

COUNCIL HAS BUSY MEET

T-Board Made Independent; Approves Publications Board

Alma College Student Council voted in its regular meeting Tuesday to make Tyler Board a separate and independent group.

This board, which directs Tyler Center affairs, had previously been a Council committee. The Tyler Board budget, of $890 minus expenditures dating from July 1, will be separated from the Student Council budget, making the Board independent as soon as the Business Office can make necessary arrangements concerning the budget.

Current Tyler Board members are Dave Elliott, Sue Spriggs, Judy Smith, Sandy Tyler, faculty advisor Arlan Edgar, and staff director Nola Hatten.

In the Tuesday meeting in the Council room in the chapel basement, the council also voted to approve the articles of organization for a Board of Publications. This Board, to replace the faculty Publications Committee, which no longer exists, has been also approved by the faculty executive committee. Faculty approval would make it official policy.

BULLETIN

The Faculty voted in their Thursday meeting to approve the articles of organization. They also accepted the Student Council's withdrawal of financial responsibility. (See next paragraph)

The Board of Publications, to consist of five faculty and five student members, is to govern all college publications. By voicing their approval, Student Council forfeits the power to appoint salaried staff

Reps., Dems. Refuse to Cross Party Lines

An attentive audience heard Arnold Levin, Republican Party Publicist for Michigan, discuss Michigan's financial problems at 8:00 p.m. on November 3 in the Science Auditorium.

Levin said the state's problems stem from two sources: constitutional and political.

The state Constitution has restrictive clauses. It sets the sales tax at 3%. Also, revenues received from a certain source have to be spent for specific things only.

Politically speaking, Levin explained that legislators have been disinclined to assume responsibility and have not shown mutual cooperation.

Democrats and Republicans have refused to follow anything but party lines. They have assumed no responsibility because it would mean crossing party lines.

Temporary financial relief was in sight when the legislature passed and the Governor signed a bill increasing the sales tax by 1%. The expected revenue from this new tax would have paid off old debts and given the government badly needed money for services to citizens.

When the state Supreme Court, voting on a strictly partisan basis, declared the new sales tax unconstitutional, Michigan was again plunged into financial chaos.

Levin talked of another Michigan problem. He explained that Michigan has had countless tax studies but no expenditures studies. He said this is necessary because money and services are being wasted through duplication and overlapping by both state and local units of government.

Car. Reg. Proposal Made By Council

Student Council has formulated a counter proposal of college vehicle regulations in opposition to those adopted by the Student Affairs Committee.

S. A. Committee regulations, adopted at their October 27 meeting, include $15 registration deposit.

These regulations also include a fine of $5 for not registering and $2, $5, and $10 for future. Exceptions would allow of parking regulations. No student parking would be allowed in the visitors' zone by the Administration Building, in fire zones, loading zones, campus lawns or yards, or the first parking lot lanes near the library and science building.

The use of cars by freshmen would be curtailed for the academic year 1960-1961 and the future. Exceptions would allow cars only for married students, commuters, and those with special work permits.

Student Council, after a committee report from Bob Tarte, has recommended a new plan to be reviewed by the S. A. Committee. This plan emphasizes ease of registration. A dollar registration fee would be

Election Board

Under the chairmanship of Myrtle Cuellar, the newly formed Elections Board committee is in the process of drawing up a program for campus wide elections.

It plans to present its program to the Student Council by December 1. This is a tentative date.

Shirer Known To Millions As Broadcaster, Writer

Campus Comments On Next
Friday's Convocation Speaker

By Millie Howe
William Shirer, who will speak here on "Russia and Germany—Keys to the Future" Friday, November 13, is known to millions who have heard his broadcasts and have read his best-selling BERLIN DIARIES.

President Swanson states about this famous figure: "During World War II, there were a good many of us who would practically glue our ears to the radio to hear Shirer broadcast from Berlin. There were a few times when the war seemed to be going against us, and we wondered how it would come out. The only link we had with the war were Shirer's broadcasts. He held all of our hopes and our fears just in his voice. He was our outpost."

"Here's a man who saw history first hand, and he saw the raw side of life that produced the age in which we're living now. To hear him would help us understand the day in which we're living."

Prof. David Huyler, of the history department, adds that

Announce Big Name Dance

Alma College's annual Big Name Dance plans to have Billy May's Band and The Kirby Stone Four this year. As of yet a contract has not been signed with either the band or the quartet, but it is hoped that sometime this week all details will be ironed out.

If plans work out the dance will be held Saturday, December 5, from 9 to 1:30 p.m. in Van Dusen Commons. Preliminary plans are also being made to hold a concert in the high school gym from 3 to 5 on Saturday afternoon.

