ALMA AGAIN M. I. A. A. CHAMPS

DEFEAT HORNETS TO WIN TITLE 33-0

Homecoming Game Brought Third M. I. A. A. Title In Four Years

Before one of the largest Homecoming crowds in the college history, Coach Roy Campbell's Alma grid eleven overwhelmed Kalamazoo College on the new athletic field Saturday, 33 to 0, thereby removing the last obstacle in the path of the Almatites to the 1929 championship of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association, their third grid title in the past four years.

Erickson scored a touchdown in the first period after a steady Alma march down the field. The Campbellmen flashed a scoring punch that could not be denied and Gussin sneaked over for the second score on the first play in the second quarter. Late in the second period, Gussin grabbed a short toss from Erickson behind the Alma line, and behind perfect interference, the Alma quarterback raced to his second touchdown. The first half ended with Alma leading, 20 to 0.

The last two scores came in the third quarter, both being the result of intercepted passes. Gussin intercepted Burrows' long heave at mid-field, reversed his field twice, and with good interference, the fleet Alma back crossed the goal line. On the second play, following the next kickoff, Capt. Pezet grabbed a lateral pass thrown by Burrows and had a clear field for a thirty-five yard run to a touchdown. Kalamazoo's only threat to score was checked as the game ended, Becht failing by inches to cross the goal line on the fourth down. Two long passes, after Burrows' intercepted one thrown by Brown of Alma, had put the ball on the eight-yard line, but Kazoo failed to score in four line smashes.

Nine Alma veterans thus closed their M. I. A. A. grid careers with a championship triumph. Capt. Wally Pezet, Ex-Capt. Eddie Karp, Vernon Kittendorf, Ellsworth Simmons, and Dave Golden, all of Detroit; Cliff Erickson, Newberry; Delbert MacGregor, Flint; Frank Angell, Hastings, and Jim Albaugh, Marshall, comprise the group who played their last M. I. A. A. game Saturday.

The final game of the season will be played at Flint next Saturday when Coach Campbell's eleven will meet the General Motors Tech team for the first time in history.

First Quarter

Borland kicked off for Kalamazoo, Karp receiving the kick on the 20-yard line and returning to the Alma 40. Alma was offside on the first play, suffering a five-yard penalty. Gussin ran right end for two yards, then threw a 20-yard pass to Karp for a first down on the Kazoo 43-yard line. Alma was again penalized five yards for the backfield being in motion. Gussin was thrown for a ten-yard loss. Karp passed to Gussin for 18 yards. Another long pass from Gussin to Angell placed the ball on the Kazoo 19-yard line, with first down. Sharp was thrown for a five-yard loss. Karp tossed a lateral pass to Albaugh which failed to gain. Gussin's pass to Karp was grounded. Kazoo held and took the ball on downs on their 28-yard line. Becht lost a yard at center. Albaugh threw Lamb for a 4-yard loss on a double pass play behind the line. Black punted to midfield. Erickson made three yards at center, Gussin added two at left end, and Albaugh grabbed a pass from Pezet for twelve yards and a first down on the Kazoo 33-yard line. Karp and Erickson made nine yards in two tries, then Erickson plunged five yards to a first down on the 19-yard mark. Sharp and Gussin gained six yards between them, and Sharp added six more for a first down on the seven-yard line. Erickson smashed right tackle for five yards, then hit the same hole for a touchdown. Pezet's kick for extra point was wide. Score, Alma, 6; Kalamazoo, 0.

Lamb took Angell's kickoff on the ten-yard line, returning to his 29-yard stripe. Simmons stopped Lamb with a yard loss. On a second attempt he lost another foot. Black

ZETA SIGMA STAG WAS BIG AFFAIR

Many Alumni Attend Zeta Annual Stag Banquet Saturday

The largest and most successful Stag Banquet in the History of the Zeta Sigma Fraternity was held in the Wright House dining room on Saturday, November 16, at 6:00 P. M. The victory over Kalamazoo was reflected in the jovialness of the 93 alumni, honorary and active members, and pledges who attended. Mr. Angell, Mr. Pezet and Mr. Jamieson, fathers of active members, were also present.

