Scots Romp Over Lawrence 70 to 0

Run Season's Total to 169 to Opponents' 13

Eleven touchdowns and four of the points after were piled up for a total of 70 by the Scots last Saturday at Detroit against Lawrence Tech while their opponents were held scoreless. The game left the Scots still one of the few remaining undefeated and untied football teams in the country and the lopsided score ran the impressive total of the Alma team for the season to 169 points against their opponents' 13.

It was a freakish exhibition of football. Not once during the whole game did L. Block punt. On the one occasion, in mid-field on the fourth down with twelve yards to go, when he would ordinarily have been forced to punt, he called for a fake punt and completed a pass for forty yards and a first down.

Once more the Block brothers got in on the lion's share of the seventy points. LeRoy got across for four of the touchdowns and Wilson scored one after receiving a pass near the goal.

The longest run of the day ended in one of the four touchdowns for L. Block. The big climax in his work for the game came when he broke through the line and finally wriggled away into a broken field to streak the eighty-five yards for a touchdown.

Ben Ewer turned in Alma's first touchdown from an intercepted pass this season, running forty yards after he caught the Lawrence toss, and Al Fortino added the second touchdown by this method when he took one away from Lawrence to run almost as far for his score.

Every man on the squad got into the game except Clyde Dawe and Steve Keglovitz, who are both still bothered with leg injuries. Every other man played, with the rest of the scoring being done by Art Smith, Ken Carter, Johnny Johnson, Atlee Gilbert, and Floyd Boat, each getting one touchdown apiece.

Pulpit, Experienced in World Travel, Falls into Clutches of Law at Ithaca

Many and varied as the experiences of the chapel pulpit have been, not until last week had it ever been returned to its resting place by an officer of the law. Found by Arvid Hicks, Alma business man, on the courthouse lawn at Ithaca, shortly after its disappearance from the chapel the day before Hallowe'en, it was reported to the college business office by H. S. Babcock, publisher of the Alma Record, who re-discovered it in the courthouse where Mr. Hicks had had it moved for safer keeping. It was later returned to the chapel by Bert Reynolds, deputy sheriff of Gratiot County.

Even though the pulpit can lay claim to a trip all the way around the world including stops at every important country, the trip to Ithaca recently was probably the longest trip that it has ever really had. Its annual disappearance this year came about the same time as the one last year, but did not last as long.

A sign penciled on a white piece of paper torn from a scratch pad said, "THIS BELONGS TO ALMA COLLEGE." Then, penciled across this on a different angle was "Pulpit". The paper is now in the business office, where it is awaiting, according to Mr. Robinson, the attention of an expert sleuth.

Trip Around the World

It was three years ago that the pulpit got its big trip around the world that was later proved to be a mere six-weeks sojourn on the unused third floor of the chemis-

Choir to Handle Play Ticket Sale; Will Get 20 Percent

The A Cappella Choir is to have complete charge of the sale of tickets for the Drama Club Play, "You're the Doctor," according to official announcement from the Club. Twenty per cent of the proceeds from the sale of tickets for this play will be given to the A Cappella Choir towards their purchase of vestments.

The date for the play announced previously has been changed from November 15 to November 22, when the production will be staged at the Odd Fellows' Hall.

Colonel Knox is Third in Poll of College Editors

Vote Gives Roosevelt Overwhelming Chance for Re-election

Colonel Frank Knox, Alma alumnus and publisher of the Chicago Daily News, stood third in a poll of editors of college newspapers, magazines and yearbooks conducted by Pulse of the Nation to determine what man would receive the presidency next year if the voting were left to the college student. The Democratic party overwhelmed the Republicans with President Roosevelt receiving 408 votes. Borah was next to him with 52, and Colonel Knox third with 26.

A separate poll designed to show the strength of the various parties among the college students gave the Democrats 386, Republicans 183, Socialists 45, Independents 20, and Communists 10. The Democratic party led in all sections of the country except New England, where the Republicans had the lead.

Complete returns on the polls can be found in the November issue of Pulse, but released to college newspapers throughout the country are figures for three more men on the presidential poll. Herbert Hoover and Norman Thomas tied with 23 each, and Governor Alfred Landon received 22. Other candidates received from one vote to eight.

