meeting. The rules will probably be much the same as the set under which the Upperclass Council controlled the situation last year, since they so admirably handled the difficult problem.

BANKERS BANQUET IN HALL DINING ROOM

Wednesday evening the bankers of this district met at Alma. The big dinner (perhaps we should say Banquet) was served in the Wright Hall dining room, by the regular force of waiters and cooks. Some 257 people were present at the banquet, which was, according to Head Swipe Hogan, a goodly number. However, the force of the swipes handed the crowd extremely well, giving excellent service to the visiting bankers. The meal was a very good one, and received complements from many of the guests. Some of the swipes earned quite a bit of tip money—that is something new in Wright Hall.

Meanwhile the poor boys and girls who were supposed to eat in the dining room and had paid good money for the privilege (we refer to the students) were sent over to Gym, to feast on weinies, bananas, and the such like. But there was plenty for everyone and more, too. It is even reported that several of boys got a week's supply of bananas from just that one meal in the gym. As accurately as we can learn, everyone had a good time at the little picnic supper made necessary by the Banker's Banquet, enjoying the respite from the more rigid social restrictions enforced in the dining room at Wright Hall.

A fellow should never make a ringing speech until he has money enough to buy the ring.

ALMA DRAMA CLUB STARTS PROGRAM

New Members Taken In Program For Coming Year Announced

The Alma College Drama Club has already had two regular business meetings and much has been done toward planning the program for the coming year. At the first meeting only the old members were present and a new constitution was adopted. Earl Closser, president, appointed a committee to select plays for the group to work on. He appointed a membership committee, also. The latter committee arranged for tryouts to be held for the prospective members on last Tuesday evening. About 30 students exhibited their acting ability to the committee. These candidates were judged upon such points as appearance, physique and voice. As the new constitution limits the membership to thirty, all the candidates could not be accepted. It was extremely hard for the membership committee to make their selections because of the abundance of good material presented at the tryouts. However, after much deliberation, eight candidates, admitting them to the actor's club. The new members are: the committee picked eleven outstanding Mildred Baetz, Maurine Dakin, Homer Barlow Allen Dean, Earl Leichty, Vaughn Pruyne, Mary Mason, Reynolds Smith, Anne Milecki, Amos Ruddock, and Dorothy White. As soon as more vacancies appear in the membership another tryout will be held.

At a meeting of the program committee it was decided to put on three one act plays in the chapel within four weeks. The directors of these productions, as named by President Closser, are Mary K. Burt, Irene Beuthin, and Louis Nickles. It was also decided to stage a three-act play at the Strand Theatre immediately after the Thanksgiving holidays. The names of all of these plays will be announced within a week.

The Drama Club plans to stage two and perhaps three full length plays at the Strand at various times during the school year. The mid-winter production will come soon after the beginning of the second semester and the spring production sometime in May.

ALPHA THETA GIVES ANNUAL HAY RIDE

The annual hay ride given by the Alpha Theta Society for freshmen and new girls was held last Friday. The hay racks arrived at four o'clock in the afternoon and were very soon filled with merry, laughing girls. The ride, which led through town, was enlivened by apples, kisses, and peanuts. Soon the party reached Three Pines, where the advance guard had a roaring bonfire awaiting the coming of the hay racks.

After warming up a bit, the new girls were divided into two groups, and each girl was given a letter. The object was to see which group could form a sentence from the letters first. In a few minutes loud cries from one group announced the result—"Alpha Theta Welcomes You." Then the girls all played the bean game, the prize, an Alma pennant, going to Francis Knapp.

At six-thirty the guests gathered in the Alpha Theta room, which was most artistically decorated in fall colors. The walls were adorned with 40TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED TUES.

A program in celebration of the Fortieth Anniversary of the opening of Alma College was held at the meeting of Synod of Michigan when it gathered for its meeting in Detroit last week. The program was held at the First Presbyterian Church in Detroit. The Reverend Dr. Samuel H. Forrer acted as chairman of the celebration program. Dr. Forrer is chairman of the Board of Trustees of Alma College. President Crooks, in a short speech, reviewed the actions taken by the Synod at Monroe forty-one years ago, which resulted in the opening of Alma College in 1887. The Reverend John H. MacCracken, Ph. D., L. L. D., Litt. D., formerly President of Lafayette College, made the address of the evening. His subject was "Purpose of Education." It was a most scholarly address, and the members of the Synod heard it with the greatest interest. The address will probably be published with other literature about the 40th Anniversary this fall.

