Where Are You Going . . .

Hey, Mac, slow down and think a minute.

What are you going to do with this education you're rushing off so fast to get: Planning to get a job and spend your life either making a million dollars or scrimping and saving so you can send your kids to college to get the same "advantages" you are having now—and then sit back and hope the kids make more of a "success" in life than their old man did?

Well, if all you do in life is live for and through your children, you won't be the first one. Each generation depends on the next to do the things the generation before depended on it to do, and very few individuals in each generation accept the responsibility as their own instead of shoving it off on the next group.

What's your object in life anyway? If you can answer that one you can answer what's the purpose of education. Do you believe this world is God's little green apple or Man's? From one viewpoint man's purpose is to make the world more like heaven; from the other view the purpose is to make the world a better place for man to live in. Either way the object seems to make this world a better world.

In a couple of months or years you'll be graduating from this fair college. You'll be inheriting your share of the earth, which up to now has been held in trust for you. What are your plans for using that share? What are YOU going to do about making this a better world?

Okay, Mac, Rush off and get that hunk of education.

PHILO FILES

Spring is really here—how do we know? Joyce Fischer cut off her nightgown.

Friday, May the 6th was the big night for us. This year we held our formal in the Porter Hotel at Lansing. Ed Berry's orchestra furnished the music, and the meal was turkey. Everyone had a wonderful time. We thank Mr. and Mrs. Bill LaPaugh and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Howe for chaperoning us. For some of the highlights of the evening ask A. H. She'll know what I mean.

Our plans for our week end party are still undecided. The date for it is the 21st-22nd.

THETA NEWS

Final plans are well under way for our spring formal. We are holding it this year at Mt. Pleasant at the Keeler Union Ball room. We are also making the final arrangements for our weekend party at Crystal Lake. Aside from these social activities, we are busily practicing softball in the hopes that we will be able to put on at least a good athletic show in our first game against the Independent Women. Other little activities that are consuming our time are the cleaning, redecorating, and renovating duties in improving our sorority room, trying to get tan on the sundeck or at Crystal or Rock Lake.

Last night, Monday May 9th, we were honored at a dinner at the Park Hotel in St. Louis. This was given by two of our patroness, Mrs. Sould and Mrs. Daily to whom we wish to express our appreciation. It was a very fine gesture.

ZETA NEWS

May 7th, the Zeta's held their annual spring formal at the Daugherty Hotel in Clare, Michigan. Dinner was served at 7 P. M. and the dance as held in the Wedgewood Hall at 9:00. The favors consisted of miniature bronze mugs and blue and white leather dance programs. The entire fraternity wish to extend their sincere thanks to Bob Fraker, chairman, for his excellent job.

Welcome back, Moe. The Zeta's were glad to see our president back again after his extended Easter vacation which he claims was business. We understand Doc Young had a similar experience on his vacation, he did manage to make it back on time.

DELTA FORMAL

ORCHESTRA: BAY CITY ORGANIZATION
TIME: 6:30

DELTA GAMMA TAU

Well, comes two weeks, and the talk on campus will not be "How was the dance last night" but more in the order of "What Exam do you have this hour?"

The Delt Dodgers have been going great this season winning three and losing one game—during the games, they have scored a total of 61 runs—Steve Murin, Bob Olsen, and "Coach" Dick Carr have been doing the pitching.

The members' project for this week consists of putting up fire escapes on the side of the Delt House.

We're wondering about member Bill Bluit—he waited months for his Delt pin, got it one day, and it seems that he had "lost" it the following day or so; congratulations, Bill. Doug Callow also pinned a girl from Detroit recently — good luck, men.

Four Delts will be graduating this year—Elmer Coon, our able president of the last semester, who has done a great job; R. G. Curtiss, our penny-pinching secretary; John Kimball and Ed Burdsell—hats off to four fine men.

Model U.N. Assembly Reports No "Walkouts"

The delegates sent by the International Relations Club of Alma College to the Model Assembly at Hillsdale had a highly successful trip. The Assembly's 150 delegates constituted many students from all over the world, which gave the affair international air. The whole Assembly was conducted by students. The main issues of debate were the North Atlantic Pact and the Cardinal Mindzenty trial.

Voting and precedential technicalities paralleled those at Lake Success. The delegates received the impression of what the conditions are like in United Nations assemblies under ordinary circumstances.

The principal speaker at the evening banquet was Dr. Preston W. Slosson who is Professor of History at University of Michigan.

The members of the delegation were John McLeod, Gerald Lacey, Jack McCarthy, Suad Wakim, Hazel King and Bob Pollock. Professor Henry Howe accompanied the delegation as advisor.