It disappeared on Hallowe'en then, too, but this time did not return until Christmas, when it came as a gift for the girls at Wright Hall. It was packed in a battered box and both the box and the pulpit were plastered with labels from every important country in the world. The labels would have seemed to indicate that it

Schreiber Urges Peace in Address

Speaks at Armistice Day Observance in Chapel

Hurling a challenge at Alma College students in a special chapel service held Monday in observance of Armistice Day, Professor Theodore Schreiber urged the expenditure of a maximum effort rather than the minimum that "characterizes the duty-performing citizen" of today. "No civilization," he said, "has ever lasted with a minimum of work. It is the man who does more than his mere duty who will be the one to keep the peace of the world."

The service yesterday was in charge of Professor Wilford E. Kaufmann, veteran of the United States Army who spent the last days of the war in a German prison camp, and Professor Schreiber, who served four years in the German Army during the war gave the address.

Speaks for Unknown Soldier

In introducing the speaker, Dr. Kaufmann said: "It is from the standpoint of the Unknown Soldier that he speaks this morning,—not in behalf of the Unknown Soldier of the United States, nor the Unknown Soldier of Germany, but for the Unknown Soldier of the world."

To bring the commemoration more closely home, the Service Flag of Alma College was hung in the chapel, and President H. M. Crooks spoke briefly of it. He pointed out that there are 265 stars on it, including those of the Student Army Training Corps. Of the 265 stars, eight are gold stars, indicating loss of life in service.

President Crooks said that the records as brought up to date after the Service Flag had been completed would place two more gold stars there. Also, complete records show that there should be 268 stars rather than the 265 on the flag.

Reads Names of Dead

Dr. Crooks read the names of the ten Alma College students who gave their lives for their country during the Great War.

There was one woman student, Edith Platt, ex-'18, who was a nurse with the Red Cross.

The other nine were men, Harry J. Leonard, ex-'05; Ammi W. Lancashire, ex-'06; Frank McCurdy, ex-'12; Paul Omans, ex-'15; Eliud Sanchez, ex-'18; Dwight von Thurn, ex-'18; Edward Foote, ex-'20; Ralph Sawvel, ex-'20; and Frank Sullivan, ex-'20.

Miss Houser's Father Dies

Leila M. Houser, Matron of Wright Hall, was called home Thursday by the death of her father, F. B. Houser at Lancaster, Ohio.

A. W. Beshgetoor, '14, to Address Science Students

A. W. Beshgetoor, head of the analytical laboratory of the Dow Chemical company, will address the chemistry students of Alma College in the lecture room of the Chemistry Building, Wednesday evening, November 13, at 7:30, according to an announcement posted on the bulletin boards of that building and signed by Dr. Kaufmann.

Mr. Beshgetoor is a local boy, his parents' home still being near the campus, and was graduated from Alma College in 1914.

Alma Students to Take Part in Mt. Pleasant Conference

Evans, Hood, and Hallin Will Lead Delegation to Youth Meeting

Alma College students will play a part in a youth conference to be held next Saturday, November 16, at Mt. Pleasant, to which college and high school students from all over this part of the state are being asked. Carl Mays, Y. M. C. A. worker from Mt. Pleasant, is making all arrangements, and students of Central State Teachers College will play the role of hosts.

Mr. Mays was in Alma last week and called a meeting of interested students in the Chemistry Building last Wednesday night. There Luther Evans was chosen as president of the conference, Bill Hood to present one of the six issues to be considered, choosing Politics and Economics as his field, and Ray Hallin as a leader in one discussion group.

According to Mr. Mays, all interested students are invited to attend, and a large group of high school students is going up from Alma. The program will start at 10:00 in the morning and run through until 8:00 at night. A registration fee of one dollar is required which includes two meals and a free ticket to the football game at Alumni Field at Mt. Pleasant between Alma and Central State.

The oldest college humor magazine in America is the Lampoon, published at Harvard.

