Alma Cagers Meet Hillsdale Tonight

UNSTAD IS NEW ECONOMIC PROF.

Newest Faculty Member is From Franklin College, Columbus, Ohio.

Mr. Lyder L. Unstad, B. A., A. M., of Columbus, Ohio, has been named by President Crooks to replace Dr. Arthur E. Weimer, as the head of the Economics department of Alma College.

Mr. Unstad comes here from Columbus, Ohio, where he has been teaching in the Franklin University of that city and at the same time working to secure his Ph. D. degree from the Ohio State University.

He received his B. A. degree from Concordia College, which is located at Moorhead, Minn. He then attended the University of Minnesota to obtain his A. M. degree, and after graduating from this school, he began his teaching career and at the same time continued to study for Ph. D.

From 1929-1932 he was a professor of economics at the Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, and during the last year he has acted in that capacity at the Franklin University in the same city. In these same years he has worked on his Ph. D. at Ohio State University. In the summer of 1933 he took his general Ph. D. examinations, and his thesis, "An Economic-Industrial History of Columbus, Ohio," has been accepted by the main professor in charge of it. It is now being read by the other members of the committee, and he expects to receive his Ph. D. this spring.

The College is most fortunate in being able to secure Mr. Unstad, for the number of economic professors obtainable these days is very few in number as most of them are working for the government. Even Mr. Unstad turned down a government offer to come here because he prefers to be a college professor always.

There will be no changes in the number of economic courses, for all the courses that are listed in the Catalogue have been both taught and studied by Mr. Unstad during the past few years.

COMPETITION WILL BE KEEN IN ORATORICAL CONTEST FEBRUARY 14

The men's oratorical contest at Alma College promises to be a real battle of words and one of the most highly competitive ones that has been staged in Alma for years, judging from the character of those who have expressed their intention of entering the contest, which will be held February 14th in the College Chapel.

Alfred Fortino, who won the local meet and was picked to go to the state finals in the district contest, will be one of the orators again this year. Mr. Breneman and Mr. Boynton were in the contest last year and will doubtless enter this year. Robert Sayles, Holmes Sullivan, and George Walker, who are expected to enter this year's contest, will orate for the first time at Alma, but will give the "old guard" a good run.

The women's oratorical contest will be held in the afternoon of the same day. Probable contestants have not been announced as yet, but Miss Gretah Wilson, who carried off the honors last year, will doubtless enter this year. In both contests there is a twenty dollar first prize and ten dollar second prize.

CORRECTION WITH OUR APOLOGIES

"Somebody blundered, but on charged the six hundred" and so did someone blunder when writing up the Central State-Alma debate two weeks ago, but we printed it unknowingly.

In the words of the makeup editor of the "Central State Life": "Alma did not and could not win the debate because there were no judges and no decision was rendered." Further, Earle Mayville is not captain of Central's team, and Stuart Merrill, not Emil Pfister, was the other member of Central's team.

HAZING IS STAMPED OUT AT WAKE FOREST

Roused with indignation over the hair-cutting escapades of 27 students, Dean D. B. Bryan of Wake Forest College, North Carolina, gave a ringing speech which definitely placed the pranksters in shame, forced them to make a public apology, and brought more than 1,000 students to their feet in approval of a resolution to stamp out hazing once and for all.

During this address the 27 men sat in the front two rows in mute witness of Dr. Bryan's statement that haircutting days were over. At the end of this speech each man stood up and faced the audience. All of these had confessed some part in haircutting, and through a spokesman promised the student body that no more victims would have their heads bared to the public gaze.

The mass apology of the 27 confessed hazers marked the culmination of a hectic week of activity by the faculty and student council. Immediately before Christmas an unprecedented crop of shining domes appeared on the campus, topping off three months of steady haircutting. During the holidays the college administration was flooded with letters and telegrams of protest, and even several intimations of ensuing legal action if conditions were not improved.

