Night Of International Displays Includes Food, Drink, Fun, Art

Last Friday night, March 3, the annual International Night program was held in Tyler Auditorium.

A number of colorful booths decorated the auditorium. Until nine o'clock, students milled around doling out money for soft drinks, food, fortune-telling, and charcoal portraits.

The Spanish club had a booth resembling a typical Spanish or Mexican street market, and sold tasty south-of-the-border treats.

The Kappa Iota sorority had a fortune-teller complete with crystal ball. The German Club's contribution to International Night was a Hofbrauhaus (booze place). Although German beer steins decorated the bar, the barkeepers produced none of the genuine article. Instead, an array of soft drinks was featured.

The Campus Wives sold Sloppy Joes, and the Alpha Sigma Tau sorority sold pink lemonade. The Delta Sigma Phi fraternity featured a penny-throw, while the Sig Tau's had another fortune-teller. The biology society, Tri-Beta, had a Test-Your-Lungs booth, which necessitated blowing through a tube. (Alcohol was used to keep the tube sanitary, and could very well explain the great interest in the booth.)

A French flavor was added to the fair by Cafe Montmartre, an art exhibit of paintings in French locale. A realistic touch was added to the French booth by Guy Francis and Judy Molyneux, who drew charcoal, pencil, and ink portraits. They sketched steadily for two hours at the very reasonable price of fifteen cents per portrait.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity had their annual Teke-O-Gram booth featuring specially composed telegrams, and the Student Council had a booth encouraging travel by showing slides of places around the globe.

At nine o'clock, entertainment was provided. Emcee Bob See—International—page 2

Appoint Graham, '48 Alum, To New AC Staff Position

Appointment of Mr. Guile Graham as Director of Institutional Relations for the coming college year has been announced by Dr. Robert Swanson, president of Alma College.

The new position is recognized as an important addition to the college staff. Graham's position will have multiple responsibilities including Alumni Affairs, Publicity, The Gratiot Community Fund for Alma College, as well as other administrative assignments.

Graham graduated from Alma College in 1948, his education having been interrupted by World War II. He was a member of the Zeta Sigma Fraternity (Delta Sigma Phi). At one time he was president of the fraternity, also president of the Student Council and the Senior Class. As a student he was active in drama, on the staff of both the almanian and the Scotsman. Also, he was elected to Who's Who in American Colleges.

After graduation Mr. Graham was employed by the College as Director of Admissions and Alumni Secretary. In 1953 he became the Assistant Director of the Engineering Society of Detroit and in 1958 he was appointed to the staff of the Westminster Presbyterian Church in Detroit where he presently is Assistant to the Minister.

Graham served in the Army both in World War II and the Korean War as a Captain assigned to the Field Artillery as a Unit Commander. In addition to his study at Alma College, Mr. Graham has also studied in the graduate school at Michigan State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham and their three daughters will move to Alma early in the summer.

Mrs. Graham (Norma Jane Lincoln) is also a graduate of Alma College.

VARIETY THEME OF NIGHT

Band Will Feature New AC Fight Song In Annual Concert

The annual mid-season concert of the Alma College Concert Band will be presented this coming Thursday, March 16, at 8:15 p.m. in Dow Auditorium. The band will be under the direction of Dr. Sam Jones.

The new Alma College Fight Song, composed by Dr. Jones, will receive its first public performance. There were no student entries, and his song was chosen by the committee as the winner in the contest.

Included in the varied program of the evening are "Introduction to Act III from Lohengrin," by Wagner, "Prelude and Fugue in Bb Major," by J. S. Bach, "King Cotton," by John Phillip Sousa, and "An Evening in the Village," by Bartok.

Other numbers on the program to be played by the 29-member band are "L'Arlesienne Suite No. 2," by Georges Bizet, "Berceuse and Finale," from "The Firebird," a ballet composed in 1910 by Ignor Stravinsky, and "The Triumphal March," from "Quo Vadis," by Miklos Rozsa.

In a different vein, 10 selections from Richard Roger's "South Pacific" will be played by the band.

Alpha Theta Fashion Show In Tyler Tonight

The Alpha Theta Sorority will present the new spring fashions in its annual style show. It will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in Tyler Auditorium. Admission is $3.50, and a $5 gift certificate is being offered as a door prize.

The show is divided into three parts: morning, afternoon, and evening. Clothes for each period of the day will be modeled by members of the sorority. These will include lounging clothes, sportswear, suits, and cocktail dresses.