DEBATE, ORATORY DIRECTORS MEET

Schedules for the Season Mapped Out At Albion

On Saturday, October 1, delegates from the nine colleges belonging to the Michigan Oratorical league and to the Michigan Debating League convened at Robinson Hall at Albion. Two delegates from each school attended. Alma being represented by Professor H. W. Spencer and Ross Mitchell. The purpose of such a meeting was twofold, to decide on a question for the schools to debate, both one for man and one for woman, and also to arrange debate schedules for the coming season.

Professor McKay of Ypsilanti was elected to succeed Professor Ewbank who has gone to Wisconsin, as advisor to the Board. Among other things it was strongly urged that orations competing in the state contest be sent in on time.

Various questions for debate were submitted, each college being allowed to turn in a first and a second choice. Among those considered as possibilities were: whether or not the United States should have a new political alignment, the question of the Junior College, the question of our Latin American policy which was phrased, Resolved, that our present Latin American policy be condemned. Everyone seemed satisfied with the wording of the question after some two hours of deliberation. Alma has scheduled the following debates, while others will no doubt be added before the season is under way.

On February tenth the Alma affirmative team debates the Kalamazoo negative at Alma. On the same date the negative Alma team journeys to Ypsilanti. On February twenty-fourth the Alma affirmative team debates the question at Olivet, while the negative team is pitted against the debaters from Calvin College.

Preliminary work has already been started by those interested, and with a nucleus of four experienced men, Merrill Hendershot, Homer Barlow, Ross Mitchell and Francis Angell, there is every promise of a successful season.

ALMA DEFEATS TOLEDO 32 TO 0

Campbellmen Win First Game From Strong Ohio Team

The Alma College football team opened the 1927 season Saturday by an overwhelming victory, defeating Toledo University by a score of 32 to 0, displaying brilliant football in big chunks during the second half of the game in putting over the five touchdowns that gave the margin of the victory.

When the team went out on the field, a rain was falling and it continued throughout the first half, making conditions that were anything but enjoyable for an opening game. As a result Alma did more or less fumbling during this half, most of which was naturally excusable. Ordinarily there is considerable trouble experienced with fumbling in an opening game even on a good day, but with rain-soaked uniforms, and a wet and slippery ball, the condition becomes far more trying.

That does not mean mean that Alma did not play good football, because Alma did. Some real flashes of good gridiron work were shown during the initial half. Twice Alma was within the shadow of the Buckeye goal during the first half only to have Toledo take the ball on her own 20 yard stripe when passes went incomplete over the goal line. On one of these attempts Alma carried the ball to the one yard line, losing it on an incomplete pass over the goal. On the second occasion Alma traveled to the four yard line and on the next play lost the ball on a heave over the goal. During the first half Toledo managed to carry the ball to the Alma five yard stripe by the air of some heavy penalties, including one of 25 yards for clipping. The Alma forward wall stood like the Roosevelt dam at the stage and Toledo couldn't move an inch.

In the second half, when the rain had ceased and the sun was shining brightly the Alma team came out decked in dry uniforms, and feeling fit and ready, rode rough shod over the Maumee City team. Two touchdowns came in the third quarter and

FIRST MASS MEETING BEFORE TOLEDO GAME

The first mass meeting of the year was held in the college chapel last Thursday evening as a necessary preparation for the University of Toledo football game. By 7:15 a very peppy crowd had collected. Quite a large crowd for the first meeting of the year.

Captain Hawthorne lead off with a worthy effort at speech making. Say, he certainly knows his stuff at it, and he says just what everyone wants to hear. Through clenched lips that would not twist into a smile, Hawk said that he was pleased with the show of pep and spirit that was being shown. Numerous calls for Chief were heard now and then but the boys sitting beside him would not let Arozian get up to say anything. Then the Frosh team was talked up to a T by Coach Schneider. Incidentally he mentioned that he had the varsity doped out to win from Toledo. He also dropped that the members of the Frosh squad were spiritually, or mentally,—something to that effect—going to play the game with the regulars at Toledo!

The assistant coach is all there when it comes to mass meetings, eh, Prof. Journey, as the only other member of the Faculty present, was another of the meeting's high lights. Then the co-ed got in a number when Miss Baetz remarked about her interests on the gridiron.

The Alma Victory Song was emphasized during the meeting, and it will be well for every new student to commit it to memory as soon as possible. Also any old ones who do not already know it.

In spite of the disagreeable weather the crowd showed the team beyond any possible doubt that Alma wants the 1927 Football Championship.

What every man in college firmly believes—that with the proper chance and coaching, he would have made a star football player.

