ART CENTER CONSTRUCTION BEGINS

Artist's conception of what the Clack Art Center will look like upon completion.

An extensive remodeling project, converting Alma College's Memorial Gymnasium for use as an art center, began this week and is expected to be completed early in June.

Architect for the project is Sarvis Associates of Battle Creek, and the general contractor is Granger Construction Co. of Lansing. Cost of construction will be in excess of $500,000.

Memorial Gymnasium, completed in 1922, was used as center for physical education and athletic activities at Alma until 1968 when the college's new Physical Education Center was opened.

The renovated building will be named the Clack Art Center, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. (Lee) Clack, alumni of the college who with their four children were killed in a Pacific Ocean airplane crash in November, 1957.

Mr. Clack graduated from Alma summa cum laude in 1942; and his wife, the former Ann Carter of Marquette, received her bachelor's degree magna cum laude in 1943. His father, the late Dr. Robert Clack of Midland, was registrar and professor of mathematics and astronomy at Alma College from 1924 to 1954.

Remodeling of the former Memorial Gymnasium will provide facilities for a wide range of art projects and instruction, as well as office space for members of the college Art Department faculty.

The ground floor of the Clack Art Center will include a lecture room with seating for 52 persons and a projection booth

BRUSKE GOES BACK TO KEYS

Bruske Hall will be back on the key system next term, following action by the Student Affairs Committee to do away with the proctor system for that particular dormitory, at least for the remainder of this academic year. The problem with the newly-incurred system was that, because of the relatively low number of upperclass women living in Bruske Hall, each woman was obligated to spend an average of 4.8 nights per year staying up to proctor.

With the addition last year of all sophomore women to the number of women with optional hours, the proctor system was substituted for the previously used key system, primarily for security reasons. This means that each girl in Gelston and Newberry must proctor for one night each term; in Bruske, though, each girl was obligated to proctor more than one time per term. The change will be in effect for Bruske Hall for winter and spring term, with the details of the key system worked out by Mr. Southern.

The Student Affairs Committee met at their regular time on November 24, but had only the request for the change in business and therefore adjourned after ten minutes.

Six Alma Students Nominated for Fellowships

By Linda Oswalt

Six seniors at Alma College were recently nominated for fellowships for graduate study. Richard Thurston, William Polderman, William Rigsbee, Larry Nelsen, Joan Westgate, and Rod MacDonald are candidates for the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, which extends stipends to those having a definite interest in college teaching. Richard Thurston and Rod MacDonald are also nominated for the Danforth Fellowship. The nominations were made by members of the faculty.

Emphasis is placed on the individual's dedication to a 'scholarly life' and his interest in sharing this life with students. Candidates wishing to continue study in the fields of Humanities and Social Sciences are generally sought by the foundation although, upon demonstration of a serious interest in college teaching, students in the Natural Sciences and Mathematics may be accepted. Pre-Law and Pre-Medical graduates are not eligible. Also, only residents of the U.S. and Canada are considered; 300 receive a fellowship every year.

The overall purpose of the program is to "attract outstanding men and women to the academic profession." Assisted by Ford Foundation funds, a living stipend of $2,000 is extended to the fellow and an additional $1,000 covers tuition and fees for the first year of graduate study. In the case of the married fellow, $1,000 for the first child and $250 per additional

ALMANIAN VIEWPOINT

Let's Eliminate Unnecessary Lines

We were warned last year that we would spend more time waiting in line for meals because the students decided to do away with "served meals." We of course appreciate the fact that it takes longer to serve people one at a time than to lay out food on the tables for a group of eight or so. However the convenience of being able to eat anytime within the hour instead of at one set time out weighed these other problems.

However, we wonder at the wisdom of making the line situation even worse by closing down Van Dusen Commons on Sunday. The student population is larger this year than it ever has been in the history of Alma College. And yet last year Van Dusen was open for Sunday dinner and supper. Although administrators deny it a good number of Alma's students leave the campus on weekends, hence no need for meals to be served in both commons. Most students have returned, though, by Sunday dinner and especially by Sunday supper. We wonder how can Saga expect to serve almost the entire campus in just one dining hall.

Of course there was an exceptional crowd this past weekend because of final exam week, but this should have been expected and the appropriate plans made.

We are not sure where the blame lies, either with Saga or the administration, but something MUST be done before the beginning of Winter term if we students are not to feel like hurried animals at feeding time on Sunday noons and evenings.

