

Six Alma Representatives Attend United Nations Forum

by Brian Hampton
On Thursday afternoon, November 16, six Alma College students traveled to New York City to participate in a national student forum discussing "Nineteen Sixty-One, United Nations Year of Crisis." When the students returned last Sunday after traveling well over 1,000 miles and spending a week-end in our nation's business capital, they reported many interesting experiences. Originally, officials of the UN who extended invitations to various colleges throughout the United States anticipated the attendance of 500 students. However, more than 2,000 representing all but three states in the union arrived in New York for the weekend.

Friday afternoon ambassadors to the UN General Assembly from Nigeria, Ireland, and the Philippines came especially to the Commodore Hotel and spoke to the students about the history, the function, and the important role of "the world organization." The Philippine delegate was one of the original charter members of the 16-year-old federation of nations and was also a co-author of its charter.

When the assembly met again at 5:30 after a short recess, the sparks really began to fly. The Councilor Advisor on Economic Affairs to the permanent mission of the Soviet Delegation spoke for several minutes and then answered questions.
"Why did the USSR break the diplomatic agreement with the US to at least temporarily halt nuclear testing? Has the Soviet Union directly informed the Russian people of the ill effects of fallout?"

Although the Soviet delegate was quite fluent (he would obviously have to be) he wasn't easily able to justify his country's action. He contended first of all that the dangers of radioactive fallout have been much overemphasized by Western scientists and secondly that military security transcends any resulting harmful effects. He also seemed to imply that his countrymen were somehow aware of the undesirability of a lot of fallout in the atmosphere.

When someone asked why so many East Germans have fled to West Germany, the college group broke out into whistles, cheers, and applause. The Eastern representative in turn asked the students if they had heard of the large number of Westerners who defected to the East. He didn't say that there were any, but he did ask.
Friday evening at a banquet in the Empire State Building the Director of Public Service of the American mission officially greeted the students.

Saturday morning the entire body toured the spacious United Nations Building. That afternoon back in the ballroom of the hotel the whole affair was climaxed by the appearance of the Prime Minister of the second most populated country in the world, Indian Prime Minister Nehru (He was in the US conversing with President Kennedy.) As a result of his speech and the questions and answers that followed Mr. Nehru made several points clear. First of all there is no See—United Nations—page 3

Lloyd, Council Outline Policy

Following are the policies as agreed upon by Mr. Barry Lloyd and a Student Council committee in the fall of 1961:
Any campus organization wishing a meal served must make their reservation of Van Dusen Lounge or the Highlander Room with Mr. Guile Graham. Miss Alicia deLeon will handle any room reservations to be made for Tyler. All menu planning will be with Lloyd. If a room is not needed, the organization's representative may go to Lloyd directly to plan the menu. It is to be understood that the food will be paid for according to the arrangement made at that time, be it by cash or work. It is best if all menus, requests and agreements be made in writing.
It is possible for small groups of students to make arrangements to eat regular meals outside of the commons if a three- or four-day notice is given. A request for the food needed should be presented in writing to Lloyd, along with the names of the students participating, if possible. If the menu drawn up can be from the regularly scheduled meal and will not cost over that amount, the students will not have to pay extra for this service. Students may check out steaks only on Saturday after 3 p.m. without the regular four-day notice.
Linens, candleholders, pitchers, and some other supplies may be borrowed by campus groups. These supplies must be checked out in Lloyd's office. Cooking utensils may not leave the kitchen.
During the week of final examinations, the kitchen will be open and a table set up for students to make sandwiches and other snacks for late studying. The last meal before a vacation students may make up sandwiches to eat on their way home. At other times students will be expected to pay for such extras.

Sons and daughters of Alma College alumni have met together for the past several years to become acquainted with each other and also to become acquainted with faculty members who are Alma College graduates.

Mr. Guile J. Graham, who graduated from Alma College in the class of 1948 and is now Director of College and Community Relations, cordially invites all students whose parents attended Alma College to this year's dinner get-together in the Highlander Room. It will be held on Wednesday, November 29, at 6 p.m. with Professor Charles Skinner serving as Master of Ceremonies.

Plan 2-Day Tour To Detroit Area

On December 2 the band, choir, Kiltie Lassies, Bag Pipers and Alma Singers are taking a two-day trip.