EDITORIAL

The Alma College Band is one of the most valuable organizations on the campus. It renders an invaluable service to the college in its activities. At football and basketball games its adds immeasurably to the spirit of the occasion as well as furnishing a great addition to the spectacular side. By dint of much hard work it has proved itself an organization of the highest merit. Professor Ewer and the members of the Band throughout the years of its existence have spent a great deal of energy and time to pull the project through. The college has been proud of the accomplishments of the Band, proud of its musical ability, proud of its snappy appearance—in a passive sort of way.

The student body has never given the Band the cooperation it deserves. We have paid our dimes for the little tags when members buttonholed us for help to send them to a foreign football field; we have cheered lustily at mass meetings and at games whenever the Band played one of the school songs, but beyond that we have never bothered ourselves. They have struggled along on almost nothing, and have asked for very little. Last year the Student Council had the band uniforms cleaned and gave the group money to buy music with, which was very nice of them. But why should the Band, a campus organization rendering a very definite service, have to beg money to take care of its uniforms? Why shouldn't the Band get a slice of the Student Activity Fee, and be independent in finance? The Student Council has to hunt for places to spend their appropriation and the Band could very easily use a definite amount of money each year. It would be infinitely easier for the officers if they had a certain amount of money issued them at the beginning of each semester, to plan from and with. It seems to us that it is time that the Band receives its proper recognition as a campus organization, needing and worthy of the support which it requires.

The Band as a whole needs to be recognized by the student body; the Band as individuals does not. It has been suggested that sweaters be awarded bandmen for certain service, a sort of prize, as it seems to us. On this sweater would be an "A" of some description, with the word "Band," placed upon it. Tradition has always held that an "A" showed that the wearer had made a varsity team, and had represented his school in competition against other colleges. It has meant that in a certain line he had made himself so proficient that he was able to win his right to represent Alma over a number of other students who had contested his right. It has meant success in competitive sport. Debate and Oratory men win letters because they have proven themselves the best orators or debaters in college, and have therefore been chosen to represent the college. A bandman either has the ability to play or he hasn't. It is not developed by competition. Nor is he called on to pit his ability against the bands of other schools, except in rivalry on a football field. The "A" has always been sacred to the athlete, and any modification of the letter is at best a compromise. An abundance of letters on the campus cannot help but cheapen the athletic "A," a thing which we think would be deplorable. If the Band must have recognition in the form of an emblem of some sort, let them buy themselves a watch-charm, or a small pin, which will be altogether an individual distinction.

three more in the final chapter of the argument.

In the third period Hawthorne scored the first when he went off end and then reversed the field twice on his way to the Toledo goal. Frazier made a bad pass back on the try for the extra point, the ball being way high. Hawk jumped up knocked the ball down, grabbed the leather and skirted around end and across the line for the point, making it 7 to 0. A few minutes later he grabbed a punt in midfield and raced down the field through the Toledo outfit to the goal for a touchdown.

In the closing period of the fray Karpp was the first to score, taking a pass from Hawthorne and racing 30 yards to the goal. Lamb soon added the fourth touchdown. He returned a punt 55 yards to the Toledo 5 yard line and on the second play carried it over. Gilbert scored the final touchdown going around end 15 yards, the entire Toledo team being taken off its feet on the play by the Alma blockers.

Coach Campbell used two complete teams, except for a quarterback, Karpp being the one man to play the entire game. Karpp, Hawthorne, Arozian, Veeder, Erickson, Holdship and Conlen are all deserving of considerable credit for their work in the game.

CAMPUSOLOGY

Well, folks, here we are back again. We know many of you have been looking over the last editions of the Almanian in vain for this column. We understand that Joe Anderson, Mary McCoy and a few others have been shedding great salt tears at not seeing their names in print any more. But we have grasped the standard which was so nobly borne by the conductors of this column last year and we promise to keep the good work up. Perhaps we can add even a few more enemies to the present long list.

One of the dirty brethren has just returned from Summer School, where he learned to wield a wicked pen on all the low-downs and dirt on the campus celebrities, so right away we hired him to help on this good work. Cost means nothing to us as long as we gain the compensation of turning out a bigger and better Compusology. Hold on tight, here we go:—

Our first aim is to bring back together a few of the couples who have drifted apart during the summer. To get them conjugated (as Louis Zimmerman would say) and get them into the harness once more. It would help things out for us. You know, heart throbs throw the greatest scandals away.

We understand that Karl Brown is trying to call in his engagement cigars. Hang in there, Karl, don't give up this late in the game.