Pre - Professional Traineeships Available from Devereux

Students are invited to apply now for the 1971 Summer Pre-Professional Traineeships at the Devereux Schools, a group of residential multidisciplinary, treatment, remedial education and rehabilitation centers. Interested students are offered a unique supervised work-study experience, usually working as a trainee with children, adolescents and young adults presenting problems of mental retardation or of personal adjustment. Applicants should be juniors, seniors, or beginning graduate students by next summer.

At the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania branch, summer traineeships are available for appointment as a Research Aide, Professional Aide, Resident Camp Counselor and Day Camp Counselor/Tutor. Other locations of Devereux branches where traineeships are available are: North Anson, Maine; Santa Barbara, California; Hot Springs, Arkansas; Victoria, Texas; Rutland, Massachusetts. The deadline for filing applications is January 15, 1971 and acceptances will be announced by February 15, 1971.

Tax exempt training stipends of up to $200 per month and room and board for a 2-3 month period are offered to unmarried qualified applicants who are U.S. citizens. Trainees can count on the entire amount of the tax exempt stipend (from $375-$600) with no deductions. The traineeships are supported, in part, by a grant from the U.S. Rehabilitation Services Administration and are designed to provide an orientation to career opportunities for work with the mentally retarded and the emotionally disturbed in special education and vocational rehabilitation, in psychological services, in related areas of mental health and in service-orientated research in these fields.

The Traineeships cover a full-time period of training combined with applied service-orientated work experience and observation of on-the-spot "milieu therapy." Depending upon their functional roles, some trainees will have an opportunity for work experience directly with the emotionally disturbed. Trainees who do not have direct contact with the children will assist the staff as Professional Aides and as Research Aides in many behind-the-scene activities and in related research and "writing."

Further information on the Summer Pre-Professional Traineeships and application blanks are available from Dr. Henry Platt, Director, The Devereux Foundation Institute for Research and Training, Devon Pennsylvania 19333.

BONBRIGHT, CAREY, NISBET, AND BRAZELL ARE NOT JUST NAMES

by Debra Beery

"The new dorms were named for four outstanding trustees, Bonbright, Carey, Nisbet, and Brazell, whose individual and combined leadership of the board for an era in the life of the college deserves to be memorialized," says Dr. Robert Swanson, president of the college. All four men hold doctoral degrees from Alma, further indication of their service to the college.

Unit A, now Carl Bonbright Hall, bears the name of a man who has been a member of the Board of Trustees for 45 years, having replaced his father on the Board in 1921. When Mr. Bonbright became a member of the board, Alma had 294 students and total assets of $900,000. Today Alma has more than 1,300 students and total assets of $18,000,000. In an article written in the winter 1968 edition of the ALMA COLLEGE PERSPECTIVE, Mr. Bonbright speaks of his years of service to the college. "Trusteeship is an honored position requiring one to put forth time and effort to discharge the responsibilities inherent in dedicated stewardship." The naming of a residence hall in his honor is a fitting way to show appreciation to Mr. Bonbright for his years of dedicated service to Alma College.

Carey Hall, formerly Unit B, is named in honor of Walter Carey who has served on the Board of Trustees for 18 years. Mr. Carey served as president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States from 1964-1965, and established the Task Force on Economic Growth and Opportunity in 1964 which was dedicated to aid disadvantaged persons in the United States. Mr. Carey says, "One of the great satisfactions in life comes from helping provide others the opportunity of personal development--such as a college education." He has evidenced his dedication to helping provide others the opportunity of personal development in all his altruistic endeavors, particularly at Alma College.

Unit C is named for Reid Brazell, member of the Board of Trustees for 28 years. Mr. Brazell is associated with Leonard Refineries as Chairman of the Board. He has served as a commissioner of the Michigan Department of Economic Development. Mr. Brazell served the college for eight years from 1962-1970 as Chairman of the Board of Trustees and has been instrumental in Alma's growth over the past few years.

Stephen Nisbet, for whom Unit D is named, has been a trustee for 26 years. From 1952-1962, Mr. Nisbet served as president of the board. The Nisbet family's association with Alma College began in 1888, two years after the founding of the school when Mr. Nisbet's parents were students. Mr. Nisbet himself graduated from Alma in 1919; his two sons and a grandson have also attended Alma. In speaking about the growth of the college he has witnessed, Mr. Nisbet says, "It has been a great satisfaction to see Alma's progress in education and its pre-professional training program. The emergence of Alma College in the last ten years as evidenced by its building program, the building of a strong professional faculty, the influx of students with a high degree of motivation for superior work, the excellent participation of interested alumni in the Alma program, have all combined to place Alma College in an enviable position in the competitive world of education."