Styles this year are feminine and fancy, rather than tailored. The emphasis is on light pastel colors, especially lavender, and there will be many clothes in lightweight knits.

To add the masculine touch, three members of the Delta Sigma Phi will model clothes from Miller's. Other stores furnishing clothes are Dawn's, Ferris Shop, Gittleman's, and Tyke and Teen.

TKE-on-the-Town Theme Is Florida

Tomorrow evening, March 11, Tau Kappa Epsilon will present its annual "Teke-on-the-Town" dance. The title this year is "Lauderdale—Where the Girls Are."

The theme for the dance is based on the annual Easter migration of college students to Fort Lauderdale, Florida. In keeping with the theme, dress for the dance is to be extremely informal, and couples are asked to dress as they would in Fort Lauderdale (sweatshirts, bermudas, sandals, etc.)

The Paul Daines Orchestra will provide the music. Entertainment will be provided, and a modified version of the standard Fort Lauderdale refreshments will be served. One of the highlights of the evening will be the crowning of the 1961 Sweetheart of T. K. E. Tickets may be purchased from any fraternity member or pledge, or at the door.

Ferrand Elected To State Office

Approximately fifteen Alma Young Republicans went last weekend to the annual Convention of the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans which was held in Jackson, Michigan.

The main business of the convention was to elect federation officers and to adopt a party platform.

Louis Ferrand, Alma freshman, was elected to the office of

Louis Ferrand

Corresponding Secretary of the state Federation. He received the unanimous vote of the convention.

The Alma delegation, voting by unit rule, supported Jack Knirk of Michigan State University for the chairmanship of the organization. He also received the overwhelming support of the convention and was elected. The other three officers elected hail from the University of Michigan, Western Michigan University, and Central Michigan University.

The foreign policy plank to be presented to the convention was drafted by a committee. See—Republicans—page 3

Elections Thurs. For SC Officers

Student Council elections will be held Thursday, March 16. Polling places will be set up in Gelston Hall and in Tyler Center. Although the voting times are still uncertain the polls will be open for at least seven hours. Tentative hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Student Council has nominated Harold Cook and Dick Luke for president. Bob Matteson and Tony Taylor are the council's vice-presidential candidates. Since no other students submitted the needed petitions, these four candidates are the only ones entered.

Yesterday, the convocation was devoted to campaign speeches by the candidates.

In the act of trying to observe Lent many of us have attempted the discipline of saying a prayer at the start of each new day. Some of us, however, find our minds wandering during our prayers and are disturbed about this. A great saint once said that one can no more stop his mind from wandering while in prayer than one can stop the wind from blowing.

With this idea in our minds we may feel a little better about the situation. We may still, however, want to attain coherence in our prayers. If this is the case then perhaps we should try the following

1. Try to pick a quiet place to say our prayers. For some of us this quiet place may be the church or college chapel while for others it may be out under the stars and away from the throbb of life and humanity. This will tend to free us from interruptions and distractions. When we then find our minds wandering we may simply bring our thoughts back to God and continue our prayers.

2. Be patient with ourselves always remembering how God is always pleased with our prayers even when they are sprinkled with wandering thoughts.

Remembering these things, let us join our hearts in prayer: "O Most Merciful Father, grant us forgiveness for those things which we have done to hurt our neighbors and friends. Grant us courage that we may, through understanding, come once more into their kindness so we may give unto them kindness in return. Help us to keep Thy Lent not only in our minds but in our very hearts so we may do Thy Will.

Create in us truth that we may never be in fear of untruth. Amen."

Letters To The Editor

NOTE: Our policy concerning letters to the editors makes it mandatory that the writers of all published letters be known either to the Editor-in-Chief or Managing Editor. THE ALMANIAN takes upon itself the responsibility for publishing letters, hence it will not reveal the identity of any writer who requests anonymity. The editors do not guarantee publication of letters which exceed the bounds of decency and reasonable courtesy. Whether or not letter-writers take issue with THE ALMANIAN in no way disqualifies their letters for publication.

Dear Editor,

Granted, to each his own opinions, likes and dislikes, but to read statements such as: "Our music is as good as any of that music he says is better. It has rhythm and lots of pep and makes you just want to live and enjoy the better things in life. This is more than I can say that music he seems to like better can" within the pages of the almanian, written by a "Concerned Senior" (last week) simply appall me!

Such mastery of prose. Such objective thinking. ("I don't think Mr. Thomas Befudled, whoever he is, has any right to say that.")

