

Campus Day Activities Set

Five juniors: Kathy Ferrand, Rockford; Nancy Kapp, Rockford; Barbara Klenk, Livonia; Bonnie Labadie, Auburn; and Nadine Stearns, Riverdale, have been selected to reign over the events of Campus Day. One of the five will be crowned Campus

Day Queen during the festivities Wednesday.

Under the direction of freshman Sandy Wilson, the 1965 Campus Day festivities next Wednesday are being organized. Wilson said that there will be no lag between events.

The men's intramural baseball playoffs and the picnic lunch will be held from 10 to

1. Crowning of the queen by President Robert D. Swanson will take place at about 1:30.

The entertainment presented to the queen will be musical selections from the Double Quartet, TKE Trio and Inaudibles. The Delt Sigs will present a skit.

Canoe races are scheduled for 2:45 with the Spring Band Concert following close behind. Conductor Edward L. Kottick and his musicians have promised an excellent concert. The concert concludes several marches by Ralph Vaughn Williams, a musical tour of France by Darius Milhaud and "Cowboy Rhapsody" by Morton Gould. Music on the contemporary side by Robert Russell Bennett is also being presented. The closing numbers will be selections from "Hello Dolly."

The concert will be performed on the library mall with seating capacity for all.

That evening, the dance also will take place on the mall from 8 to 11. Wilson stated that the band is exceptional and hopes that the evening will be one of the main highlights of the entire day.

Hoppe To Give Views On 'Rights' Movement

The Reverend Robert A. Hoppe from Detroit will speak at a convocation on Tuesday, May 18, at 10 in Dunning Chapel. Hoppe will appear under the auspices of the Cultural Affairs Committee. His subject is "The Civil Rights Movement: Its rationale and its relation to practical politics."

Hoppe is Executive Director of the Commission of Religion and Race, working in the Detroit area. He is also Director of the Commission on Race and Cultural Relations for the Detroit Council of Churches.

He has served as consultant for the last three triennial conferences on Economic Life held under the auspices of the National Council of Churches.

His services have been sought at various levels as the church attempts to come to terms with issues dramatized by the civil rights movement. It is the hope of the Cultural Affairs Committee that Hoppe will nourish and inform our concerns for these issues.

Following his convocation address, Hoppe will be available for discussion with students who are particularly interested in talking with a man who has a deep involvement in the civil rights movement.

All students are required to attend the convocation on Tuesday, if they missed the one yesterday.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities is continuing its investigation of the Ku Klux Klan in the South. It is having trouble getting people to testify because as some one put it, people are "scared to death down there." A suggested remedy was to question them in private and release the testimonies without naming the persons who gave them.

Symphony To Present Concert This Sunday

This Sunday at 4 p.m. the Alma Symphony will present its final concert of the season in Dow Auditorium under the direction of Edward L. Kottick.

The first part of the program will consist of two works by Beethoven: the Second Symphony and the Octet for Winds, opus 103. The orchestra will return after intermission with Mozart's Symphony number 40 in G minor and will conclude with Prokofiev's 'Peter and the Wolf,' with Mr. Davidson Hepburn as the narrator.

"This program," said Kottick, conductor of the Symphony for the past three years, "follows my regular procedure regarding the choice of selections. I try to find a program that will do more than simply please an audience. I think a program in a place like Alma should have some meaning for the student, and also should be interesting and challenging to the orchestra players. It should have variety and balance.

"On the surface this program might seem rather unbalanced, since it consists of three eighteenth century classical pieces, two of which are by the same composer, with only one later work for balance.

"It is true the program is unbalanced from a chronological point of view, but this is not the only criterion. The Beethoven Second is a monumental work -- full of soaring, beautiful melodies and precipitous climaxes.

"The Octet, on the other hand, even though by the same composer, is in an entirely different kind of world. Since it was intended to be performed as dinner music it is an unpretentious work that relies on bright woodwind sounds, surprising dynamic changes, and ingratiating melodies for its effectiveness.

"The Second symphony looks forward to the nineteenth century, the Octet looks back at the eighteenth.

"The G minor Symphony of Mozart has often been cited as an example of classical balance of form and content. In this sense the piece belongs to no era, and each generation of listeners finds its own meaning in it.

"To the eighteenth century, it fulfilled the aesthetic dictum that music should please the listener, but not astonish or puzzle him. In the nineteenth century it was almost the only Mozart work played with any regularity and was viewed as the greatest of romantic works. To the twentieth century it is the most modern of Mozart's symphonies.