DEBATERS HOLD TOURNAMENT AT KAZOO FEB. 8TH

Alma Will Send 3 Teams to Annual Forensic Round-Robin Friday.

The annual debate tournament for members of the Michigan Interscholastic Speech League will be held on February 8th at Kalamazoo with Western State and Kalamazoo acting as joint hosts for the occasion.

Alma College, according to a recent announcement by Prof. Spencer, who is the men's debate coach, will send three teams to this tournament. The Alma teams will be Clarence Clohset and Hugh Brown, George Walker and Ed Howes, and Claude Knight and Marvin Dixon.

All the higher institutions in Michigan are expected to be represented by teams except Olivet College and the University of Michigan. A school can enter as many teams as it desires but only two of the teams are considered official and thus represent the institution in the contest. The official teams for Alma have not as yet been announced.

Each team consists of two members with each speaker having a main speech of ten minutes and a rebuttal speech of five minutes. The debates will last all day Friday, and during the course of the day each two man team will probably encounter three other teams. The question upon which all the teams will debate will be that decided upon by the League at the beginning of the year, as follows: Resolved, that the manufacture of the arms and munitions in the United States should be made a government monopoly.

In addition to their debates the men present will be brought together for a bit of informal discussion at a luncheon at noon, which will be held at the Presbyterian Church House. The debate tournament for the women will be held February 22 at Albion.

NOTICE TO ALL SENIORS

It is an official college rule that all class debts must be paid before graduation. Will all those who still owe dues please clear these up as soon as possible.

Gordon Clack,
Senior Treasurer.

Dr. Francis M. Vreeland, who was a member of the class of 1922 at Alma College, has just recently been promoted from an associate professor of sociology to a full professorship at DePauw University, Greencastle, Indiana.

BANQUET-FORMAL GIVEN SATURDAY

Addison Reed Will Play for 44th Lincoln Banquet of Phi Phi Alphas.

Plans for the forty-fourth annual Lincoln Banquet of the Phi Phi Alpha Fraternity have been completed, according to William Goggin, general chairman for the party.

The party will be held this Saturday, February 9th, at the Midland Country Club with Addison Reed, an orchestra very popular on the campus this year, furnishing music during the banquet and for the dancing afterwards.

All arrangements have been finished, and everything is in readiness for one of the finest parties of the year. The orchestra and the place were selected by Edward Goggin. Charles Smith, who is looking after the menu, promises to furnish the real feature of the evening.

Christopherson is in charge of the transportation question, and invitations are being sent to alumni and honorary members by James Day. Luther Evans, who has selected the programs and favors, guarantees the feminine partners of those attending a real treat, but at this time the details are being kept secret.

Word has been received from a number of alumni, stating that they will be on hand to enjoy the party. With all the plans completed and only the last minute arrangements to be taken care of, the Phi (and Phi-esses) are anxiously awaiting the big occasion on Saturday night.

Chaperons, though not definitely decided upon at this time, will probably be Dean Florence Steward, Dean Mitchell, Dr. and Mrs. Kaufmann, and Prof. and Mrs. Clack.

"BAD LUCK" IS THE TOUGHEST OPPONENT FOR SCOTCH CAGERS

"Bad Luck" seems to be the Scots' toughest opponent in their fight for the third successive M.I.A.A. basketball championship. So far they have managed to keep out ahead in spite of it, but with four of the remaining conference games to be played from home any more bad luck may make the picture a very dark one.

To begin with the team has practically no reserve power, and every man they had was vitally needed. Then after Christmas vacation employment accounted for the loss of Al Glance, one of our most promising guards. Then just as Clyde Dawe showed his ability to fill Glance's position he fractured his foot in the Hope game and was out for the remainder of the season.

The week of the Albion game was the darkest so far. With Dawe and Glance gone the regulars numbered little more than one full team, and at this time Volk, our all-M.I.A.A. center, Ben Ewer and Kelly Beach were taken with the flu, while Malcolm had been absent from practice with an injured shoulder.