It would be interesting to know what this musical connoisseur holds to be the "better things in life." On second thought, perhaps not... Judging from last week's keenly critical statements, it would probably prove to be the ultimate in disillusionment for one who lives in a "fool's paradise" of sorts, believes in the better things of life which include Beethoven and Bach, and until last Friday believed in the worth of Alma seniors.

My, God! Dear editors, please tell me that this "concerned senior" is a high school senior and not an-almost-college-graduate! Perhaps a Naive Senior

Dear Miss M. & Miss E:

According to your letter in the almanian you feel you are being used as guinea pigs. Come now, in one breath you tend to repel such actions, then in the next you hope to continue to be placed in the status of a Laboratory Animal for further experiments. Your inference that your lounges, lavatories, etc. are badly in need of maid service and that coeds don't have time to be cleaning ladies is, I would say, quite true. I have noted that at times when my duties compelled me to enter said coed's rooms. Many of said rooms are anything but show rooms for visitors and living in so-called filth is not confined to just lounges, etc., nor just to weekends. Certainly you must admit cooperation for cleanliness is a must when so many people are housed in one building, and I sincerely believe (and hope you do to) that in many ways the residents' attempts at greater cooperation could relieve the tenseness of the situation. Please consider the maids. They are all family people with homes, children, etc., and after being out of the home during the week, they wish very much to spend their weekends with their families. Also consider the almost impossible task of obtaining services of additional personnel for one day a week and this being on a Sunday. I feel confident that the administration has enough financial responsibility to properly operate so called maid service wherever and whenever needed but also I believe only when and where needed and I truly feel that if the above mentioned coeds were to offer full and honest cooperation, the powers that be will react in kind.

Trenz introduced Mark Ryan, who played several songs on his electric guitar. Next, a group of Spanish singers (billed as imports from Spain) sang "Celito Lindo" and "Adios Muchachos."

The entertainment was climaxed by the breaking of the pinata, a large paper bag full of sweets, and covered by green and yellow crepe paper. Participants wielded a mean yardstick and while blindfolded, tried to break the pinata, an established Spanish fiesta feature. Finally the pinata was broken, scattering candy which the faculty's children rapidly collected. On this happy note, International Night ended.

Why Only Good?

International Night was a success. It was colorful, gay, and well-attended. Tyler Auditorium took on the atmosphere of a fair—music, food, people milling around, barkers hawking their wares, and a general feeling of "something in the air."

The breaking of the pinata was the high point of the evening. This event captured the interest of young and old alike. The younger children thoroughly enjoyed the groping passes at the pinata, and the older ones in the audience enjoyed just watching their delight.

The total of these events was a good International Night. But why wasn't it a great International Night? The difference is spelled O-R-G-A-N-I-Z-A-T-I-O-N. Even the addition of a P. A. for the emcee would have shown a little foresight and planning. Not to mention the fact that some booths came down before the entertainment, and others immediately after. What happened to those people dropping in later in the evening?

There was a definite tone of "the party's over," considerably helped by deserted booths and litter on the floor.

We appreciate Tyler Board stepping in at the last minute to revive a dying event and commend them for it. But couldn't it have been a little sooner, and with more organization?

Orchids To You

We wish to extend a vote of thanks and praise to the people connected with the Lecture Concert Series for their work in obtaining what was such an enjoyable program for both college and townspeople as was Saturday evening's concert presented by the Cossacks.

Although many of the other programs of the series have been of equal worth, we wish to extend our appreciation especially for the Cossacks' performance and to those who worked to bring them here. Dr. Gunda Kaiser, committee chairman, we understand, did a great deal of the work, and Mrs. Edna Stewart and Mary Onapu helped to publicize the program. Orchids to you.

Do You Believe In Ghosts?

One day last week, the Detroit Free Press carried a UPI news release in which President Moise Tshombe of the Congo's Katanga Province told the United Nations why the body of slain Patrice Lumumba could not be dug up and delivered to his relatives for reburial. Said Tshombe: "Bantu (The Bantus are one of the largest tribal groups in Africa) tradition prohibits the uncovering, even for a few seconds, of a body covered by earth... Such action constitutes a serious insult to the memory of the deceased, whose soul may then haunt the survivors."

Much has been said recently on this campus about Africa's problems. They have been expounded upon from the chapel pulpit by preacher, lecturer, and visiting professor, and have been the subject of talks given to private groups and classes. Nor have all the words flowed from speaker to listeners. For listeners have discussed these issues with their speakers and among themselves.

We think this concern is commendable.

