Thousands Hear Kagawa Speak in Kalamazoo Mar. 3

Six Colleges Send Delegations to Hear Noted Japanese.

Thousands of students from Albion, Hillsdale, Olivet, Emmanual, Kalamazoo, and Western State Teachers College heard Dr. Kagawa speak in Kalamazoo March 3.

The morning speech, given be-fore a crowd that filled the Western State gymnasium to capacity, dealt with the early life of the speaker and how he became a Christian. "God, make me like Christ, Amen." was the prayer of Kagawa when he was only a lad of fifteen.

He urged that everyone accept the "spirit of purity, peace, service, personality, and respect of labor." Condemning the skeptical he stat-ed, "God is beyond the finite. When we doubt the existence of God because we do not see him, we are like an embryonic child that doubts the existence of its mother because she cannot be seen.'

"Revive your faith and love in God", was his concluding state-

In the afternoon he criticized the existence of so many denomina-tions and showed how this fact had actually retarded the progress of Christianity in Japan. The last their growth elsewhere, and con-

Hugh Brenneman, winner of the recent annual prize oratorical contest, moved into the state finals Friday, when he qualified along sponsored by an organization existing within Pioneer Hall and the proceeds will be used to buy addilegiate Speech League, held in the Alma College Chapel, March 8. Five colleges vied for the first four positions which would qualify them for the state finals. The four qualifying were: Hugh Brenneman, Alma, with his oration entitled, "Git Edjicated"; Harold Hartger, Calvin College, whose subject was, "The Skeleton of the Press"; John Vander Meyler H. Vander Meulen, Hope College, with "Pillars on Self-Desire," and J. Donald Hittle, Michigan State College, who asked, "Why Not a Real Democracy?"

Pres. Crooks Speaks
George Walker, manager of oratory and debate, presided, introducing Harry Means Crooks, president of the college, who gave a short word of welcome to the visiting colleges.

Hugh Brenneman, the first speaker, stated that America is in a state of unrest. Demagogues have taken advantage of this and have suggested various Utopias. He took the listeners on an imaginary trip through these Utopias, showing that they will not serve as alternatives to Democracy.

Hartger, Calvin, Places

Calvin College was represented by Harold Hartger, whose "The Skeleton of the Press" was an indictment of present day journalism. He accused the modern press of selling out to advertisers. said that the press had descended from the reporting and interpreting of human events to the screaming sensationalism of the scandal-

Edmore and Merrill Win District Tourney Here

Teams Coached by Alma Alumni Make Good Showing.

Merrill High school defeated the nearly perennial winner in Class Dr. J. H. Lancashire Dies Saturday by the close score of 19-18, while Edmore swamped Perrinton 26-7 to represent Class C at the Mt. Pleasant regional tourney this week.

Merrill by far had the toughest bracket among the smaller schools but came through with flying colors. Led by Herb Spendlove and Sally Cicinelli, whose brothers wear the Frosh colors here, the Orange and Black of Merrill, defeated the previously undefeated Crystal five after taking Riverdale to meet McBrides in the finals. Merrill piled up an 8-0 lead, but the Scandinavians of the West tied it up at the half 10-10. McBrides took an early lead in the third period to lead 18-15 with a minute to go. Baskets by Spendlove and Cicinelli gave the game to Merrill five with less than a half-minute to Edmore's height proved to be a big obstacle as far as Perrinton was concerned, and the defending champs lost out, as the big boys piled up a good sized score in the first quarter. Westley, Weeks and Shurlow led their attack, while the Richards brothers were Perrinton's sole hopes.

In other district tournaments, Bud Dawson's ('34) team, Mason, defeated Al Dean's ('31) St. Johns five in overtime, but lost to Cuddy Shaver's ('25) East Lansing quintet by one point. Max Novak's
