COACH MACDONALD TO LEAVE ALMA

Campus . . .

Miss Marian Janis Freiermuth, '43, of Jackson and Bruce Carr Lindley, '42 of Grosse Pointe, were married in the First Methodist church, Jackson on July 1 at four o'clock.

Dr. and Mrs. Willis Egger announce the birth of a son, Bruce Willis, last week.

DELTA GAMMA TAU

The summer term is now under way and along with it is the Delta fraternity under the leadership of new officers.

Presiding as president is Wally Brieden; vice president and chaplain, Larry Rowe; secretary and treasurer, Glenn Sempsrott; and news editor, Roger Barrette.

The fraternity has a few plans for the summer, and one of them is in the form of a dance to be given August 11.

FACULTY HOSTS AT RECEPTION

Faculty, navy and civilian students gathered at the President's house, 8:00 p.m. on Friday the fourteenth, to act as hosts and guests, respectively, at the annual faculty reception.

President Hamilton, with the charming Milles, Sharpe and Williams acting as aides, was the initial personage in the reception line, and Mr. Rorem gave the last hand shake before the punch bowl.

The atmosphere during the evening was genial and not overly formal; the faculty members remained courteous and interested although, by the time they had shaken the two-hundredth sailor's hand, they must have wondered if they hadn't been caught by mistake, in a Japanese puzzle.

The reception helped materially to acquaint new students with Alma's faculty.

Personalities on Parade . . .

One of the more downright likeable fellows I've met in a long time is John Matheson.

He's a second term man and still going strong.

John, a gunner's mate aboard ship, has a preference for deck officer. His home is Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

Matheson enlisted in the United States Navy in January 1941. After several weeks preliminary recruit training at Great Lakes, he was transferred to Long Beach, California. His first cruise was aboard a battlewagon.

His ship made Pearl Harbor in March of '41. John was at Pearl when the Japs executed their sneak attack on Oahu on the seventh of December.

Matheson was shortly transferred to a cruiser, since his last ship was damaged at Pearl Harbor. Aboard this ship he saw action in the battles of the Coral Sea, Midway, and the Solomon Islands campaign.

For a third time he was transferred, this time to a seaplane tender, which was operating in a patrol squadron over the South Pacific waters.

John came home in October of 1943 and was assigned to the V-12, officer training program. Here's to a fellow who can't help but make good.

HELEN
By now the new boys must have noticed that there certainly is a shortage of women on the campus. But—what girls there are around are all right.

One of these is Helen "Oley" Olander. Oley was born on the island of Singapore, where her father was working for Goodyear Rubber. Helen came to the states when she was about three years old (Boston), and later moved to

Mixer Acquaints New Personnel

A week ago Friday the college social season opened with a mixer in the Chapel Rec. room. Most of the sailors seemed a bit doubtful as to the veracity of the statement that 115 girls had been invited, but it really was true, wasn't it?—and they were a pretty attractive lot considering that they were picked in the dark—so to speak.

We noticed, in particular, the tall girl cutting a mean rug with Otto Wandre and our own Tillie Tobin cutting rugs with more than one cute sailor.

Sporting their Frosh hair ribbons were Betty Ellis and Fran Barolo—mixing plenty. What is this special charm that freshmen have anyhow? Still the ratio from the girls' angle was pretty good for all.

We saw two blondes get together when we noticed Shirley and John refusing cut-ins—Was it love at first sight, John?

Chuck Teach had all the girls' hearts a flutter with his new line about—"You know, you really have more charm and appeal than any girl on campus, don't you?"

Kreulin and Oley looked like debs with their new black and tan (respectively) complexions—Oley seems to have made a hit with that new sailor with the gleam in his eye, Cal Molyneux.

It was good to have Nan Fischer and Betsy Ross with us—and we noticed the new sailors liked it too. Poor Leo—he did want to dance just one whole dance with Jean—but you can't sport a cute girl and get away with that, Leo—not in V-12.

For the handsomest man at the party, we nominate Pres. Hamilton in his sharp white suit.

Mossas gracias to the student council for the dance and let's have a lot more—quick.

Niagara Falls, New York, which is her present home.

Helen is known around the campus for several outstanding reasons. For instance, she is president of the Alpha Theta sorority, a sociology major, and a good student. Helen plans to take up social welfare work.