The sick bed relinquished its three players for that one week, however, and Alma gave Albion her second defeat to hold the conference lead and move closer to another title, which the Scots have held for the past two years. In 1933 such Scots as Barton, Kahn, Catherman, Dawson, and Volk won the title without great difficulty. Last year, though we defeated the Hope cagers twice, they managed to tie with us, however, but M.I.A.A. rules in such a case allowed us to keep the title, having won it the previous year.

This year the Scots are out to top the conference for the third consecutive year. They have, however, the toughest part of their schedule ahead of them, for most of their games are away from home, and this so far has been a handicap for any team. If their "Bad Luck" jinx stays away for awhile, they are undoubtedly in a preferred position to be once again the M.I.A.A. Champions.

ONLY ONE OF 1934'S BEST YOUNG MEN IS NOT A COLLEGE GRAD

All but one of the twelve young men selected as the outstanding young men of 1934 are college or university graduates or at one time attended college. The selection of 1934's "best" was made by Durward Howes, editor of "America's Young Men" who's who of the younger generation.

The only one placed on the list who is not a college graduate is Clark Gable, 34-year-old movie actor who was selected for the honor roll for his outstanding performance in the screen hit "It Happened One Night."

The complete list includes such well known persons as: Walter Disney, Lewis Douglas, Clark Gable, Robert LaFollette, jr., and Charles Lindbergh.

Others less known are: John Edgar Hoover, Dept. of Justice; Henry Luce, publisher of Time and Fortune; Paul Siple, Boy Scout with Byrd; Edward Stettinius, jr., chairman of the finance committee of the U. S. Steel Corporation; James Warburg, vice-chairman of the Bank of Manhattan, and Richard West, president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce.

COUNCIL VOTES NOT TO PUBLISH COLLEGE ANNUAL

Action is Council's Last in First Semester's Business.

In the last meeting of the Student Council to be held in the first semester of the college year it was decided to drop the idea of publishing a Maroon and Cream for this year due to the difficulty of financing it and also of finding an editor.

The Maroon and Cream, which was revived last year for the first time in three years, has undergone a very rocky history in the attempt to publish it this year. There have been two business managers, Robert Lehner and Robert Anthonisen, who went down with the sinking ship. There has also been two editors, Luther Evans and Earle Tomes, and both editors took to the life boats before the crash. It was the inability to find an editor that finally doomed the project.

This was the last action of the Student Council for the first semester. At the first of the year they gave their annual college mixer. During the year they carried out Parent Day and Homecoming programs and staged the traditional parade for the men. In addition they sent Helen Walker to a conference at Ann Arbor and delegates to a conference at Albion. Just recently they have sponsored an intramural basketball program for both men and women of the college.

TONY WONS QUOTES PROF. ROBERT CLACK

Radio enthusiasts who were listening to the program of Saturday, Jan. 26, had a pleasant surprise when Tony Wons presented his literary hour over W. J. R. at 11:00 o'clock. During the chatty broadcast which includes bits of poetry, philosophy, and other interesting matters, Tony Wons used a quotation from one of Prof. Robert Clack's Chinese translations, and it came to the radio audience with pleasing interpretation and clarity. Prof. Clack of Alma College was announced as its source much to the delight of local folk who heard the broadcast.

Prof. Clack's delightful little volume, "From Lily Glade to Lotus Pool", a group of translations from Chinese poetry, came out last year and is a piece of literary work of which his home community is justifiably proud.

A loafer seldom earns much bread.—Ling Posie.

TEAM PLAYS AT ALBION FRIDAY

Week's Games Will Make or Break Scot's Title Chances.

The Scots will have two high hurdles to face this week in Hillsdale tonight at Hillsdale, and Albion Friday night at Albion. The following week sees Alma at Holland and Olivet, for a couple of jumps that must be accomplished.

Although the Scots remain at the top of the M.I.A.A. heap at this writing, the race is far from being settled. If the Scots can win the rest of the games they win hands down. One loss means a probable tie, although the championship may be gotten with eight victories and two defeats. Two losses might mean a tie for first or second place.