It looks as if Alma and the University of Michigan will clash before long with Cupid's arrows shooting from both ends. Not mentioning any names, a certain new co-ed at Michigan must be in hard straits wondering which way to turn.

The freshman class showed a lot of hidden talent when they failed to show up for the flag rush.

The first real puzzle of the year. Is old age creeping on Stan Vliet? If not, why has he failed to show up at Wright Hall this year?

Now that Frazer has an Oakland, we hope he has learned not to drive on rainy nights.

Football has removed all traces of Doc Hogan's double chin, but he still retains the same old lines.

Pierce Boutin says his piccolo won't rate at all in the band with everyone else trying to see how much noise they can make.

It used to be "give the boy a hand," but now it's "give the freshman a boot."

We wonder why Liz Sidebetham dislikes octogon glasses. Lewise seems to think they are all right.

Famous words by famous men—"I love to tell the story," by Mr. Journey.

The ice cream at the hall Thursday night was delightful. It lacked that distinctive pineapple flavor.

Everyone survived the barbecue at Memorial Gymnasium Wednesday night. They ate from five-thirty until unconscious.

Lena thinks Dave McAllister is cute. He has a nose guard like Hawk's.

If this column could talk, it would say, "How lucky I am to be taking the place of an ad."

Nitt and Witt.

Side Line Notes

By Wayback

Chief Arozian did most of the kicking.

Wallie Pezet was the defensive star of the game. The little fellow was through the line almost every play, and a number of times on plays to the opposite side of the line he ran down the player with the ball even before he got started.

Skin Frazer's passing deserves special mention. In spite of the greasy ball, he made only one pass that was not right to the mark. On the first try for goal after touchdown the ball slipped, went high and to the side but the ever vigilant Hawkshaw batted it down with one hand, scooped it up and went around end for the point.

And Hawk was going right all the time after the field dried a little. During the downpour in the first half, the field was a little too slippery for Hawk's sidestep to work, but as soon as it dried enough to give any footing, Hawk became as hard to catch as the proverbial greased pig.

green, orange, yellow, and red paper, with streamers of the same colors forming a false ceiling. Cornstalks, pine and cedar branches added to the autumnal scene. In one corner a huge yellow moon appeared through pine branches.

After a delicious supper, Isabel Craig entertained with a delightful novelty dance. Programs with small favors were passed and dancing was enjoyed to the tunes of Paul Bennet's Collegians. During intermission cider in tin cups made its appearance and was enthusiastically received by all. At eleven o'clock the party was officially ended with the singing of the Alpha Theta Song by the members of the society grouped around the piano.

Faculty members and guests who were present were: Mrs. H. M. Crooks, Miss Steward, Mrs. Montigel, Miss Roberts, Miss Ward, Mrs. Hamilton, Miss Banta, Miss Hardy, Miss Foley, Miss McCray, Miss Wolters, and Miss Houser.

Campus to Have Library Addition

booths in a restaurant or soda fountain, separated by partitions. Each booth will have its table, its chairs and its equipment for four to six students. Thus the stack room will have a seating capacity of from sixty to ninety persons. The passageway from the library to the stack room will be provided with fireproof doors. There will be a book lift or elevator for the library staff incorporated in the construction. It is expected that the present building will be used entirely as reading room space, with two or three offices for the Librarian and her staff. The reading room, as proposed, will have a capacity far in excess of a hundred.

Excavations for the foundations has already started and work will go ahead on the addition as fast as possible. When the building is completed it will furnish room for all the volumes which have been so crowded in the old stack room, and will still have room for an expansion in years to come.

in for Hawkshaw at the start of the last quarter, he caught a punt and returned it sixty yards through the whole Toledo team to their ten yard line. After a short line buck, he again took the ball and squirmed through the whole mess for a touchdown. One of the spectators was heard to remark, "What sort of a team is this that sends in Red Granges for substitutes?"

Incidentally Red Conlin's work marked him as a man who will bear watching. Time after time he drove through for four or five yards after being apparently stopped dead.

The umpire took a special liking to Paul Bernd, and did his best to educate him as a future official. Paul now knows the exact penalty for every offense from bootlegging to arson.

Most of the boys thought that Frosh Coach Schnieder had signed with Toledo, with the Mudhens came out on the field. He played fullback, and all we have to say is that we are glad there was only one of him. He made a lot of trouble until Red Erickson twisted his neck.

Red Erickson won the ice cream championship on the home trip. No one was able to approach his record of two ice cream sodas and three sundaes in five minutes.