Oley likes to go boating, to play tennis and bridge; she's a second soprano in the College Choir.

There's one other place you'll see her too—Yes, the chow counter and if she's not serving string beans, it's usually sauerkraut.

Kidding aside, we all depend on Helen, and we'll hear more of her.

OTTO
Let me introduce you to a new member of the V-12 unit. Otto Wandre.

Otto has done a great deal of traveling, and he's experienced a great many unusual adventures during the three years he has been in the Navy.

When he was 15, Otto won the Detroit heavyweight A. C. boxing title. (Although a football player in high school, Otto is ineligible to play at Alma because this is his first year of college.)

Enlisting in February of '42 he began "seeing" the world—but fast. He went from Great Lakes boot camp to a Navy Hospital Corps school; from there to Quantico.

Otto was shipped from there to Casablanca, and, in Casablanca, was awarded the Legion of Merit for displaying courage, fearlessness, and continued resourcefulness in removing American wounded from the beach-heads under enemy fire; furthermore for the mounting of two machine guns taken from wrecked LSTs.

SUMMER SOCIAL PROGRAM PLANNED

The Mixer last week-end was only a beginning—or so the Social Committee tells us. The committee hinted of interesting plans for our entertainment this summer.

This committee, headed by co-chairmen, Miss Klein and Prof. Grove, consists of Prof. Cole, Lt. May, Andy Edgerton, Ruth Kreulin, Shirley Sharpe, Abe Zaleznik, and Margaret Davis.

Some of the high spots of the season will be more mixers—often with one scheduled for July 29. (That's next Saturday night.) The Navy club hopes to have a swimming party—and later an amateur night. Football games start August 25. In September, the townspeople have promised to sponsor a dance for us, and an all college picnic is scheduled.

Sorority and fraternity groups are planning closed parties, and we wouldn't be surprised if the Pioneer hall girls came through with a girl bid. We also hear talk of a smoker and a square dance.

It looks like a pretty good season ahead and next issue we'll publish a definite calendar for the following weekends.

A Cappella Choir Begins Season

If you are in the vicinity of the chapel on a Monday evening or a Thursday afternoon, and happen to hear the harmonic blending of golden-voices, you will know it's the a cappella choir practicing for its summer session.

The choir, under the direction of Professor Eugene F. Grove, had a very successful spring, bringing enjoyment and pleasure to many audiences. Many new members have been accepted into the choir's membership. The new choir consists of:

First Soprano—Bigler, Wanda; Davis, Margaret; Bow, Marjorie; Pruett, Jean; Purdy, Isabelle; Van Appledorn, Mary Jean.

Second Soprano—Collins, Helen; McCullom, Carol; Olander, Helen; Slaski, Jean.

First Alto—Babcock, Phyllis; Brew, Wilma; Kemper, Barbara; Milham, Mary; Barolo, Frances.

Second Alto—Ellis, Betty; Glenn, Lois; Kreulen, Ruthe.

First Tenor—Bell, Fred; Hower, Richard; Sempsrott, Glenn.

Second Tenor—Kostan, Charles; Pecor, Chuck; Miller, Burton; Sinclair, Sidney.

Baritone—Ainslie, Bill; Flaschen, Stewart; Mills, John; Shutes, Robert; Mauch, Eugene.

Bass—Edgerton, Andy; Hamel, John; Hilton, Wray; Rowe, Larry; Toy, William.

Plans are being made for a variety show to be presented the latter part of September. The program will be under the joint leadership of Mr. Wendell Cole and Mr. Grove, and will include the speech and music departments.

New Addition to Ship's Company

Last Friday, Lloyd Allen, one of our athletic specialists this term, left for a new assignment in Indianapolis, Indiana. Replacing Allen, is Roy Wayne Burkhart, Chief Specialist (A).

Chief Burkhart is a graduate of Dennison University in Granville, Ohio. Since he has been in the Navy, he has been at the Sampson N. T. U. at Sampson, New York, where he instructed for eight months. After a stretch at Norfolk, Virginia, the Chief was transferred to the V-12 unit at the University of Illinois, where he has instructed for the past year.