Zeta Smoker Program Centers Around 'The Face on the Barroom Floor'

Joe's Barroom, made famous by the poem, "The Face on the Barroom Floor," was reconstructed and brought to life in all its glory last Thursday night at the annual Zeta Sigma smoker. The songs and stories that came drifting through the swinging door of the bar came from a quartet consisting of Hugh Brenneman, Cac Erickson, Louis Schneider, and Parker Lofthouse, and an orchestra made up of members of the fraternity, known at

Frosh Obtain Reid for Annual Frolic

Will Provide Entertainment at Intermission

A ten-piece band and a blues singer, Addison Reid's orchestra, from Bay City, have been hired to play for the first big all-school dance, the Frosh Frolic, according to Douglas Clack and Charles Humiston, co-chairmen of the party that is to start the winter dance season next Saturday night in the Memorial Gymnasium.

The chairmen announce twelve dances, two extras, and a musical skit at intermission all under a false ceiling and covered walls and all for one dollar.

Silver, Black and Green, Are Colors

The gym is to be decorated in silver, black, and green, according to Humiston, who received this part of the work as his share when the two co-chairmen divided it between them for greater efficiency.

There will be a false ceiling, he says, and the walls will be partially covered with shields cut from silver paper and with large notes of music cut from the same material.

The same colors will be in evidence on the programs which will have green covers printed in black and white inner sheets printed in green.

At intermission Alma Block, Gladys Glass, Betty Roberts, and Jeanette Verplanck will provide a musical skit.

Tickets Now on Sale

Decorations have been started and tickets have been on sale several days, being handled by Bob Adams, Bill Askren, Wilson Dunnington, Willis Gelston, Gordon Netzorg, Rich Rademacher, Jean Bird, Elizabeth Houser, Hester Moon, and Jeanette Verplanck.

Chaperones for the party have been announced, subject to change, as President and Mrs. Harry Means Crooks, Dean James E. Mitchell, Dean Florence M. Steward, Professor and Mrs. Robert Wood Clack, and Professor and Mrs. Roy W. Hamilton.

the Zeta House as the Zeta Sigma Prowlers.

When the freshmen entered the house at first each one was given two chances on a prize that was won by Gordon Netzorg and turned out to be a study lamp.

Program Follows Hearts

The program started at 8:45 after the game of hearts had had its fling. President Cac Erickson gave the history of the fraternity, and then Bruce York introduced the members. Jake Miller gave a chalk talk dedicating two humorous sketches to the Alma Champions and the fraternity.

Headlining the program was the enactment of "The Face on the Barroom Floor." The quartet started out by singing some appropriate barroom music, with Louis Weiser and Gordy Mann as bartenders, Bob Sayles as the over-inebriated bar-fly, George Walker as the man drawing the face, Chet Hardt as the cop on the beat, Frances Seavette as the wandering boy, Dan Tenney as the working man's wife, while Cac Erickson recited the poem.

Cider and Doughnuts Served

Cider and doughnuts were the refreshments, and after the bartenders ran out of customers the smoker adjourned to Wright Hall for a serenade.

Dean James E. Mitchell, Professors L. L. Tyler, J. W. Ewer, and G. B. Randels, Stan Vliet, '24, Geo. Mitchell, '34, E. F. DuBois, and F. W. Hooper were present as guests.

Almanian Relies on Memory to Print Following Homecoming List

Because there was no organized registration of visitors at the Homecoming celebration November 2, the Almanian finds it impossible to give a complete list of alumni. The following list is not intended to be complete, and comes largely from the President's office, with a few additions from other sources.

The class of 1935: Robert Anthonisen, Kellog Beach, Robert Brown, Ward Campbell, James Day, Ruth Dickinson, Paul Ditto, Gertrude Elliot, David Glass, Virginia Hill, Richard Johnson, Marjorie Laman, Florence McCallum, Marion Nummer, Myron Reyher, Florence Schwartz, Elizabeth Smith, John Volk, and Alice Woolley. The ex-'35's are: Helen Bennett Hanson, Elizabeth Goggin, Robert Lehner, Warren McVittie, and James Tuma.

lian Ogle, Leslie Olmstead, Leslie Struble, Grace Teunis Biegielski, Nancibel Thorburn, Ellen Wilson Forbes, and Josephine Woodard. Robert Cant, ex-'33, was here also.