The Rev. Maurice Grigsby, class of '98, gave the blessing which was followed by a five course dinner. Cigarettes and cigars were in abundance and produced a typical "stag" atmosphere which made everyone except the football men perfectly at ease.

Following the dinner, President Frank Angell, who acted as master of ceremonies, gave a brief speech of welcome and introduced the speakers.

George Kaiser introduced the Alumni and Honorary Members who stood and were recognized by all.

Dean James E. Mitchell, class of '93, and oldest alumnus, presented a brief history of Zeta Sigma. The facts and anecdotes concerning "the oldest Alma Fraternity" were of interest to everyone.

Robert Buchanan spoke on "Zeta Sigma." He reviewed the present Zeta Sigma and mentioned some present members who were prominent in Campus activities. The men mentioned rose and were recognized.

Kenneth Forbes gave an outline of the present management of the Fraternity and invited the alumni to inspect the organization.

A "trumpet impromptu" was offered by Harry Wehrly, accompanied by Gerald Phillips. The numbers played were greatly enjoyed by everyone.

The speaker of the evening was Professor L. L. Tyler who gave a very inspiring speech. Many alumni's faces became grave when he spoke of the days that were past and the spectre men who walked in spirit on the field and Campus. Prof. Tyler professed great faith in the present college youth. Although sprinkled with humor, Prof. Tyler's speech had a strong current of seriousness which was understood and appreciated by the entire group.

President Crooks spoke of humorous incidents concerning former students and showed that each student contributes an individual touch to college life and that nearly every ability was exercised for the lasting benefit of all.

"To all good things an end must come" and at 8:00 P. M. the festivities terminated with the singing of the Zeta Sigma song. Everyone left for the Homecoming Dance with the feeling that, so far, it was a "perfect day."

PLEDGE DAY WAS LAST WEDNESDAY

Alma Fraternities Give Out Bids In Chapel Period

Bids from the three campus fraternities were placed in individual envelopes and passed out to the new men on the campus last Wednesday morning after chapel. Every man received an envelope. The pledged men made known their choice by placing the accepted bid in the designated box within the chapel before 12:00 noon Wednesday. The hours between 10:00 and 12:00 A. M. were periods in which no rushing could be done. Immediately at 12:00 o'clock the box was open and the results are as follows:

Zeta Sigma

Zeta Sigma pledged twenty-four men. The following men accepted the Zeta bid: Wayne Brown, Thiel Knoetzer, Douglas Freevert, and Donald Phillips from Alma; Milton Smith, Saginaw; Howard Catherman, Farmington; Raymond Finley, Flint; James Coleman, Alton Robbins and Kenneth Ferguson, Detroit; Leonard Wurtz and Hoyt Reagan, Bay City; Earl Sprague and Duane Davis, Ithaca; H. B. Johnson, Clare; John Fry, La Grange, Ill.; Edward Jacobson, Newberry, Elwood Burget and Garnet Keys, Marlette; William Lane, South Haven; Dean Luginbill, Monroe; Dudleigh Rueggeger, Boyne City and Victor Harrison, Edmore.

Harry Means Crooks, Ford Graham, and Kendell Sharp of Alma and James Gustin of Bay City were pledged earlier in the season.