COACH MACDONALD

Accepts Coaching Position; Midland

The college was genuinely sorry last week to learn of the resignation of Gordon Macdonald from his post as head coach and athletic director at Alma. Macdonald is to accept a position as basketball coach at Dow Chemical in Midland no later than September 1.

Coach Macdonald came to Alma in 1936 and early earned Alma statewide recognition with his excellent teams. In the three year span which ended early in 1943, Macdonald and his Scots won three successive titles and established the record of twenty-seven straight victories against MIAA competition.

Last basketball season, the Coach took an inexperienced and green squad, and, though losing the first four games, came back to win eight straight victories.

It is not only in basketball coaching ability that Macdonald excels, but in all the other sports. His football team won titles in '41 and '42, and it was in 1942 that major MIAA titles for football, basketball, and track went to the Scots.

Alma regrets her loss, not only because of Macdonald's impressive ability as a coach, but also because of his success as a man and a friend. Uncountable numbers of former Alma boys write to the coach from their army and navy outposts; and the respect of these men is shared by present faculty and students alike.

Alma regrets her loss, but wishes Coach Macdonald godspeed.

Chapel

Navy Marine

One of the more interesting of recent assemblies concerned Bill Toy's recital of his experiences as a navy-marine.

The vividest part of his talk concerned his adventures at Tarawa, where (marooned on a half sunk LST) he acted as radio contact between the LST and the squadron commander.

From Toy's point of vantage, he was able to see all the horror of that ghastly beach-head fight. That he remembered what he saw can be ascertained from anyone who attended chapel Wednesday.

Toy brought to the many untried Navy men a fuller realization of the job ahead of them; a renewed desire to whack the Japs back to Japan.

Pianist-Humorist

Monday Henry Scott returned to Alma and again entertained the student body. If possible, he was even more of a success than last fall.

Scott's unusual distinction is his ability to amuse an audience where the ordinary performer would have only left it bored. Although at times his entertainment borders on the burlesque, it is always humorous. It is obvious, too, that not far beneath the clown lies the virtuoso.

His program was as follows:
Three styles of Popular Music . . . Scott
Juba Dance . . . Nathaniel Dent
Second Hungarian Rhapsody . . . Liszt
A Great Concert Pianist . . . Scott
Complete Course in Counterpoint . . . Scott
Asking a Girl for a Dance . . . Scott
Pastoral . . . Scarlatti
Sewing on a Button . . . Scott
All the Things You Are . . . Jerome Kern
Little Boy Genius Grows Up . . . Scott
Complete Course in Music Appreciation . . . Scott
Rhumba . . . Scott
Chopin in the Citrus Belt . . . Edward Harris
C Sharp Minor Waltz . . . Chopin
Piano Virtuoso . . . Scott
Rhythm at any Cost . . . Scott
Mittens on the Keys . . . Scott
The performance Monday was perhaps the best entertainment the chapel has offered since Scott's last visit.

CHRISTIAN GROUP ELECTS OFFICERS

With the election of officers and formulation of summer plans and policies, the Alma College Christian Fellowship group got off to a good start this semester. Bill Bowen, pre-chaplain sophomore from Royal Oak and chairman of the Religious Life committee, was elected president. Larry Rowe, pre-theological junior from Detroit, was elected vice-president and chairman of program activities, and Betty Ellis, freshman from Milford, secretary. The Fellowship group meets every Sunday night at 6:30 in the recreation room of the Chapel.

It is the purpose of this group to form a center on campus for the expression of the religious life of the student body. We sincerely hope that everyone will feel welcome to join us in our hour of worship and free discussion of topics of interest to the individual student. The group is inter-denominational. Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, and Episcopalians, all were represented at our first meeting.

Bill Ellsworth lead the discussion at our second meeting. The different points of view as to the meaning of "Christian" were discussed freely, establishing a background for topics to be considered in future discussions.

Many activities are being planned for the summer. Won't you join us in our meetings in the Chapel rec room, 6:30 every Sunday?

Since Alma is to be our home for some months or, at least, the next four, it is altogether fitting and proper that we reconcile ourselves to that fact, and begin settling down and becoming acquainted with our classmates and fellow townspeople. Becoming acquainted is one of the many things at which American men are especially adept; they are particularly interested in becoming acquainted with the members of the fairer sex, and, in this case, the girls of Alma. Therefore, the question being asked this week of the new fellows is: "What do you think of the girls in Alma?" This leaves us wide open, but the results are not half bad.

