Resignation of Dr. Rice Announced Monday

The resignation of Dr. Paul L D. Welch of Alma Coilege. Dr. Rice is leaving to accept a pro-fessorship in Biology at Whittier College in California. He will continue his work in Alma through the current semester and the forthcoming summer session.

In announcing his decision to leave Alma College, Dr. Rice said, "It is with a great deal of reluctance and regret that Mrs. Rice and I have made the decision to leave Alma College. One cannot put in ten years of one's

The wearing of the green has always posed a question in the minds of most people. Perhaps the most interesting solution to the problem is the sea-weed theory. It is said that certain species of sea-weed found in the Sargasso Sea is carried north by the Gulf Stream and deposited on the Southern Shores of Ireland. It imparts a greenish tinge to the sands of the shore which are visible for miles. Hence we now have the Emerald Isle.

We also have the Shamrock theory. You know what a shamrock is, I'm sure. That's a clover that since the shamrock is green mainder of the school year.

members of the faculty. The music was provided by Marv Jenkins and his band. The boys did a good job and proved to be equally talented at swing as they were with good dance music. The floor show was really something to see. The guests were honored by the presence of a real live, though poorly mannered, duck. During the floor show the Zeta's president related the history of the Rat Race and anounced the king of the Rat Race for this year. The king was Scott Smith. The vast crowd caused crowded dancing conditions, but everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves even though their feet were being stepped on by someone other than their dancing partner.

Did You Hear About...

There is an ancient form of communication on this campus which is doing more harm and causing more hard feelings than could be caused by choosing up sides and declaring open warfare. This foul piece of machinery is called the "grapevine", a fitting name, perhaps, as most of its employees do air of hospitality and rosebowls display simian mentality.

It is easy to acquire a position in this colony, all you need is a low, evil mind, a tongue that is not devoted to the truth, and a long proboscis for sticking in other peoples' business. The last is the hardest, as most successful people find they don't have enough time to attend to their own affairs, much less their classmates'.

ZETA SIGMA

The Zetas held their formal banquet for the newly initiated members Wednesday, March 1st. The boys enjoyed a delicious meal and a spontaneous round of entertainment, in fact the Swiss steak was enjoyed more than the entertainment. But many thanks to Barry Laur, Tom Washburne, Jake, and Luigi. The after-thoughts, Duke and C. C. Kempe, divided the eighty-eight keys. Bill Ludwig pushed a poem that he hadn't told before....much to everyone's surprise.

A set of warm muffs and hot coffee to those boys that turned out to serenade the Thetas in that miserable weather the other night. They certainly took cool.

Here's a public complaint to the Thetas on their terrific showdance one Saturday. Haven't seen the likes in many a moon.

We wish to thank you-all your fine attendance and participation at our Rat Race. That's the stuff which gives for a good time. Many thanks.

We were mighty glad to see E. J. and Lucie back for the Tavern. Come again soon, gals.

Our final rushing dinner is over and we certainly had a grand time. We journeyed to St. Louis to the lovely home of Dr. and Mrs. Waggoner where we had a mavelous dinner. By the way, Miss Mc-Kinney made a very efficient bus-boy. The show hall ought to sign her up, pronto!!!

A 9 lb. 9 oz. baby boy was born March 7 to Marty and Bill Wendt.

Kappa Kapers

Well, they're over. Rushing parties, that is. Maybe peace and quiet are just around the corner after all. Nobody can say it isn't fun, though, not after that KI Karnival that was held Wednesday before last. Twenty-one rush-ees plus twenty-three KI's in our li'l ol' cubby-hole sure gave the impression of all a well-patronized midway. To fit right in with the theme, a be-steamered booth dispensed coke, hot dogs, potato chips, and bubble gum. We even had a wild animal show. Most of the beasts were kept behind bars, but some managed to escape and roamed around the room over everything. Naturally there were many balloons. The program started with a freak show. We sat in a circle and drew a portrait of the girl next to us. Easy enough, does it sound? Maybe, but we did it with the paper held on top of our heads. Of course, the results looked like the Morning After the Night Before, but that was beside the point. Later on the rushees were serenaded with a song written especially for them. The Big Apple was taken out of mothballs and shaken around a bit. Finally came the witching hour, when the party broke up with many regrets. down with sovenirs, balloons, an animal from our menagerie, and many fond memories.

This week brought the final rushing dinner. It was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. Albert Koler of State Street. The dinner, prepared by our patronesses, would have been delicious in itself, but the thought of the sacrificial meal we were missing made it that much better. A gift corsage of a baby orchid was found at each rushee's plate. The evening was spent very pleasantly playing all sorts of card games, ranging from Canasta to I Doubt It, singing song, and going on sightseeing tours all over the house. We'd like to thank our patronesses for their help.

