STUDENTS COULD BE

Pictured

LIBRARY
ALMA COLLEGE

IN A VARIETY OF ACTIVITIES EACH DAY

Why did students carry daily planners? Because the opportunity to get involved in different campus events was easy—and often expected. On any given day students could be seen studying, going to class, donating time to various organizations, or just hanging out. The level of involvement of students in the campus life was the true picture of Alma quality.

Dedication

Dear Jonny-

You were only a part of our lives for one short year. In that time, you made your mark on so many people's lives and hearts in so many different ways. Whether it was your laughter echoing in the halls, your many adventures with the "Macho Men" of 3rd West, your painful honesty, or your verbatim recitations of Wayne's World—you brought a smile to those when they needed it most. From you, we learned about school spirit, team dedication, perseverance, and not to "sweat the small shit." You had a place in your heart for all those you called your friends.

Now it is time for us to hold a special place for you in our hearts. You will always be a part of us no matter where we are or what we do. So, when we hear Jimmy Buffet come on the radio, we can not help thinking of you and your love of his music. You would tell us that he has the answer for everything and you are right. Only Buffet can say it best—

Some of it's magic,
Some of it's tragic,
But I had a good life all the way.

We love you #30!

HERITAGE CENTER FINALLY OPENS

During the '92-'93 academic year students watched the Heritage Center slowly take shape. They were promised an August 1993 opening date, but unforeseen delays pushed the opening back to October 22. This caused some minor inconveniences, such as the need to move scheduled speakers to alternate campus locations. When students finally got to view the inside of the building during the packed opening night, most agreed the Heritage Center was as picturesque as anticipated.

Homecoming

Double Take

The Homecoming game was played against the Flying Dutchmen of Hope.

Only this time the day was wet. A l m a played in front of a rain-soaked crowd.

Hope scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. Alma scored a touchdown in the third quarter to make the score 12-6. Alma fought hard, but during the fourth quarter they started to breakdown. The final score was a 33-6 defeat to Hope. The half-time show entertained the fans.

The Kiltie Marching Band performed "O n Broad way" and "We Are the Reason." Julie Thomas and Felix Papillion were crowned Homecoming Queen and King. Even though the Scots suffered a loss, homecoming was still a time to see past graduates.

Homecoming

Calling the Shots

The Homecoming committee provided activities before and during homecoming. There was a karaoke at Joe's and a pep rally on Friday to pump up the student body. The court played the limbo and there was a race between the classes. Students had to run around a bat, trade shoes, somersault across the floor, and participate in a three-legged race. The sophomore class came across the finish line first. The tug-of-war contest was won by the seniors. The cheerleaders performed a dance routine and the Kiltie Band played.

Pre-Term

Fast Forward

The theme for this year's Pre-term was "A Road Less Traveled." First-year students adjusted to college life by meeting advisors, professors, and attending workshops. They took placement tests and preregistering for classes.

Pre-term wasn't all work. A lot of activities were sponsored for fun, including ACUB's Night at the Races, Talent Night, and a dance. The Washington Sisters performed a menagerie of songs.