In the few weeks the new men have been here they have had a chance to form many varied opinions concerning the local Amazons. And Amazons is exactly the way one sailor from the far frozen North describes them. The (Continued on page two)

Ball Team Starts Fall Practice

Football practice began July 17 for the Alma College Scots. In the squad of nearly forty turning out for the team, much more enthusiasm was expressed and more experience present than was the case a year ago.

Coach Gordon A. Macdonald has three letter winners as well as several others of college or high school experience. The veterans are Andy Edgerton of Clio, an all MIAA tackle of two years ago, who has returned as a civilian after a year's absence; Jack Temple of Detroit, and Charlie Lectka of Cadillac, halfbacks.

New members with experience include Paul Chapman of Detroit, who saw action with Wayne University as a quarterback; Ed Rutherford, another Detroiter, who was an all-city high school player; an all state tackle from Louisiana, John Avant; 260 pound Tiny Sempsrott, who played at Detroit Western four years ago; a former Lansing Central fullback, Dick Toman; Bill Baille who played freshman ball at Georgetown; John Gudelman, an end, who played freshman ball at the University of Southern California last fall; and Bob Gaynor, a West Virginia high school product.

Thus far, six games have been scheduled, four with Central Michigan (the first of which is tentatively set for August 25), and one each with Bowling Green University and Denison University down in Ohio. Arrangements are being made for a game against a strong team to be played here on Homecoming day.

Myrtle! You told me a Bond-a-Month would keep the wall from our door!"

BASEBALL TEAM ACTIVE THIS SEASON

The Alma City League championship team is composed of ten men from the student body of Alma College. They finished the season undefeated, with six wins; the championship match being forfeited by the American Legion team.

The team organized in May is composed of the following men: Chapman, pitching, with Jurica, catching, Katz, Brieden. Kraus, Menza, Teach, Lectka, Feble and Andy Edgerton, manager. Zriebec, Cook and Shader played until the end of the term, when they were transferred from the V-12 unit.

Hitting honors for the season were taken by Menza and Lectka.

Gittleman's Style Shops sponsored the team, paying their league entrance fee and purchasing uniforms, which as yet have not arrived.

Dere Re lie

i am riting to u becuz iam jist disgusted with the girls here at alma, i think they are fickde, so i am transfen-ing all my luv to u. i will tell u what happened.

the other day i went over to pioneer hall where all the babes hang out and i asked if i could see helen olander or shirley sharpe. helen is my dream girl and after her comes sharpe and besides patt w. was away over the week-end.

anyway oley was sitting on the porch and i went up and just casual like asked her if she wudn't like to go to the show with me becuz if she didn't i would dip her in burning oil. oley said she had a lot of studying to do but she guessed she cud make it if those were the conditions, she had to dress and so i waited on the porch.

about an hour later, marge bow came out with a french novel with a pink cover, and i asked if maybe oley wasn't taking a long time, she said no oley had gone to the show with charlie sivak a long time ago. i was a little put out but i asked marge to go to the show with me and i told her if she didnt i would cut out her tongue and feed it to the blackbirds, marge said maybe shed better go in and dress.

that wa> friday night and now it is tuesday. i am still over at pioneer, hello, and nobody has come by me since marge went in. u would think i had the plague or something, i have decided that i will not move until marge or oley or someone comes on a date with me. there is a small spider building its web in my left ear. belle, and i am off women forever.

Everybody Loves the Navy

An Army colonel is on record that he is going to kiss the USS Quincy the first chance he gets.

Traveling in a jeep to a beach area behind the American lines in Normandy, a group of U. S. Navy officers were hailed by the U. S. Army colonel.

"You fellows from the Quincy?" he asked

The Navy men answered negatively, but suggested that they might be able to get a message to the ship.

"Oh, it's not important," the Colonel replied. "I just wanted to tell somebody on the ship how they saved our neck on D-Day." H

Scuttlebutt from Good Ship Wright

Continuing the chummy habit started by Don Neuchterlein last semester, we present here some of the choicer chatter from the Good Ship Wright. Last semester, though, Neuchterlein was unfortunate enough to rate a by-line . . . a fact which nearly caused his death a number of times. Since we are rather fond of our precious skin, we have asked that the column remain anonymous. The editor has promised to respect our wishes.