The class of 1932: Paul Boyd, Beatrice Bremer Pankonin, Art Crawford, Helen Dietz Boutin, Kermit Fischer, Mary Elizabeth Forshar Crawford, Perry Gray, Emily Hawkins Kennett, Marion Mackenzie Goodenow, Margaret McMillan, Muriel Morrison, Charles Miller, Robert Randels, Harry Wehrly and Jack Williams. Mary Eldon Kittendorf and Margaret Joiner Eschhorn were two ex-'32's present.

Professional Jealousy

A college student has almost unlimited opportunities before him—more, perhaps, than he can take advantage of in four years. But there is one opportunity that presents itself to the student in Alma College and to the student in every other college to a greater or lesser degree,—an opportunity that does not receive the notice it should and is thus not taken advantage of as it should be. That is the opportunity to observe the disgusting results of professional jealousy. For in no body of persons supposed to be working for a common cause is this feeling more noticeable than in a group of college professors.

To cite the most recent illustration:

Last Wednesday morning a professor heading an important department in Alma College came into the business office, walked up to his mail box, and took out his Almanian. He turned to page two. On that page was printed an article written by the head of another department. Then, as soon as he had seen the heading, in a most childish and undignified manner, he "blew up."

His action last Wednesday calls several questions to mind,—questions that do not concern us here for the time being. But, ignoring the childishness of the display furnished by this professor who accomplished by it nothing worth while at all, it is still an excellent illustration of professional jealousy.

This man is not the only one. A college professor seems to be especially exposed to the germs of this monster. One man hates to see another get more students in his courses. One man hates to see another get more equipment for his teaching. One man hates to see another become more popular with his students. Herein lies the secret of much of the friction repeatedly seen among teaching men.

Time after time a professor will waste valuable minutes in a class raving about some personal feud between himself and some other professor. It is not labeled as such; it is often presented in such a manner as to seem to be jokingly done; it often takes the form of unreasoning puffing up of the professor's own department and the gently apparent derision of the other man's department; but the jealousy is there.

To each college professor there was once given the opportunity to observe the effects of professional jealousy from the same angle at which we look at it now. But in too many cases they seem to have failed to take advantage of it. May we, in whatever walk of life we choose, and especially if we choose to become teachers, profit from the examples set before us.

Of Course You Knew That

OPEN MEETINGS have ended.

Kappa Iota entertained the new girls last night with a program based on Romberg's musical comedy "The Student Prince". After Alice Bronson played the outstanding songs, Betty Fraker, Mary Elizabeth Merrill, and Irene Folkerth enacted a short scene from the operetta, the highlight being the duet "Deep In My Heart, Dear" sung by Miss Fraker and Miss Merrill. Irene Folkerth played a flute solo, "Serenade", which Miss Fraker later sang. A quartet composed of Mary Alice Damon, Isabelle Palmer, Dorothy Glass, and Betty Jane Swarthout sang "Golden Days".

Ice cream, sandwiches and cookies were served after the program.

TWO OPERATIONS were performed on Alma College students last week.

Last Monday Elwin Carter had his tonsils removed and George Egeler was taken to the Smith Memorial Hospital for an appendicitis operation. Carter has been back in classes for several days and according to Dr. F. J. Graham, Egeler is getting along all right.

Frosh Wants Flag to Fly—Does It Himself

In one freshman on the campus is instilled honor and reverence for the flag of his country.

When he came to Alma college this fall the lack of a flag flying every day bothered him. Going to Chester Robinson first, he failed to get any satisfaction. But that did not discourage him; he took his problem directly to President Crooks.

The result is that now every day that weather permits Alma College has a flag flying. Chet Harvie, sandy-haired freshman from Crosswell, is the man. He keeps the flag at his room and every morning puts it up and every evening takes it down.

Women's League Will Give Benefit Bridge

A benefit bridge will be given by the Women's League next Friday afternoon, at 2:30, in the Guild Room of the Presbyterian church, according to an announcement issued yesterday by Jane Allen, President of the organization.

Miss Allen has appointed Wilma Wright as general chairman of the bridge party, and says that all college women are invited to attend.