Events

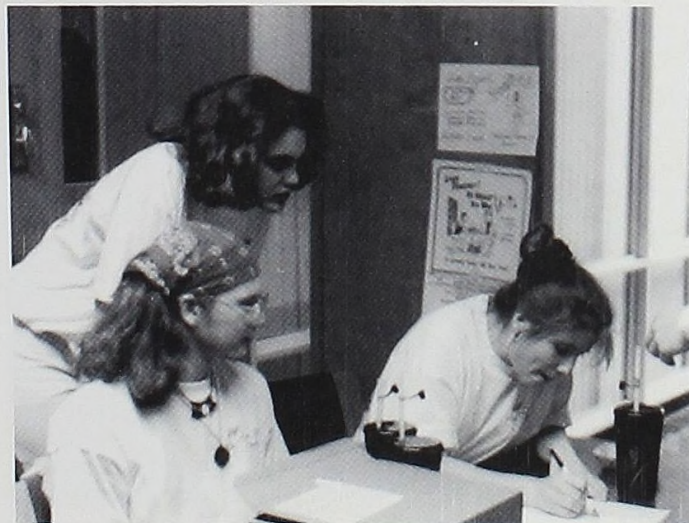

ACUB sponsored many special events besides the All-Nighter. Mock Rock featured comedian Chris Thomas and students lip synching to a variety of music. The small group competition started after the comedian. First place winners Laura Rice and Brent Oeschger performed Elton John and Kiki Dee's hit song "Don't Go Breaking My Heart." Second place went to the Love Bunnies. In the large group competition, eight groups competed with first place going to N.W.A. (Nuns With Attitude). Second place went to Scrod for their rendition of Adam Sandler's "Lunch Lady Land." The annual Irish Pub was held on March 19. ACUB also showed movies like "Untamed Heart," "Alive," and many others. Coffeehouses, comedian, and special events like "We Can Make You Laugh" were also held.

Spring term events included a Big Surf Drive-In featuring "Top Gun" and "The Rocky Horror Picture Show."

ACT

Lights, Camera, Action

Alma College Theatre (ACT) performed their production of Timberlake Wertenbaker's play Our Country's Good in the fall, and Brian Friel's Dancing at Lughnasa in the winter term. Our Country's Good was a play about a play. The scene was Sydney, Australia, 1788-1789. The characters were a collection of prisoners and military officers. The majority of the cast acted two separate parts.

Dancing at Lughnasa was a tale of an Irish family and the changes that altered their lives one summer. The play was narrated by Michael as he remembers his aunts and mother.

Both plays showed different styles, Our Country's Good was action-packed with limited props. Dancing at Lughnasa was a play with little action and elaborate sets and props. The differences showed the many talents of the Alma College Theatre.

Activities

Variety of Fun

Spring term play returned this year with the performance of the Greek tragedy Antigone. The play was adapted by Joe Jezewski and performed by a variety of new and old faces to the Alma College Theatre scene. Opening night was May 24 with the closing night being the 25. The play takes place before the royal palace of Thebes. Antigone is a princess who defies an order from the king and attempts to bury her brother. The annual "Little Siblings Weekend" took place March 11-13. Friday evening students and their guests could watch free movies. Saturday's events included a scavenger hunt, academic session, "Mex Fest" dinner, open gym and pool, and a dance complete with a magic show. Sunday there was a special Little Siblings Chapel service.

Spring term

Kodak Moments

Spring term is a favorite term for most students. Most classes meet for a few hours a day and involve a little homework. Of course there are exceptions, but average time spent in class is small. The weather was pleasant and even reached 90°F. Many students took advantage of the weather and relaxed class schedule to work on their tans. Newberry beach was occupied by students playing volleyball, sunbathing, and having fun in the sun. Marriott contributed to the summer atmosphere by giving a cookout. Spring term also had cultural events. Spring term play, Opera workshop, and a Musical Theatre Review are just a few examples.

“Spring term is awesome!”

MODEL UNITED NATIONS

The purpose of the Model UN is to simulate certain events and issues of the United Nations. The team represents a member country and acts as that country throughout the competition.

This year's team was outstanding. They placed first out of a field of over sixty schools at the Midwest Model United Nations Conference in St. Louis, Missouri. Following that victory the team represented Alma in New York at the National level. After competing against over 150 schools, the Alma team placed sixth. The team is lead by Dr. Sandy Hulme.

KILTIE DANCERS

Kiltie dancing has long been a tradition at Alma College and the Alma community. A few, the daring, the strong, actually strive to wear wool, poise like a deer and do some difficult foot work. Their efforts are appreciated by all who view them in parades or during games.

FOOTBALL

Win. This was on the minds of all the football players as the 1993 season began. Predictions said that the football team would be in the hunt for the MIAA title; however, injuries delayed a key part in obtaining this goal, especially, injuries to the top two quarterbacks Jason Falk (knee) and Matt Snyder (Achilles). The Scots finished 2-7 overall, 2-3 in MIAA.