Phi Phi Alpha

Phi Phi Alpha gave pledgeships to fourteen men. The following men are those who returned bids in favor of Phi Phi Alpha Wednesday morning: Charles Leadbetter, Charles

BETA TAU EPSILON HAS FINE BANQUET

Beta Members, Pledges And Alumni Revel At Wright House

As one of the feature attractions of Homecoming, Beta Tau Epsilon Fraternity held its annual Stag Banquet at the Wright Hotel Saturday evening. The spirit of good-fellowship, which was especially obvious on the campus this week end, prevailed as a rousing good time was had by all. It was the psychological time to hold a banquet of this nature for after the football victory over Kazoo everyone was in a happy frame of mind (except the speakers); hungry (any who may not have been filled to capacity, have an infinite capacity) desirous of a good laugh (even Lyman the Englisher is chuckling yet) and anxious to meet and hear all about everyone else (in fact the sessions had to be finished at the Frat. house after the dance).

The program was uniquely presented by contradicting and non-agreeing toastmasters Heberlein and Harris. The courses were punctuated with popular melodies vigorously roared by the whole group (we can't say sung, for we were over to Saginaw at one of the Concerts.) After the ice cream and cake everyone pushed back their chairs with a contented sigh as Al Musson, '26, was introduced. The alumni were ably represented as Al told of the many dangers of the "cold, cruel world" which we must all face after college. He drew from his own experiences to narrate a terrible gruesome murder—yes really, ask any of the Beta boys. Then Zippy Rick fooled the fellows by not finishing the tale of his big bear hunt, but by summing up the feelings of a senior as he reviews the past four years and looks forward to the next four or five—before each becomes a millionaire. Charlie Bates next spoke his piece for the juniors, and very well—but Charlie, how did you ever escape the snares of Wright Hall? Earle Lyman, who has been closely

BETAS ENTERTAIN ALUMNI SATURDAY

Hewett McDonagh is now connected with the engineering department of the State Highway Commission and lives near Saginaw.

Preston Prudy now lives in Saginaw where he is an engineer for the Telephone Company. He says he is trying to make the telephone lines better for female conversation. (He always was doing something for the feminine sex).

Earl Closser, '28, is now at home in Sault Ste Marie. We couldn't find out just what he is doing there but we imagine that he is playing his part well.

Glenn Pratt is now finishing up his electrical engineering course at Cornell University.

Jack Apsey '25 is in good company. He is teaching in the Flint school system along with a large number from the class of '29 who consented to lend their services to the Flint schools for a year or so.

Al Musson, '27, is teaching Physics and Math in Rochester.

An exhibit has been prepared of colored reproductions donated by Mrs. Wm. A. Bahlke to the library, and may be seen in the library vestibule.

HOMECOMING DAY WAS LARGEST EVER

Saturday's Game Brings Parents And Alumni To Alma Campus

One of the largest and best Homecoming Celebrations that Alma College has ever seen took place last Saturday on the Alma Campus.

Preliminaries began Friday night with, as Coach Campbell said, the finest display of school spirit that Alma has seen in many years at the Mass Meeting in the Chapel. The enthusiasm portrayed there carried over to the New Athletic Field and helped Alma win its third M. I. A. A. football championship in four years. Spirited talks by Chet Robinson, Dean Mitchell, Professor Clark, President Crooks and Coach Campbell, and various members of the team in combination with the Band and well-lead yells aroused a filled chapel to unexcelled efforts.

The play, "New Brooms", was very worthwhile and everyone connected with it deserves to be complimented. Some of the parents and home-comers arrived early enough to have the opportunity of seeing this initial drama club production.

Others arrived early Saturday morning and attended the dinner at Wright Hall. Nearly three hundred students, parents, alumni, and old students gathered in the women's dormitory to partake of Wright Hall food. After the meal everyone adjourned to the reception room to talk over old times and become acquainted.

After the little chats everyone left the hall to witness the colorful Homecoming Parade which was headed by the Alma College Band.

When the scheduled hour of the game approached the road to the new Athletic Field was filled with cars and people who were going to witness the Alma-Kalamazoo titular game, and they weren't disappointed. It was an ideal day for a football game, and the assembled crowd watched the Maroon and Cream players run through the Hornets to the tune of 33-0, thereby clinching the M. I. A. A. title. Before the game the flag was raised while the Band played the Star Spangled Banner. Between halves the Alma musicians paraded on the field and played a few selections in front of the Alma spectators.