The IRC held its last meeting Thursday night. It was decided to elect officers next fall.

The members of the Club feel that much has been accomplished in the first year of its renewal on the campus. It is felt that great inroads have been made towards understanding the problems of the world.

Hillsdale 3, Alma 2
Alma went scoreless until the top of the ninth inning when Joe Catarino slammed out a single, Jim Nesbett walked, Catarino went to third on a passed ball, Joe Thibedeau was out short to first, and Catarino came on in. John Coe hit a single and Nesbett scored, Ray Mohre was on after an error by the shortstop, Bob Mohre walked, and Bill Saxton flied out to right field to end the inning.

Only other Alma hits came in the first and 6th innings, Bill Saxton, first man at bat slamming out a single, and then duplicating the feat in the 6th frame.

Bill Saxton came through with the other Alma hit, slamming a single and then advancing to second on a shortstops error.

Charlie Saxton, on the mound for Alma, gave up scattered hits which the Hurons were able to turn to advantage only twice. The Ypsilanti lads scored in the seventh and eighth innings to sew up the ball game.

Hillsdale Pares Alma to Par

Hillsdale College golfers took the full measure of the Alma lads last Saturday afternoon administering a 13 1/2-5 1/2 licking that stung the defending MIAA champions hard. It was the first loss to a league opponent in two seasons.

In the number one foursome, Bob Blanck came through with a startling 39-37 for a 76 total only to lose the three points for the match as his opponent came through with a 36-34 and a 70 total. This same foursome was a little luckier for John Anderson who gained 1 1/2 points with his 38-38, total 76.

Alex Olloffson dropped three more to Hillsdale with an 83 carded over a 78 by Joe Savareno. Alex Kish gained three for Alma with a 41-37, total 78, and Boots Jadvinskas gained one and dropped two with his 81, Dick Knox gave Hillsdale three more with an 82 carded over his opponent's 77.

Total strokes were Alma, 476, Hillsdale, 471.

Wright on the Spot

Well, Alma C. hit the big-time papers again. This time it was The Great Fire. There were no casualties, however, except a set of very weak knees, received by the heroine of the holocaust, Janni Bleil, who fearlessly stood her ground and turned in the alarm, resisting the urge to run and rescue herself and her stuffed giraffe Shmoozie.

All this started a chain of fire drills. Now we're rousted out at every conceivable hour just for practice. The payoff came Friday morning when the alarm started sputtering at 6:30. How we ever made it safely down the fire escape will forever remain a mystery. Yours Truly didn't wake up until her feet were planted firmly on the ground. The same fire drill caught several young ladies—shall we say—flatfooted. Seems that about a half hour before the drill an inquisitive bee found its way into the adjoining rooms occupied by Joanne Ramsey, Dot Short, Gerry Comstock, and Lorene Moyer. Said bee caused a slight flurry among these young ladies, with the net result that, further sleep being impossible, they decided to breakfast at the Brown Derby of Alma, the Super. Upon arriving home and being forced to account for their absence from roll call, the girls related the above tale. We understand that the girls had a little trouble convincing some people that it was the gospel truth, so there is now a notice on the bulletin board explaining the situation and naming Lita Potter as witness.

These bugs cause more trouble—especially for kids taking Biology 12. They go about inseparable from their bug bottles, ready at any moment to pounce on an unsuspecting beetle or cricket. Many a charming afternoon has been spent out in Nature in the guise of a bug hunt.

The call of the wide open spaces is becoming stronger now. People take off and go swimming at the drop of a hat. Three girls we know speak favorably of Three Bridges as a spot for this sport. Then again we've heard a lot about trips to Bass Lake. Is that really very good for swimming?

Scots Doused by Albion Thinclads

Albion College thinclads went all out to give the Alma lads a rousing welcome when the locals traveled south for a dual track meet. The final result—Albion 109, Alma 22. The Britons swept 7 events, plus the mile relay in amassing the grim total against the Scots.

Only bright sports for the Scots were the performances of Arlan Edgar and Jim Uhlman, Edgar gaining a first in the pole vault and in the broad jump, and Uhlman taking first in the high jump.

Events in which the Alma boys placed are:

- Mile—2nd Williams (A) 3rd Colter (A).
- 2 Mile—3rd C. Williams (A).
- Discus—3rd Boucher (A).
- Pole Vault—1st Edgar (A).
- High Jump—1st Uhlman (A).
- Broad Jump—1st Edgar (A).
- Javelin—3rd Acton (A).