W.C. Fields Opens Winter Term With "Bank Dick" Jan. 4

To help celebrate the opening of the new term in January, the International Film Series will show W.C. Fields' THE BANK DICK on the evening of registration day. Show date is Monday, January 4. There will be two showings, one at 7:00 and one at 9:00, both in Dow Auditorium.

BANK DICK is one of four feature-length movies Fields made for Universal Pictures between 1938 and 1942. The latest of his films, these show him at the height of his powers as screen comedian. Many film buffs and critics hold that BANK DICK rates as best of his full-length things, with more scenes of pure Fields than any other.

In this one, which he wrote under one of his numerous pen names, Fields applies his satire to several of the American institutions he had come to know and hate: the Great American Family, banks and bankers, doctors, investment schemes, the wide world of petty respectability. As Egbert Sousee, Fields bumbles respectability into shambles.

It should be fun. General admission tickets are 75¢ at the door.

UFWOC Organizer Explains Boycott to A.C. Students

In Dow 217 on December 2, an informational meeting was held concerning the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee (UFWOC) and, more specifically, the current UFWOC lettuce strike and consumer boycott. The meeting was led by Joyce Hodge, a Detroit organizer for UFWOC boycott, and Polo Chuca, a migrant worker from Texas who went on strike with the union in Salinas, California.

Discussion centered on the UFWOC's attempt to induce Bud Antle, a grower refusing to sign UFWOC contracts, to drop charges against Cesar Chavez, UFWOC director. The charges direct Chavez to "show cause" for disregarding an injunction from a lower court of California,

A graduate of General Motors Institute, he is a member of its Board of Regents and is a trustee of the General Motors Institute Alumni Foundation. He has served on the Board of Directors of the United Foundation of Detroit, as a member of the One Hundred Club of Detroit, and as a member of the Board of Directors and the Executive Board of the Detroit Convention Bureau.

MacKenzie, of 24568 Lincoln Ct. in Farmington, graduated from Alma College in 1955. He has served the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington as a church school consultant in teacher training. MacKenzie is primarily responsible for inception of the Alma Highland Festival, an annual event that in its third year attracted more than 50,000 persons to the mid-Michigan community of Alma last spring. He is a member of the Board of the Alma Highland Festival, Inc., and is chairman of its Public Relations Committee. He is president-elect of the Alma College Alumni Association.

Mealey, who lives at 6300 Bloomfield Glens in Birmingham, is also a trustee of Parsons College in Fairfield, Iowa. He is an elder of Kirk in the Hills and is a member of the Birmingham Golf Club and Detroit Athletic Club.

He is secretary of the Oakland County Bar Association and is past president of the Walled Lake Rotary Club and the Alma College Alumni Association. which directed the Union to end their strike and boycott, and to request consumers to buy non-union label lettuce. UFWOC lawyers insist this injunction is unconstitutional, but it would require $2.7 billion to appeal the injunction. The law suit, if won by Bud Antle, would jail Cesar Chavez and fine the UFWOC. Most important, according to Miss Hodge, as a court precedent, it would endanger the effectiveness of the boycott, the UFWOC's only legal and non-violent method of dealing with reluctant growers.

Because of the lack of alternatives, UFWOC is hoping that a close relationship between Dow Chemical and Bud Antle may give Dow enough influence to convince Bud to end its suit. To this end, Miss Hodge explained that a rally would be held the next day at Dow, lasting overnight until 1:00 p.m. Friday. This is the time when, if this tactic is unsuccessful, Cesar Chavez will go to trial.

Don Yehle, who worked in the Dow Public Relations Department at one time, related Dow's telephone response to this strategy. According to Mr. Yehle, Dow welcomes the opportunity to talk with the local leaders of the rally, and takes the position that the issue is a dispute between the two unions (Teamsters and UFWOC). Mr. Yehle doubts the effectiveness of attacking Dow, because it claims that its influence with Bud Antle is minimal.