"Peter and the Wolf" generally appears on children's concerts, but can really be enjoyed only by adults. It exists on two levels just as Swift's Gulliver's Travels, or Carroll's 'Alice in Wonderland.' Children can enjoy the story and the music, but the sophisticated

College Adds Two To '65-'66 Faculty

Mr. Alain-Georgas Cavanie, newly appointed instructor of French, and Dr. Verne C. Behill, newly appointed associate professor of sociology, are the most recent additions to the faculty, according to an announcement by Dean William Boyd.

Cavanie will be the resident supervisor in Paris of the Alma Program of Studies in France in connection with L' Ecole de l'Alliance Francaise.

Cavanie is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University. His honors include membership in Phi Beta Kappa. He has done graduate work in Oceanography at M.I.T. on a Ford Foundation Fellowship and has completed work for the doctorate from the University of Paris, with the exception of the dissertation.

He is presently engaged in research for a French government laboratory.

The Alma Program of Studies in France is an entirely new program of studies for American undergraduate students. The program is designed for students who desire to spend their junior year in an intensive study of the French language and culture.

Those participating in the program will live in French homes or residence halls at L'Ecole de l'Alliance in Paris. Excursions, closely connected with topics of instruction will be taken throughout the school year. Frequent visits to French families are also part of the program.

The program has been designed by Alma in compliance with its educational requirements. Students from other colleges and universities are invited to enroll. Credits for the work will be given by Alma. This credit can then be transferred to other colleges or universities.

This year's Scotsman exemplifies the transition from a stalwartly traditional view to an increasingly liberal view of college activities.

Perhaps some of the more tradition minded people on campus will notice that a college function does not need to remain straightlaced in order to stay in the bounds of good taste.

The prologue expresses the "editors desire to present a cogent effluence of composition in spite of worldly pressures." In transcending worldly pressures this year's editors have indeed presented us with a publication devoid of trivia and with an emphasis on more enduring material.

One may thumb through the Scotsman many times before catching all of the subtle humor existent in its pages. Much of its merit lies in this characteristic. It is not merely a documentary book used to record events and people, but a publication that lends an interpretation to these events and people.

Especially fine are the color pictures which serve to enhance the architecture of Monteith Library and to distinguish some of this year's high points.

Credit must also be given for the larger size of pictures which are laid out in an artistic fashion.

The art work and verses used in the Administration and Faculty section seemed, more often than not, to be appropriately correlated.

We can be justifiably proud of this year's Scotsman. With a few exceptions, can anyone see its slip showing, for it retains its poise from its plaid cover to—"Good Grief! It's Daddy!!!"

The children at Berkeley are at it again. Yessir, after running out of dirty words to yell and locked buildings to sit in, they found a new pastime, namely burning draft cards. Sounds like just loads of fun doesn't it?

The latest rage is the Dominican situation. Seems nobody asked their permission before sending in troops. (Worse yet, they didn't even consult the faculty). And, of course, because of our totalitarian system of government, the only avenue of protest open to them was sitting in front of the Draft Board burning government property.

Three students at MSU thought it would be funny to play with their draft cards too. Of course, they didn't have such lofty motives in mind. They only wanted some drinks.

Instead, they got a choice of 10 years in prison, a $5000 fine, or immediate enlistment in the Army. Evidently, somebody doesn't think playing with your draft cards is very funny.

Congratulations to our fine College Bowl team for their not unexpected 285-95 triumph over Albion, and their decisive 130-105 victory over Hope. It may come as a shock to Morley Fraser and the boys at Albion to find there is more to college than just running athletic machines. The secret of our success? Well, Albion, we give scholarships in certain areas, too.

It has been mentioned recently that, when crossing campus, students aren't sticking to the sidewalks and well-trodden paths. What can be done about this? Pave the whole campus? Build more green fences? Warn the students that if they don't stop within three weeks they will all be sent home? What?

Didn't you think Silent Spring was the epitome of fine literature available as all-campus reading selections? Did you get a chance to enjoy the movie too? Wasn't the filming location, the Sahara Desert, appropriate? Do you think chewing toothpicks can really give a person Dutch Elm Disease?

Wednesday is Campus Day so get your beer and blankets ready. There should be plenty to do. It's too bad that the tennis and baseball teams weren't scheduled for home baseball team never gets a chance to play home games anyway, does it?

SC Board Plans Meeting

At Tuesday night's Student Council Executive Board meeting plans were made for next Tuesday's Council meeting. At that meeting the Tyler Board chairman will be approved along with announcements regarding next year's committee chairmen. The Middle East Conference to be held next fall will also be discussed at this meeting.

Directly after the meeting Student Council members are invited to President Swanson's home for a reception.

The dress code will be discussed at the Student Affairs meeting Thursday morning at 10 in Tyler study lounge.

Senior art exhibit will open tomorrow in Dow Lobby and run through Saturday May 29 with paintings on display from senior art majors.