Scot Nine Beats Olivet, Adrian

The Scots clubbed out 11 hits for a wild 14-5 triumph over Olivet were hert last Tuesday. Four bases on balls and six Olivet errors helped the Scots' run-making. Bob Mohre registered his first victory of the season with a seven-hit pitching job against the Comes. Bob fanned nine and walked three.

The Alma runs came in clusters off Vern Hills, Comet hurler, two in the second, third, fourth, and sixth frames, and three in the seventh and eighth innings.

Alma kept its undefeated MIAA record intact with the 2-1 decision over Adrian Wednesday. A single by Bill Moore and a two bagger by Joe Catarino broke up the contest in the eleventh inning before a man had been retired.

Chuck Saxton was the pitching hero, limiting the Bulldogs to just three hits. Chuckin' Charlie also shared batting honors with Moore and Catarino with an eighth inning home run for Alma's first score.

Gerry Rice allowed the Scots nine hits, three by Catarino. Saxton fanned 10 and didn't issue a pass while Rice retired six on strikes and walked only one man.

The Collegiate World -

Bowling Green, Ohio (ACP)—Bowling Green State University students now can determine whether they are grown up.

For their "modern marriage" seminar, Dr. Esther McGinnis, Detroit psychologist, compiled a check list of 12 characteristics.

She said grown-ups:

1. Control their emotions and endure tensions.
2. Postpone present satisfactions for later and greater satisfactions.
3. Accept the inevitable of life.
4. Accept themselves.
5. Live in the present and not in the past.
6. Avoid exploiting others.
7. Accept violent emotions.
8. Love others and accept love.
9. Realize other persons' feelings.
10. Feel a part of something bigger than themselves.
11. Appreciate love, beauty and creativeness in human relationships.
12. Let others have the lime-light.

New Haven, Conn. (I. P.) The hurried, crowded academic life on most American college campuses attacked recently by President Charles Seymour of Yale who called for "much greater opportunity for leisure."

"My chief complaint with the Course of Study Committee of most American colleges is that in our planned curriculum so little time is left for contemplation. The American confidence in the insured results of a course of study, on the part of faculty and the students themselves, is a startling phenomenon. There is on the one hand the assumption that if you have taken a course you have mastered the subject."

"There is an equally surprising assumption, on the other hand, that if you have not taken a course in a subject you cannot possibly acquire mastery of that subject by yourself—just as though 500 years ago Gutenberg had never invented movable type."

"What we need in college, and in after years, God knows, is leisure in which to read and the judgement to read the best books. And from that reading to go on to what it means, quickly apart from the activities of the crowd."

Albuquerque, N. M. (I.P.) There is one University professor, Dr. T. M. Pearce, head of English at the University of New Mexico, who thinks it should be perfectly proper to say; "It is me"

Further streamlining and liberalizing our spoken language, Dr. Pearce would eliminate "whom" the objective pronoun. Thus it should be correct to say; "Who do you want?" Other expressions that have come up from the common man and not down from University professors are "Drive slow," none are here" and "I don't care for these kind of apples."

"English teachers are behind their time, teaching text-book grammar when they should work for a standard nearer the common speech of everyday man," said the learned Doctor.

mainly of college-trained men and women."

"For college graduates interested in flying careers, the Air Force is reserving a number of places in its summer and early fall Aviation Cadet classes," Master Sgt. Anthony C. Walny said. "The purpose is to permit seniors graduating in June to begin pilot training with minimum delay. Seniors who apply now will have their papers processed so that, if qualified and accepted, they will be ready to begin training in one of the early classes following their graduation."

After one year of Aviation Cadet training—including flight instruction, academic work, and leadership training—they are commissioned second lieutenants in the Air Force Reserve, with assignments to flying duties. Outstanding graduates of Aviation Cadet training receive Regular commissions immediately upon completing their training. The others, with Reserve commissions, have opportunities to compete for Regular commissions while on Extended Active Duty.

College graduates interested in nonflying administrative and technical careers in the Air Force have an opportunity to receive Reserve commissions after six months of training at an Air Force Officer Candidate School. Both men and women are eligible and no ROTC or other prior military service is required.

More than 3200 seniors will receive Reserve commissions upon completion of their Air ROTC work at approximately 100 colleges and universities in June. All are being informed that they have an opportunity to serve three years of active duty with the Air Force. Those who can pass the physical and aptitude examinations will be accepted for pilot training.

"The Air Force has not changed its minimum educational requirements for officer and pilot training," Master Sgt. Anthony C. Walney said. "However, while accepting qualified applicants who have at least two years of college training or can pass an equivalent examination, the Air Force is advising students to complete their college work before applying for training and officer assignments."