Never On Sundays

Why is it that the Tyler Student Center building is never open until afternoon on Sundays?

The building is buzzing all the other days of the week with bulletin-board-readers, short-cutters, studiers (!), TV-watchers, juke-box-listeners, coffee-break-takers, coke-drinkers, and just plain visitors.

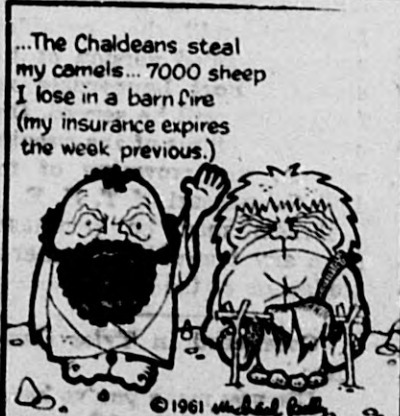

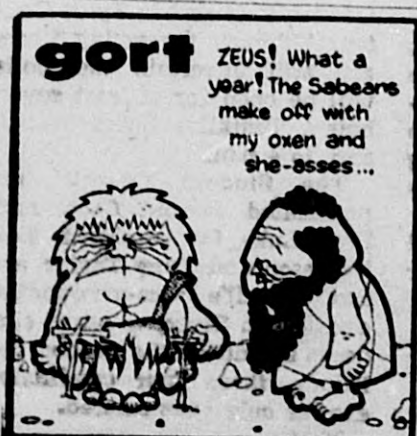

How many of these same people have been disappointed on a Sunday a.m. to find the Tyler doors locked?

If it could not be arranged so one could grab a cup of coffee Sunday mornings in the snack bar, couldn't something at least be done about opening the rest of the building?

Still Strand-ed, Though

We're pleased to report that letters concerning Alma's lack of a theater, including one from the Student Council, have been forwarded by the Alma Chamber of Commerce to the owner of the Strand wreckage.

Greek Gods To Frolic In May

Jean Giraudoux's Amphitryon 38 has been selected for presentation on May 2, 3, and 4. The play, translated and adapted by S. N. Behrman, will be a part of the Fine Arts Festival.

A comedy, Amphitryon 38 chronicles the escapades of two boisterous Greek gods, who have assumed human form and come to earth in search of excitement. The setting is ancient Greece, but the idiom is modern.

Auditions will be held early next week, but at almanian deadline time no time or place had yet been selected.

The German Club Booth was one of the most popular at International Night. Proposing a toast at the bar were Fritz Schulz, Siavash Negaran and Tony Taylor. Bartenders were Bill Westhauser and Khody Mazdai.

The operas are: The Marriage of Figaro, Don Giovanni, The Magic Flute, Madam Butterfly, Carmen and Il Trovatore. The event is sponsored by Tyler Board.

The talents of three directors are being utilized for this production. Phil Barrons, Bob Stredwick and Mr. Miner are acting in this capacity. Mr. Myron Fink is to be the accompanist and narrator.

Those singing in the production are: Lyn Salathiel, Bob Aranosian, John Kapp, Mr. Charles House, Jean Kimball, Ann Harris, Sue Bristol, Carolyn Keyes, Margie Ferguson and Sandra Solce. Miss Solce is a student of Northwood. Miss Harris and Miss Bristol are Alma alumni who are now teaching.

A special matinee benefit will be held on Saturday, March 25, at 1:30 in the afternoon. Admission is $3.00, and the proceeds will go to UNICEF, the UN commission for children.

Opportunities Available For Teaching Abroad

Seniors interested in teaching possibilities outside the United States should stop in at the Placement Office immediately concerning recent announcements received from S. E. Esser, Superintendent of Schools, Canal Zone, Panama and from R. Freeman Butts, Director of International Studies, Teachers College, Columbia University.

The Canal Zone openings are for elementary, secondary, and special education teachers. Those with teaching certificates and bachelor's degrees can start at $6000.

The Columbia University program is geared to the providing of teachers for East Africa. Academically strong seniors with certificates as well as those without certificates may qualify for one of the phases of the program. Interested people should contact the Placement Office as soon as possible.

Silent Weekend Ends Sorority Rush Activities

Sorority rushing is well under way, and Silent Weekend begins Sunday.

Sign-up for rush was held in the office of Mrs. Esther Vreeland, Dean of Women, on Friday, February 17. Teas of the three sororities, Alpha Sigma Tau, Alpha Theta, and Kappa Iota, were held Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons, February 21-23.

During the days February 28-March 1, each sorority presented a spread, which is an invitation costume event held late in the evening.