Works on display will be by Florence Schwalm, Young Cha Kim, Gretchen Hardenbergh and Siavash Negaren.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Now that graduation is approaching I would like to relay an observation which I made at last year's graduation exercises. Certainly there is no denying that this is a meaningful event for all those who make it this far, as it is for their parents and relations.

Last year the faculty and administration did very little to convey this importance. The grandeur of the event was to some degree spoiled by the generally sloppy appearance of the academic staff. Some wore "off" or loud colored suits, others looked fresh from behind the plow, not to mention some of the other items which detracted from the general appearance.

It is the responsibility of the faculty to do all possible to make graduation a meaningful and memorable event by presenting an air of dignity and appearing as scholars rather than dirt farmers.

Dear Editor:

As a speech student, I have had to find a controversial topic on which to give my final speech. This has given me a chance to air my views on a situation that has bothered me most of my freshman year; namely, the use of the Chapel as a multi-purpose room.

According to the Student Hand book, "Dunning Memorial Chapel stands as the symbol of Christian commitment at the heart of the campus." Why then is the Chapel used as a testing center and campaign headquarters, when Dow Auditorium or Tyler Center could serve the same purpose equally as well? To me, these things detract from its role as a place of worship and center of religious commitment.

I know there will continue to be a lack of space until the new Fine Arts building is constructed, but some of the activities presently held in the Chapel, it seems, could easily be held somewhere else.

I would like to see Alma College change Dunning Memorial Chapel from a multi-purpose auditorium to a true place of worship.

Sincerely,
Noel R. Stickel

Robinson To Discuss 'Giving and Receiving'

Dr. James H. Robinson, director of Crossroads Africa, from New York City will be the speaker at the service in Dunning Memorial Chapel this Sunday morning at 11. "The Blessedness of Giving and Receiving" is the title of his sermon.

Robinson was graduated from Lincoln (Pa.) University in 1935 and from Union Theological Seminary in New York. In the same year as his graduation he founded the Church of the Master and the Morningstar Community Center in Harlem. By 1960 these institutions had grown from 50 to include over three thousand men, women, and children of all races.

Robinson traveled around the world in 1951 under the auspices of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

He later made a three month trip through eleven countries and territories in Africa, south of the Sahara Desert. The following year he traveled in Europe on a brotherhood mission with the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

He has worked in the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, National Urban League, the African Academy of Arts and Research and others.

New Dean of Women Speaks Out on Role, Problems of Coeds

by Chris Gladis

"The woman student brings something very unique to the college setting," states Miss Christine Kinkead, the new Dean of Women. "Her contributions in activities are important. She sets the standard for the campus."

Miss Kinkead also feels that most of the women on campus are responsible young adults.

"They are much more alert today in the whole world picture . . . much more serious minded. Women really feel the challenge to take their place in society. It changes so rapidly, though, there is constant confusion. They are seeking to find their role. My main responsibility is helping women students in this search, not only on campus, but in society as a whole."

This newest challenge is the latest addition in a life that has known almost endless activities and new experiences. The oldest of nine children, Miss Kinkead was born in Florida—where else but in an orange grove, of course! She lived for a short time in West Virginia, spending her high school days in Ithaca.

After graduation she entered Bronson Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, with plans to work in the mission field. Following nursing school, she worked in the hospital there for two years, then for six years for a general surgeon in Kalamazoo.

Miss Kinkead was always very active in the church and at this point, she accepted a full time position as an education assistant for one year.

In 1961, she began a study in the humanities at Adrian College. Included among her activities there were the Religious Life Council, Alpha Delta Chi—a women's service organization, Lambda Iota Tau, and Senior Honor Society. She graduated cum laude in 1963.

She received her master's degree from Michigan State University, also with an honors status.

Writing, knitting and singing are her main interests—when she has time! She loves to read and also likes to putter around with oils.

The annual tea for Senior Women will be Saturday, May 15 at 3:30 p.m. in the Reid-Knox Memorial Room. The tea is given in honor of the Senior Women by Dean Esther Vreeland. All Senior Women are cordially invited to attend. Introductory cards for membership in the American Association of University Women will be given out at this time.

Around the Campus

Tau Kappa Epsilon will hold a reception next Thursday from 8 to 9:30 p.m. honoring Dean Esther Vreeland and William Boyd and Dr. Lawrence Porter at the TKE house.

The reception is open to all members of the campus. Refreshments will be served.

Alma will host the annual conference of the Midcentral Association of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society tomorrow and Sunday.

Approximately 150 will attend the conference, which will consist of a presentation of student research papers by members of colleges and universities in the region of In-

Miss Kinkead is a member of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors, the American Personnel and Guidance Association, and the Michigan College Personnel Association.

She also belongs to the American Association of University Women, of which she was elected secretary of the Alma branch this spring.