Hillsdale in its own back yard has the habit of beating invading teams. A veteran team that has found its stride is also another factor that the 'Dales have in their favor. On the big floor, forwards Beverly Selby and Harvey Ojala can do a lot of shooting and if the boys are "on" they can make a good team look sick. The Stanich brothers will prove no easy meat either. Smith, an M.I.A.A. newcomer, rounds out the starting line-up.

As is the case with Hillsdale, Albion likes its own basketball court. Olivet and Hillsdale found that out last semester, although Hope pulled a surprise in the last half minute. Fred Berner, Willie Smith and Ed King carry enough offensive punch to blast out any M.I.A.A. honors that opponents might have designs on.

Although the eligibility records are not available, changes might have to be made at forward and guard. Steve Keglovitz is expected to play often away from home, as the large floor is not so much a handicap to his lack of height.

Soc Students Inspect Detroit Institutions Between Semesters

Between semesters the Sociology students of Alma College made a sight seeing survey of some of Detroit's social service agencies under the guidance of Dean Steward and Miss Foley, covering in two days what normally should take four.

The trip began Friday morning, February 1, with a visit to the Oakland juvenile detention home and court and the offices of the relief workers. The remainder of the morning was spent watching the Merrill Palmer children at lunch and a drive to the Sophie Wright Settlement where they had lunch.

In the afternoon they were shown movies of the settlement activities and lantern slides entitled "Building Boys or Mending Men". Later at the Children's Aid Society building they heard Mr. Leon Frost on "Bewildered Youth in the Great City", and then toured the building. Hopelessly behind schedule they left here to visit the Community Fund building with its Crippled Children's Clinic, Visiting Nurse Association, Boy Scouts, and Community Fund Headquarters, and the Legal Aid Bureau. The evening was spent at the Chas. F. F. Campbell home watching lantern slides.

Saturday morning was more than taken up with visits and inspections by tour or movie of Harper Hospital, the Wayne Juvenile Court and Detention Home, and the Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital, where the group had lunch.

After dinner they visited class rooms, pool, and wards, and then set off for the Ford Republic, where they spent the remainder of the day. Its history and aims were presented by Mr. Reed, and then they visited the Plant and also attended a session of "court".

The trip was highly successful, interesting, and educational but the great rush due to the little time between semesters made it a terrific strain upon the Soc students.

INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATING

In the past few years there has been introduced into intercollegiate debating a "cross questioning" method which has greatly increased the interest and value of debate, for it has made debating livelier and makes necessary a much keener study of the subject.

This procedure calls for a speech from each member of the teams debating, but in addition the teams are subjected to a questioning from the other side. In this way many issues that might otherwise be ignored are forced into discussion, and the debate ceases to be a speech of the two coaches' viewpoints as is so often the case today.

This week end the Michigan Intercollegiate Speech League will hold their annual debating tournament at Kalamazoo, and according to all recent information the "cross questioning" method will not be used nor has it been in debates between League teams throughout the season.

This action we feel is quite regrettable. We feel that debating needs some sort of a stimulant for the good of those taking part and the interest of those who come to hear them, which, sadly enough, are very few in number, for debates have too often ceased to be debates at all, but only four well framed and well memorized speeches and a few jokes. Too often one side will completely ignore the issues of the other and in the end we have two good cases established, but no attempt on the part of either side to tear down the issues of their opponents.

The "cross questioning" method eliminates this to a very great extent. The bombardment that each team has to meet brings out clearly many things that can be ignored otherwise and that are deciding points in the debate. It eliminates talking around the point and it either makes or breaks a case and does not leave it hanging in mid air as so many debates are left today.

We feel that this method which is gaining popularity so rapidly in the larger institutions of the country should at least be given a trial at the debate tournament to be held this week. We are also strongly in favor of its adoption by the League as the style or method for future debates on the grounds that we have already stressed and because we think that it may provide the necessary spark to debating that will arouse student interest and bring better audiences. It is a question that at least should not be ignored by the Speech League at its next meeting.