We just got some wonderful news about an "old" KI — Helen Welte is now Mrs. Albert Kurrasch. The couple is living in San Francisco, where Al is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

The KI's would like to announce that the name Kappa Iota Literary Society has been officially

There seems to be a general regression back to the Roaring Twenties going on, and Alma isn't lagging behind. The Theta Tavern went all-out Flapper style, ukeleles, racoon coats, and everything. We do believe the high spot of the floorshow was that future hit song, 'Way up in Old Alma." If the Powers That Be don't watch out it's liable to become a Senior

Faculty and Students

In order to clear the 11:00 o'clock hour on Thursday for chapel services during Spiritual Emphasis Week, the college will operate under a different class schedule. All four morning classes will be telescoped into the period from 8 a. m. to 10:50 a. m. Only five minutes will be allowed for between classes so one must move promptly from one class to another. The class schedule will operate Thursday as it did on Tuesday is as fol-

Earl E. Peterson College Business Manager

The resignation of Mr. Earl E. Peterson, business manager at Alma College, was announced today by President Welch. Mr. Peterson leaving his work as business tendent of Schools at Brooklyn, was for fourteen years the Superintendent of Schools at Breckenridge, Michigan, and is well and favorably known as an educator in central Michigan. He will take up his work at Brook-lyn on July 1st. In addition to his work at the college, Mr. Peterson has been active in community affairs. He has been the secretary of the Alma Rotary Club for six years, and chairman of the affairs, in the Presbyterian Church, and the Pine River Country Club.

In commenting upon Mr. Peterson's resignation, President Welch said, "It is with real regret that of Mr. Earl E. Peterson, who has so effectively served as our business manager. He has made a real place for himself in the life of the college and the community. His quiet and effective leadership has made for him many, many friends among the students, faculty, and staff of the college. We shall miss him on the campus, but we rejoice with him in the spendid opportunity that has come to him to return to the type of work in which he was previously engaged so happily and effectively.

Meet the A.C.A.

which adorn the campus of Alma College ,one of the most outstanding i sthe A.C.A.—the Alma Christian Association. Being a Christian college, it is only proper that such an organization should exist.

The A.C.A. consists of representatives from the fraternities, sororities, and independent groups on the campus. These representatives are divided into four committees, namely Faith and Life; Stewardship; Christian Fellow-ship; and Christian Outreach. There are four members on each committee; and they have a rotating system for the chairmanship.

Once a month the representatives from the various groups have a meeting, at which time they discuss the problems before them. Every other Wednesday the A. C. A. as a student participation group meets, usually at the chapel, for an hour or so of fellowship. At this time all the denominations represented on campus join together in mutual ties. A movie, a speaker, or one of the other numerous activities the organization has planned for, is presented.

True Christian fellowship is felt at these meetings. The A. C. A. welcomes everyone, skeptic and Christian alike. They want you to come as well as anyone else, because you are an intricate part of the life on Alma College campus. The larger the group present, the more inspired will be the leaders of the A. C. A., and greater programs can be planned, knowing full well that there will be present a large enough body of students and faculty to warrant the extra

The people behind the scenes of the A.C.A., the people who do much of the work, are Bert White as the Chairman; Glenn Rogers as the Vice-Chairman; and Ann Mc-Kinley as the Secretary. As advisor for the group, there is our capable Dean of Religion, Dr. Mc-

Among the many activities for which A.C.A. plans during the we have accepted the resignation course of a school year, is the annual Spiritual Emphasis Week. This year it will be held during the present week, March 13 through March 17. You are invited to each and every program, so set aside the homework a couple of times at least, and drop over to the chapel.

Each morning at 7:30 there will be a short devotional service in the chapel. These periods will be called Pause for Power. At 11:00 every morning there will be a regular chapel service. During each afternoon there will be two hour periods in which personal interviews will be held; these periods will run from 2 until 4 o'clock. At 4 o'clock a Skeptic's Hour will be held, for those who doubt the Christian faith and for those whose faith is already strongly founded. Evening chapel services will be held at 7:15, and after each service fireside chats will take place. These chats are open to all, and it is fully hoped that you will attend .

Many of the activities the A. C. A. has planned cannot be made public at the present because finai plans have not been laid. However they can promise you a wonderful experience if you will only come to the meetings. So the next time you see that the Alma Christian Association is having a gettogether, drop around, won't you?