She holds the Lay Speaker's Certificate in the Methodist Church.

Math Club To Hear Papers On Thursday

Next Thursday evening at 7 the Math Club will meet in Dow 100, according to Bill Brown, president.

Several short papers will be read by math students. The students and papers they will be reading are: Bill Brown, "An Introduction to the Congruence Notation"; Bill Burlew, "Computers and Least Squares"; Dick Cook, "Sex and the Single Matrix"; Lionel Garrison, "Logical Analysis of Philosophy"; Dale Johnston, "Discoveries about the Quadratic"; Mike Reed, "Computer Program for Tiger-Type Sports Cars"; Curt Wall,

McCoy from Danforth Reports To Committee

Monday evening Dr. Presley McCoy from the Danforth Foundation met with the ad hoc committee on student life to present certain concerns and criticisms which students had voiced during a discussion with McCoy earlier in the day.

Meeting with several students, all of whom have held some position in student leadership, McCoy asked questions pertaining to areas in which the ad hoc committee is interested. General comments made by students as well as answers to these questions were presented to the members of the committee in an informal report.

McCoy stated that this group of students felt that one of the most exciting things that has happened at Alma since they have attended is the ad hoc committee. The reason for their enthusiasm, McCoy said, lies in the fact that the faculty is becoming involved in questions relevant to the students.

In McCoy's view, the involvement between faculty and students needs to be strengthened. As a method of achieving a closer relationship, McCoy suggested "clarification through more intensive communication."

Feeling that it is hard to justify a small college unless its smallness is exploited, McCoy advocated making a special effort to acquire a feeling of community and cooperation among administration, faculty and students.

He said that students should be learning of the workings of their own society at the College and should be gaining an understanding of the respective roles of faculty, administration, and students.

According to McCoy, one way of attaining a greater feeling of community is by explaining to students the rationale behind college policies, in this way making clear to students what the rules are and, at the same time, fostering a feeling of cooperation.

McCoy furthermore, stated that he felt students would more readily accept college regulations and policies if they knew the actual reasons behind them.

McCoy reported responses to questions on topics of special interest to the committee which ranged from the new curriculum to athletics and student government. In general the new curriculum raised the least excitement because it did not seem immediate to the students.

Student reaction to questions concerning athletics took the form of asking for "a little more emphasis but not enough to hinder the academic program."

Comments on student government, according to McCoy, showed that the students feel they don't have the voice they might have in formulation of rules and, furthermore, showed that the students are confused about where the power lies.

Students reported to McCoy that one reason for lack of interest in student government is due to the fact that the student body is not aware of what powers it has and what student government can do.

Following McCoy's report, committee members and McCoy discussed programs, implemented in other institutions, which are designed to stimulate student interest.

Concerning the meeting of the ad hoc committee, Dr. Lawrence Porter suggested moving to a larger room in order that more students may attend. Dr. Irene Linder inquired about the possibility of having students formally on the ad hoc committee.

In response to these remarks Dean John Kimball stated that he felt there is much to be gained by having meetings open to all and that both faculty and students would profit from this arrangement.

Play by Glaspel To Be Staged Wednesday

"Suppressed Desires" by Susan Glaspel is the student-directed play to be presented next Wednesday by Greg Barris.

This comedy is centered around the latest craze of its main character, psychoanalysis. The theme, "suppressed desires," comes from her theory that everyone, including her husband, has certain secret inhibitions.

The play develops around her heightened suspicions which eventually disrupts a happy home. It climaxes as the husband devises a fictitious tale to bring her to her senses.

The main character, Henrietta Brewster, is played by Marty Kearns, Chuck Cameron portrays her husband, Stephen, and Linda Isbister enacts the part of her sister, Mabel.

"Suppressed Desires" will be the third in the series of student-directed plays.

In a recent election Gelston Hall officers for next year were chosen. The following were elected: Karen Smith - president, Marcia Cameron - vice-president, Mary Woodhouse - secretary, and Mary Taylor - treasurer.

There will be a meeting for anyone wishing to help plan a coffee house for next year Sunday evening at 7 in Van Dusen lounge.

Board Fills Remainder Of Publications Staff

Board of Publications completed its selection of staff positions for the almanian and the Scotsman for the 1965-66 academic year by appointing three editors to the newspaper and co-assistant editors to the yearbook.

Peter Scott, West Lafayette (Indiana) freshman, has been appointed copy editor of the almanian staff.

News editor for next year's almanian staff is Marda Bobier, Coldwater junior.

Jim Bristol, Ann Arbor junior, will serve as sports editor. He is a former sports writer for the almanian.

Miss Bobier, Scott and Bristol will step into their positions for the last two editions of the newspaper.