WAYNE UNIVERSITY

The varsity debate squad presented an exact replica of parts of the Senate munitions investigation in the auditorium of the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs.

In a survey compiled by Dr. R. Walters Wayne is ranked 21st as regards all resident students (8,360) and 30th in number of full-time students (2,931).

KALAMAZOO

The "400 club," consisting of everybody interested in Kazoo college, was launched by Mr. Staake, '21 with the object of getting four hundred students at the college for '35. The Hornets opened their season by defeating Battle Creek by 5 points and losing to State by 5 points.

Coach Barnard will send four sophomores and two seniors to both the A. A. U. indoor track meet at Ann Arbor Feb. 9 and the Michigan State Relays Feb. 16.

WAYNE

Ossip Gabrilowitsch, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and nationally known musician, will receive the honorary degree of Dr. of Music from Wayne University.

CENTRAL STATE

The sports writer of the Central State Life seems to be attempting to show that Alma's success is due to Lyle Bennett, who was a former Mt. Pleasant student, so we assume that he wants us to be grateful to them if we win the title.

HOPE COLLEGE

The Knickerbocker Literary fraternity permanently abolished informal initiation and substituted a constructive pledgeship program centering around the fundamental principles of the organization.

from "What Colleges Are Doing"
The man who cannot afford to get down off his perch and move about among his fellows is wasting his time at a modern university. All the wisdom and learning that he may accumulate will not save him from a fossilized old age.—McGill Daily.

Up in one of the little New England seaports lay the good yacht "Psyche". It had come from one of the southern yacht clubs and was laying in for supplies. One of the older natives of the region who was long on spelling, though short on mythology, was seen to return time after time to study the craft, and was also observed to shake his head. Finally he could bear it no longer, he swung on a bystander and in a disgusted voice said, "What a hell of a way to spell fish."—The Cornell Daily Sun.

There are two kinds of students who brag about their grades, those who make mostly A's and those who come up with flunks.

It is necessary for the A student to describe how his high marks were made in order to avoid misconception that he might be an apple polisher. The flunkers must tell how they were discriminated against or else how little, after all, they really studied.

Strange as it may seem, no one will admit that he or she is a trifle dumb. Those who find themselves up to their ears in flunks usually carry it off with a sophisticated shrug implying—"Boy, do I get around."—The Daily Kansan.

PURDY, WALKER LEAD LEAGUE

Both Teams Win Two Openers in Intramural Basketball Tournament.

Purdy's Panthers and Walker's Walruses remained on top of the intramural league at the end of the last week of competition. The week was featured by the high scoring of Thursday's games, when scores soared above the half-century mark.

Wednesday, January 23, Vitek's Vultures won their initial victory when they handed Fortino's Firebugs their first official set back. Clohset and York gathered fifteen points as the Vultures went on to victory 20-14. In the second game Ludwig's Lubbers nosed out the Seniors 19-16. Mapes dominated the scoring with fourteen points for the Lubbers, while Campbell collected half of the Seniors' total.

Thursday Purdy's Panthers trounced Sayle's Slaughters 37-13 for their second consecutive victory, and retained their hold on first place. Mack successfully played sleeper and looped the Walker set the pace with twenty-seven points, and was followed by teammates Hurosky and Sural with twelve points apiece. In the night cap Day's Dragons outclassed Lau's Leopards and walked off with an easy 48-10 win. Fisher with nineteen points and Lea with thirteen were the big guns in the Dragon attack.

8 NEW STUDENTS AT ALMA THIS SEMESTER

Eight new students have entered Alma College this semester to either begin or complete their college courses, making the total enrollment for the second semester 255 at the close of Monday's registration. A few more will probably register late.