Originally the Four Freshmen were scheduled to be here with the Billy May Band, but it became imperative that the Freshmen be on the West Coast the first week of December, so they were forced to cancel their whole Michigan tour.

Scotsman Staff Numbers 35

This year's Scotsman cover will be a departure from the traditional black design. Editor Brian Westveer said in an interview Friday that the cover will be composed of seven colors.

Some of the more promising features of the yearbook will be articles by Robin Butler, Dr. Cornelius, and other faculty members. Since the book wants to give a true picture of Alma College from the student's and faculty member's viewpoints, creative writing is being stressed.

Westveer also said that the forthcoming yearbook will be larger and contain more pages than those of the past.

The new book will have 224 pages and will be 9 by 12 inches in size compared with last

The Alma College Biology department will hold open meetings at 7:00 p.m. in the Dow Science building on a project involving the use of radio-active isotopes in tracer experiments, November 4, 11 and 18.

Three introductory lectures already have been presented by Dr. Lester Eyer, head of the department, who will deliver the concluding three programs.

On November 4, he discussed precautions and research techniques and presented a film entitled "Living with Radiations." The concluding meetings will involve experimental procedures and techniques in working with radioisotopes.

Are Freshmen Socially Competent?

"Social competency" is the topic of the continuing orientation program for freshmen tomorrow morning at 9 in Tyler Auditorium.

Skits will be presented and a board of inquiry, composed of upper classmen, will be part of the program.

Former A.C. Student Published In Atlantic

Frank W. Notestein (Alma x23) has an article in the November issue of The Atlantic Monthly entitled "Poverty and Population."

His article is an appraisal of the alarming rates at which the population in the underdeveloped countries has been increasing in the past decade has caused world wide concern.

Present Play On Nov. 19-20

The Highland Masquers are presenting the play "Night Must Fall" by Emyln Williams, November 19th and 20th. The three main characters in this play are Dan, played by Jack Dasef; Oliva, played by Barbara Helms; and Mrs. Bramson, played by Marilyn Henry.

Jack Dasef, a freshman from Grosse Pointe, has been in two high school plays, "The Shop on Sly Corner" and "Girl Crazy." He had the lead in the latter and played a secondary lead in the former.

He has had "behind the scenes" work in many plays, most of this work being in props and scenery. Jack is also a member of the National Thespian Society, an honorary drama club.

Barbara Helms, a freshman from Philadelphia, Pa. has been in six high school plays, carrying the lead in four of these. In the other two she had secondary leads. She has also been in four church plays and has had the lead in all of these.

Marilyn Henry, a junior from Holly has been in plays since the fourth grade. She directed the dramatics in her junior and seniors years in high school and had her own theater group at home. She has been singing with bands since the age of fourteen.

Marilyn has played such parts as Anastasia in "Dower to an Empress," Cho Cho San in "Madame Butterfly," and Toinette in "Would be Invalid" by Moliere. Here at Alma she has played Medea in "Medea," Hilda in "Plain and Fancy" and Inez in "No Exit."

Marilyn hopes, as a career, to combine music and drama and do musical comedy if possible. However, if she had to make a choice she would prefer acting.

World Mission Reporter Here

Miss Carolyn Padelford is visiting the campus to interpret to students the 18th Ecumenical Student Conference on the Christian World Mission which will bring together 3000 students from 100 countries. She will be at Alma College on November 23 and 24.

Miss Padelford has just returned to the United States after three years in Uskudar, Istanbul, Turkey, and she is now traveling jointly for the Commission on World Mission (formerly Student Volunteer Movement) of the National Student Christian Federation and the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Miss Padelford's home is in Winchester, Massachusetts, and her father is a teacher of international relations at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. She graduated from Oberlin College in Ohio in 1956 and the same year left for a short term in Turkey where she was a teacher of English at the American Academy for Girls in Istanbul. At the Academy, the 500 students, learning perhaps more than their parents desire of western movies and popular music, also show an increasing constructive interest in professions of law, medicine, engineering, and architecture which were formerly closed to women in Turkey.

The experience in international relations and cultural exchange which Miss Padelford has had in this Near Eastern country, working on a staff with twenty Turkish and twenty American teachers, helps her to speak meaningfully on the life and work of the Church around the world.

By Kay King

"the almanian's own foreign correspondent"

For four consecutive years an Alma College student has been selected for the Junior Year Abroad Program.

This year's student is Miss Kay King, from Algonac. A secondary education major of French and English, Kay attends the University of Switzerland in Geneva, where 60 per cent of its students come from foreign countries.

The program is an overseas study plan of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. whose purpose, among other aims, is to develop in each student a concern for the world and an insight into the life, culture and problems of another land.

To be eligible, students must have a B average, be deeply committed to the Christian faith and they must be emotionally mature.