Here goes:
"Over coat Charlie" Sivak seems to have his racket well started on the fourth deck already this term.

We wonder why John "Feather" Matheson rushed back a Sunday ago to make a phone call that had to be made from Alma. Could it be a certain someone from California expected it to be made from Alma and not another Michigan city?

Jack Thompson seems to be cutting in on Harry Oliver as far as Patt Williams is concerned. May the best man win. (Ed. note: May the better man win.)

We see that Red Miedema started right in with Helen Olander where he left off last term. We hear he's been talking in his sleep about her too.

It seems that Betsy Ross and "Bugs" Rowell can't stay away from Alma. We wonder if certain Navy personnel could be the reason for their returning each week-end.

It looks like Dick Schaft has taken over where Chuck Love left off with the bumming of cigarettes. What about H. O.?

Howard Perry the B. T. O. from Wyndotte is apparently more quiet this term. We wonder who took the wind out of his sails.

The newly received "salts" are certainly a nervous bunch. They anxiously pace the floor awaiting the muster bells. One Earl Sauble even gets up at six a.m. in apprehension of the 6:10 muster.

It is very apparent that Barbara Kemper still has a crush on Charles Fossati. They do make a nice couple.

We sense a story behind Bob Collin's feverish search for a typewriter with large keys. Our mouth is sealed shut however.

We've heard from the babes at Pioneer that "P.P." Gamson has slight sadistic tendencies. Fortunately instead of the usual bull whip, P. P. employs apples and insults. Every man to his own taste we say.

SOVIET STUDENTS DEFERRED TO DO UNIVERSITY WORK

Students in the Soviet Union are continuing their studies despite all that the war has brought to their country, some of them even returning from the front to receive their degrees. This is the report received from the World Student Service Fund, the student war relief agency of the National War Fund. It is the channel through which American students have given aid to student victims of war in China, the U.S.S.R., Europe, North Africa, Canada and the U.S., now in its seventh year of work.

Before the war a great network of universities, institutes, technical schools and academies covered the Soviet Union. The government spent tremendous sums in building and equipping educational institutions. A student body of 600,000, drawn from all the peoples and nationalities of the U.S.S.R., attended 700 colleges scattered over the whole country. The students in technical institutes numbered more than 700,000. To these figures can be added hundreds of thousands of young men or women who worked for diplomas through correspondence courses. The total number of college students reached the two million mark.

The war brought drastic changes. Demolition bombs wrecked the stately buildings of Moscow University. The Germans turned the splendid university buildings in Kiev, Minsk and Oleska into stables and barns. Thousands of students, both men and women, took their places behind guns, in hospitals, in factories.

The Soviet government was farsighted enough to see, however, that the work of its universities was of the first importance to the war effort. Students were therefore allowed the option of exemption from military service, on the condition that they complete the required four years in three or even two years. Many students and professors waived this right and joined the Red Army or the guerillas; but many others realized that their greatest contribution could be made by completing their higher studies.

Some students do both. A report has just reached the World Student Service Fund that the Lomonosov State University in Moscow conferred scientific degrees this June on a number of soldiers who came from the front especially to defend their dissertation. For example, a PhD, was conferred upon Guard Captain V. Yevgrafov, one of the defenders of Stalingrad who was awarded the "For Valor" medal. His paper was one of the best submitted on the history of Russian philosophy.

The Russian universities, like those of China, did not take their bombings supinely. Students and staff moved to the interior; and along with industrial plants evacuated to the east went trainloads of books, laboratory instruments and other study materials. The roster of transplanted colleges is a long one.

The dislocation of student life has not affected enrollment to any great extent. This autumn 120,000 new students enrolled in the universities. Men discharged from active service because of wounds and other disabilities constitute a considerable number of those accepted.

According to the Chairman of the Committee on Higher Education, Mr. S. Kaftanov, this year Soviet universities and institutes will graduate more than 30,000 specialists in the fields of engineering, medicine, agronomy and teaching. "Despite wartime conditions," writes Mr. Kaftanov, "the desire of young people to study is unusually strong. Thus, for instance, during the 1942-43 enrollment there was not a single medical institute where the number of applications did not exceed the planned figure two or three-fold. In addition, many technical specialties, particularly aviation construction, geological prospecting and engineering, enjoy great popularity among Soviet youth. War, rather than deterring research work, has actually intensified it."