Elizabeth Courtenay and Connie Savage have been appointed co-assistant editors of the Scotsman for next year. Miss Courtenay, Hempstead (New York) freshman and Miss Savage, Grosse Pointe Farms freshman, will begin planning next year's book with newly appointed editor, Randy Hopkins.

Service Group Installs Officers Sunday at Noon

The Omicron Tau Chapter of Alpha Phi Omega will be installed this Sunday.

The installation will consist of a ritual meeting for members and advisors only at noon, and a dinner for members and guests at 1 p.m.

The service and installation of officers and members will be conducted from the Epsilon Beta Chapter of Central Michigan University. Formally presiding over the installation will be professor Harry G. Barnett, the Alpha Phi Omega National Executive representative for section 19.

The purpose of Alpha Phi Omega is to develop leadership, promote Friendship, and to provide Service to the College and Community. To receive its charter, it had to, among other things, complete a major service project. This was accomplished by a week-end work project at camp Rotary, on April 24. The members spent the day in the construction and painting of the interior of a new building on the Camp site.

Scheduled plans for next semester include the following as well as many other major and minor service projects, in addition to a full calendar of social events.

Alpha Phi Omega plans to set up a used book exchange which will give the students an opportunity to get much better prices for used books than are now possible.

Next year will also see the Fraternity leading an all campus blood drive for the American Red Cross. Also in sight are several more weekends of work and recreation at Camp Rotary with its large lake and other features which all add up to the spirit of fun and brotherhood among Alpha Phi members.

Alpha Phi Omega will admit its first pledge class in the fall of next year. All men of Alma College with a 2.00 or better average will be eligible to pledge.

Each pledge will participate actively in the pledge program, encompassing a period of several weeks, and consisting of regular pledge meetings, projects, social activities, tests of character, and plain hard work.

Officers to be installed this Sunday are: Sam Pfeiffer, president; Glenn Meyers, vice-president; Fred Lux, recording secretary; Bill McLaughlin, corresponding secretary; Dennis Sudheimer, treasurer; Jim Gould, historian; Tom Davis, sergeant-at-arms; and Carvel Myhum, chaplain.

Advisors to be installed are: Mr. James Chandler, Mr. Wesley Dykstra, Dr. Lester Eyer, Mr. Robert Koenemann, Mr. Walton Myhrum, Mr. Graig Unchaper and Dean Fred Smith.

Honorary members to be installed are: Mr. Guile Graham, Dr. Robert Swanson and Dr. Harold Vandebosh.

Linda Robison Presents Recital Sunday at 8 in Dunning Chapel

Linda Robison, soprano, will present a recital on Sunday evening, at 8 in Dunning Memorial Chapel.

Her recital program will feature the famous aria "Un Bel di" from the opera Madame Butterfly and a setting of songs from Shakespeare's Twelfth Night by Julius Harrison. Songs by Bach, Schubert and Debussy will complete the program.

During her four years at Alma she has been a member of the A Cappella Choir and the Alma Singers. She has been selected as president of the choir for next year. As soloist she has appeared frequently in student recitals and music convocations.

Activities other than music have included vice-president of Gelston Hall, Tyler Board Staff and member of the Judicial Council of Gelston. Next year she will serve as an officer for the Phi Omicron sorority.

As a former student of the Marion High School, she participated as soloist in the musicals, Carousel, Brigadoon, and L'il Abner and also was a first place winner in the Nisbova contests. She was a member of the choir of the First Presbyterian Church in Marion.

There is no admission charge.

The A Cappella Choir will present its annual Spring Concert on Sunday, May 23 at 3 p.m. in Dunning Memorial Chapel.

The program will include a wide range of choral music including the Bach Motet "Come Jesus Come", parts of the mass "Iste Confessor", by Palestrina, contemporary works by Irving Fine and Pooler, and folk-songs and spirituals.

The choir recently completed a 10-day tour of Michigan, Illinois, and Indiana during which they sang to several thousand people.

There is no admission charge.

Keith Sturgis, Dearborn junior, and Bill Nichols, Jackson sophomore, have been selected co-chairmen of next year's homecoming committee.

Both are presently making tentative plans for Homecoming which is scheduled for October 16.

Psychology Students Face Few Changes

The Psychology Department will be effected little in the 3-3 plan changeover. Most of the major modifications in advanced classes were made approximately a year ago in anticipation of the new system. Consequently, no new courses other than those already existing will be offered.

The change was the addition of Physiological Psychology which will be added to Sensation and Perception and Motivation and Learning courses to form a sequence applicable to the 3-3 plan.

It should be noted that before a student may enroll in these upper level courses he will need to have taken Biology 101 and 102. Owing to this, Psychology will not be used to satisfy the science requirements as it is presently.