This week, the sororities presented desserts or dinners, another invitation event.

Silent Weekend, which begins Sunday, March 12, at 1 a.m., extends until Tuesday, March 14 at 6 a.m., the time at which bids are placed under the doors of the rushees. During this time there may be no association between sorority girls and rushees other than saying "hello."

Regulations such as Silent Weekend are those established by Panhellenic Council. President of the group is Joyce Grover of Alpha Theta. Secretary is Sue Scott, representing Alpha Sigma Tau, and treasurer is Ruth Kinkema, of Kappa Iota. Also in the group are two additional members from each sorority.

Kappa Iota and Alpha Theta are local sororities; Alpha Sigma Tau is a national.

AWS will hold elections Tuesday, March 14, in the basement lounge of Mary Gelston Hall. These are the nominations of the AWS Board: President, Judy L. Smith; vice president, Marilyn Rollins; Secretary, Carolyn Steward; and Treasurer, Mary Dinges. There will also be nominations from the floor.

from the Alma club. Before going to the floor of the convention, it was considerably shortened due to a limit of 750 words per plank. Thus reduced, it passed with much debate and several amendments. Other planks included those on Michigan Problems, Civil Rights, Labor, and Agriculture.

The Alma chapter had been host for a pre-convention meeting of the Federation on Wednesday evening, February 22. Represented at this meeting were Y R groups from Central Michigan University, Michigan State University, the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University, the University of Detroit, and Alma.

At this meeting there was a presentation of the two announced candidates for the chairmanship of the Federation. Each gave a speech outlining his platform and then answered questions from the floor.

Represented at the convention in Jackson were 26 schools, with a total of approximately 360 students.

Sing Along With . . . Well, Come And See

On Saturday night, March 18, at 8, the Student Council Song Fest will be held in Tyler Auditorium.

The Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity has entered an ensemble and a quartet. The Sig Tau's have entered an ensemble.

A quartet from Pioneer Hall will sing, and the Alpha Sigma Tau sorority has a trio entered in the competition. An ensemble will represent the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, and the Kappa Iota sorority will provide a quartet. The Alpha Theta sorority has two entries—an ensemble and a quartet.

A prize is offered for the best ensemble and another for the best trio or quartet. Last year, both prizes were won by the Alpha Theta's.

Proceeds From International Nite Going To W.U.S.

A total of $32.07 will go to an organization designed to help needy students—compliments of International Night. The proceeds from last Friday's program are to be sent to the World University Service (WUS), which uses its funds for emergency aid programs and educational projects in Asia, the Middle East, and Africa.

The money will go to the WUS through the Alma College Christian Fellowship (ACCF), which will choose its WUS project (it will be in one of the areas mentioned above) sometime in the near future. However, contact must first be made with the Chicago branch of the WUS.

Don Cossacks Chorus Provides Music, Humor

Funny Faces, Whistles, All Included In Evening Where Age Has No Limit

Twenty-three men appeared in the Alma High School Auditorium last Saturday evening and proved to the capacity audience how they had won their world-wide reputation.

The program of the General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers ranged from the soft and serious "Blessed Be the Lord" by Tchaikovsky to such gay numbers as Moussorgsky's "Song of the Flea."

With such variation in the selections performed, one could see the pace quickening and the chorus becoming more enjoyable with each number performed.

Appearing first in dark blue costumes in the typical Cossack fashion, the group donned lively red satin shirts after the first intermission and then white satin for the concluding group of numbers.

As the program progressed and the group showed their special skill in using humor and interplay with the audience, distinct personalities among the singers were identified. The use of many and fine solos made each individual personality all the more appreciable.

Not many who saw the program will forget Mr. A. Holub, who sang the tenor solo in "Ochitchornia" ("Dark Eyes"), Mr. N. Reva, the marvelous basso-profundo, the comic bass baritone, G. Dubrovsky and his whistling, or other favorites of the crowd.