October 26, 1959

Bonjour Mes Amis!

It doesn't seem possible that classes commenced over a month ago at Alma, since the University of Geneva officially opened today, and I find myself owing you a letter long over-due. Please forgive me, but these past two months have been indeed crammed with tremendous experiences!

We sailed from New York, Aug. 14, on the new German liner "Bremen", with 10 other JYAs, 5 of whom are now studying in Berlin. The 6 of us Geneva JYAs spent one day and night in "Gay Paris" on our way to Geneva where we immediately plunged into that old French with 20 hours of French courses at the Univ. of Geneva. Those 6 weeks were by no means all work though. There were University sponsored excursions on week-ends which gave us opportunities to tour through the Castle of Chillon, visit Mme. de Staël's Chateau in Nyon, visit Roman ruins in Switzerland, and do mountain climbing in France, etc., all while getting acquainted with our fellow students who claim just about every country there is for their homes!

Those six weeks also gave us a wonderful opportunity to become better acquainted with our new family. And what a charming family we have! The "we" includes Jane, a JYA from Oregon. Our father is a minister and there are four boys (the oldest two are students at the Univ.) and one girl of 12 who is the youngest. Jane and I are continually commenting on how fortunate we are to have such a wonderful family. We don't eat with them but we spend many pleasant evenings in their cozy living room in front of the fireplace, and often play games such as "gossip" in French. Once in a while we have dinner with them and always they treat us as their own sisters or daughters as the case may be, forever teasing us and correcting our French.

We eat our meals at the John Knox Foyer, which is a true Swiss chalet and serves as the home for 15 students with no more than 2 students from 1 country. The directors of this home are the Paul Frelicks, Presbyterian Fraternal Workers and their wonderful family which just increased by the birth of their first daughter yesterday. There is an article on this Foyer in the Oct. 1 issue of "Presbyterian Life," which describes the activity and life of this international home. Already I have so many memories of experiences with friends at the Foyer. Evenings of Bridge (difficult in English, but impossible in French!), bike excursions through the countryside, picnics, and the Sunday afternoons that we cook our dinner together since it's the Cook's day off. And always there is a continual learning of one another's country and their customs.

(To be continued next week)

the Luegan Children's Friend Society.

The members of the class were introduced to social case-work, group work and community organization by professionals in each field.

The days schedule was arranged by Mr. Gallagher of the Saginaw Valley Social Worker's Association.

He will be accompanied by Assistant Professor of Education, Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley.

Keynote speaker will be Dr. Sam Wiggins, George Peabody College for Teachers. The theme of the meeting will be "Heart of the Student Teaching Program: the Supervising Teacher."

Psych Club Hears Prof. from M.S.U.

The Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority are sponsoring the "Dreamers' Holiday" dance in Tyler Center, Friday, November 6, from 8:30 to 10:45.

The college combo will present the music, and the admission will be 25c per person.

Decorations will be arranged by Ginny Hickey, and Lois Taylor and Judy Eldred will be in charge of publicity and the band, respectively.

Campus A-Buzz Over Address

William J. Edwards, president and general manager of radio station WKNX, Saginaw, caused the campus to buzz like a hornets nest on Tuesday, October 29. He delivered an address at convocation on the attitude of the Russian and the American people.

The theme of his talk was, "Freedom and Justice can't be divided but they can be removed."

Mr. Edwards spent the summer in Russia with a 19 member delegation observing the conditions and the attitudes of the people.

Reaction to his speech ranged from a freshman's opinion of "He really made me want to do something about it but here we go right back into our complacent rut" to a sophomore, "complacent I enjoyed his talk very much. It was really worth while."

Organize A.C. Speakers Bureau

There will be an organizational meeting of Student Speakers Bureau on Wednesday, November 11, in the Men's Lounge of Tyler Center.

The Student Speakers Bureau is composed of students who speak on various subjects to churches, service groups, high schools, and other organizations.

It is sponsored by the speech department and offers an opportunity for students to get practical experience in public speaking. The chairman of this group is Judy McGregor.

Students in psychology club, Tri-Beta, debate, physical education, foreign students, and students interested in speaking on Alma College are invited to attend the organizational meeting.

Dr. Steward To Talk To ACA

Dr. Florence Steward, former Alma College faculty member, will address the A.C.A. Sunday, November 11, 7 p.m. in Van Dusen Lounge. Her topic will cover the history of discovery of the Dead Sea Scrolls, and will include a recent interpretation of it.

The program is open to the public.

The Council report emphasizes absolutely no exceptions of violator punishment. Fines suggested by S. A. Committee were approved, and also the idea that bills be paid before

Student Council approved freshman car ownership restriction if that proves necessary. This matter and the proposed parking regulations depend on the severity of the college parking problem.