CHEERLEADING

With every Alma student ready to come back to school from summer vacation, the cheerleading squad returned early to warm up for another football season. The hype of the football season inspired the famous "Scotty Dog" to return to give her support to the team for her final season. This year's squad was louder than ever by keeping the crowd motivated at every game.

GOLF

The 1993 golf teams did not do as well as had been expected this year. The men's team had a strong returning nucleus, but could not improve on their fourth place finish from last year. They ended the season in fourth place again, just 15 strokes behind Kalamazoo.

The women's golf team returned with a strong team this year as well, but unfortunately dropped to third place in the conference, down from second in the 1992 season. The team will be returning next year with seven of its eight players. Good Luck Scots!

Women's

S O C C E R

The women's soccer team hoped to better their record this year after finishing 3-13 last year. They did just that, finishing the 1993 season at 4-11-2. Many of the games in the loss column were close losses, including the final game of the season against Calvin. One of the highlights of the season was holding powerhouse rival Kalamazoo to just 5 goals at their first meeting. The ladies look to improve their record once again next year. With the graduation of only 2 players, the upcoming season looks bright for the lady Scots.

Men's

S O C C E R

The Alma College men's soccer team changed one major component of their game this year: the coach. Coach Scott Frey took over the head coaching position, coming to us from Messiah College.

With this change, the men's soccer team started off well, winning four out of the first five games. One of these games was against Central Michigan University. The Scots won 3-2, beating CMU for the first time in history. The team had a rough second half of the season, losing several games by just one point, finishing the season at 8-8-1.

Junior Dave Miller works to deny the CMU opponent the ball. The Scots won this non-conference home contest 3-2.

The 1993 women's volleyball team had a disappointing end to a great season. The team placed second in two different tournaments, losing to John Carroll in both instances. They beat several teams that moved on in post-season tournament action.

The team was expected to move on to post-season tournament play, but they were stopped short because they did not place first in the conference, and did not receive a bid to move on.

With the graduation of several key players, the team will have an uphill climb to reestablish their position next year.