At 7 p.m. they will appear at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Livonia. On Sunday morning they will appear at the 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. services at the Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church in Dearborn. The last stop they will make will be on Sunday night at the Drayton Avenue Presbyterian Church at 7:30 p.m. in Ferndale.

Some of the numbers included in the program of the choir will be "Missa in Honorem" by Edmund Rubbra, a contemporary English composer; "O, Clap Your Hands" for chorus, organ and brass by Ralph Vaughan Williams, and a group of Christmas selections.

The Kiltie Lassies will perform the Highland Fling plus others like "Floor MacDonald's Fancy," etc.

This year's trip will be shorter than usual so that students won't have to miss classes. An extended trip has been planned during spring vacation in the first week of April. During this trip the choir plans to visit major cities in Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

CAPTIVE AUDIENCE

Alma Students Dropped Cards And Clapped

by Millie Howe
"I'm so glad you could come this morning," was the closing humorous thought of Dr. Maurice A. Crane, the MSU professor who spoke to a capacity crowd of attendance-hard-holding students and a few excused, but interested, students at Convocation Thursday morning.

Crane spoke on the topic "In Search of a Twelve-Foot Tree," which relates to the Cub Scout system of handing out merit badges for things that boys naturally do, such as climbing twelve feet in a tree, walking a rail, etc.

In summary, although a summary cannot do justice to the speaker or his talk, Crane said: "(1) We take what is and make it meritorious, (2) We're in love with our own map of the universe and would rather move mountains than change our map, and (3) There is the all-American sin of the ability to beat the rap."

He used many meaningful and humorous examples to carry out this theme. For example, we study for tests instead of for courses; we show our friends baby's picture instead of baby.

Crane's talk was followed by the applause of a truly appreciative audience who momentarily let go of their attendance cards.

The Academic Affairs Committee of Student Council has undertaken a study of the present chapel system. The Dean of the college, who is also dissatisfied with the present system, has asked this committee to formulate a set of recommendations which the students propose in regard to obtaining a more desirable chapel system.

Therefore, we come to the student body and ask that the students formulate their complaints into written recommendations. It is the hope of the committee that the students will use this opportunity to help develop a chapel system which will fulfill their wants and which they will support.

These recommendations should cover not only the attendance policies, but should also cover the whole scope of the place of the chapel in the life of Alma College.

These recommendations should be turned into the Student Council office in Tyler Center. This is just the beginning, and we need the support of the student body if we are to bring about a more effective chapel policy.

The Academic Affairs Committee will appreciate any assistance given us.

Respectfully,
Larry Woodcox
Chairman, Academic Affairs Committee of Student Council

'John Brown's Body' Opens Tonight As New Type Production For AC

Concert Reading Of Poetry And 16-Member Chorus Provides 'Very Effective And Exciting Stage Piece'

The production of "John Brown's Body," opening tonight, marks the advent of a relatively new type of production here.

Concert reading of poems has been done before, but never on his scale, according to Mr. Paul Storey, director.

This kind of production was made popular a number of years ago by Paul Gregory, who toured the country with his trio and quartet doing "John Brown's Body" and other selections.

The Gregory group used both scripts and lecterns, which is less dramatic than this college production. Storey commented that there are places in which characterizations are held long enough for a dramatic scene, although there are no props, costumes, or sets.

Shh! A Secret -- 'Operation 61'

The Entertainment Committee of Tyler Board, headed by Ann Timmons, Roscommon freshman, and Sally Stough, Detroit sophomore, has announced that "Operation '61'" will be held tomorrow afternoon from 2-4 p.m. in Tyler Auditorium.

Due to the fact that the Entertainment Committee would Those interested in a trip to Detroit or Lansing on December 8, please see Miss Alicia deLeon. This would be an evening of dining, dancing, and theater. Since transportation would be a factor, please let her know as soon as possible.

"Pops 'n' Pop," the band concert last Sunday evening, proved such a success that a tape recording of the event will be played tomorrow afternoon at 2 in Tyler Auditorium.

like to keep the details about "Operation '61'" a secret, all that can be said about it is that it is something new and different, something that has never been held on the Alma campus before.

Everyone attending "Operation '61'" is urged to wear old clothes and bring 10 cents.

The idea for "Operation '61'" was obtained last year at a conference held at Ohio State University.

The success of "Operation '61'" according to the committee, depends on the students. If it is successful, it may be held twice a year from now on.

The women will wear floor-length gowns and the men will wear dinner jackets because this is the most attractive type of contemporary dress.