After the contest many of the Alumni, parents, and old students were entertained at the home of President and Mrs. Crooks.

In the evening Zeta Sigma and Beta Tau Epsilon held their annual Stag Banquets at the Wright House which were thoroughly enjoyed by all who were in attendance. At 8:00 P. M. everyone congregated in the Memorial Gymnasium to dance to the music of Paul Bennett's Melodinas.

It was certainly fine to see so many people on the Alma campus and to feel that all were contributing to the success of the college.

NEW BROOMS WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Alma College Drama Club Play Enjoyed By Large Audience

The Drama Club play, "New Brooms", held in the Strand theatre last Friday evening was a success from all standpoints. The three-act comedy was written by Frank Craven. The play dealt with and appealed to the fathers and sons, first of all. They were sure to smile at its truthful situations, laughed at its well directed lines, and perchance discerned the wisdom of its theme, for "New Brooms" urged sympathetic tolerance and the union of youth's energetic optimism with the elder's prudence gained by experience. Since it was a portrayal of one phase of an American home, mothers and sisters watched the play with understanding smiles and hoped earnestly for a final mutual agreement, which they saw lacking so often between the father and his boy.

Don Horton deserves a great deal of credit in directing this play. Miss Irene Beuthin, who took the part of Geraldine Marsh, the young lady who helped to straighten the Bate's household around and sweeten the dispositions of every one, is fully deserving of the many compliments which she received.

Mr. Clarence Moore, Thomas Bates Sr., perfectly portrayed the role of a staid, crabby old business man. This character part was very difficult, but Clarence certainly "came through." His son, Thomas Bates Jr., or known to the college students as Amos Raddock, was the optimistic young man just out of college who thought he could manage his father's business much better than he. He soon found however, that his father's ill humor had been justified, for everyone took advantage of his good nature. The son had to admit that his old dad was right, and after a year's trial he was willing to have his father take over the business again. The last scene was so realistic, so close to home that many a man and woman could scarcely conceal a tear. When two students can produce an effect such as this no one can deny that it was marvelous acting.

Marion MacKenzie was Ethel Bates, the young sister, who could not understand why her father was not happy to pay enormous debts that she incurred. Her brother's disagreeableness finally forced her to marry a young man exceedingly careful with his money, Wallie Nowell, otherwise known as Don McQuaig. These two were very well chosen.

Miss Mary K. Burt, as Florence Wheeler, was the somewhat unfaithful fiancée of Thomas Bates Jr., who became attached to the slightly boisterous promoter and would be oil magnate, Jack Cook or George Morrow. Both have had experience in the Drama Club, and that may account for their perfect pose.

Dan Adams, as the old adviser of Mr. Bates Sr. contributed his bit to making the play a success.

Dorothea Prouty, who was the irate housekeeper, informed us as to conditions in the household by serving notice and walking out on the family.

Don Horton, the necessary butler in such a house, humored the entire Bates family and thereby knew how to hang onto his job.

Vera White was the "charity pest" who helped to drive Amos almost to distraction. She was very effective and brought unpleasant memories to a good many of the business men present.

The contractor who was constantly imposing upon Thomas Bates Jr. was Eugene Tarrant. Gene was a very good man for the part. His demonstration in chapel one day as a perfect lover made this part easy for him.

Harold Smith looked and acted the part of a typical laborer.

With Don Horton as director, Clarence Moore as business manager; Joe Taylor, general stage technician, Harold Smith, stage manager, and Mary K. Burt, property manager, the Alma College Drama Club gave one of the best plays in the history of the organization.