A heated discussion included such questions as whether the teamsters could ever have legally represented the farm workers since the Teamster contracts were signed without consulting the farm workers themselves. (Teamsters have subsequently agreed to annul their half of the contracts, so, according to Miss Hodge, at issue is getting growers to agree to recognize UFWOC.) Another issue in the discussion was the effectiveness of attacking Dow.

The UFWOC contract demands include such things as: 1) UFWOC recognition, 2) a ban on some pesticides and regulated application of others, 3) cool portable drinking water, sanitary toilets and protective clothing, 4) 1970 wages of $2.00 an hour, 1971 wages of $2.05 an hour, 5) overtime, $0.25 per hour for every hour worked over 9 hours.

Three Alma College students attended the rally in Midland the next day.

Debate Team Closes Out Fall Term

by Larry Nelsen

The Alma College Debate Team participated in three tournaments during the past month to bring to five the total number of tournaments appearances this fall.

In the most recent tournament, held at Heidelberg College in Tiffin, Ohio, the Alma squad won four debates and lost one. The affirmative team of Wendy [Name] and [Name] led the way for Alma by winning three debates, defeating Heidelberg, Clarion College from Pennsylvania, and Marietta (Ohio) College. Denny Valkanoff and Jeff Foran debated negative for Alma, defeating Spring Arbor.

Two weeks ago the team traveled to Battle Creek to participate in the second Kellogg Com. College tournament of the season. Morgan Ohwovorole participated in his very first college debate as a member of the affirmative team along with Bruce Plackowski, Jeff Foran and Bill Lennox debated for Alma on the Negative and won two debates, defeating St. Clair College and the University of Detroit. Their only loss came at the hands of the U. of M. team. Bill Lennox won an individual honor for the Alma team by being selected as one of the ten outstanding debaters in the tournament.

On November 14th Alma sent both varsity and novice teams to the U. of M's opening tournament. Bob Reindel, Bruce Plackowski, Jeff Foran, and Bill Lennox participated in the novice division while Denny Valkanoff, Dick Palmer, Larry Nelsen, and Paul Silver debated in the varsity and novice teams to the U. of M's opening tournament. Bob Reindel, Bruce Plackowski, Jeff Foran, and Bill Lennox participated in the novice division while Denny Valkanoff, Dick Palmer, Larry Nelsen, and Paul Silver debated in the varsity division. The combined record of the two teams was six wins and six losses. The novice affirmative team of Reindel and Plackowski was one of the outstanding teams in the tournament, winning three and losing none.

The Alma squad has a tournament scheduled for the first week of next term at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. Later on in the term the debaters will be traveling to tournaments at Northern Ill. University, Illinois State University, Bowling Green University, and Michigan State University.

Also on the ground floor of the facility will be a sculpture area, adjacent wood working, metal, and plaster rooms; a ceramics room, a plaster kiln room; an extensive utilizing corridor areas; two print rooms for print making; and office space for four faculty members and a secretary.

A mezzanine level being built into the structure will include a photo studio and darkroom, as well as a drawing and painting studio with two smaller adjacent studios for drawing and design.

A loft area above the darkroom will provide a studio for independent study projects.

Adjacent to the building on its east side will be an outdoor work and display court.

College President Robert D. Swanson noted appropriateness of the name of the new facility, honoring the long association of the Clack family with Alma College, and also commented that the remodeling "makes especially good use of a historic campus structure".

Kent Kirby, chairman of the college Art Department, says that the renovated structure will "give Alma one of the best liberal arts college art facilities in Michigan and the Midwest".

Kirby points out that the art center will provide a cultural focus for the campus community that hadn't been achieved previously with art facilities at scattered locations.

Final selections for scholarship recipients should be made early in the spring of 1971.

CREDIT

REGULAR ATTENDANCE is a requisite for obtaining credit.

Although the purpose of this summer session is to fulfill the requirements of American college and university credits, it also conforms to French university regulations. Each 30 hours course is usually equal to 2 American credits. If students successfully complete the average summer session load of 90 hours, they normally receive 6 American college credits. However, students are advised to consult with their professors, their Department Chairman, their own school's Registrar's Office, BEFORE MAKING FINAL ARRANGEMENTS, to ascertain the EXACT number of credits their school grants for the Sorbonne Summer Session.

KEY TO COURSE NUMERATION

Undergraduate Courses: The first number represents the academic year (100 = Freshman, 200 = Sophomore, etc.). The second number indicates the general subject-area treated (0 = Grammar & Composition, 1 = Phonetics, 2 & 3 = Literature, Civilization, and related subjects). The third number represents the semester level.