Speaking of the poetry in the play, Storey said, "For the most part, literary critics agree this is by no means a great poem, but I think the characters that do emerge are sufficiently interesting....that it becomes a very effective and exciting stage piece."

The sixteen-member chorus, directed by Dr. Ernest Sullivan, are a novel device in the dramatic production. Furnishing background noises and speaking lines in unison, the chorus regularly hums theme music or sings. Paul Bergman, tenor, Karen Otwell, contralto, and Linda Bobison, soprano, have chorale solos.

"John Brown's Body" will be staged at 8 tonight in Tyler Auditorium. There is no admission charge.

Comments Of Ghanan Frosh

Thomas Ohene - YeBoah, Ghana freshman, arrived in the United States three months ago. In New York he was oriented to the United States with a group of international students. This program of orientation was sponsored by the Presbyterian Church.

Thomas likes to read, collect stamps, listen to classical music, and work in youth camps. His favorite reading material is adventure stories.

In Ghana Thomas took a correspondence course in general studies from Oxford College, Oxford, England.

Thomas has studied English since he began elementary school. In Ghana, English is taught along with all native languages. There are 64 dialects of the native language in Ghana; therefore, English is often used as a common language among the natives.

Thomas finds our school system quite different from the English system in Ghana. Our policy of mixing the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and seniors together in one class is especially new to him. In Ghana all of the freshmen meet together and so on up through the rest of the grades. The teachers move from class to class while the students remain situated in one location. Thomas believes that he is not well enough acquainted with our system to say which one he prefers.

Thomas said that there are many students in Ghana who want to come to the United States to study. These people have a difficult time in coming because of the government restrictions that a person must prove his financial ability to support himself before he is given permission to leave Ghana.

"Americans are a very friendly and hardworking people," said Thomas, and he is extremely happy that everyone here is very friendly and interested in Ghana and her problems.

The almanian made its weekly sacrifice to the overabundance-of-copy god Tuesday evening in the form of Bruce Gleason's "What is NSA?" column, Brian Hampton's "Grab Your Coat and Run," and a fine cross-country team picture.

izens? And what are the real angers and concerns of the millions of professed Christians who every week flock to their beautiful sanctuaries to complacently and sour-facedly worship a sedate and somewhat anemic god?

Why aren't we angry? Who knows? But why worry about it? After all, practically no one else is angry either.

I just want to add one more thing. Someday those who come after us may look back with disbelief, and probably pity and/or great anger and condemnation, at this age of ours, calling it one of indifference and complacency- when it could have been and should have been quite gloriously active. It seems to me that it's up to us to carefully examine these times and ourselves, finding out why we are so unpassionate, so grayly indifferent.
And having found out, let's see what we can do to rub out this grayness, making it sharp and keen with deep anger, concern, and joy (if basis for such may be found).

And seeing what can be done, let's do it.

1st 'Great Books' Talk

Begins Successful Series

If any one happened to pass by Tyler Lounge last Sunday afternoon sometime between 3 and 4, they witnessed a group of about thirty persons seated around the fireplace listening with an occasional burst of laughter to the first speaker in the new "Great Book Series."

Speaking to the group of laughers was Mr. Lawrence Porter. He was informally discussing and reading selections from THURBER CARNI-VAL, a book containing excerpts from the work of the late American humorist, James Thurber.

Miss Alicia de Leon, Student Activities Director, spoke of the success of the new series.
"It was fabulous," she said.
"It went over well; there was a lot of spontaneous reaction to Thurber's humor, as well as to Porter's presentation of his works."

Miss deLeon, in speaking of the future of the series, said:
"The lecture proved to be a success; it was enjoyable as well as interesting. Another lecture will be given in the very near future, and we hope that people will come to the next lecture and get what they missed this time."

After the presentation, cookies and coffee were served, and the group quite informally discussed ideas which had arisen during the talk.

Comets Streak By Scots In '61 Season Closer

Olivet's inspired Comets ran the Scotsmen off the football field last Saturday. Olivet beat the Alma gridders 26-6 in the final MIAA game for both teams. Olivet capitalized on a few breaks, rolled up a quick 14-0 halftime lead, and maintained their edge in rolling to their seventh victory in eight games.

The game was scoreless until the waning moments of the first half. With defensive ends Ken Renaud and Jerry Chaffin both out of the ballgame for the Scots, Olivet began to move on end sweeps. Their first thrust deep into Alma's territory was thwarted, and Alma took over.