Men's

BASKETBALL

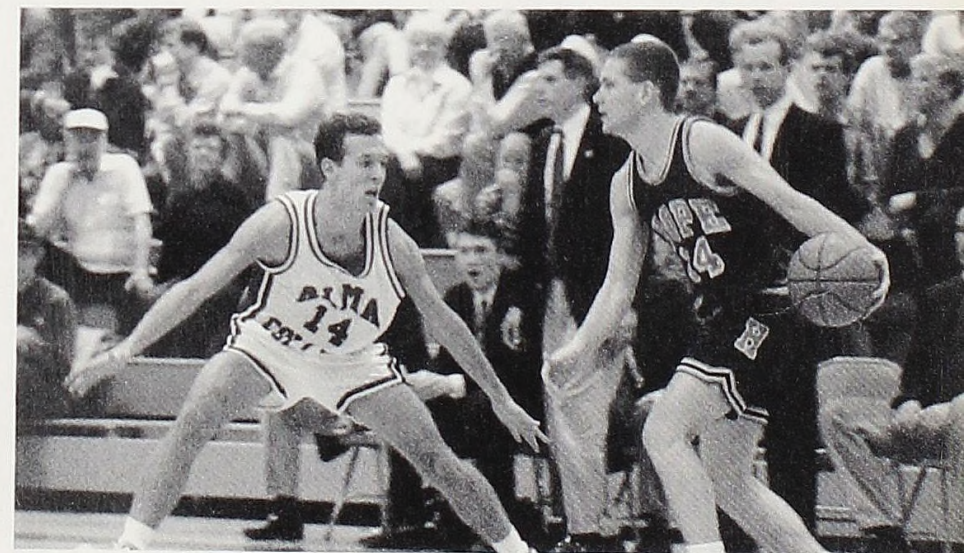

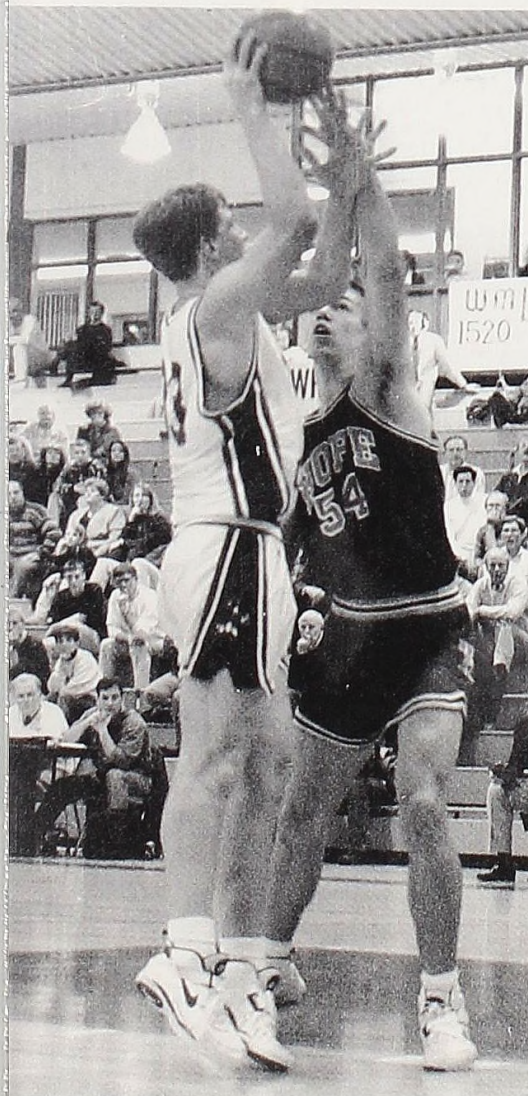

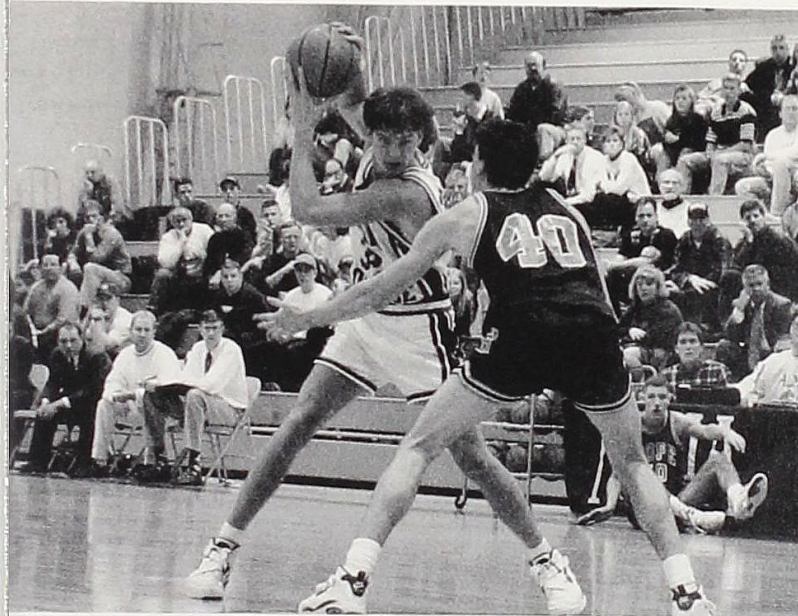

The Alma Men's Basketball team had a difficult time this year. They began the season without point guard Reggie Reed, who was in Japan at the time. Upon his return, the team had to readjust to Reggie's style of playing. Many of the games played were close, and those that were not at the final buzzer, had been close throughout the game. The 6-19 record certainly does not show the ability of the team. With the graduation of only two key players, the team looks forward to improving their record next year.