THAT PEP MEETING

The exceptionally large number of students who attended the Friday night mass meeting was truly inspiring to everyone present. At least the students are beginning to act like the true American young men and women that they really are. The victory Saturday was significant in more ways than one. Not only did we send our opponents down to defeat, but we have conquered the arch enemy that was throttling our college, whose insidious breath was poisoning the very atmosphere in which we live. The mighty fist of school spirit caught our narrow-minded attitude right on the "button" and put him down for the count.

There are many regrets over a few incidents of the past week, but it is gratifying to see that the people involved are the broadminded individuals that we thought they were. Man, being human, is prone to error, and there is no one who has never made a mistake at some time or other. There would be no excuse, however, for a re-occurrence of such a thing. For a time it looked as though the efforts of this paper and those of the student body were going to go down with a crash, but the pep meeting in the chapel showed that this campus is blessed with real men.

Perhaps once more we can be the "Yale of the West", a school noted for its spirit as well as its wonderful athletic teams.

The enthusiasm of the student body seemed to be transferred to our players on the field. They knew that every person in those stands was behind them pushing them on to victory. If that enthusiasm prevails, nothing can stop us, nothing will fall prey to wolf, non-cooperation. We showed that we had the interests of Alma College at heart instead of our own. It was evident that many were willing to sacrifice personal feelings for the good of the institution, and that is the true test of an ideal college student.

Mary Mason, ex-'32, was back to see the "gang" at the Hall. Of course Earl Leichty '28 who is teaching in Midland, was present also.

The alumni reunion in Detroit on last Wednesday evening is reported to have been a great success. Dr. Samuel H. Hebert '20, presided and Paul H. Austin '15 sang. A daughter of Sue Brown Brodie '13 and a little friend of hers danced, to the delight of the group. Miss Caroleen Robinson, formerly head of the department of kindergarten training, was present and was received with enthusiasm as she spoke. IF—FOR FRESHMAN BOYS

If:
You get a chance
To learn to dance
Don't pass it up
For 'tween lip and cup
There's oft delay—
That's "so you say."

CAMPUSOLOGY

What a wonderful week end—"New Brooms" — Championship — Dance — and Bonfire. Who said Alma did not have any spirit.

Friday night's pep meeting was the best one held here in years.

"New Brooms" helped sweep up Kazoo.

Do you think that "Dinty" Moore is too old to be kissed?

Jack Cook seemed to be in his element at the play—free cigarettes.

Yes Horton did well. He didn't stumble over his feet and words.

Adams received his congratulations between the second and third acts. Better wait till the show is over.

A reward of $25 has been posted for information regarding Micky's and Helen's date on November 8th.

Buchanan is still in the market for a date for the Homecoming Dance.

We have a half a man on the campus—Fry—who has only one-half of his moustache.

Charlie Mann of Holt sings that old number "It's all over."

The two deaf and dumb girls, Vina-cow and Stone. "They satisfy."

Speaking of homecomers—"Russ" Catherman came up on a milk truck.

It was also a profitable one for "Harlie" Catherman—a new fender and a wheel.

CO-ED NEWS

Opportunity changed his tune and knocked twice this week end but "Pearly" missed her "big moment."

Famous words of famous women:

Tony—"I'll be late, but wait!"
Helen—"There's no place in my life for another blind date."

Vinny and Stoney made whoopee Saturday night—funny what a difference there can be in parties.

Marge and Rache are henceforth firm believers in walking abroad of an evening. Witness—Saturday night.

Speaking of differences—a few days means a lot in the vitality of cider.

Has anyone seen these sylphu'che creatures flitting hither and yon on the campus? If you haven't—you won't because the reducing class is reduced (in numbers). No Amazon could stand that pace long.

Goldy deserves Wright Hall notice—having shown his scorn for local talent by bringing not one but many for the benefit of the mob.

Among the visitors at the Hall this week end was Master Nippy—no, it was not a cheese but a dog. And what a canine he turned out to be!

Doug and Art battled royally for the fair damsel the other night. Both ended up "all wet."

Speaking of fights—Wright Hall experienced a pugilistic week end.