Three other courses were placed in a sequence but do not necessarily follow each other. Of these three, Human Development, Abnormal Psychology, and Personality, any one may be taken without the other two preceding it. Human Development is designed to satisfy the psychology requirement for those in Education.

Under the new plan selected students will write a thesis, as the writing of a thesis will be by the invitation of the department only.

Internat'l Night Features Moffett

International Night will begin tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Tyler Auditorium.

Activities for the evening will begin at 7:30 with the showing of films and slides. At 8:30 a stage show will be presented, with German and Iranian songs and dances; Manuel Barcelo will play the guitar.

The special feature for the night will be a lecture by Mr. William Moffett of the history department on the current crisis in the Dominican Republic. A general discussion will follow with all invited to take part.

For final blend of variety, folk dancing of different countries will be held in the auditorium. Students will be introduced to German, Mexican, African, and American folk dancing, with a chance to participate. Refreshments in "exotic style" will be served.

Moore Captivates Students With Style and Ideas

by JoAnn Eshelman and Jan Thompson

Dr. Charles A. Moore, professor of philosophy at the University of Hawaii, talks with an animation that is captivating. But perhaps even more captivating than his style are the ideas behind it.

Dr. Moore visited the campus Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. He is on sabbatical and was invited here by college trustee Dr. Carl Bonbright.

Dr. Moore's burning interest is East-West relations especially on philosophical and religious grounds. He pointed out the problem that exists in this area, by picking up the freshman civ. book World Masterpieces. "You see," he said, "this is a book that claims to list the best works in the world in its index. But there's nothing from Asia."

There are two basic reasons for this problem, he feels. First, there has been little opportunity in Western society for what he terms "genuine understanding". This is most obviously the case in education, he suggested.

Second, he cites the problem of self-satisfaction and lack of any real interest in the East.

Dr. Moore gives five reasons why we very sorely need real understanding between East and West today. "First our contemporary world is all one. We affect each other in nearly everything we do," he exclaims.

2) "We must live and work with each other."

3) "In wars it is most necessary to really know the enemy. Otherwise military strategy can never be effective."

4) The intellectual and educational argument, he notes, requires that the truly educated man understand more than just his own tradition.

5) Finally he cites that there is a need for understanding because "nothing human should be alien."

As footnotes to these five reasons, he adds two more which have caused his particular interest to flourish. He lists the "resurgence of Asia" and her rich philosophical traditions as very important bases for his concern with the area.

Since he has been in Hawaii teaching at the University for some 29 years, Dr. Moore has attended four East-West conferences. These conferences are sponsored by the East-West center and have as their goal promotion of real understanding.

"These conferences have given philosophy a new significance," he reports, "by relating it to actual problems. They're not just 'intellectual jousting' matches."

Outstanding men from many disciplines, such as religion and politics, gather from several areas of the East and West (except Red China). They have met in 1939, 1949 and 1964 for formal and informal discussions and paper-readings on one particular problem of East-West relations.

For six weeks they hash over issues such as Philosophy East and West (1939), Essays in East-West Philosophy (1949), Philosophy and Culture East and West (1959) and Status of the Individual East and West (1964).

Each time a book of the same title as the conference is drawn up. Dr. Moore is editor of this publication.

At the close of the meetings those attending return to apply what they have learned.

"Obviously there can be no immediate results. But already there is evidence of the positive effect the conferences have had," declares Dr. Moore.

"For instance, Dr. Hung Wo Ching who attended in 1959 as one of the representatives of the Chinese tradition, felt that 10 years was too long to wait for another conference. So he paid for having a meeting in 1964 by getting $1,000 each from people he knew were part Caucasian, Chinese and Japanese."

Dr. Moore also is editor of the quarterly magazine "Journal of Philosophy East and West." He points out that this magazine was the only journal for a long time that would print oriental philosophy. "Now," he says smiling, "there are many which print Asian philosophy."

He has also published a book called Sourcebook in Indian Philosophy with Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, a prominent Indian philosopher and present President of that country.

Dr. Moore concluded by saying, "I was delighted to find such genuine interest here among students and faculty alike. Their response has been heartening."

James Ross (left) and Glen Rice present a check for $2500 to Mr. and Mrs. Lotfollah Negaren of Iran. The $2500 was raised by Alma students and citizens of the surrounding community to make it possible for Mr. and Mrs. Negaren to come to the United States to visit their son Jamshed who is recovering from a serious illness at Gratiot Community Hospital. Jamsheed, an Alma sophomore, became seriously ill last November.

The Negarens plan to remain in the United States for the graduation of their oldest son Siavash from Alma College on May 29.

Delt Sigs Plan Dance-Concert

Delta Sigma Phi

Delta Sigma Phi is proud to present its annual Spring Concert and Dance next Tuesday evening, May 18, as part of the Campus Day activities. The dance will be held from 8-12 P.M. in Tyler Auditorium.