The new students come from north, south, east and west. The new girls registered by two o'clock Monday afternoon are: Ann Campbell from Detroit, and Lillian Martin from Chicago, Illinois. Five new boys had registered at this same time. They are as follows: George W. Kessell, Saginaw; Lionel Gibb, Detroit; Roy Thomas Collins, Detroit; Curtis West, Detroit; and George Helmrich, Ferris.

Josiah Scribner, who was forced to leave school last year on account of illness which required rigid medical attention, has returned to resume and complete his studies at Alma College. Mr. Scribner is from Brimley, Michigan.

SCOTS HOLD LEAD BEATING ALBION

Burst of Speed Gives College Game in Last Minutes of Play.

A determined rally in the last few minutes gave the weakened Scots a game over Albion 32 to 29, and kept the lead of the MIAA current cage race in Alma. The game, last Friday, started similar to the previous two home games with the visiting team (Albion) holding a slight lead at the half. From then on the Scots started traveling, and once ahead they never faltered.

The Britons started out with a fast pace. Ed King dropped one in from the side. Garlick followed with three points and Thwaites added one more. Ben Ewer dropped in a bucket after Fuller sank a free throw to put the Scots in the game. Volk got a tip in. Fuller tied it up with a one-handed shot, after Smith tossed in a free throw.

Three baskets by King, Smith, and Fisher gave the Britons a short-lived lead, because Volk, Fuller and Rney Block evened up the score again. Bill Smith's two baskets gave the Britons a lead they held to the end of the half.

After the intermission, Smith started out where he left off with another sinker from the side. Fraser Malcolm and Ben Ewer again put the Scots in a better position with a bucket apiece. The Britons, thoroughly stirred up by this, dropped in seven points to the Scots' four. Volk tipped in another shot and the Scots were on their way. An overhead shot from the side put the Scots up within a single free throw's distance of the panicky Britons.

Kelly Beach came to the fore with a couple of free throws to put the Scots one point in the lead. Smith tried to ruin the game, but he missed three free throws in succession. Mel Fuller put the game on ice with a dog shot as he drove in toward the basket. He missed the free throw that was given him after the basket, but it didn't change the outcome.

SCOTS LOSE TO WAYNE 41-30

Two New Sophomore's Lead Attack of Tartars Against Scots.

Last Friday evening the Scots again invaded Detroit, but again were defeated by the strong Wayne U. Athletes. After the 20 to 0 setback in football, the Scots were determined to take the Tartars on their home court, but two new sophomores spoiled their chances.

The score was 41 to 30. On the following night, the Tartars again hit their stride, taking one from Kalamazoo College, 41 to 23. Which doesn't put Alma in rather poor place with Kalamazoo.

Roth and Berris, two sophomores who became eligible this semester for varsity competition, dropped in 27 points between them. The Scots held the rest of the boys pretty well in check, but couldn't cope with the scoring of the two Wayne forwards.

John Volk led the scoring for the Scots with 12 points to his credit. He missed the first seven free throws, which would have put the Scots in a very good position for a rally. In the last half he dropped in two out of the four chances. Beach with 6 points, and Malcolm with 4 were the next highest for the Scots.

The game was fairly rough throughout. Beach and Volk were banished on four personal fouls, while Berris and Captain Dikoff followed suit for the Tartars.

Steve Keglovitz made his scoring debut in this game with a basket in the second half.

IRC Is Given New Books By Carnegie Endowment

The already rather good sized library of the International Relations Club has just recently received an addition of eight current books of an international character from the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The books received are: Between Two Worlds, by Nicholas Murray Butler; The Heritage of Freedom, by James Shotwell; Crisis Government, by Lindsay Rogers; and a very recent publication by Michael Florinsky entitled The Saar Struggle.

There is also The Soviet State, by Maxwell; The European War Debts, by Loyd; The Air Menace and The Answer, by Elvira Fradkin, which is a collection of a number of articles, and New Government in Europe, by Buell.

These books are given each year to colleges having International Relations clubs to encourage study along these lines. They are kept on the reserve shelf of the library and may be given out to anyone using the library under the rules governing such books.