A fumble in the end zone four plays later started the Scots' downfall. Chuck McPhail, defensive lineman, fell on the fumble for an Olivet touchdown. Danny Dinoff kicked the extra point.

Olivet scored a second touchdown minutes later as Larry Spencer carried the ball around right end for the nine-yard score with :00 seconds remaining in the half. Dinoff again converted and Olivet led 14-0.

Olivet opened the scoring in the third quarter when Tom Nesbitt, who rushed for 108 yards during the afternoon, ran around end again for a six-yard touchdown. The extra point was no good.

Alma scored its lone touchdown in the fourth quarter when Lou Economou carried the ball ten yards through the middle of Olivet's line for the score. The extra-point try to end Jim Greenlees was no good.

Olivet closed out the scoring midway in the fourth quarter when quarterback Forrest Bone threw a 30-yard pass to Larry Melendy, who legged it into the end zone to complete a 78-yard scoring play. The conversion play was no good, and the game ended with Olivet the winner, 26-6.

Alma finished the season in third place with a 2-3 MIAA record. Albion won the league championship with a perfect 5-0 record, and Olivet was second with a 4-1 record.

Men's Volleyball Really Swinging

Intramural volleyball is in full swing. Already in its second week of competition, it will continue until the end of the semester. The games are played in Memorial Gymnasium on most week days starting at 5:30 p.m. and continuing thru the last games which start at 9:30.

As in intramural football there are two leagues, A and B. The A league is composed of seven teams which are vying for a trophy and points toward the All-Sports Trophy. The 14

Slodowske Leads Harriers To 1st Victory Saturday

A fine team effort by the Alma College Harriers earned them their first victory of the 1961 cross-country season. The victory came in the last meet of the regular season as the Scots downed the Olivet Comets, 21-36, last Saturday.

The meet was run during the football game between the two schools, and finished at half-time in front of the stadium at Bahlke Field.

Co-captain Warren Slodowske commented that "it was the best team effort I've seen in four years of running." Co-captain Jerry Smith added, "Everyone tried as hard as they could, and all of our runners beat Olivet's fifth man." The course was over four

CROSS COUNTRY

Calvin Champs, Alma Sixth

The Calvin Knights won their fourth straight MIAA cross-country title Tuesday in a league meet run at Olivet.

Sheridan Shaffer of Hope took first place with a winning time of 22 minutes, 50.3 seconds. The next four places were captured by Calvin runners, enabling them to post a winning score of 24 points.

Alma placed sixth with a total of 154 points. Co-captains Jerry Smith and Warren Slodowske placed 14th and 12th respectively.

STUDENT COUNCIL

November 14, 1961 The meeting was called to order; the invocation was given. The minutes were read and corrected. The Treasurer reported a balance of $649.38 on hand.

The President made several announcements. He has scheduled office hours Monday through Thursday from 4-5 p.m. in the Student Council office in Tyler. The various Council committees are to have their minutes and a list of their members to the Secretary by Tuesday, November 21. It was moved and seconded that Gunnar Gudjonson become Chairman of the Student National Affairs Committee. The motion was passed.

After a meeting with Dean Boyd, the Academic Affairs Committee reports progress on the possibility of having the Sunday library hours extended to include 7-11 p.m.; on a clarification of the Chapel system; and on the possibility for students to be on the Reading Program committee. A motion was made and carried that the Academic Affairs Committee send a chain letter to various colleges inquiring about their book stores.

The International Affairs Committee accrued $40 from the sale of Christmas cards. The meal was a success and will provide room and board for the foreign student.

The Buildings and Grounds Committee is investigating the possibility of having washers, driers and refrigerators installed in the new dorms. Reports from the special committees were as follows: Hal Waller read several recommendations from the Homecoming Committee and will represent

Council on an all-campus committee also concerned with these problems; the Health Service Committee needs more support from the students and desires that the students sign the complaint sheets that are circulating; the Food Service Committee reached an agreement with Saga whereby students may obtain stipulated picnic foods, but that the rules established by the administration and known through the dorm Social Chairmen still stand.

Brian Hampton gave his summary of the Regional USNSA conference. It was moved, seconded and passed that Council allot $65 for 5 delegates to be sent to the Mock U.N. Conference at North Carolina University on February 15, 16, and 17.

The meeting was adjourned. Respectfully submitted, Jeanne Cook Recording Secretary