Graduate Courses: The 500 and 600 series courses represent graduate level. The last two numbers designate the course title.

SCOTS SQUEEK BY LAKERS; FALL TO OLIVET

by Randy Sergeant

Alma's first two basketball games, a 78-72 thriller over Grand Valley State and a 78-61 setback at the hands of Olivet, proved one thing beyond a shadow of a doubt. The Scots do have vast potential which, if realized, could result in one of their finest campaigns in years. It is up to the coaches and the players to work on eliminating some of the nervousness and fundamental miscues that occurred in the first games.

Against Grand Valley, Alma took charge right from the outset and managed to maintain about a ten-point lead throughout most of the game. However, after building an 18 point lead midway through the second half things began to crumble for the Scots. The lead dwindled until the Lakers finally pulled ahead with about two minutes remaining. Only some fine individual heroics by Charley Hudson pulled the game out for Alma. His 7 points in the final 1'18 of the game proved too much, even for the charging Lakers.

Turnovers (25) and poor shooting from the floor hindered Alma against Grand Valley and again proved hard to overcome against Olivet. Unfortunately, last Saturday Alma was not to repeat its spectacular comeback and dropped the tilt by 17 points.

Alma was apparently very jittery, and Olivet wasted no time in capitalizing on their mistakes due to the jitters. They took the lead early in the first quarter and never relinquished it after that.

The Scots appeared very sloppy in their passing and ball-handling. However, it was their first league encounter and this must be taken into account. Ike Neitring was high for Alma with 17. Of course, the Scots can expect much better scoring might from Charley Hudson, who scored well below last years' league-leading 22.7 average and Thursday night's 25 markers.

Alma's next encounters will be in the sunny south over Christmas. Games against Troy, Montgomery, Alabama, and St. Petersburg, Florida are slated.

I.M. B - ball Extended

With the first round virtually complete, intramural basketball appears to have been a large success. IM director Herb Taylor has even decided to extend the season into the next term due to the widespread interest. Both A and B leagues will play another full slate of games while C league teams will begin play for the first time.

Only one game remains to be played in this term's schedule. A battle for last place between the Delt Gams and Wright on Monday will close the action. No matter what occurs, one thing is certain; the Delt Sigs are the teams to be conquered in both leagues this coming season. Not only did they place first in both A and B leagues, but they did so with unblemished records. The final standings:

A-League
	W	L
Sigs	5	0
Bruske	3	1
TKE	2	3
Mitchell	2	3
Gams	1	4
Wright	1	4

B-League
Sigs	6	0
TKE	5	1
Wright	3	3
Mitchell	3	3
Bruske	2	4
Gams	0	6

Union Board Designed to Help Student Interaction

by Ruth Visscher

Tuesday night, November 17, the place to be was Tyler Auditorium, where an enriching and stimulating program about pollution and birth control was presented, along with suggestions of what we can do about the problems of our environment. There seems to be an atmosphere around this campus suggesting that there is no real interaction among most of the students; that people are uncertain about 'getting involved'. Well, its time to change all that. From the program, those who attended discovered how they could work together to solve some of the problems we are faced with in our environment. If you stop and think about it, we aren't doing this only for ourselves but also for our children and our children's children - so that there can be a healthy environment for them to live in. So get with it.

This is only one of the many programs presented by the Union Board for the 'Nightclub', which is open every Tuesday night from now until the end of school in June. The Nightclub presents campus entertainment or some other type of program, such as the one on pollution, for the benefit of everyone. The chairmen of campus entertainment are Cathy Bushouse and Sue Warren.

The Nightclub was created last year by U. B. not only to provide an opportunity for people to get together, relax, and be entertained, but also (to provide) a more congenial atmosphere than the booth part of the Union. A place where girls without dates, as well as everyone else, could go.

The use of the Nightclub is restricted to small-name entertainment because of the limited size of the auditorium. For the first week-end in winter term, Friday and Saturday nights, the Nightclub will present 'Chris and Dale', folk singers from Chicago. Don't miss it. It is hoped that in future years the Nightclub can really groove. U. B. is planning gradual improvements on the Nightclub on a term to term basis, depending on the amount of funds available. U. B. is concerned about the lack of student interaction. Students don't seem to want to participate in anything unless it is well planned. It is questionable whether or not providing more social events, such as the Nightclub, will solve the problem, but at least it can help.