A feature of the dance will be the crowning of the 1965 Dream Girl. A rock and roll band will provide the music, and dress will be casual. Tickets may be purchased at the door for 25 cents.

A Sweetheart Serenade will be given next Thursday evening for all brothers who have been lavaliered, pinned, engaged, or married this past year. Tonight at 7 p.m. a closed picnic with our sister sorority, Alpha Theta, will be held. On Sunday the fraternity will hold a banquet in the Highlander Room honoring graduating seniors of the chapter.

Phi Omicron

Installation of new Phi Omicron officers took place at the home of Mrs. Joseph Walser on May 3. The new officers include, Kay Oster, president; Ronni Allexenberg, vice-president; Beth Wilson, recording secretary; Mary Burg, corresponding secretary; Marcia Cameron, treasurer; Jane Rothfuss, historian; Linda Robison, custodian; Carole Loesch, chaplain; and Ruth Henderson, parliamentarian.

Marge Whittaker was elected as president of Panhellenic Council. The two Phi O representatives to the council are Noel Stickel and Kathy Nolan.

20 members of the sorority leave this evening for a weekend at Hess Lake, near Newaygo. Mrs. Fred Smith and Mrs. Thomas Plough were chaperones.

Fratr Mike Mulligan, 1962 graduate of Alma, was recently named Assistant Dean of Students at Georgia Tech University. Mike was an outstanding athlete at Alma, participating in varsity football and baseball for four years, and was chosen "the most valuable player", and "All-MIAA" for two years.

Fratr Jerry Smith has been selected by our chapter to compete in the national "Top Teke" contest. Jerry is also one of the three students being considered for the Barlow Trophy, Alma's highest award.

Congratulations and best wishes to fratr Ed Thompson on his recent engagement to Miss Jaska Davis of Alpha Theta sorority.

Softball Teams' Playoffs Wed.

Intramural softball playoffs are scheduled to begin next Wednesday, Campus Day, as the intramural program comes to a close for this school year.

The regular season is scheduled to end on Monday, May 17. Make-up games will have to be played this weekend or on Tuesday, May 18.

The Slingshots continue to lead the A league competition while A. A. and the Astros remain on top of the B league.

Interest is expected to run high again in the Class A softball playoffs since the coveted All-Sports Trophy will probably be at stake.

With the completion of football, basketball, and volleyball, the race toward the All Sports Trophy finds the Sig Taus with 9½ points, the Delt Sigs with 9, and the Tekes with 8. The points from bowling and softball will round out the scoring.

The winner of the Trophy could conceivably not be deecided until the championship softball game. The standings in bowling remain close among the fraternities, and the third place standings and playoff berths in softball still remain open.

Since there are no bowling playoffs, points will be awarded on a 5-3-1 basis for first, second, and third. Softball points will be awarded for both the regular standings and playoffs on a 2½-1½ basis. Softball Standings

Cindermen's 'Best Effort' Still Drops Dual Meet

Alma's trackmen gave forth with their best effort of the season, but still a losing one, last Saturday in a dual conference meet with Olivet, losing 76-55. The meet was held at the Alma High School track.

The Scots showed a definite edge over the Comets in running events, winning the mile, 100- and 220-yard dashes, the 880, and the two-mile.

Stu MacKenzie of Alma was winner of the mile run, while teammate Rich Bandlow finished second. Chris McKee was first in both sprint races, with Skip Beltz capturing third in the 100.

Jerry Smith won the 880 yard run and Don Baese was second. Bandlow was first in the two-mile event and Lloyd MacAskill finished second.

Golfers Score Olivet Victory, Tie With CMU

Alma's sharp shooting golfers added a victory and a tie to their fine record this past week in bombing Olivet 14-2 and gaining an 8-8 tie with a strong and undefeated Central Michigan squad.

The MIAA match at Olivet, played last Saturday morning, found sophomores Jud Lind and Denny Nelson grabbing medalist honors with rounds of 79. Dave Blanden and John O'Dell shot 82's and Jerry Knowlton followed with an 83.

The Central Michigan match was held on Thursday, May 6, at the Pine River Country Club. The match was hampered by rains throughout most of the afternoon.

O'Dell fired a 74 to take medalist honors. Nelson shot a 79, Lind an 80. Knowlton an 83 and Blanden an 85. The Scots had a 398-400 margin in total strokes.

Coach Art Smith's duffers were scheduled for action this past Wednesday at Calvin. Adrian's Bulldogs will invade the Alma course tomorrow for the final conference dual meet.

Scot Sluggers Buckle Under Olivet, Ferris

The Scot baseball team found the going rough this past week, dropping doubleheaders to Olivet and Ferris State.