Second Team All-MIAA: Todd Blomquist
Honorable Mention All-MIAA: Matt Lotterman and Colon Lewis

Inter-Fraternity Council

ΣΧ ΣΑΕ ΤΚΕ ΘΧ ΖΣ

The Alma College Panhellenic Council serves as the governing body of the three national and one local Alma College sororities. Each sorority is responsible for electing one member to serve on the Panhel executive council. In addition, each chapter selects two delegates as well as their chapter president to comprise the Panhellenic body.

This year's Panhel worked diligently to promote both inner Greek and inner sorority relations. A progressive dinner at each sorority house as well as a sorority coffee-house allowed members of different sororities to get to know each other better.

Panhellenic Council:

President: Tami O'Bryant
 Vice President: Liberty Reiter
 Secretary: Lynn O'Rear
 Treasurer: Cassie Falter
 Advisor: Anne Lombard
 Delegates: Mechelle Kotulionus, Melinda Dorf, Susan Stewart, Cathy Curley, Anne Buyze, Lauren Heystek, Julianne Thomas, Ganesa Wegienka

Governing the Alma College fraternities, Inter-Fraternity Council is comprised of distinguished gentlemen from the four national and one local fraternities. IFC works closely in conjunction with Panhel to co-ordinate this year's fall term "Block Bash" and Winter Term Greek Week. Under the guidance of President Jason Watkins, the group regulates policies on fraternity events as well as rush and run-outs.

Bid's Day

Hearing echos of sorority chants and songs throughout the dorms caused much wonderment across the campus on January 29, 1994. As early as 8 a.m., groups of active sorority members tramped through the hallways, banging on doors to awaken new women who would join their sisterhood. These women—now sorority pledges—enjoyed a fun filled day of laughter and new friendships with their sororities, as the active members looked toward their pledge class with pride and hope for the future.

Bid's Day 1994 proved to be an experience many would never forget! Alpha Gamma Delta welcomed twenty-eight new members, thirteen in the fall and fifteen in the winter; Alpha Xi Delta welcomed thirteen women in the fall and nineteen in the winter; the sisters of Gamma Phi Beta took twenty-five pledges, combining fall and winter; and Kappa Iota welcomed sixteen winter pledges.

Run Outs

The gymnasium filled up early on the evening of January 29, 1994 as the crowd chanted in support of their favorite fraternities and anticipated the surprises to come. Fraternity run-outs ended the week-long men's rush, as rushees lined up in preparation of revealing their fraternity choice.

Sixty-three men chose to experience the bonds of brotherhood, as Sigma Alpha Epsilon welcomed fifteen; Sigma Chi welcomed eighteen; Tau Kappa Epsilon welcomed fifteen; Theta Chi welcomed nine; and Zeta Sigma welcomed six.

The spirit of the crowd was high, and their support and enthusiasm contributed to an exciting, successful evening.

IT'S ALL GREEK

This year's Greek community took pride in the progress it has made, both within the Greek system and in relation to the Alma College campus.

The culmination of the year full of Greek adventures took place in March, as the entire campus witnessed Greek Week 94: "It's all Greek to us." This week paired fraternities together with sororities at random: the ΣΑΕ's with the ΑΓΔ's, ΓΦΒ with ΣΧ, ΤΚΕ with ΑΞΔ, and ΚΙ with ΖΣ. The week in March was launched with an all-greek awards ceremony, recognizing Greeks with honors and praise. Panhellenic President Tami O'Bryant received recognition as Outstanding Greek Woman of the year, while senior Aaron Howald was awarded Outstanding Greek Man. Chapter of distinction honors were awarded to Alpha Gamma Delta and Alpha Xi Delta.

TO US

In addition to the seriousness of Greek Week came laughter and games. A "yell like hell" competition in Hamilton Commons echoed Greek chants throughout the dining hall. A Greek Olympics ceremony consisted of an obstacle course and other fun events. The week ended with a bowl-a-thon at Highlander Lanes, where the team of ΤΚΕ and ΑΖΔ received the winning Greek Week cup.

