Students can glimpse at capital through workshop

The Washington Workshop for students will be held in Washington, D.C. from March 17-22, 1968. The Workshop, to be conducted by Dr. John J. Agria, consists of a series of seminars and interviews with members and staff of Congress, the Administration and interest groups.

The purpose of the Workshop is to give the participants a firsthand glimpse of the processes and politics of the national government. Scheduled for the workshop, thus far, are a Viet Nam briefing at the State Department, a tour of federal urban renewal projects, and interviews with representatives of AFL-CIO and National Association of Manufacturers. Last year, 21 people connected with the federal government or interest groups assisted in the Workshop. The students participated in 13 seminars two with lobbyists, one with an independent research organization, six with members of Congress or staff, and four with executive agencies. This year's Workshop will be as busy and varied.

Students interested in participating should pick up an application from Dr. Agria, Old Main 302A. All students are invited to apply. Expenses will be covered by a grant. Deadline for application is February 15, 1968.

Garrison to discuss his experiences in Nigerian school

A description of his experience as a faculty member at Mayflower School in Ikenne, Nigeria, will be given at an Alma College convocation Wednesday, Jan. 31, by Edward R. Garrison, Alma senior from Christiansted, St. Croix, Virgin Islands.

Garrison, Alma College's African Fellow during the 1966-67 academic year, will present his slide-illustrated talk in the college's Dow Auditorium at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday.

Alma College's African Fellowship Program makes it possible

each year for a student to serve in Nigeria. The fellowship provides, in addition to round-trip transportation, a monthly subsistence allowance and an additional sum to enable the teaching volunteer to tour other parts of Africa. Juniors are selected for the assignment because they have an opportunity to share their experience with fellow Alma College students when they return.

Mayflower School, with grades corresponding to those from seven to twelve in the United States, has a student body of approximately 450 and a faculty of 25.

DISCUSS "ARROGANCE OF POWER"

'Foreign Policy Origins' is first seminar

The first session of the American Foreign Policy seminar which will center on the general themes, problems, and topics discussed by Senator Fulbright in his book Arrogance of Power will be held Wednesday evening, January 31, 1968, at 8 p. m. in LG 10.

The topic for this session will be "The Roots of American Foreign Policy" and it is anticipated that discussion will focus on the first two chapters of the Fulbright volume.

The principal speaker will be Prof. M. J. J. Smith, Dean Frank Jackson and Chaplain Neil Berry will be discussants. Prof. Kolb will "moderate" the session.

Although the seminars are being held in connection with Alma's winter term all-college reading selection, Fulbright's 'Arrogance of Power', the programs are open to the public at no charge.

Topics of the five sessions will be:

January 21: The Roots and Sources of American Foreign Policy (Introduction and Chapters 1, 2)

February 7: The U.S. and Revolution in Latin America (Chapters 3, 4)

February 14: The U.S. and Revolution in Asia (Chapters 5, 6, 7)

February 21: Foreign Policy, Morality, and Human Nature (Chapter 8 and other selections)

February 28: The U.S. and the Cold War (Chapter 9 through conclusion)

Each program will feature a speaker from the Alma College faculty, comments by two discussants, additional comments or rebuttal by the speaker, and questions and discussion from the floor.

A.C. sponsors bio fellowships

Students from eight colleges in Michigan and eleven states throughout the midwest are being invited to apply for fellowships in Alma College's 1968 undergraduate biological research participation program.

The program, financed by a National Science Foundation grant, will permit four students to work full time on research projects under the direction of Alma biology staff members Dr. Arlan Edgar and Dr. Rowald Kapp.

Opportunity for pollen analysis research analysis with Dr. Kapp will be offered for one or two students this summer. In addition, Dr. Kapp will supervise research activities of a student in the area of experimental plant ecology. This student will follow survival of seedlings in a Newaygo County prairie management tract throughout the summer and will study soil conditions in forest and prairie sites near the tract.

One or two other students will work with Dr. Edgar on research involving the effects of air pollution on invertebrates.

Recipients of the fellowships will be determined on the basis of academic performance, scholastic aptitude, professional objectives, coursework completed, class standing, previous research experience for the student.