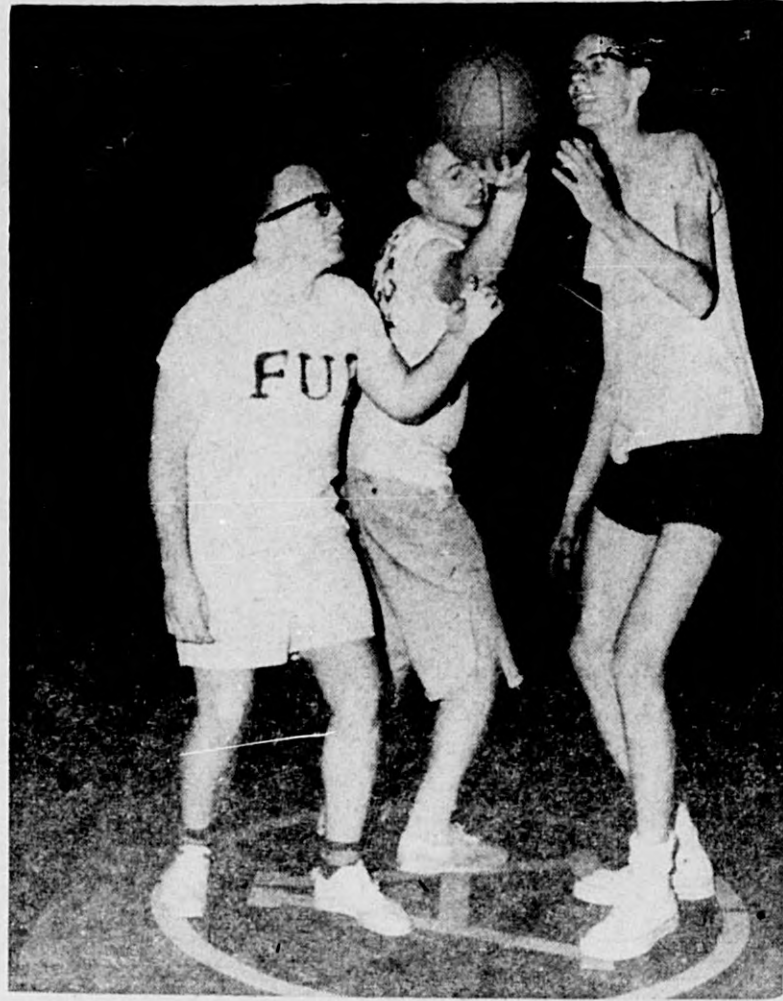

The audience seemed to be very appreciative, a fact which was honored by a special number added to the program by the Cossacks.

Audience members were especially delighted with the dancing numbers, Lezginka, the amazing Dagger Dance of G. Soloduhin, and "Kozatchok," a popular dance of the Don Cossacks, which concluded their program.

The Cossack group, which has been singing together all over the world for over thirty years, still seems to possess a fine command of showmanship. Their voices may have aged somewhat, but they haven't lost the "touch," according to the general consensus of their audience.

The performance of the chorus and dancers was a program of the college Lecture-Concert series. The next event will be April 22, featuring Theodore Ullmann, pianist.

AROUND THE CAMPUS . . .

Tyler Board attended a meeting on February 22, 1961, at Mt. Pleasant, of the Student Union Boards of Central Michigan University and Ferris Institute.

CMU will host the Fall of 1961 Student Union Regional Conference, which includes the Association of College Unions' members in Michigan and Ohio. Alma College will help in planning the program and discussion areas which will be offered.

Tyler Board enjoyed a tour of the new student union building at CMU, which was opened last September.

Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity's new officers for the coming year are as follows: John Rowland, president; Dick Lee, vice-president; Bob Smith, Treasurer; Donn Neal, secretary; Chris Campbell, house manager; Jack Osborne, sergeant-at-arms; Dave Eldred, pledgemaster.

The officers were sworn in Tuesday, Feb. 28 at the regular meeting of the fraternity. They will assume office immediately, and continue in this capacity until next spring.

This Sunday evening, March 12, at 6:30, the Rev. George Gillette will speak at the vespers service in Dunning Chapel on the topic, "I Am the Vine." This service is one of the special Lenten services, all of which focus on "I Am . . ." Biblical quotations.

Alma College's school physician, Dr. Clarence Hoogerland, is currently on vacation in Florida. He left by plane on Thursday, February 23. Hoogerland will return to Alma on Monday, March 12. He has not been feeling up to par recently, and felt the need of a rest.

Dr. Keith Stackhouse, a young Alma physician, has relieved Dr. Hoogerland during his absence. Stackhouse is a graduate of Michigan State University and Northwestern medical school in Chicago. He has practiced medicine in Alma since last July.

"Seniors interested in marketing positions for next year might wish to take advantage of the 4th Annual Marketing Careers Conference being held in Chicago on April 14 and 15 at the Palmer House," states Harlan R. McCall, Director of Placement.

The main purpose of this conference is to provide interview opportunities with companies who do not send representatives to the college campuses.