Fortino Addresses Owosso Meeting of Farmer's Clubs

Al Fortino, center on the Scott's MIAA champion football team as well as number-one orator of Alma college, addressed the annual meeting of the Michigan Farmer's Club association last Wednesday evening, November 6, at Owosso, on "How the Younger Generation Views the Older."

On the same program was Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald. According to Dr. Theodore Schreiber who attended the meeting with Fortino, the Governor spoke for but a very few minutes, saying that he did not wish to take away from the time allotted to Fortino, who was the main speaker of the evening.

Buffet Dinner Entertains K. I.'s at Lobdell Home

Kappa Iota Sorority was entertained at a buffet dinner last Wednesday evening, November 6, by Mrs. R. R. Campbell and Mrs. E. J. Lobdell at the latter's home. All members of the society ate at bridge tables in the sun parlor.

Honorary members present were Miss Josephine Banta, Mrs. J. W. Ewer, and Mrs. Theodore Schreiber.

Birds, moulded salad, escalloped potatoes, biscuits, nut bread, pineapple upside-down cake, and coffee made up the menu.

Undefeated Scots to Meet Central

Teachers Show Better Form Against Western State

Untied and undefeated, the Scots next Saturday face the end of their schedule when they journey to Mt. Pleasant to meet a Central State team that has failed to establish much of a record. The Scots are recognized as favorites over the Bearcats, but Central State made their best showing of the season last Saturday when they held Western State Teacher's College to two touchdowns, and next Saturday the Mt. Pleasant team will play an even better game against their traditional rivals from Alma.

Alma goes to Central State to end their season hoping to avenge the 26 to 0 defeat that was handed to them by Mt. Pleasant last year for their worst trouncing of the season.

Cousins Will Clash

Two Fortino boys will be in the game Saturday, on opposite sides. They are both Al Fortinos, one of them Alfred and the other Alphonse. Alma's Al, a Junior, plays center, and Central State's Al is one of the big threats that Mt. Pleasant has in the backfield, playing at half. He is not only the ball-toter that his position would indicate, but he is the Central State safety man and does the passing for the Bearcats.

Fortino's mate in the backfield is another shifty man, Chal Young, co-captain with VanDalen, who should help provide some thrills for the partisan crowd at the oil city.

In Gordon Gleason, at left end, Central State has a man who can catch passes and run with them after he catches them. It was Gleason that turned in such a brilliant game against the Scots last year on Bahlke Field, and he will find plenty of opposition this year from the Alma pass defense.

Former High School Enemies Meet

Four years ago Alma High School put a team on the field against Mt. Pleasant High School that had the two Blocks, Fuller, Washburn, Dean and Ewer in the lineup. Playing against them were Paul Grimm and Dick Houseman, two men that will face them again next Saturday as Bearcats. Grimm, Houseman, and Ed Wodek are three Central linemen that have looked good all season and may give the Scots a lot of trouble.

A week's lay-off has done Keglovitz and Dawe good, and with the rest of the Scots taking it as easy as they did last Saturday against Lawrence Tech, they should be in good shape to wind up the season at Mt. Pleasant next Saturday.

traveled from here to New York City, and from there hit every continent except South America and Australia.

Later the quality of the labels was questioned, and the perpetrators of the deed were so excited with their own ability at doing something original that they could keep it a secret no longer and confessed that the six weeks had been spent in the chemistry building.

Goes Last Year Too

The year after its world cruise the pulpit remained at home for a change. But last year it again resumed its habit of disappearing.

When it first went at Hallowe'en time in 1934 it was pretty well known by some people on the campus where it was. It was originally placed in an empty room in Wright Hall. But before it could be rescued from there it disappeared again, this time more completely.

When it finally did turn up it came from a hiding place over the gymnasium.

In honor of Mrs. E. F. DuBois, their new sponsor, Kappa Iota Sorority held a dinner at Wright Hall last night. The dinner was arranged so that it came just before the K. I. open meeting, the last meeting of its kind of the year.

Mrs. DuBois was made a sponsor this fall just before Homecoming, and attended the Homecoming entertainment of the society at a special table at Wright Hall and later in their room upstairs in the hall.

Of course, I'm just getting them in case the boys should call—

They do say they're milder and taste better — and I've heard tell they satisfy