Application must be submitted to Dr. Kapp at Alma College by February 15. Fellowship recipients will be announced in March.

Robert C. Taber, a junior from Midland, is the 1967-68 African Fellow from Alma College. Preceding Taber were Jerry Smith of Nashville, Thomas Auer of East Lansing, and Conrad Smith of Coldwater.

As a result of contacts with the first three fellows, a former Mayflower student, Olugbenga Oredin, came to Alma as a student and is now a sophomore. Oredin, whose parents raise kola nuts and cocoa, is only the second youth from his village to go overseas.

VIEWPOINT

PERPETUAL WAR?

The seizure of the U.S.S. Pueblo by North Koreans sharply illustrates the frustrations involved with waging limited war in Southeast Asia.

The war in Vietnam has often been compared with the Korean police action of the early 1950's. Although military tactics differ and the facade of United Nations supervision is absent, Americans fight in Vietnam for allegedly the same reason as in Korea: the "containment" of communism.

Furthermore, at this point few Americans can foresee any settlement to the Vietnamese war other than a settlement similar to the Korean truce. Indeed, Presidential advisors like McGeorge Bundy stated long ago a negotiated settlement was the goal in Vietnam.

But when there is not formal end to a war, such as in Korea, hostilities may resume any time either side desires. When a truce and armistice commission replaces a concrete settlement, tensions do not subside and international incidents -- such as the capture of the Pueblo -- are everpresent threats.

We believe the example of the Pueblo very disconcerting for men who are fighting in Vietnam and the many who have yet to fight. Instead of fighting "a war to end all wars," these men fight a war to perpetuate war -- with intermissions of peace.

We fervently hope for an acceptable diplomatic settlement to the Pueblo incident. Experience in Vietnam has shown that, once begun, military action is hard to stop. Senator J.W. Fulbright, noting the similarities between the Gulf of Tonkin Incident (which led to direct United States action in Vietnam) and the Pueblo affair, is urging the United States not to act precipitously. We second that move.

CAMPUS NOTES

Tommies shade Alma 83-80

by John Toland

Despite an exciting come-from-behind effort, the Alma basketball team was shaded by Aquinas 83-80 Friday night. It was a tough one for the Scots to lose, but it did not affect their position in the MIAA race, as it was a non-conference game.

The Tommies pulled ahead early in the game 11-10 and by intermission held a 39-30 lead.

After the locker room breather however, the Scots battled their way back with the use of a full court press. With 15:25 left in the game Al Vandermeer scored a lay-up to knot the game at 44-44.

Aquinas then seized the momentum and quickly stoked up a 9 point edge, but again the Scots fought their way back. Vandermeer once more tied the game when his lay-up made the score 77-77.

In the closing minutes of the game Alma's team found itself trailing again 80-78 and had to go into a gambling defense. In doing so they fouled Aquinas' Cliff Gordon, and the guard converted three free throws to ice the game.

Al Vandermeer and Charlie Hudson were high men for Alma with 16 points apiece. Drake Serges and Gordon Hetrick followed with 14 and 11 tallies respectively.

A.C. WOMEN LOSE BASKETBALL

CONTEST WITH DELTA COLLEGE

Tuesday night A.C.'s women's basketball team lost an away game with Delta College 31-10.

Besides Miss Christoffers, who plays forward, starters on the Alma squad include Jeanne Lucas of Twinning, forward; Susan Keever of Grosse Pointe, rover; Susan Scott of Dearborn, rover; Marsha Campbell of Haslett, guard; and Nancy Brookfield of Syracuse, N. Y., guard.

Other team members are: Lynda Smith, Syracuse, N. Y.; Nancy Orne, Webster, N. Y.; Julia Malpass, East Jordan; Ellen Vandevise, Grand Rapids; Marcia Pappas, Manistique; Margo Gelston, Traverse City; and Susan Cook, Bay City.

Remaining games on the Alma schedule are: Feb. 7, Delta College, Feb. 8, at Kalamazoo College; Feb. 13, Olivet College; Feb. 21 at Central Michigan University.