An interesting sidelight reported by Mr. Kaftanov as well as other authorities is the almost universal improvement in marks received, and this despite shortened terms, privation and actual peril. American college students, through the World Student Service Fund, have raised money in the past with which books, woolen clothing and medical laboratory equipment have been sent to Soviet students. More funds are needed and are being raised by the World Student Service Fund as part of the National War Fund Drive. Russian students have written of their fellow students in America have done for them. One closed her letter: "I am sure that after the war we shall be able to extend and strengthen our relations."

Navy Scratch Pad

Scratch Pad Jottings

With all major types of landing craft now developed, the potential goal of the Navy is 100,000 of these necessary vessels which have made possible the landings in Western Europe and in the Pacific. The Navy now has available the kind of landing craft that may be required in any invasion in any part of the world, so far as can be foreseen. The Navy's new twin-engine fighter, the Grumman F7F, was put through its paces in public for the first time last week. Its size, speed and maneuverability brought a chorus of "woows!" from veteran Navy and civilian fliers. The current ratio of carrier-based planes destroyed in five months of active fighting in the Pacific stands at 31 to 1 against the Japs. This does not include the most recent battles west of the Marianas. They are expected to raise the ratio against the enemy to an ever higher figure.

GUNNERS SHOVEL TO SAVE SHIP

The merchant ship Robin Sherwood rolled and pitched to a violent degree, out of control because the high seas had caused the ballast of coal slag to shift. Others in the convoy had gone on, unable to stop for the straggler.

Despite the imminent danger of capsizing, the Navy gun crew began the back-breaking task of shoveling the ballast to right the ship. For five days they worked continuously in four-hour shifts, with little food or rest, and with the ship completely out of control for the first two days.

Down in the hold, manning a shovel with others of the gun crew, was Roland E. Brewer, Gunner's Mate second class, of Flint, Mich.

Now the Navy announces that Brewer, along with others of the Armed Guard unit, has been commended for "outstanding service" by the Chief of Naval Personnel.

"Your untiring efforts and tenacious devotion to duty," the citation read, "contributed materially to the saving of an important vessel, and were in keeping with the best traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Navy War Bond Purchases in June Over 50-Million Dollar Mark
Going over the 50-million-dollar mark for the second time in Navy War bond history, bond purchases by uniformed and civilian personnel of the Navy in June totaled $51,633,438. This figure, which was 144.7 per cent greater than the June, 1943, volume of $21,101,415, brought the grand total of Navy bond purchases since the program was established in October 1941, to $624,071,333. The June total was exceeded only by the December, 1943, volume of $57,021,654, which, however, included Pearl Harbor Day sales of more than 23 million dollars.

Of the June 1944 sales, $30,685,694 were allotment purchases by uniformed personnel of the Navy, Marine corps and Coast Guard; $17,946,506 were civilian personnel purchases under payroll savings plan, and $3,001,238 were cash purchases.

NAVY CAPTURES A GENERAL

An American naval unit helped capture two harbor forts at Cherbourg and participated in the capture of Litut. Gene Karl von Schlieben, Nazi garrison commander, and Rear Admiral Walter Hennecke, German naval commander in Normandy.

Armed with submachine guns, carbines and hand grenades, 52 navy officers and men joined army contingents in surveying the harbor for naval occupation, and penetrated the waterfront area hours before Cherbourg fell.

Fort du Homet surrendered to the two naval officers who took 300 prisoners and liberated 50 American parachute troops who had been prisoners since D-Day. The navy officers were Lieut. Commander Quentin R. Walsh, USCG, and Lieut. Frank Lauer, a Seabee officer. The two officers entered the fort and told the Nazis all resistance in the city had ceased. Later the liberated parachute troops said the Germans had machine guns leveled on the two men but held their fire thinking a large patrol was following them.

The capture of Fort Querqueville, west of Cherbourg, was effected by four navy men and six army men. "We were so damned surprised when they hung out the white flag you could have knocked us over with a mortar," said Lieut. Harrison G. Shearor, who led the navy group.