CAMPUSOLOGY

Wright Hall is rapidly becoming a jewelry exchange once again, and it is about time.

We think we see janitor Block wearing Charlotte Temple's grandfather's or may be grandmother's wedding ring.

Hold on—Miss Temple is not giving anything away (?), for she is sporting Mr. Block's sharp-shooting pin (arrows are his specialty no doubt).

Under—Well, I'll be a B. A. this spring.

Grad—That's nothing. I'll be an M. A.

Under—Oh! I didn't know you were married.

The Museum steps are complaining of the cold for the first time in years.

And the dainty Dane just steps out from three-thirty till ten-thirty for a breath of fresh air no doubt—everything you say will be used against you, Marjory.

Which place do you like best, Surrell, Lansing or Midland.

The only time some students seem to register anything is on the first day of each semester.

wrong. He never takes the bath whether he has a date or not.

It's Patsey not Pat any more, or so we learn from Josie, we mean, Jo Elliot.

We can't tell anything about the activities between semesters, or we would be telling on ourselves.

Kirma tells us about Pat Riley's wife, and all this time we didn't even know he was married.

He also tells us that something with dark hair stood between Jack Clark and an A-1 scholastic record, so that kind of lets you out, Lois.

Rampaging Rimrod

A full decade ago, or more, not less,

You pranced into this world with wholesome grace.

A thoroughbred whose charm and noble change of pace

Won every jockey's heart and fond caress.

Yours was the rapid gait with constant stress,

On kicking high and winning every race;

The cinders on the tracks had not the base

To sustain your pounding hoofs, I must confess;

But now, or Rim, your stance has lost the pride,

As George hangs o'er your ribs the weighty load,

Of chaffing straps from plow all set for sod,

I plead that man forget your aching sides,

And let his "iron-horse" take all the road,

As you live on, my gallant elevated Rimrod.

Women are all right; remember if Moses had not made some noise he would still be in the bullrushes! —Ping Pong Pang.

Dave would like to make his foot an excuse for not studying, but then he would have to admit that his brains are all in his feet.

With couples going their own way like they did between semesters there will be a awful lot of checking up this first week.

Fortino claims after the Albion game that illness has a lot of "influenza" in winning basketball games. Well, maybe that makes sense.

Geology proved to be a little deaf for some students just like independently was over Lefthouse's head.

Teacher: Johnny, give me a sentence with the word "discrepancy" in it.

Johnny—Read discrepancy how you like it.

Her lips quivered as they approached mine. My whole frame trembled as I looked into her eyes. Her body shook with intensity as our lips met, and my chin vibrated and my body shuddered as I held her to me.

The moral of this is: "Never kiss time in a flivver with the engine running."

Clack—Now if I subtract 25 from 37 what's the difference?

York—Yeah! That's what I say. Who cares.

And there was the Scotchman who bought only one spur. He figured if one side of the horse went the other was sure to follow.

The girl acquaintance says that English course isn't doing her boy friend any good because he still ends every sentence with a proposition.

She—Will you vote to abolish capital punishment?

He—No, capital punishment was good enough for my father, and it's good enough for me.

We assume that Glass is too breakable for Fraser, and now it's Liz Smith.

TO A FRIEND

May you always wake up in the morning with all the joy, pep, and enthusiasm of youth, and yet with the wisdom of age. May your heart always seek for the highest in life and may the seeking lead you to God. May you always be filled with a desire to walk with God amongst His flowers, stand with Him under the friendly boughs of His trees, and hear His voice in the murmuring brooks. And at the close of day may you ever be content to just sit with a friend and gaze with a newness of life as the hand of God paints the clouds and sky with beauty.

May you always wake up in the morning with a new desire to seek a stranger in whose heart there is a yearning for a friend who understands. May you walk the friendly road of life ever striving to put your friendly hand upon the shoulder of a comrade kind and cheer him along life's way. And I pray that you shall never lose that love and goodness that you now possess, which shall always make you worthy of being and having a Friend.