The most successful part of Greek Week revolved around the Greek organizations coming together for a good cause. A can drive and a coin collection gathered a substantial donation for the Greek Week philanthropy Habitat for Humanity.

It's all Greek to us!

Tim Bailey and Cliff Hodgeman stand outside the chapel. Bailey: "Alma College is dedicated 100% to everything it is involved in, except athletics. Be yourself, let 'I' stand for individual and not 'In a group.'" Hodgeman: "A river is like a coward; it follows the path of least resistance."

Marty Schneble, biology major, holds one of his friends. "It doesn't get any better than this!"

STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT HONORED

Students were shocked by the changed format of the '94 Honors Convocation. The college broke from tradition and didn't have a keynote speaker. Instead, Dr. Stone gave a summary of the year. Student response to this new format was favorable. As always, the highlight of the convocation was the naming of the Barlow Trophy recipient. The convocation concluded with the traditional singing of the Alma Mater.

THANKS Jennifer Hardy presents President Stone with the Senior class gift while Ted Fletcher looks on. Ted and Jennifer were co-chairs of the Senior Challenge Committee.

THE BEST President Stone gives Senior Aaron Howald the Barlow Trophy. Also nominated for the award were seniors Lisa Brinn, Jennifer Jourdan, and Tamara O'Bryant.

TRADITION Seniors came to Honors Convocation with decorated mortar boards. However, students did not decorate their caps for the actual graduation ceremony.

FINALLY DONE Seniors wait behind the students at Honors Convocation. The seniors paraded into the gym after the rest of the student body arrived. This allowed students to view the decorated caps.

STUDENTS MOVE ON

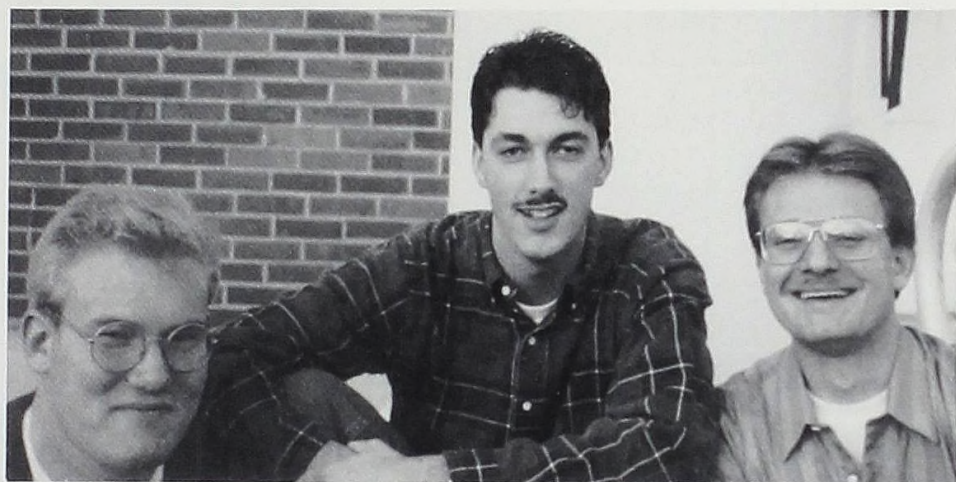

After a stressful week of final exams, students graduated on Saturday, April 23 at two o'clock in the afternoon. Students received their diplomas and Barlow Trophy recipient Aaron Howald was formally recognized. Following the ceremony was a Parent Board sponsored reception. Residence halls closed at 5:30 after the ceremony.

Rollmodels

or models on a roll

The Lone Ranger and Tanto...Batman and Robin...Laverne & Shirley...Calvin and Hobbes... History is lettered with famous—or infamous—fictional dous. Here at Alma we have our own head duet, the big chief, the buck stops here, numero unos, President Alan J. Stone and his Administrative Assistant Jane P. Hall.

Karen Klumpp-Registrar; Sue Deil and Karen Raab are secretaries.