Parking violators will receive warning slips, and the violations will be placed on file. Unregistered cars, those without the official windshield deal, will fined.

Alma Romps Over Olivet, 34-0

Once again last Saturday quarterback Jim Northrup led his teammates to a victory. This time it was an easy 34-0 win over hapless Olivet. The win raised Alma to a third place tie in the conference with Albion. Both have a 3-2 record.

The lanky junior gained 215 yards passing and rushing to boost his season total to 1,216. He scored two touchdowns by himself and passed 42 yards to Tom Taber for another.

Alma showed its terrific power on defense as they held the Olivet squad to only 45 yards. Tackles Fraser Dean and Larry Essenmacher and guard Dick Johnson were continually in the Olivet backfield. Ends Jim Greenlees and Gary Wagerson did a fine job turning in plays.

Halfback Dick Fowler played a terrific game. He opened the second half with a 50 yard run for a score. The fleet White Cloud sophomore tore into the Olivet line for sizeable gains.

Taber scored his second touchdown of the afternoon in the last period with a three yard run. Halfback Dave Peters, who just missed another long field goal, by a couple of feet, kicked all four extra points.

Coach Art Smith made substitutions quite freely in the fourth quarter. Art Krawczyk, Bay City sophomore, the second string quarterback, engineered the final Alma touchdown.

Alma rolled to 16 first downs against seven for the Comets, who did not penetrate the Scots' 30 yard line.

The winners chalked up 214 yards rushing compared with the 45 by Olivet. Forty-three of the 45 yards came in the late stages of the game when Alma had their third string in.

Harriers Have Winning Streak

Alma's cross country team edged Olivet last Saturday 32-20 for their second consecutive victory. Last week the victim was Hillsdale. The squad now has a 2-3 won-loss record.

This is a big week for the Alma harriers as they meet two tough opponents, Calvin and Albion. From here they go to the league meet.

This year's team consists of six runners. Warren Slodowske, Saginaw sophomore, is the team's number one man. Slodowske has never run cross country before, but he is a hard worker and is improving with every meet.

Broadwell, Lafferty, and Kaper have all run cross country in high school. Woodcox was a star sprinter in high school but did not run long distances.

Women's Tourney Is Underway

The women's intramural volleyball tournament got underway last Thursday evening at 7:00 p.m. The WAA board announces that this is the largest turn-out ever for an intramural volleyball tourney.

Finals are scheduled for January 19th and 21st. The volleyball games are open for spectators any Tuesday and Thursday night.

Two Power Packed Guards

John Wade

Ken Renaud

Ken Renaud and Jerry Wade give Alma a power packed combination at the guard positions. Although they are rather small at 180 pounds each, both these boys are powerfully built and use their speed to make up for the lack of beef.

Renaud, a sophomore, played high school football at Melvindale, Michigan, where he received three letters. He was chosen for the All-Area team twice.

A guard on offense, Renaud plays the linebacker lot on defense. He is a fine blocker on offense, and he has opened up many a hole allowing Alma's fast stepping backs to go for yardage.

Renaud is a chemistry major and is on the officer training program of the Marine Corps. He wants to fly jets someday.

Wade hails from Alpena, Michigan, where he played three sports and earned 8 letters. He was a versatile grinder in high school. He played guard as a junior and won All-Conference honors. He was switched to fullback in his senior year and won All-Conference honors for the second straight year.

Wade, like Renaud, is a guard on offense and a linebacker on defense. These two boys, along with Bob Norris, give Alma a fine defensive unit: fast, tough, and sure tacklers.

Wade is majoring in Physical Education and will coach and teach after he graduates from Alma.

Hintz Getting Ready For Basketball Season

Head basketball coach Wayne Hintz is just getting ready to start his third season as Alma mentor, and already he is having headaches.

He will have to do without the services of Duané Hussey, star center last season, who is ineligible because of scholastic difficulties. The husky sophomore was very valuable for his rebounding ability last season.

Bill Steinmetz, a six foot five inch transfer student, is also ineligible due to league rules which prohibits transfers from playing their first semester.

But all is not as gloomy as it sounds. Alma will be improved this year because of the increased experience of the squad and also through the addition of Charley Barge, a 5 foot 8 inch guard from Pontiac.

Barge will team with Ferris Saxton to give Alma a powerful backcourt combination capable of scoring from far out and also with the ability to drive in for the lay-ups.

Leonard Wosiznak, the 6 foot eight inch center, will develop, but according to Coach Hintz it will take time.

Other promising freshmen are: Don Phillippe, Bob Rankin, and Joe Penrod. Veterans from last year's squad include: Jim Northrup, Dave Peters, Dalton "Butch" Cantrell, Larry Essenmacher, and Gordon Reese.