Alma lost a "home" twin-bill last Saturday to the MIAA co-leaders, the Olivet Comets, 18-3 and 9-8. The games were played at the Ithaca High School field.

The hard-hitting Comets blasted 30 hits during the afternoon. Catcher Jim Pobursky led the Olivet attack with seven hits in eight trips to the plate, including a double, triple, home run, and five RBI's.

But Alma's Tim Pete also had a field-day at the plate.

The junior outfielder-pitcher-first baseman was two for two in the opener, one of the hits a solo home run. In the second game he added three hits, including a grand slam home run, and added seven RBI's. Pete raised his batting average to .424.

Scot batsmen collected a total of 13 hits in the extra-inning nightcap, led by Pete's three hits and three by centerfielder and captain Mike Knowlton.

Olivet's Speaker was the winning pitcher in the opener. He also started the second game, but was blasted by Scot batsmen in the third inning. Catcher Pobursky, in a rare relief stint, got credit for the win.

On Tuesday, Coach Charlie Skinner's nine traveled to Big Rapids for a non-conference double-header with Ferris State. In the opener southpaw Stan Tapp enjoyed a 2-0 lead for four innings before the Bulldogs managed two runs.

Ferris added two unearned runs on a homer off reliever Jim Bristol, but the Scots' Rich Skinner tied the game with a two-run blast over the fence. Ferris won the game, 5-4, on a home run in the eighth inning.

In the nightcap Ferris grabbed an early 5-0 lead and held on for a 6-2 victory. Skinner added another homer and Pete blasted a four-bagger for the only Scot run. Knowlton again added three hits for the afternoon.

The Scots are host to Calvin's Knights tomorrow afternoon for a doubleheader. Alma will need a double victory to push its conference record back over the .500 mark.

Shots In the Dark

By Jim Martz

It's just what the doctor ordered. (No doctor in particular). Yes, that home crowd support can really make the difference. Right, tennis team?

The fine crowd at the local courts contributed significantly to the come-from-behind victory over Olivet last Saturday.

The team now hopes that equally fine support will help spur them over Calvin's Knights tomorrow afternoon on the Alma courts. It might be a little "sweet revenge" for the trouncing in basketball at Grand Rapids.

But gee whiz, what about the baseball team? They like to play at home, too, you know. They probably wouldn't be near the bottom of the league if they had been able to practice and have home games.

That first inning home run in the second Olivet game was really a winner. Olivet's Jim Probursky lofted a fly-ball to right center that landed in a big pile of hay. Rightfielder Jeff Wolverton and centerfielder Mike Knowlton never could find the ball. Meanwhile, three runs crossed the plate.

The ump ruled that the ball was still in play, whether one could find it or not. "Too bad," said the ump.

Well, if you ever find a baseball in your glass of milk . . . you'll know that some cow came through with the baseball.

Here is this week's quiz, kiddies:

1. Why is there a full-page picture of the 1962 baseball team in the yearbook?
2. Why isn't there a picture of Alma's only championship team in sports, the golf team, in the yearbook?
3. And most important of all, Why do P.E. students have to buy their own tennis balls?

Tennis Team Downs Olivet

In a strong come-back effort, Alma's varsity tennis team won its first dual match of the season, 4-3, over a much improved Olivet College squad last Saturday.

First-year Coach Joseph Walser was indeed pleased by the fine showing by his relatively young team. He also noted that the good crowd on hand had a definite factor in bringing an Alma victory.

Marc Sylvester, Flint freshman, played in the number one position and won 3-6, 6-4, 6-4. Tim Lozen, Mt. Clemens freshman, lost his match 6-4 and 7-5. Jim Ladd, Detroit sophomore, won 6-2 and 6-3.

Brian Hampton, moved from number one to number four position because of a back injury, won 6-2 and 6-3. Ron Sexton, Midland freshman, lost 3-6, 8-6, 6-0.

In the exciting doubles play, Lozen and Sylvester as number one, and Hampton and Bill Nichols as number two, came from behind to win their matches and give the Scots the meet victory.

Lozen and Sylvester lost their first set 3-6 and were down 5-4 in the second when a strong effort gave them a 7-5 win and led them to a 6-4 win in the final set.

Hampton and Nichols likewise lost the first set and were down in the second 3-0 before rallying for 6-3 and 6-2 wins.

The Scot netters are host to a rugged Central Michigan squad this afternoon in a non-conference tilt. Tomorrow afternoon Calvin College's strong unit invades the Alma courts.

Next week's action will find Coach Walser's team at Adrian on Wednesday to round out the dual meet schedule. On Friday and Saturday, the Scots will participate in the MIAA Field Day at Kalamazoo.