If you've ever had a problem with your academia, you've probably headed to this office for help and left with a workable solution to your problem. If you've never been here, too bad, these are nice people.

CONTROLLER

Controller (ken-tro'ler). One that controls, especially an automatic device that regulates the operation of a machine. EXCUSE ME? Okay, the Alma College definition is one who controls the flow of $$$$$. The personnel in the controllers office are: John Johnston—Controller, Diane Sanders—Accounts Payable, Ruthann Bebow and Brian Bigelow—Assistant Controllers, Rosemary Fisher—Payroll, Angela Sherwood—Accounts Recieved Cashier.

DEVELOPMENT

Bill Biebuyck-Director

The Editor's Page

Constructed by Jennifer Farkas, Editor-in-Chief and Sarah Gornicki, Managing Editor

As Editor-in-Chief of the Scotsman for three years I have seen many changes in the book. The addition of staff members has really added to the creativity and expertise that is seen in these pages. I am confident that the future Editor-in-Chief, Sarah Gornicki, will take the book in new directions that will benefit the Alma College community forever.

The End...
The Scotsman's veteran leader leaves the Alma scene. Jen was an active campus member who participated in yearbook, band and the AGD sorority.

There are many people I need to thank for their help with the book. Kari, the computer goddess, your diligence has made the book a success. You will go far in whatever you do and Alma College has benefited with your presence here. Sarah came back from Scotland for winter term and she found out she was now Managing Editor, saving my life. Senior Thesis and so on was making life tough and Sarah stepped in and made the book come together. I would like to commend the section editors on a great job. Beth, the faculty section will never be the same. Holly and Barb, Sports is always a tough one and you guys came through again with flying colors. I would especially like to thank the Organizations Editors for their diligence and the tremendous effort that they put into their section.

The experiences that I have had on staff are things I will always cherish. Alma would not have been as special as it is to me if I had not had the opportunity I had on staff. Special thanks to Doreene and Dean Kridler for their assistance with the Facefinder fiasco. Hopefully we'll never have to suffer through that again.

Speaking of the Facefinder, we did get a discount from the printer, rather than another book. Although, we did get to see what a truly diversified Alma College campus would look like!

Thanks for all your support through the years.

Goodbye,

I didn't know what I was getting into when I agreed to be the Managing Editor of this book. I planned on adapting.

Adapting became important throughout this book. I had to adapt to not having any organizations or color pictures. I had to adapt to dealing with section editors with senioritis. I had to adapt to the lack of graduation photos. I had to adapt to missed deadlines and deleted pages. I also had to adapt to attempting to lead under an established leader's system.

Jen wrote me a note and wished me good luck on next year's book. She said, "only if you were shot in the foot could things get worse." It seemed like the staff careened from one disaster to the next all year long. The book finally came together. This was due to the dedication of certain staff members. Kari, Clinton and Erin did more than their jobs called for during spring term and were all invaluable. Thanks to Julie for her repeated offers to help and to Caryn for her springterm darkroom work.

Despite frustrations, the section editors pulled off their divisions. Beth's was the first completed and never gave me headaches. Chanelle's was better late than never. The sports and greeks sections had difficulties but managed to cover most of what they were assigned. Alana, campus happenings is the best section in the book. You've recorded the history of the year. I can't get over how well it turned out. I hope every section can be like yours next year.

Thanks to Dave Loney, our Herff Jones representative for keeping me sane during spring term. Jen, producing this book is a huge responsibility. I learn that more each day. The college owes you a lot for taking the job three years in a row. Best of luck to you, and all the graduating seniors.

On to '95-

The Scotsman staff mourned the deaths of three members of the Alma community: Dr. Hal Slater, Thomas Sova, and Frank Luneak. We regreted that time constraints made it impossible to give a more complete tribute to these men.

Cheese...

One of the many campus squirrels poses for a photo outside Newberry Hall. Nice weather brought the squirrels out of hiding and into the campus picture.