(If anyone feels neglected, just remind the editor of this column that you're around and why!)

Pledge Day Was Was Last Wednesday

J. Buford Horsford, Hosford, Florida; and Alfred Watson, Bad Axe, were made associate members. Douglas McLellan, Calumet and Ralph Harwood, East Tawas were pledged earlier in the year.

Beta Tau Epsilon

The following ten men received pledge pins from Beta Tau Epsilon: Albert Calkins, Sebawaing; Harold Peterson, Wolverine; Kenneth Reh-koff, Petoskey; Clifford McEvers, Clawson; Lavon Winterberg, Mt. Pleasant; Rex Chapin, Columbusville; George Roberts, Alma; Winslow Smith, Hemlock; Arthur Moore and Frederick Biddecombe, St. Louis.

watching the hotel swipes—we hope, to learn new tricks of his own week-day trade—then unauthoritatively predicted our futures, with nary a word of himself (what's wrong, Hungry, hasn't she made up her mind yet?) Ken Rehkof then made a real bid for the Hall of Fame with a fiery speech such as only a red-headed freshman could make.

Dr. Brokenshire, who needed no introduction, being one of Alma College's most able speechifiers, told the fellows what we should expect, and try to get out of college. He doesn't believe in stuffing our pockets, nor even our heads alone, but "learn as many worthwhile facts about as many things as possible, then learn how, and when to reproduce these facts."

Thus with something to think over humorously, and new friendship cemented joyously, the Eighth Annual seriously, pleasantries to laugh over Stag was temporarily adjourned to meet again after the dance at the Beta Tau House. It was adjourned then, only after everyone was talked out or had fallen asleep—to awaken at first regretting the day is over, then realizing next Homecoming Day brings another get-together banquet.

Besides all of the members of Beta Tau Epsilon, the new pledges, and many of the Alumni, there was present four honorary members of the Fraternity: Professor Hamilton, Dr. Brokenshire, Dr. Kaufman, and Dr. MacCurdy.

MANY ZETA ALUMNI RETURN TO CAMPUS

Many alumni and old members of Zeta Sigma were back and attended the "Stag Banquet" Saturday night.

Those present were: Rev. Maurice Grigsby, '98, of the St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Detroit.

Earl Tomes of Detroit was back with all of his old pep.

Earl Coleman, '18, Hastings, Michigan. Earl brought his wife with him and also a young future Zeta Sigma man.

George Allan Hebert, '18, brought his wife (Bess Brown) with him to the Homecoming.

A. C. "Ox" Edgerton and his son came back to the old stamping ground.

Stanley A. Graves, who married the Dean of women while in college, attended the banquet.

Bert and Mrs. Bouwman (Elizabeth Williams) '25 watched Alma win the championship.

Carlton Neeland, Mancelona, joined the boys.

S. A. Shoemaker '24, Grosse Point, was there with Bob Wyatt, '24, Ike Sartor, '27, Ralph "Skin" Frazer, '28, and Harlie Catherman, '26. Russell Catherman '25 was also on the campus.

C. M. Spooner, Ferndale, and John R. Lott came back to look the place over.

Harold Hobart, Homer Barlow, Charlie Mann, Max Thompson, Jake Westfall and Hurant Arozian, all of '29, came "home."

Lauritz Drevdahl '28, James Braun, E. J. Hendershott '28, Ferris Gardner, C. J. Swarthout and C. Clark '27, helped the boys celebrate the championship.

"Woody" Lamb '26 and Stan Vliet '24 were also present.

TAU SIGMA GAMMA

One of the outstanding features of the year was the hospitality of Mrs. W. A. Bahlke, who gave a paper on Italy. She illustrated this very interesting talk with exquisite examples of Italian art of every field. Later refreshments were served in a candle-light dining room. The second high spot for the club was Professor Tyler's talk at the open meeting, October 30, about his war experiences abroad.
